582 pages were reviewed and 582 pages are being released.

□ Document(s) were located which originated with, or contained information concerning other Government agency(ies) [OGA]. This information has been:

- □ referred to the OGA for review and direct response to you.
- □ referred to the OGA for consultation. The FBI will correspond with you regarding this information when the consultation is finished.

☒ You have the right to appeal any denials in this release. Appeals should be directed in writing to the Director, Office of Information Policy, U.S. Department of Justice,1425 New York Ave., NW, Suite 11050, Washington, D.C. 20530-0001. Your appeal must be received by OIP within sixty (60) days from the date of this letter in order to be considered timely. The envelope and the letter should be clearly marked "Freedom of Information Appeal." Please cite the FOIPA Number assigned to your request so that it may be easily identified.

□ The enclosed material is from the main investigative file(s) in which the subject(s) of your request was the focus of the investigation. Our search located additional references, in files relating to other individuals, or matters, which may or may not be about your subject(s). Our experience has shown, when ident, references usually contain information similar to the information processed in the main file(s). Because of our significant backlog, we have given priority to processing only the main investigative file(s).

If you want the references, you must submit a separate request for them in writing, and they will be reviewed at a later date, as time and resources permit.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

There is attached hereto correspondence sent to and received from FBI Field Offices. This correspondence relates to supplies furnished the Field Offices and expenses incurred in operating their offices. The letters are dated in the year 1920 and there are two file cabinet drawers filled with this particular type of correspondence. In as much as necessary action has been taken regarding these matters it is believed to be of no value and could be destroyed.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NATHAN.

In the recent visits which I have made to field offices, I have been impressed with the fact that some study must immediately be given to the matter of disposition of old files. In many field offices I have found files dating back to periods before the World War and in some offices I have found the files of the American Protective League. I realize that recently instructions have been issued directing that inactive and old files be placed in storage, if possible. This latter action will give us more space in our regular quarters and will be more economical in that we can obtain storage for less money than is being paid for rental of a regular field office.

However, I feel that some consideration should be given to the ultimate disposition of the old files. I assume that there is on file at the Bureau in Washington copies of all papers on file in field offices and, if this be a fact, it may ultimately be possible for us to dispose entirely of papers in the field for certain periods of time as the same record can be on file here at Washington if at any time needed.

I wish that you would give this matter a careful study.

Very truly yours,

Director.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. SEIFARTH.

Please note the attached memorandum bearing my approval, which outlines procedure to be followed in the matter of the disposition of files to be received from various field offices containing material more than ten years old.

It will be noted that upon receipt of the material in question the files shall be carefully checked in the Bureau File Room and that in those cases in which it is found the Bureau possesses file copies, the material transmitted from the field will be destroyed. Extreme caution should be exercised to the end that no material shall be destroyed unless a copy thereof is retained in the Bureau and a record should be made and kept of the destroyed material, setting forth said material by Bureau file and serial numbers. The employee destroying said duplicate material shall sign the memoranda bearing the individual Bureau file numbers and serials referred to in the foregoing. In such cases as the Bureau does not possess copies of the material forwarded, steps must be taken to retain said papers in the usual manner here.

If there are any details in connection with the foregoing that you do not understand it is desired that you communicate with Mr. Nathan.

Very truly yours,

Director.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR.

In accordance with instructions contained in your memorandum of May 14th., I have given some study to the situation involving the disposition of old files in Bureau field offices. I am of the opinion that steps should be taken to transmit to the Bureau, at the Seat of Government, all files over ten years old. It is assumed that the Bureau possesses copies of all such material. Upon the receipt of the material in question, I believe the files should be carefully checked in the Bureau File Room; that in those cases in which it is found the Bureau possesses file copies, the material transmitted from the field should be destroyed. I believe, however, that a record should be kept of the destroyed material by Bureau file number and serial numbers. In such cases as the Bureau does not possess copies here which may be found with regard to certain correspondence, as well as American Protective League material, I believe that steps should be taken to store said material at a convenient and cheap place in Washington. I am of the opinion that this should be done by one office at a time.

In accordance with conference with you, I instructed Inspector Keith to start this procedure at Salt Lake City. Keith will report at the end of the Salt Lake City inspection with regard to any developments there and if it appears that this procedure is desirable, he will continue the same procedure during the balance of his present inspection trip. I do not believe the other Inspectors should be directed to perform this same work until the offices inspected by Mr. Keith are completed, in order to prevent any piling up of material in the Bureau File Room.

Very truly yours,

H. Nathan.

Reference is made to your memorandum of June 15, 1931, concerning the handling of old filing material which will be sent to the Bureau by field offices.

It is desired that a record be maintained as to the name of the subject of the reports received and the date thereof in order that a record may be maintained of all destroyed material after it has been ascertained that duplicate copies thereof are on file in the Bureau. The material received for which no duplicate copies are on file in the Bureau should be indexed and filed with the old miscellaneous files at Spark's Garage.

It is desired that you submit a further report relative to the volume of work which will be required in Division Eight in checking old filing material in order that more definite information may be at hand prior to assigning employees regularly to this work.

Very truly yours,

Director.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

With reference to your memorandum of June 11th, in connection with old material being sent to the Bureau by the Field Offices.

It is understood that this material is to cover files, reports, etc., prior to 1920. As you know, prior to 1922, reports, etc., carried only the file number and were not given a serial number. I presume it will be necessary to keep the subject of the report, the ~~name of the agent making the report~~, and the date thereof on all material we destroy. Will this record of all material destroyed be sufficient to meet with your approval? The material that is not destroyed will have to be given a file number and an index card will have to be made for same. While we will have duplicates of many of the reports in our own files, there will also be duplicates coming in from the Field Offices, pertaining to the same cases. As we have already received over 3,000 files from the Salt Lake City Office, which is one of our smaller Field Offices, I estimate that there will be over 100,000 of these files coming in. It will take some time to check, etc., all these files.

Permit me to suggest that three clerks be assigned to this work regularly, as I do not feel that we can spare any of the present personnel to do this work. Again, as we are crowded for space here, I would suggest that these files be sent direct to the garage from the Field Offices and the work done there.

Please advise me as to your wishes in the above matter.

Respectfully,

C. F. Seyfarth

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR.

With reference to the attached memorandum from Mr. Gardner, dated August 12, 1932, concerning the destruction of old papers, I have examined Title 15, United States Code, Annotated, and find that Section 112, referred to by Mr. Gardner in his memorandum, states in substance that before any "files of papers which are not needed or useful in the transaction of current business * * * and have no permanent value or historical interest" may be destroyed or disposed of, the head of the Department concerned shall submit to Congress a report of that fact, accompanied by a list of such papers. Upon receipt of the report by Congress, two Senators and two Representatives are appointed a committee to examine the report and to submit a recommendation if any part of the files or papers are considered as not needed or useful and "it shall be the duty of such head of the Department to sell as waste paper or otherwise dispose of such files of papers upon the best obtainable terms after due publication of notice inviting proposals therefor, and receive and pay the proceeds thereof into the Treasury of the United States, and make report thereof to Congress".

MEMORANDUM FOR THE CHIEF CLERK

Reference is made to your memorandum of April 19, 1938, addressed to Assistant Director E. A. Tamm, with reference to items presently stored in the vault of the Chief Clerk's office.

Concerning the case containing four bullet-proof vests recovered from Fred and Kate Barker in Miami, Florida, please be advised that the Bureau files indicate that these vests are of light weight, and inasmuch as their use might endanger the lives of Special Agents, you are hereby instructed to dispose of the same.

With reference to the box containing a number of license plates recovered at Little Bohemia in connection with a raid conducted by Bureau Agents, you are advised that inasmuch as these license plates have no further value in connection with official investigation, they may also be disposed of.

Concerning the surplus summary files in the Brosor case, you are instructed that all but four copies of the same may be destroyed, the balance to be returned to the files.

The two summary files in the Lindbergh kidnaping case should be placed in the investigative file.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover,
Director.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

The Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Nathan, Clegg, E. A. Tamm, Quinn Tamm and Glavin considered the suggestion submitted by Special Agent D. E. Balch that abstract slips covering major cases be maintained permanently and not be destroyed with routine abstract slips which under present Bureau policy are destroyed at the end of three years.

The Conference was also advised that Mr. Laughlin is of the opinion the abstract slips pertaining to all major cases can be permanently retained in the Bureau and the small additional amount of space necessary would be more than offset by the value of having these abstract slips retained for reference purposes.

The Conference is of the opinion all abstract slips covering all phases of the Bureau's work should be maintained on a permanent basis and recommends that instructions be issued to the Files Section that in the future, abstract slips shall not be destroyed at the end of a three year period, but be maintained permanently.

It was pointed out by the Conference that if there is an overcrowding of space in the Files Section, these slips can be moved to dead storage space outside the Bureau's present quarters and would be available for reference purposes if needed.

If you approve, there is attached a memorandum addressed to Mr. Glavin concerning this matter.

Respectfully submitted,
FOR THE CONFERENCE

Clyde Tolson, Chairman

W. R. Glavin, Secretary

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Reference is made to the attached memorandum prepared by Mr. Balch, in which he recommends that the abstract slips pertaining to all major cases be permanently retained in the Bureau.

The present system insofar as the destruction of abstract slips is concerned is that all abstract slips more than three years old are destroyed; that is, as of January 1, 1939, the Files Section will retain abstract slips for the calendar years 1938, 1937, and 1936. The abstract slips for 1935 will be destroyed at that time. Instructions have been issued that abstract slips pertaining to cases which are still pending should not be destroyed, but should be retained until such cases are closed. In actual operation, this means that any Bureau case which is still pending at the end of three years will result in the abstract slips being retained until the end of the next calendar year, at which time they will be destroyed if that particular case has been closed during the period.

It is noted that Mr. Balch recommends that a case be considered a major case when the file has reached the size of five sections or more. I am unable to make any estimate as to how many such cases the Bureau might have; however, the abstract slips for a one-year period take up approximately 135 file drawers. It appears that such procedure could be put into effect, which of course would take additional space, but if the value of having these abstracts retained is sufficient the question of space, I believe, should be overlooked since as a matter of fact a relatively small amount of space would be required.

Respectfully,

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. E. A. TAMM

The writer has observed from time to time in obtaining information concerning data and situations in old major cases, particularly the Hamm, Bremer and Lindbergh cases, that considerable difficulty has been encountered in locating the material sought. It is believed considerable time could have been saved had it not been for the fact abstract slips more than three years' old had been destroyed.

Accordingly, inasmuch as in major cases it is frequently necessary to go back and obtain data for the Director or you, it would appear nothing should be destroyed which would be of assistance in quickly finding material in those cases. For that reason, it is suggested no abstract slips in major cases be destroyed at any time.

For the purpose of classifying major cases, it would appear to the writer logical to include all cases in which the file has reached the size of five sections or more.

Respectfully,

D. E. Balch

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: DESTRUCTION OF NIGHT LOGS -- FIELD DIVISIONS

In a letter to the Bureau dated March 3, 1943, SAC Brown of Birmingham recommended that several old administrative files presently in dead storage be destroyed. In one paragraph of his letter he mentioned a great number of old night logs he found and pointed out that it was his recollection that instructions had been given by the Bureau in the past authorizing the Field to destroy these night logs after a certain period of time, but that he had thoroughly checked the Birmingham files and the manuals but could find no such instructions. He recommended that the Bureau might wish to authorize the destruction of night logs after a certain period of time.

This is being brought to your attention for whatever action the Bureau might wish to take.

Respectfully,

O. H. Patterson.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-28-81 BY 6383 VAT/ca

The Executive Conference considered suggestions submitted by employees at the Louisville Office dealing with the curtailment of administrative work.

1. Typist William B. Broderick recommended that agents' administrative files be destroyed after one year following departure of the Special Agent on transfer.

RECOMMENDATION: The Executive Conference recently approved the regulation which permits the filing of administrative file papers loosely in a file folder for thirty days, the stapling of these items in monthly groups, and the destruction of any monthly group as soon as it becomes twelve months old.

2. Mr. Broderick also suggested that the Bureau authorize the practice of permitting field offices to destroy incoming telegrams reflecting the travel of Special Agents within the field division as soon as the agent's whereabouts is properly recorded.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference has recently approved another suggestion along this line, and the present regulation permits the destruction of these telegrams as soon as the monthly expense vouchers pertinent to the travel have been submitted.

3. Chief Clerk William L. Hornback recommended that the Bureau authorize the field to destroy monthly administrative reports which are more than two years old.

RECOMMENDATION: The Executive Conference recommended that these reports be destroyed after twelve months.

RECORDED & INDEXED 66-3286-89

4. Mr. Hornback also recommended that the Bureau destroy the following types of reports and communications after a reasonable length of time: Bureau Bulletins, office memoranda, visiting agent correspondence, automobile administrative files.

RECOMMENDATION: a. It was recommended by Messrs. Ladd, Clegg, Coffey, Rosen, Piper, and Nichols that the Bureau Bulletin files be maintained intact and that no authority be given for destruction. It was felt by these members that there is at times a need for reference to the Bureau Bulletin file.

Bulletin file.

Messrs. Tracy, Hendon, Glavin, and Hince recommended that any portion of the general bulletin file be destroyed one year after the date of the bulletin. It was pointed out by these members that copies of all Bureau Bulletins are indexed and filed in the appropriate 00 which pertains to the subject matter and that, therefore, the Bureau Bulletin file constituted duplication which is useful for a limited period of time, but that Bulletins older than a year are rarely, if ever, referred to in the general bulletin file.

Misc. 9-2-42 Rec'd 9-4-42

b. Office memoranda. The Executive Conference unanimously recommended that office memoranda be destroyed when they become one year old.

c. Visiting Agents' file. The Executive Conference unanimously recommended that correspondence in the visiting agents' file be destroyed when it becomes one year old.

d. Administrative files relating to Bureau automobiles. The Executive Conference unanimously recommended that they be destroyed one year after the automobile has been sold or otherwise disposed of.

5. Chief Clerk William L. Hornback suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that the field submit Personnel Status Reports on September 1st of each year, inasmuch as it is incumbent upon each employee to keep the Bureau advised as to his status.

RECOMMENDATION: The Executive Conference believed that it would be desirable to continue the requirement. It was pointed out that our experience in the past has indicated that employees will not voluntarily submit the required information. This has been verified by the amount of new information which has been found on Personnel Status Reports when submitted as required.

6. Mr. Hornback also suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that the Special Agent in Charge of a field office inform the Bureau of the arrival and departure of agents on subpoena.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference was of the belief that it would be desirable to maintain the present regulation requiring that the Bureau be notified when an agent arrives and departs on subpoena, on the grounds that it is necessary for us to maintain proper control over the movement of personnel and that if there were not this administrative requirement, agent personnel would be more likely to waste travel time.

7. Special Agent in Charge Moss suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that stenographic employees place their autographic initials on the first page of a field copy of an investigative report.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference believed that the present regulation should be maintained, that it has proved useful when a stenographer has been called upon to testify in view of the fact that she can verify the transcription of the report on her own recognition of her autographic initials.

8. Mr. Moss also suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that the field report to the Bureau the firearms training given to each Special Agent in the firing of the revolver.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference recommended that the present rule be maintained and that the field be required to report firearms training; otherwise, it would be impossible for the Bureau at the Seat of Government to know whether proper firearms training was being given.

9. Mr. Moss suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that the Special Agent in Charge inform the Bureau by teletype with reference to his travel within his own division.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference was unanimously opposed to the suggestion on the grounds that it is highly desirable to be informed when a Special Agent in Charge leaves his headquarters city and that the Bureau be acquainted with the identity of the person acting in his absence.

10. Mr. Hornback suggested that the Bureau abolish the requirement that each field office maintain annual leave records.

RECOMMENDATION: The Conference pointed out that it is the function of the Special Agent in Charge to approve annual leave under the present regulations and that it would be impossible for him to intelligently handle the approval of leave unless he has a record of leave previously taken.

Those present were Messrs. Ladd, Mumford, Coffey, Rosen, Piper, Nichols, Tracy, Hendon, Glavin, and Hince.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: SUGGESTION OF SPECIAL AGENT MURRAY J. SHEA

Reference is made to the attached letter from the Philadelphia Field Division enclosing a suggestion of Special Agent Murray J. Shea. The adoption of Special Agent Shea's suggestion would mean that:

1. Cross reference index cards would be destroyed after the information to which they referred was incorporated into the main file. This is believed to be a dangerous practice inasmuch as summary memoranda are prepared, in many cases, to obtain a particular type of information. For example, a large percentage of summary memoranda being prepared at this time refer only to subversive information and do not completely incorporate all information available in the see reference. If, at a later date, the summary memorandum was referred to for background and nonsubversive information it would not be available unless, of course, each cross reference file number was referred to in the memorandum and was checked for the background or nonsubversive information.

2. This plan would save space in the indices, however, it is felt that this would be offset by the amount of time necessary to properly review summary memoranda. This review would be necessary in order to determine that all information referred to by the index card which could possibly be of benefit in the future was incorporated therein. It would be further offset by the fact that index cards would have to be drawn and destroyed each time a summary memorandum was written.

3. This plan would be dangerous inasmuch as it would eliminate the possibility of locating misfiled cards through cross references. If all information was incorporated into a main file, it would be impossible to locate this main file if the main index card were misfiled. Under the present circumstances if the main card should become misfiled all cross reference index cards are still available and make the information to which they refer available to the reviewing Agent. The reviewing Agent can often determine that there are additional references in the indices inasmuch as the information furnished frequently refers to other files.

4. This plan would not prevent a duplication of effort on the part of

Agents reviewing files. It is to be noted that summary memoranda are presently being indexed under name of the subject and are indicated as being summary memoranda on each search slip. This procedure immediately places the reviewing Agent on notice that there is a summary memorandum and also gives him the date upon which it was written. Cross reference index cards are dated. If the reviewing Agent feels that he need not review files prior to the time this summary memorandum was written, he can request only the files after that date. These files will be necessary in any event if the reviewing Agent is to receive complete information.

RECOMMENDATION: It is suggested that no action be taken on Special Agent Shea's suggestion, because the recently adopted system of indexing summary memoranda eliminates all duplication of effort and in addition makes it possible to review these files if additional information of a different nature is desired.

Respectfully,

O. H. Patterson.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to the Director's memorandum dated July 5, 1943, inviting employees to submit suggestions for the improvement of the Bureau's service.

Attached hereto without comment is a suggestion submitted by Special Agent, MURRAY J. SHEA of this office.

SPECIAL AGENT MURRAY J. SHEA

The suggestion is made that after the indices have been searched and information from cross references has been incorporated into the master file, either by memorandum or report, that the cross reference index cards be destroyed.

It is believed that this procedure would be particularly helpful in the case of active individuals, such as "key figures" of the Communist Party, on whom there may be a great many cross references.

Under this system the index card would contain only the number of the master file and those cross references which have not been reviewed and incorporated into the master file.

This system should greatly simplify the index system and prevent a duplication of effort on the part of agents reviewing the files.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

The Executive Conference considered the suggestion of SAC Fletcher that the provision requiring the destruction of employees' administrative files after one year be amended to permit the retention of the property receipts.

The Conference agreed that property receipts should be maintained or that new receipts should be obtained at the time of the annual inventory. This is a common sense rule and was unanimously approved by the Conference, those present being Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Rosen, Tracy, Coffey, Mumford, Acers, Clegg, and Hince.

If approved, the appropriate manual change will be made.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Members present: Messrs. Coffey, Ladd, Rosen, Hendon, Carson, Q. Tamm, Mumford, Acers, and Hince.

1. Employee suggests: That old files in the field offices be destroyed. He suggests no particular type of file, but points out that master files are available at Washington and he points out that metal Acco fasteners might be reclaimed.

RECOMMENDATION: Unfavorable - The Conference unanimously recommended unfavorably on the grounds that before any field office file is destroyed there should be a separate determination in each instance as to the lack of importance and usefulness of the file.

2. Employee suggests: That the Bureau periodically furnish Agents with a list of obsolete bulletins.

RECOMMENDATION: Favorable - The Conference unanimously recommended favorably and if approved, such a list will be prepared by the Training Division.

3. Employee suggests: That the territorial allocation list be included in the Manuals.

RECOMMENDATION: Unfavorable - It was pointed out by the Conference that the territorial allocation list is bulky, is now issued in bulletin form, and as such can be inserted in the Manual binders. It is not properly a subject of study, but is a reference work and properly is issued in bulletin form.

4. Employee suggests: That current statistics be added to the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

RECOMMENDATION: Unfavorable - The Conference pointed out that these statistics are furnished to the field periodically and since they change too frequently to be included in the Manuals.

5. Employee suggests: That the Bureau code and short-form expressions used in criminal records be listed in the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

RECOMMENDATION: Unfavorable - It was pointed out that this information

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

A conference was held on August 21 and 22, 1943, at Chicago, attended by Messrs. Brantley, Drayton, Scheidt, Glavin, and Clegg and Chief Clerks Swaim and Dunkel.

The Executive Conference considered the following suggestions submitted by the Chicago Conference and the members of the Executive Conference unanimously approved the recommendations listed below. (The page numbers adjacent to each item refer to the detailed discussion and analysis and statement of the suggestion in the original memorandum, which is attached.)

Those present at the Executive Conference were Messrs. Tracy, Quinn Tamm, Carson, Nichols, Acers, Hendon, Ladd, Mumford, Rosen, Coffey, Glavin, Hince, and Clegg.

UNANIMOUS RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

1. Discontinuing Listing by Name Delinquent Cases in Administrative Reports

At the present, it is required that once each quarter there be listed the delinquent cases in each field office in the monthly administrative report. It was the unanimous recommendation that these listings be discontinued. (See Page 2)

2. No Reports in Selective Service Cases Opened but not Investigated -

It was unanimously recommended that when a field office opened a case and it was closed without investigation, usually because the United States Attorney subsequently advised that the subject had complied and there would be no prosecution, instead of submitting reports there would be submitted a log showing on one page or consecutively (1) the name of the subject, (2) the date the case was opened, (3) the date the case was closed, (4) nature of the delinquency, (5) how the delinquency was cleared, and (6) a brief description of the subject. This tabulation would be submitted monthly, the names would be indexed and filed in one file, but it would be unnecessary to prepare investigative reports. This tabulation, suggested by the San Francisco Office, was acceptable to all. (See Pages 69 to 71)

There are frequently transients, such as fruit pickers, who come into a territory and register. Subsequently, a Selective Service delinquency develops and when all current leads have been investigated, all stop notices and wanted notices have been filed, and there are no outstanding leads, the following action should be taken:

(1) The case should be made inactive, even though it is a fugitive case, for a reasonable period of time or in the case of itinerant fruit pickers, until the next season opens.

(2) A tickler should be set up in advance (6 months would be satisfactory, if necessary).

(3) Field offices should be advised that it is necessary to investigate Selective Service "itinerant" cases quickly while the itinerant is still in the district where the complaint originated.

(4) Advice that the State Selective Service Board might be persuaded to make up its own lists of delinquents and circularize the fruit harvesters and circularize the fruit growers' journals. Such action would be taken by a Selective Service Board only if it will agree to do so.

(5) In cases where the Selective Service violator is incarcerated awaiting induction into military service, this case, too, should be carried as inactive until the induction process has been cleared.

Thus, there will be eliminated the necessity of submitting status reports or of giving active administrative attention to cases that do not deserve such attention at frequent intervals. (See Pages 84 and 85)

4. Consolidating Police Reports with Subsequent Agents' Reports

When a report is received from a police department and there are undeveloped leads for handling by an Agent, the police report should be placed in the file and when the Agent has completed his investigation, he will consolidate both the information obtained by the police and his own information into a single report. (See Page 95)

5. Copies of Reports to Field Offices when "Asterisk Leads" are Submitted

"Asterisk" leads are those which are brought forward in the form of an inventory of outstanding leads, and whenever one of these leads is received, it was felt that but one copy of the report should go to the office where the only notation of interest to the receiving office is a restatement of a lead already in its file. The suggestion that but one copy of such reports be submitted to the field office to which an "asterisk" lead is submitted was approved. (See Page 98)

6. Obtaining Automobile and Drivers' Licenses Records Directly from Another Division

At present, it is permitted that field offices seek information concerning disposition of arrests or the filing of detainers by direct communications from one field office to a police agency in another division. It was believed that there should be added the permissibility of obtaining routine information from automobile bureaus concerning car registrations, drivers' licenses, and similar data. (See Page 99)

7. Improvement of General Intelligence Reports

The Chicago Conference felt that the Bureau should prepare a bulletin to all field offices instructing that improvement be shown in the preparation of intelligence reports; this means the regular investigative reports on security matters and general intelligence problems. The bulletin should insist on the elimination of unnecessary data, on a better organization of the reports, and upon the reports being succinct, with the resulting saving in dictating, typing, and reading. (See Page 100)

8. Reporting Negative Information to Bureau by Letter when Complainant is Interviewed at Bureau Request

Frequently the Bureau forwards to a field office information justifying an interview with a complainant or instructs that a complainant be interviewed. When information received is negative, instead of preparing a report, it was believed that the information should be submitted to the Bureau by letter which would serve the purpose of closing the field office file administratively and notifying the Bureau as to the results in order to avoid unnecessary follow-ups on ticklers on a subsequent date. (See Page 101)

9. Additional Cases Which May be Closed in Field Offices Administratively

The present rules permit the field offices to administratively close cases under certain circumstances by memorandum when the information is negative and there is no justification for submitting a report. The suggestion was approved that this be permitted also in cases involving Extortion, Crimes on the High Seas, Migratory Bird Act, and Kidnapping. The provisions for closing other cases administratively are in Section 11A of the Manual. (See Page 102)

10. Recording Police Leads in Monthly Administrative Reports

The Conference unanimously disapproved the suggestion that there be omitted from the monthly administrative report the list of investigative leads assigned to police. Since this information is valuable in appraising the police work performed and assigned in each division, the Conference felt that this should be continued as at present. (See Page 105)

11. Breakdown of Selective Service Cases in Monthly Administrative Report

At present, the monthly administrative report requires information as to the cases opened "here" and the cases with "other offices" as office of origin in order that there can be computed the total number of Selective Service Cases pending in the field. These figures are not now recorded for any other type of investigation, but it was believed that this practice should continue because Selective Service Cases, in numerical quantity, comprise about one-third of the total pending cases in the Bureau. (See Page 106)

12. Discontinuing Unnecessary Communications to Field Offices

(a) When a report is sent to a field office "for information only" and such a report serves no valuable purpose to the office receiving it, then it should be returned by routing slip when there is no justification for the report having been forwarded.

Bulletin (b) It was recommended that the field be advised that criminal records on previous subjects handled are forwarded to the field offices only when the fingerprint card requests that this be done. Thus, a communication should be sent to field offices informing them that they should confer with the United States Marshal, advising that they should not stamp the fingerprint card so that a copy will be sent to the Bureau field office unless it was in connection with a criminal arrest in a matter under the Bureau's jurisdiction.

Bulletin (c) The Conference was unanimously opposed to eliminating a letter of transmittal used by one field office in sending a personnel file to another office. (See Pages 107 to 110)

13. Discontinuance of Weekly Reports on Applicants

Bulletin The suggestion that the weekly report submitted by each field office reflecting the number of applicant interviews pending and the number of clerical and Special Agent applicant investigations pending be abolished. (See Page 111)

14. Elimination of Plant Informant Follow-Up Letter to Bureau

Bulletin It was suggested that the presently required letter to be submitted by field offices to the Bureau whenever a plant informant is developed be eliminated. (See Page 112)

15. Eliminating Monthly Travel Violations Letter to Bureau

Bulletin - direct action It was recommended that there be eliminated the monthly letter from the field to the Bureau, showing the number of investigations concerning travel violations by aliens. (See Page 115)

16. Duplicate Copies of Intra-Bureau Correspondence

Bulletin The Executive Conference unanimously disapproved the suggestion that all interoffice and intra-Bureau correspondence be submitted in duplicate in all instances. (See Page 119)

17. Plant Informants Files

Bulletin Due to obvious confusion in some field offices, it was believed that a bulletin should be sent to all field offices pointing out that plant informants index cards be prepared as a routine matter only for the alphabetically arranged file on informants, subdivided by states, cities, plants, and names, and for the general index file. This is the present requirement. (See Page 120)

18. Employee Administrative Files

Bulletin It was recommended that administrative files on individual employees be maintained alphabetically in the cabinets and that file numbers formerly assigned to them, which serve no useful purpose, be eliminated. (See Page 121)

19. Elimination of SAC Approval for Removing Serials from Files

It was recommended that the present rule which requires that the SAC give his personal approval before the final copy of a serial may be removed and charged out of a field office file be eliminated. (See Page 125)

20. Placing Examination Grades in Personnel Files

It was suggested that the only grades to be placed in personnel files are those which reflect unsatisfactory or failing grades, otherwise it would be obvious that the employee made passing grades on the regular field tests given by the SACs. (See Page 126)

21. Old Administrative Files

It was recommended that all old general administrative files, including voucher files and the like, be destroyed after three years in the field offices. (See Page 127)

22. Administrative Files on Individual Employees

It was recommended that all pending and closed administrative files on individual employees be filed alphabetically and a monthly tickler for the destruction of material over one year old, as is now done, be utilized as a reminder for the monthly destruction of obsolete material. (See Page 128)

23. Preparing Two Copies of Material for the Field Office File

Unfavorable recommendation was made to a suggestion that it be left to the discretion of clerks to determine whether only the original or the original and copies of communications should be prepared in the field office for the field office file. This was opposed because the clerks do not have the ability to make such determinations and retyping would often be necessary. (See Page 134)

24. Agents Taking Complaints for One Week Only in Field Offices

It was unanimously recommended that the present practice be continued of permitting a Special Agent to "take Complaints" in a field office for a period not in excess of one week and that such Agent must have been in the service for six months or more before he is permitted to be given such an assignment. (See Pages 135 and 136)

25. Letter Instead of Teletype Advising as to the Prospective Departure of Agent on Transfer

It is presently required that a teletype be sent within 24 hours advising when an Agent will leave on transfer. Since they do not usually leave for from two to three weeks, it was felt that this should be handled by a form letter instead of by teletype. The form letter, however, should be transmitted within 24 hours. A copy to the field office to which the Agent has been transferred must be forwarded. (See Page 137)

26. Copies of Letters to Field Offices Concerning Arrivals and Departures of Agents

Except in the instance noted in #25, above, it was felt that there should be eliminated the sending of copies to field offices concerning the arrivals and departures of Agents in the field when a field office communicates such arrivals and departures from the Bureau. This would eliminate only the exchange of the copies between field offices and would not eliminate the original notification going to the Bureau. (See Page 138)

27. Transmitting Communications to Other Agencies for Investigation

It was suggested that the uniform practice be adopted so that when a field office is in receipt of a communication from an individual complaining of a violation not under the Bureau's jurisdiction, a letter of acknowledgment would be prepared advising that the information was being furnished to the appropriate agency having jurisdiction and a copy of this letter of acknowledgment, together with the incoming communication, would be used in transmitting the complaint to the other Federal investigating agency having jurisdiction. This would eliminate a second letter of transmittal and also would eliminate the necessity for preparing copies of incoming communications. (See Page 139)

28. Bureau Response to Field Requests for Records

At the present, field offices send an original and copy of a letter to the Bureau asking for certain records of military service. Employees in the Identification Division obtain such information. It was felt that the reply or the notation "No record" should be placed on the copy of the incoming letter which will be returned promptly to the field office and that no separate new communication be prepared addressed to the field office. Of course, it is intended that the reply be typed on the original incoming letter with the copy on the carbon copy received, and the carbon copy is, therefore, returned to the field with the notation. (See Page 140)

29. Acknowledging United States Attorneys' Letters

The suggestion was made that it not be required that United States Attorneys' letters be acknowledged except, of course, in special circumstances when it would be obviously required. This eliminates routine unnecessary correspondence with United States Attorneys. (See Page 141)

30. Security Index Cards

It is the present practice in field offices to send in supplementary information to be added to security index cards (formerly known as custodial detention cards) and the Bureau would add the information to its card in Washington and make a photostatic copy which would be returned to the field. The suggestion is that the field, when sending in the information will add the additional or supplemental information furnished to the Bureau on a 5 x 8 card and attach it to the security card already maintained in the field office, thus eliminating the photostating and returning of the data. (See Page 142)

31. Submission of Daily Reports

No action The Conference unanimously approved the suggestion that the present practice of Agents' submitting their daily reports at the close of each day be continued, instead of awaiting their return to the field office and submitting them in groups. (See Page 146)

32. Furnishing Symbol Number Data to Field Offices

Bulletin At present, criminal records are furnished to field offices in instances on defense workers, and the plant, by War Department procedure, is designated by a symbol number. This occasions many letters from the field offices inquiring as to which plant is involved and a reply from the Bureau. This information is obtainable by merely making a telephone call to the local Procurement Officer of the Army. It was suggested that a letter to this effect be furnished to the field. (See Page 147)

33. Administrative Surveys by SACs

It was recommended that for the next six months only it be required that each Agent in Charge conduct a survey for one day of each month as to the following:

Bulletin
(1) Amount of time spent by Agents on dictation.
(2) Amount of time spent by Agents on file reviews.
(3) Amount of time spent by Agents in the field office.

It was further suggested that the SACs furnish the results of their surveys to the Bureau with their recommendations. This survey would result in presenting to the attention of the Special Agents individual and collective weaknesses so that the Bureau could instruct that corrective measures be taken. (See Page 148)

34. Amount of Time Spent in Office by Field Agents

Bulletin For the purpose of gaining SAC opinion concerning this matter, the SACs at Chicago were requested to advise as to what maximum amount of time they thought would be required on the part of a Special Agent to spend in the field office, as compared with the total amount of working time he put in each day. In February of 1941, a survey made in the Bureau reflected a total of nearly fifty per cent of Agents' time spent in the office. As a result of continuing surveys and letters to the field, the usual figure now is around thirty-six per cent. The SACs advised that they believe this figure should be reduced to twenty-five per cent. The Executive Conference felt that this was probably a fair minimum figure. (See Page 149)

35. Yearly Report of Leave Records Submitted by Field

Bulletin The suggestion was made that the annual report required on January 15th of each year, showing the amount of leave taken by various employees in each field office, be discontinued. (See Page 150)

36. Elimination of Report Showing Quarterly Conferences Held

At present, the field advises the Bureau as to the program and date for quarterly clerical and quarterly Agents' conferences. They subsequently advise that the meeting was held as scheduled. The suggestion was approved that this final letter be eliminated. (See Page 151)

37. One Letter to Report all Quarterly Police Conference Results from Each Office

At present, it is required that upon the return of an SAC from the holding of a Quarterly Police Conference, he submit a separate letter as to each conference held. The suggestion approved was that one letter from each office each quarter would suffice to report all of these statistics. (See Page 152)

38. Frequency of Holding Quarterly Police Conferences

Although the SACs desired that these conferences be reduced from quarterly to semiannually, the Executive Conference recommended that they be held three times per year and that the name be changed from "FBI Quarterly Police Conferences" to "FBI Law Enforcement Conferences". (See Pages 153 and 154)

39. Inspection of Firearms and Technical Equipment

It was suggested that the present requirements for the weekly inspection of firearms and technical equipment be changed to require that they be inspected at least once each two weeks. (See Page 155)

40. Applicant Interview Forms

It was believed that the Personnel and Budget Division should prepare an applicant interview form for clerical applicants similar to the type of applicant interview form used in reporting interviews with Special Agent applicants. (See Page 158)

41. Stamping and Initialing Register Form Number 3

The Agents register their arrivals and departures on Field Office Register Form Number 3. The SACs are responsible for supervising these reports. Some SACs block stamp and initial them; others merely initial them; while others examine them and send them to the file. The recommendation approved is that the requirement for the block stamp and initials be eliminated. (See Page 159)

42. Checking Telephone Bills in Field Offices

The Conference unanimously recommended that all telephone vouchers be checked against field office records in the field, and they opposed the suggestion that this practice be eliminated. (See Page 160)

43. Elimination of Unapproved Systems and Projects in the Field

The suggestion was unanimously approved for a continuous educational program by bulletins, letters, SAC Conferences, and training schools to eliminate the initiation of unapproved systems and unapproved projects in field offices. (See Page 161)

Resident Agencies

There was taken up with the Conference in Chicago the question of the desirability of Resident Agencies. All were unanimously of the opinion that Resident Agents were rather difficult to supervise, but their production was higher than that of road work Agents and there was greater economy, less travel, and more new business obtained because of such Resident Agencies. The Executive Conference reached the conclusion that wherever the practice of economy was existent that Resident Agencies should be continued. (See Page 162)

45. Field Office Correspondence Forms

The suggestion was approved that there be placed in the new Chief Clerks' Manual a sample of all correspondence and letter forms which have been approved by the Bureau for uniform use in all field offices. (See Page 165)

46. Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters

It was suggested that increased care be exercised by the preparing official and by the reviewing official to see that information which should be prepared initially in bulletin form is not sent out in SAC letters, which have to be retyped for distribution. (See Page 166)

47. In the following matters, no change was recommended by the Conference with reference to the suggestions listed:

(a) It was believed that the present rule was satisfactory as to whether a report or a memorandum should be prepared in the field.

(b) The deferred case situation should remain as at present.

(c) It was not believed that statistics should be recorded in the field, but at the Seat of Government by the Statistical Unit of the Crime Records Section.

(d) It was believed that there was proper and adequate authority for closing cases in the field administratively.

(e) It was believed that the present system of maintaining sources of information, confidential informant, and plant and national defense informant files was satisfactory.

(f) It was not believed that the Bureau should resort to the Recordak System of maintaining records.

(g) It was the consensus of opinion that the Bureau has been placing too much emphasis during inspections on the indexing of subject matter in Bureau Bulletins due to the fact that the material in bulletins is never searched for in the index cards, but it is filed in the "OO" files by subject matter and clerical employees automatically turn to these files for the more prompt location of the material.

(h) It was recommended that there be no change in the Bureau's policy with respect to including signed statements in investigative reports. (See Pages 167 and 168)

The Executive Conference action was unanimous with respect to each of the above matters.

Respectfully,

H. R. Clegg

all approved.

35. OLD ADMINISTRATIVE FILES TO BE DESTROYED. The old general administrative files of field offices, including voucher files, shall be destroyed in the future after the final serial of any volume of such files is three years old. This will permit the destruction of all old administrative files over three years old in the field office, and this time is significant due to the fact that vouchers clear through the General Accounting Office within a three-year period.

36. TICKLER FOR DESTRUCTION OF OLD MATERIAL IN INDIVIDUAL EMPLOYEES' ADMINISTRATIVE FILES. It is the present rule that material over one year old in administrative files on individual employees is to be destroyed. A monthly tickler for the destruction of such material by months after it is one year old shall be utilized.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. GLAVIN

Re: Public Law 115 - 78th Congress
To Provide for the Disposal of Certain Records of the United States Government

As you recall, during some of our budget discussions Mr. Moe indicated that the above captioned law was passed at the suggestion of the Budget Bureau, and he felt that it was a very worthwhile step and suggested that we look into the possibilities of destroying old and obsolete records.

It appears, according to the Act, a copy of which is attached, that the National Archives Council is promulgating regulations, establishing procedures for compiling and submitting lists of schedules to the Archivist of the United States and to likewise establish methods for the disposal of records authorized for such disposal.

RECORDED & INDEXED

ENCL

Briefly, it appears that the head of an agency may submit to the Archivist of the United States lists of records in the custody of the agencies that have been photographed or microphotographed and as a consequence do not appear to have sufficient value to warrant their further preservation by the Government. It further appears that lists of any other records in the custody of the agency that do not appear to be needed in the transaction of its current business may be scheduled on a list presented to the Archivist of the United States. It thereafter becomes the duty of the Archivist of the United States to submit the lists of schedules to Congress, and it is the duty of the Presiding Officer of the Senate to appoint two Senators who would meet with a Committee from the House to examine such lists and to make a recommendation as to their disposal. The agency thereafter is notified of this recommendation and the records may be disposed of as prescribed by law.

FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

While it appears that there is still considerable red tape to be followed before the records may be disposed of, it would appear that a practical arrangement might be worked out with the Archivist of the United States concerning matters of this kind, and I would recommend that all divisions in the Bureau undertake to submit a list of records to the Chief Clerk's Office that serve no value at the present time, at which time we could institute the necessary proceedings for their disposal.

In the event you feel that this contemplated project might merit further detailed study, I shall be very glad to arrange to discuss the practical aspects of this matter with the Office of the National Archivist as I feel that we may have in the Bureau a lot of records that could be disposed of with or without photographing and thereby make available considerable more space.

Respectfully,

[PUBLIC LAW 115—78TH CONGRESS]

[CHAPTER 192—1ST SESSION]

AN ACT

To provide for the disposal of certain records of the United States Government.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That when used in this Act, the word "records" includes all books, papers, maps, photographs, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by any agency of the United States Government in pursuance of Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Government or because of the informational value of data contained therein. Library and museum material made or acquired and preserved solely for reference or exhibition purposes, extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience of reference, and stocks of publications and of processed documents are not included within the definition of the word "records" as used in this Act.

SEC. 2. The National Archives Council shall promulgate regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, establishing (1) procedures for the compiling and submitting to the Archivist of the United States of lists and schedules of records proposed for disposal, (2) procedures for the disposal of records authorized for disposal, and (3) standards for the reproduction of records by photographic or microphotographic processes with a view to the disposal of the original records. Such regulations, when approved by the President, shall be binding on all agencies of the United States Government.

SEC. 3. The head of each agency of the United States Government shall submit to the Archivist of the United States, in accordance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 2 of this Act (1) lists of any records in the custody of the agency that have been photographed or microphotographed in accordance with the said regulations and that, as a consequence thereof, do not appear to have sufficient value to warrant their further preservation by the Government; (2) lists of any other records in the custody of the agency that are not needed by it in the transaction of its current business and that do not appear to have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their further preservation by the Government; and (3) schedules proposing the disposal after the lapse of specified periods of time of records of a specified form or character that either have accumulated in the custody of the agency or that may accumulate therein at any time after the submission of such schedules and that apparently will not after the lapse of the period specified have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their further preservation by the Government.

ENCLOSURE

SEC. 4. The Archivist shall submit to Congress, at such times as he shall deem expedient, the lists or schedules submitted to him in accordance with the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or parts of such lists or schedules, and lists or schedules of any records in his legal custody, insofar as it shall appear to him that the records listed in such lists or schedules do not, or will not after the lapse of the period specified, have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their continued preservation by the United States Government: Provided, That the Archivist shall not submit to Congress lists or schedules of records of any existing agency of the Government in his legal custody without first having obtained the written consent of the head of such agency.

SEC. 5. Whenever the Archivist shall submit lists or schedules to Congress, it shall be the duty of the presiding officer of the Senate to appoint two Senators who, with the members of the Committee on the Disposition of Executive Papers of the House of Representatives, shall constitute a joint committee to which all such lists or schedules shall be referred, and the joint committee shall examine such lists or schedules and submit to the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, a report of such examination and its recommendations.

SEC. 6. If the joint committee reports that any of the records listed in a list or schedule referred to it do not, or will not after the lapse of the period specified, have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their continued preservation by the Government, the Archivist shall notify the head of the agency by which the list or schedule was submitted of the action of the joint committee and the head of such agency shall cause such records to be disposed of in accordance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 2 of this Act.

SEC. 7. If the joint committee fails to make a report during any regular or special session of Congress on any list or schedule submitted to Congress by the Archivist not less than ten days prior to the adjournment of such session, the Archivist may empower the head of the agency who submitted the list or schedule to cause the records listed therein to be disposed of in accordance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 2 of this Act.

SEC. 8. Whenever it shall appear to the Archivist that any agency has in its custody, or is accumulating, records of the same form or character as any records of the same agency previously authorized by Congress to be disposed of, he may empower the head of such agency to dispose of such records, after they have been in existence a specified period of time, in accordance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 2 of this Act and without listing or scheduling them.

SEC. 9. Records pertaining to claims and demands by the Government of the United States or against it, or to any accounts in which the Government of the United States is concerned, either as debtor or creditor, shall not be disposed of by the head of any agency under any authorizations granted pursuant to the provisions of sections 6, 7, and 8 of this Act, until such claims, demands, and accounts have been settled and adjusted in the General Accounting Office, except upon the written approval of the Comptroller General of the United States.

SEC. 10. Whenever the Archivist and the head of the agency that has custody of them shall jointly determine that any records in the custody of any agency of the United States Government are a continuing menace to human health or life or to property, the Archivist shall cause such menace to be eliminated immediately by whatever method he may deem necessary. If any records in the custody of the Archivist are disposed of under this section, the Archivist shall report the disposal thereof to the agency from which they were transferred.

SEC. 11. At any time during the existence of a state of war between the United States and any other nation or when hostile action by a foreign power appears imminent, the head of any agency of the United States Government may authorize the destruction of any records in his legal custody situated in any military or naval establishment, ship, or other depository outside the territorial limits of continental United States (1) the retention of which would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States or (2) which occupy space urgently needed for military purposes and are, in his opinion, without sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their continued preservation: Provided, That within six months after the disposal of any such records, the official who directed the disposal thereof shall submit a written report thereon to the Archivist in which he shall describe the character of such records and state when and where the disposal thereof was accomplished.

SEC. 12. The Archivist shall transmit to Congress at the beginning of each regular session reports as to the records authorized for disposal under the provisions of section 7 of this Act and as to the records disposed of under the provisions of sections 9 and 10 of this Act.

SEC. 13. Photographs or microphotographs of any records made in compliance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 2 of this Act shall have the same force and effect as the originals thereof would have and shall be treated as originals for the purpose of their admissibility in evidence. Duly certified or authenticated reproductions of such photographs or microphotographs shall be admitted in evidence equally with the original photographs or microphotographs.

SEC. 14. All moneys derived by agencies of the Government from the sale of records authorized for disposal under the provisions of this Act shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States unless otherwise required by existing law applicable to the agency.

SEC. 15. The procedures herein prescribed are exclusive and no records of the United States Government shall be alienated or destroyed except in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 16. The Act entitled "An Act to provide for the disposition of certain records of the United States Government", approved August 5, 1939 (53 Stat. 1219), the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the disposition of certain photographed records of the United States Government, and for other purposes", approved September 24, 1940 (54 Stat. 958), and all other Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

Approved July 7, 1943.

CIRCULAR NO. 3854

TO THE HEADS OF ALL DIVISIONS, BUREAUS AND OFFICES, UNITED STATES ATTORNEYS, UNITED STATES MARSHALS AND FIELD OFFICES:

Section 3 of the Act of July 7, 1943, (Public No. 115, 78th Congress, 1st Session) provides for the disposal of certain records of the United States Government.

In order that this Department may comply with the Act and that a program of constantly freeing valuable space and equipment to more active and urgent uses may be instituted, it is requested that you submit on the inclosed form a list of all records in your custody.

The legal definition of "records" when used in the Act is as follows:

.....the word "records" includes all books, papers, maps, photographs, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by any agency of the United States Government in pursuance of Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organizations, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Government or because of the informational value of data contained therein. Material made or acquired and preserved only for convenience of reference is not included within the definition of the word "records" as used in this Act.

Extra copies of documents, stacks of publications and of processed documents, day books maintained only for convenience of reference and other non-record material may be destroyed at any time without authorization and, therefore, need not and should not be listed.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Description of Items: Each accumulation of records kept in separately organized files should be listed as a single item regardless of quantity. Sub-headings, folders and document contained in any accumulation of records susceptible of being listed as one item should not be listed individually. If the records listed as an item are composed of a single form, give the form number and title with additional description in cases where the title is not self-explanatory. If the records consist of the documents filed under a particular filing classification number, give the file number and the heading for which it stands, with additional description in cases where the heading is not self-explanatory. Otherwise, give the title or designation of the unit or class of records, with any additional description that may be necessary to indicate the nature of its contents. Appraisal will be facilitated if descriptions give some indication of the functions served by the records described. Use of the term "miscellaneous" should be avoided inasmuch as it is not adequately descriptive for purposes of appraisal. For each item indicate whether the copies included are sole record copies, duplicate record copies or all record copies. The term "duplicate record copies" will cover record copies other than one main set of record copies that is to be retained on file within the office. The term "extra copies" is applicable to copies preserved for convenience of reference only, in addition to one or more record copies. Such "extra" copies are not "records" for purposes of disposal.

2. Inclusive dates: Indicate the years, and months if the period is other than one of even calendar years, during which the material included in the item were accumulated as organized records.

3 & 4. Self-explanatory.

5. If records are to be scheduled for disposal after a lapse of a specified period of time as having, after the lapse of the period specified, insufficient administrative, legal, research or other value to warrant their further preservation, indicate the limit of time that these records must be retained before disposition is made and the manner in which they are to be disposed; if records have permanent administrative, legal or historical value, indicate by stating "retained permanently."

6. Give appropriate reasons for recommending the manner and time of disposal selected, e.g. "original preserved in General Accounting Office", "temporary administrative use only."

This form to be submitted in duplicate.

Re: Parole Abuses in Georgia

You will recall that some months ago SAC Hammack of the Atlanta Office made available to the Bureau nine packages of film made with the Photorecord Camera pertaining to the parole and pardon records of Georgia during the year 1942. This film was developed and viewed and later pertinent portions of the film were printed. These printed portions are being handled by separate memorandum.

RECOMMENDATION: Since the film is quite bulky and since it would seem to have no future value, it is suggested that it be destroyed at the present time.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. WAIKART

RE: LETTERS REQUESTING SUPPLIES
RECEIVED FROM FIELD

There are attached hereto several letters which have been received by the Bureau from various Field Offices in which they request that various supplies be furnished them. In this regard contact was made with Mr. Pfafman of the Laboratory, who stated that he had no further interest in these letters as he had detached the order forms which were attached to the incoming correspondence and that these forms were all that he was interested in and that from these forms he would comply with their request. He pointed out to the writer that he had no authorization to destroy these letters, and that the only place they could be destroyed under the present setup would be the Chief Clerk's Office or the Records Section. He was informed that the Records Section does not destroy material, and at the same time he was shown a list of the various types of correspondence that are destroyed by the Chief Clerk's Office. He saw no reason why the attached letters could not be destroyed.

Mr. Huston of the Chief Clerk's Office was contacted due to the fact that his section destroys a great deal of the letters requesting supplies and requisitions from Field Offices, and he stated that this being strictly a Lab material, he did not feel that the Chief Clerk's Office should destroy this type of communications. He felt that no one in theChief Clerk's Office would be willing to assume the responsibility when the request is not being complied with by the Chief Clerk's Office. Mr. Huston suggested that through the proper channels efforts be inaugurated whereby Lab would destroy this type of correspondence. Due to the fact that this material is of no benefit to the Bureau after the request has been complied with, the writer makes the following recommendation:

That suitable action be taken whereby the Lab be instructed that when they receive this type of communication and they have complied with the request contained therein, and it does not concern any other division that they be destroyed and not sent to files.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: FIELD OFFICE LETTERS REQUESTING SUPPLIES FROM THE TECHNICAL LABORATORY

Reference is made to the attached memorandum of Mr. Runaldue, Night Supervisor in the Records Section, dated February 10, 1944. It is pointed out therein that the Bureau's policy generally in connection with routine correspondence from the Field requisitioning supplies is to destroy same and maintain any necessary records in the Chief Clerk's Office. This procedure has been in effect for approximately a year and has worked out very satisfactorily, resulting in the elimination of much unnecessary filing of correspondence in the Records Section.

As indicated in the attached memorandum, the Technical Laboratory does not care to assume the responsibility of destroying the same type of correspondence, even though it relates purely to supplies from that division. Also, Mr. Huston states that inasmuch as they have nothing to do with furnishing the supplies it would be inconsistent for them to destroy the correspondence. It apparently is agreed that the correspondence is of no permanent value in our files. This is definitely proven by experience with the same type of correspondence as it relates to all other supplies requisitioned by the Field.

RECOMMENDATION: It is recommended that the Technical Laboratory be authorized to destroy all correspondence from the Field pertaining to the requisitioning of supplies and any necessary records thereof be maintained in that division.

Respectfully,

C. H. Patterson

SUBJECT:

The Conference, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Rosen, Mumford, Clegg, Hendon, Carson, Hince, Quinn Tamm, Tracy, Ladd, and Nichols, considered the matter of disposing of carbon copies of Special Agents' reports for the period 1908 to 1919.

Mr. Nichols pointed out that during that period the procedure was followed in the File Room of placing the original of an Agent's report in the case file and a copy in the Agent's administrative file. The copy in the administrative file is not indexed or recorded; it is filed by name. Copies placed in the case files are recorded and indexed.

This material now takes up space in 103 four-drawer file cabinets. Some of it was filed in bundles which were sent in from the field offices years ago. The material has absolutely no value so far as the Bureau is concerned. Mr. Seyfarth cannot recall when a request was made for the material and there have been no requests in recent years. So far as the copies of Agents' reports are concerned, they serve absolutely no purpose whatever, as the originals are indexed and in case files.

Interspersed with this material are certain original communications. Samples are attached hereto, consisting of letters from Agents advising they are about to be inducted in 1918; acknowledgments of badges; request for two days leave to help out in the Liberty Loan campaign; reporting sick leave; transmitting voucher; acknowledging receipt of commission cards, etc.. These serve no purpose. The Conference, however, felt that since these were original communications they should not be destroyed. It was unanimously recommended that the copies of Agents' reports be destroyed, that somebody go through and pick out the original communications which are to be kept. It will take one person approximately one month or six weeks to do this. However, it will free the 103 steel cabinets and give us considerable extra space.

There is listed herein certain material which, it is believed, can be destroyed as it has no value and is occupying valuable filing cabinet space in the Records Section. This material, for the past 18 years, has been forwarded to the Records Section by the Chief Clerk's Office of the Bureau and it is presently stored in steel filing cabinets in the attic. It is believed that the necessary action has been taken thereon and that this material can be disposed of.

I am attaching hereto, for your information, a sample copy together with a description of the material and the quantity of same we have on hand. For your further information there has been no request for any of this material during the past 18 years

Item No.	Description of Material	Quantity
1	Blue Slips--so-called--regarding charges paid for information, etc. during the years 1913 to 1931 inclusive. This material is filed in folders under the name of the Special Agent or employee that paid out this money.	14 drawers
2	Expense Account Letters sent to and received from Bureau Field Offices during the years 1923 and 1924. This material is filed in folders under the name of the Field Office.	1 drawer
3	Schedules of paid accounts. Forms 9DC, 1012, 1024, and 1034, vouchers sent by the Bureau to the Division of Accounts in the Department of Justice. These account forms cover the years 1926 to 1930 inclusive.	1 drawer
4	Leave record cards of the various employees of the FBI for the years 1919 to 1931 inclusive. These leave record cards are wrapped in packages and in boxes and occupy 5 file drawers.	5 drawers
5	Application forms for annual and sick leave submitted from employees in the various Field Offices during the years 1936 and 1937.	3 boxes

The Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Mumford, Gurnea, Clegg, Acers, Hince, Hendon, Nichols, Coffey, Carson, Quinn Tamm, Rosen and Glavin considered a memorandum from Mr. Seyfarth to Mr. Nichols concerning the destruction of certain old Administrative Division records maintained in the Files Section.

Glavin concurred with the recommendation made that the following old records be disposed of:

1. Expense account letters sent to and received from the Bureau's field offices during the years 1923 and 1924. This material is filed in folders under the name of the field office.

2. Schedules of paid accounts, years 1926 to 1930 inclusive.

3. Leave record cards of various employees of the FBI for the years 1919 to 1931 inclusive.

4. Application forms for annual and sick leave for the years 1936 and 1937.

5. Special Agent, accountant and clerical records of Headquarters of payment for expense vouchers for the years 1924 to 1927 inclusive.

6. Treasury Decisions for the years 1927 to 1930 inclusive.

7. Copies of old personnel classification sheets, no dates shown. Approximately 20 years old.

8. Personnel Orders and routing slips sent from the Director to Chief Clerk's office for the years 1926 to 1929 inclusive.

Samples of the above-mentioned material are attached hereto.

Glavin recommends to the Conference that the Blue Slips be maintained in the Voucher Section at the present time covering the period 1913 to 1931 since they are original and not duplicate records. The Conference agrees with the recommendation of Glavin concerning the retention and destruction of the material aforementioned.

John Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Since the inception of the Identification Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation we have followed the practice of filing material from police departments and other law enforcing agencies pertaining to the administrative handling of identification matters in a general file under the name of the city. These files contain such material as requests for fingerprint cards, penalty envelopes, disposition sheets, requests for criminal records with outgoing copies of Bureau letters advising of no record, copies of telegrams advising of the identification of criminals and similar related material.

We have found from experience that this material is seldom needed, and it is believed that no good purpose is served by keeping this material for more than one year. Accordingly, permission is requested to destroy all material in the Identification Division files, excepting communications less than one year old. This will result in a space saving of approximately 230 file cabinets.

SUBJECT: REQUESTED DESTRUCTION OF IDENT FILES MATERIAL

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 9-29-82 BY SP4 EAW/gmk - 5/4/44

There is attached hereto Mr. Quinn Tamm's and the writer's memoranda concerning the suggested destruction of certain Ident files material, and the Bureau's yellow copy of the memorandum of May 31, 1944 addressed to Mr. John Q. Cannon requesting authority to destroy all such material which is more than one year old.

Mr. Gerald J. Davis, Department of Justice representative at Archives, and Mr. A. Di Girolamo, in charge of the Department of Justice Records Section, called at the writer's office this morning with the original copy of our memorandum for Mr. Cannon and here went over our request for authority to destroy old mail. The writer went over samples of the Ident material with them and Mr. Davis of the Archives immediately stated that Archives would not be interested in the preservation of any of this material. Mr. Davis, in fact, paid very little attention to the material. Mr. Di Girolamo hardly looked at it. They explained that they would now make a routine written request by means of a regular form to Congress for authorization to destroy this material and that the authority should come through within a month at the most. It was necessary to decide upon a definite period of time for this original request and they were advised that the material would run from 1924 through 1942. Mr. Davis stated it would be best to set the limit as of the end of 1942 rather than at a date in 1943. This means that we will get authority soon to destroy all material in our possession dated in 1942 or prior thereto.

Mr. Di Girolamo then explained that he will have to make a separate request for continuing authority to destroy material as it becomes one year old and that it will take three or four months to get such continuing authority. He explained that this Bureau should receive from the Department of Justice two separate communications in the future, one giving us authority to destroy all material dated 1942 and prior thereto and the second authority giving us permission to destroy material as it becomes one year old.

Mr. Davis stated that it was only necessary to give a general description of the material which we wish to destroy and the general description which we finally worked out was to the effect that it would be material including Police Bulletins, Disposition Sheets and correspondence from and to local and state law enforcement agencies concerning fingerprint records and dispositions of arrest.

RECORDED & INDEXED

Mr. Davis further stated that it would be best if we could give them a complete sample of each type of the above material which they would keep permanently at Archives in case any question ever came up in the future.

55 JUN 10 1944

RECORDED COPY FILED IN

Accordingly Mr. Seyfarth is delivering to Mr. Di Girolamo today three different folders as follows:

(1) The folder on Minot, North Dakota containing approximately 125 pieces of correspondence and Disposition Sheets dated from September 3, 1924 through August 19, 1942.

(2) The folder containing Daily Police Bulletins from the Los Angeles, California Police Department dated from June 30, 1931 through July 8, 1942, one bulletin for each year being included as the sample.

(3) The folder containing Disposition Sheets from Fargo, North Dakota dated from February 19, 1924 through December 31, 1942. This folder contains some of the old Bertillon sheets originally sent to Leavenworth.

These three folders will be kept by Archives permanently and this will eliminate any necessity on our part of having to retain any old material for future reference or study.

Mr. Di Girolamo then gave to the writer the Department Circular number 3854 dated November 15, 1943 which called upon all Bureau agencies to list material in their possession which could be destroyed. Mr. Di Girolamo explained that the Bureau of the Budget has requested all Government agencies to vigorously attempt to request authority to dispose of useless records in order that space may be saved. Mr. Di Girolamo urged that the Bureau make every effort to survey its material and get rid of their useless and unused communications. There is also attached hereto Form DCR-1 which is a "Records Inventory and Appraisal Schedule". He and Mr. Davis explained that if the Bureau wishes to request authority to dispose of any records all we have to do is to fill out one of these forms for each type of material and send it to the Department. Mr. Di Girolamo further explained that the Department itself is having its United States Attorneys and Marshals and all of its divisions here at the Seat of Government survey all of their records and is going to submit to Congress in about two months a request for the disposal of a great amount of Department of Justice records. He asks that if we have any material which we could think of destroying it could be accelerated by getting it in with the Department's request.

It would appear to the writer that this is now the time for us to take vigorous steps to request authority to dispose of certain records. Here in the Records Section I will see that a complete survey is made and there will be submitted to you in just a few days our recommendations of material which we feel might be disposed of at this time. Right off hand I can think of the thirty-two file cabinets full of un-indexed, un-recorded, and un-filed name search forms, old Return A Crime Statistics Forms, twenty-two cabinets full of un-numbered and un-indexed applications belonging to the Personnel Records Section covering the period 1917-1923, possibly the Plant Survey files (at least as soon as the war is over because the plants will be considerably altered at that time), considerable Chief Clerk's Office material which, of course, is being presently handled by Mr. Seyfarth, several hundred 5 x 8 drawers of editorial cards containing subversive information of the last World War.

A complete recommendation will be submitted to you in a few days.

Reference is made to Mr. Quinn Tamm's memorandum for Mr. Tracy of April 27, 1944 in which he suggests that Ident mail which is one or more years old might possibly be destroyed and no longer retained by the Bureau.

Attached hereto are samples of various types of Ident mail as follows:

(1) Los Angeles Daily Police Bulletin
A Wanted Notice is posted in Ident on all persons listed therein as being wanted. This Notice is placed in a jacket. These Bulletins are then sent to Ident Files for filing.

(2) Transcript of Criminal Record addressed to War Department
A copy of this form letter is kept in the Identification Division in a jacket and another copy is sent to our Ident Files for filing.

(3) Lists from various agencies regarding paroles, releases, returns, and discharges
These types of communications are kept for three weeks in the Identification Division after which the names are searched in the Card Index Section. The names are posted and the lists then sent to our Ident Files for filing.

(4) Miscellaneous Movement - California State Prison at San Quentin, and Prisoners received
These lists are received from San Quentin. They are merely sent direct to us in our Ident Files to be filed. Nothing is done with them in the Identification Division. With regard to these lists, it would at least appear that these should be destroyed upon receipt by the Identification Division and not even sent to us because nothing is done with them.

(5) Communications from [redacted]
The names contained therein are posted in the Identification Division, and the letters then sent to our Ident Files for filing.

(6) Navy Department Cards
I have submitted within the past few days a separate memorandum to you regarding these. The names on these cards are posted in a jacket, or if there is a print on the individual, posted to the print and filed in the Identification Division. They are eventually released to our Ident Files for filing.

(7) Photographs of Criminals
Photographs are often received with merely a name. Some of them do not even have a name. No record is kept regarding such photographs in the Identification Division. These photographs are then sent to the Records Section for filing. In Ident Files at the present time we have a file cabinet practically full of such photographs. I believe this has been brought to the Bureau's attention in the past, but authority was not granted to destroy these photographs. There certainly appears to be no reason to keep them.

(8) Various Disposition Sheets
The names on these sheets are posted to the jacket. Sometimes these sheets are kept in the jacket indefinitely before being removed and are removed only when a subsequent Disposition is received at which time the first Disposition Sheet in the jacket is removed and sent to our Ident Files for filing.

I am not absolutely positive that the details of the procedures I have set out above are correct in every detail, but I believe they are substantially correct. Needless to say, if all Ident mail could be destroyed after it is one year old or even five years old such procedure would be a tremendous benefit to us.

It should be pointed out that Disposition Sheets are filed separately from the regular Ident mail. This means that if it is directed that only certain types of material be destroyed after a certain length of time, we would have to go through all our folders and separate the mail piece by piece to pick out that which could be destroyed, which procedure would, of course, be slow and burdensome. If it is felt that some material could be destroyed after, let us say, one year, and other material could not be destroyed until, let us say, after five years, I would recommend that all material be authorized to be destroyed after five years. By maintaining this procedure, we would not have to go through our files and separate the mail.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TRACY

At the Executive Conference the other day, during the discussion of material which could be destroyed by the Files Section, I recommended orally that during the survey which is going to be made in the Files Section all material in the Ident Files which is over five years old be destroyed, pointing out that the Identification Division has very little occasion to refer to such material after a period of five years. The principal use of this material is in cases where disposition sheets have been incorporated into a jacket and at a later date the question arises as to the accuracy of the disposition posted, at which time the original disposition sheet is obtained from the Files Section for verification.

After checking with the Agent Supervisors of the Identification Division, I have ascertained that such cases usually occur within the first year after the posting of these sheets, mostly in cases of a Bureau fugitive, consequently, I believe that the Ident File mail could be destroyed after it has been maintained by the Bureau for one year. I believe that this would result in a material saving of space to the Files Section.

Respectfully,

Quinn Tamm

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF RECOVERED FILE IN THE NATIONAL STOLEN PROPERTY INDEX

There is attached hereto two cards which were formerly filed in the National Stolen Property Index. It was the practice, at one time, to index all recoveries on police bulletins. These recoveries were not made through the National Stolen Property File but by police departments who by letter had reported the recoveries to the Bureau.

When Mr. Egan inspected the Records Section in 1939, the suggestion was made that these cards be removed and placed in a separate dead file, file- 67-7400-F-52, page 28. This suggestion was approved and these buff cards were taken out of the National Stolen Property Index and have been filed at the Armory up until a short while ago when they were transferred to the eighth floor. The attached cards serve no useful purpose whatsoever and occupy three index drawers. As far as we can ascertain no reference has been made to these cards nor has any mail been searched against them since 1939 when they were taken out of the National Stolen Property Index.

This matter has been thoroughly checked by the Index Research Section of the Searching Unit and they have ascertained that in nearly all instances the same information is in the National Stolen Property Index on a white or blue card which is stamped with the work recovered. In other words, this same information is presently available in the National Stolen Property Index. It is further to be noted that they have no statistical value inasmuch as the recoveries were made by the police departments and merely listed on the police bulletins. They do not contain any recoveries which were made as a result of searches through the National Stolen Property Index.

RECOMMENDATION:

Inasmuch as these cards served no usefur purpose and are merely the result of duplicate indexing that was done at one time in the Records Section, it is recommended that they be destroyed.

The Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Quinn Tamm, Tracy, Ladd, Rosen, Hendon, Glavin, Carson and Nichols considered Mr. Quinn Tamm's suggestion to the effect that all material in the Identification Files be destroyed after the elapse of one year.

Following this suggestion a survey was made of the material, and according to Messrs. Tracy and Quinn Tamm very little reference is made to the material. For the most part material in the Identification Files consists of requests from police departments for fingerprints and other supplies, yellows of outgoing letters advising no record in criminal cases (whenever there is a criminal record a note is made and a copy of the yellow filed with the jacket), movements of prisoners, photographs of criminals, disposition sheets and other material.

To be specific, the following is a brief summary of the contents of the file of Fayetteville, Tennessee Police Department, which contains the following documents: a number of outgoing letters advising no record of criminals, a wire advising of the identification of latent fingerprints, a request for fingerprint cards, a return of duplicate fingerprints, a request for penalty envelopes and National Defense cards, copies of criminal record, a letter requesting the return of individual fingerprints, a letter transmitting photographs and fingerprints of criminals, a telegram expressing regret at not furnishing identifying criminal data, a telegram advising of the identity of a criminal.

There are attached hereto several files picked at random.

The Conference unanimously recommended that all material in the Identification Files be destroyed after the elapse of one year with the exception of files of foreign sources and other federal agencies. This will free approximately 230 file cabinets.

Mr. Nichols stated that to secure authority to destroy such material it is necessary for the Department first to take the matter up with the archivist. An inspection is made of the material, and then he makes a report to the Senate Committee on Useless Papers, who in resolution authorize the destruction of the files.

SUBJECT:

The Executive Conference, consisting of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Glavin, Q. Tamm, Carson, Nichols, Ladd, Hendon, Clegg, Keen, Hince, and Acers, considered the requirement set forth in Section 4E.(2) of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, which requires that the administrative file of an individual employee, which is retained in field offices in monthly folders be destroyed as soon as any monthly group becomes twelve months old. The present Manual requirement states, "A monthly tickler for the destruction of such material shall be utilized."

The Conference was unanimously in favor of the recommendation that the wording, "Monthly tickler for the destruction of such material shall be utilized" be amended to read, "An annual tickler for the destruction of such material be utilized."

For the Director's information, by the use of an annual tickler for the destruction of such administrative files and material over one year of age, it will save the time of the Chief Clerk, who under present regulations must check these files monthly.

If the Director approves, the field will be advised by appropriate Manual change.

You will recall that a few weeks ago the Records Section recommended that 20 file cabinets full of old, unindexed White Slave Traffic Act cases investigated by the Bureau between the years 1912 -- 1919, be destroyed. You will further recall that this was finally agreed upon and the Bureau sent a memorandum to the Department recommending that approval be granted for the destruction of same.

This is to advise that on August 11, 1944 Mr. Gerald Davis and V. L. Bedsole of the Justice Archives called at the writer's office and went over this request. Mr. Seyfarth and I also took them up to the eighth floor where they looked at a few folders containing these reports. Mr. Davis stated that they were concerned with the question of the investigative value of these reports and whether they possibly should be retained. After going over this with him, he stated that he was convinced that there was no need to retain these reports and Archives would so recommend.

He and Mr. Bedsole then stated that they were also interested in the possible historical value of these reports. He said that Archives may wish to retain these reports themselves so that sociological and historical study of them may be made. Mr. Davis stated that he will probably want to come back in a few days and get two or three folders for examination by his colleagues at Archives if they decided that they may be of some value from that standpoint.

DESTRUCTION OF OLD RECORDS

There are attached hereto samples of old records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation which have no further value and, therefore, it is requested that authority be obtained for the destruction of same. These old records relate to closed investigations of White Slave Traffic Act violations for the period of 1912 to 1919 inclusive. These old reports were not indexed and they are of no permanent value to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. These old reports are stored in filing cabinets on the eighth floor of the Department of Justice Building and cover approximately 200 linear feet.

These old records are never referred to and are occupying valuable space. It is, accordingly, requested that permission be granted to destroy same.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

I am attaching hereto samples of memoranda, etc. sent to and from the FBI to the Board of Parole in the Department of Justice. These memoranda relate to persons convicted and sentenced for terms in the penitentiary. No index cards have been made on the names of these individuals and there is no way they could be identified. Furthermore, there has never been a request made for this material either by the Board of Parole or by the FBI. It is believed that this type of correspondence can be destroyed. We have on hand at the present time one-half file cabinet drawer filled with this correspondence.

SUBJECT: Re: Consideration of old obsolete material for destruction by the Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Rosen, Mumford, Coffey, Nichols, Ladd, Hince, Tracy and Glavin.

It was pointed out that at the present time in the Files Section there is about one-half of a cabinet drawer filled with correspondence including memoranda sent to and from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Board of Parole in the Department of Justice relating to persons convicted and sentenced for terms in the penitentiary. No index cards have been made on these individuals and there is no way this information could be identified. There has never been a request made for this material either by the Board of Parole or the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The material is dated 1920.

Mr. Rosen, Assistant Director of the Investigative Division, sees no need for the retainment of the material and feels that it should be destroyed and the Conference so recommends.

You will recall that the Bureau has made a request of the Department that we be permitted to destroy 20 cabinets full of old White Slave Traffic Act cases. You will further recall that Mr. Davis and a Mr. Bedsole of the National Archives were here about one month ago at which time they stated Archvies might be interested in these cases from the historical standpoint and would want to look at them further.

A Mr. B. F. Allen of Archives came to the Bureau this morning and Mr. Seyfarth took him upstairs to the eighth floor where he checked these files for about an hour and a half. He again stated that Archvies was only interested in these possibly from the historical standpoint. He picked out two files and asked that these be sent over to Archives for further study, inasmuch as these are representative of the type of material to be found in this collection. These two cases are: H. Leo Ainsworth, etal, and Paul Churchwell.

This is being submitted for your information and, if there is no objection, Mr. Seyfarth will take these two files over to Mr. Allen personally.

Mr. Allen also stated that he might wish to return later for further study.

The Records Section has on hand five file cabinet drawers filled with duplicate copies of Investigation Reports. These reports are the results of investigations conducted in the Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio areas during the first World War and up until about the year 1920. These duplicate copies of reports relating to various cases were forwarded by the Cincinnati Field Office to the Bureau under date of April 8, 1943. They are presently stored on the eighth floor of this building. I have checked over twenty-five of these duplicate reports referring to various cases to ascertain whether or not we have the original reports in our files. I found upon examination that the original reports in all cases have been properly indexed and the reports have been properly classified, numbered, etc., and are filed in filing cabinets with our regular Bureau files.

There are also stored on the eighth floor of this building four file cabinet drawers filled with duplicate copies of Investigation Reports relating to investigations made by Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents in the Canal Zone, Juneau, San Juan, Little Rock and Hot Springs, Arkansas Field Offices. These duplicate copies of reports date from the year 1914 to 1940 inclusive. The reports are in connection with closed cases handled in these offices and the reports were sent to the Bureau to permit more space in the respective offices in order to be able to handle the current cases as they are received. I checked ten files from each of these respective offices and find that we have on record the originals of these duplicate reports.

In view of the fact that these duplicate copies of reports are occupying valuable space and the originals of the reports are on record, it is requested that authority be granted to destroy these duplicate copies of reports. It is believed that no authorization is required from the Department to destroy these duplicate reports inasmuch as they are duplicate copies of reports made as a result of investigations conducted by Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time 60 steel file cabinet drawers filled with duplicate copies of investigative reports. These reports relate to all types of investigations made by Federal Bureau of Investigation Special Agents assigned to the Washington and Baltimore Field Offices. These investigations cover the years 1917 to 1924 inclusive. The file cabinets containing these duplicate reports were turned over to the Records Section by the Washington Field Office at the time the Washington Field Office moved into this building in the year 1934. The file cabinets containing these duplicate copies of reports were sent to the Records Section for storage because of lack of space in the file room assigned to the Washington Field Office in this building.

I have checked over approximately 35 folders containing these duplicate copies of reports to ascertain whether or not we have in our possession the original report. I found, upon examination, that we have index cards relating to all these cases filed in proper order in our regular indices. The original reports have been properly routed, classified, recorded, indexed, etc., and have been filed in file covers and placed in filing cabinets along with other regular Bureau files. The index cards prepared by the Baltimore Field Office regarding the file number they have assigned to these cases is in our possession and are filed in a file cabinet drawer along with these files. The index cards prepared by the Washington Field Office relating to these investigations, it is believed, are still in possession of the Washington Field Office. In view of the fact that we have the original reports in our files and these duplicate copies of reports are of no value, it is recommended for your approval that these copies of reports be destroyed. If approval is given to destroy these reports, we will have 12 5-drawer steel filing cabinets, which as you know are urgently needed to take care of the current cases which are received daily.

For your information, I am attaching hereto 6 folders containing duplicate copies of reports regarding investigations made by Special Agents assigned to the Washington and Baltimore Field Offices.

The Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Tamm, Coffey, Acers, Clegg, Ladd, Mumford, Carson, Tracy, Hince, Nichols, Rosen and Glavin considered the possible destruction of old material mentioned in Mr. Seyfarth's memorandum to you dated August 25, 1944, concerning 60 steel file cabinet drawers filled with duplicate copies of investigative reports; that these copies of reports cover investigations made by Special Agents of the FBI assigned to the Washington and Baltimore Divisions, these investigations covering the years 1917 to 1924 inclusive. It is noted that Mr. Seyfarth in his memorandum to you stated that the original reports indexed and the copies of the reports as reflected by this obsolete material are not needed.

Mr. Rosen states he has no objection to the destruction of the records. Mr. Ladd states that he has no objection to the destruction of the records but suggests that some arrangement be effected concerning the index cards in the Washington Field Office card index at the present time.

The Obsolete Material Committee recommended that this material be destroyed and the Conference approved. Therefore, appropriate clearance should be secured to destroy the material in question.

Reference is made to my memorandum to you dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time 14 steel file cabinet drawers filled with investigative reports and miscellaneous correspondence addressed to various individuals and also memoranda addressed to former Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. Frank Burke. These reports and correspondence relate to investigations made by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with violations of the Lever Act, also known as Profiteering in Food and High Cost of Living. These investigations were made in the years 1919 and 1920. Some of these reports are filed in folders in alphabetical order under the name of the city where the investigation or report was made and some are filed in folders in alphabetical order under the name of the article, such as coal, sugar, coffee, etc. The correspondence and memoranda are filed in alphabetical order in folders under the name of the company charged with violating the Lever Act and under the name of the individual to whom the communications are addressed.

There are no index cards in the regular indices in connection with these cases, and there is absolutely no way in which to identify same. Furthermore, these cases are approximately 25 years old and are in a closed status. There has never been a request received for any of this material. In view of the fact that these cases are closed and that they are of no value, it is recommended for your approval that these folders containing these reports and correspondence be destroyed. If approval is given to destroy these files, we will have available at least 14 steel file cabinet drawers to take care of the more important current cases which are received each day.

For your information, I am attaching hereto 4 of these folders. One contain investigative reports regarding profiteering in coal, another contains investigations regarding profiteering in sugar, another contains memoranda addressed to former Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. Frank Burke, and the last, correspondence addressed to and received from various individuals.

Mr. Rosen (10/14) and Mr. Ladd (10/17) have no objection to destruction.

SUBJECT: RE: LABORATORY FILES

As you know we recently acquired from the Records and Communications Division over two hundred file cabinets full o what are termed "Closed Laboratory Files". The term "Closed Laboratory File" means that it has not been active during the past three months. At the present time there is very little room for expansion within the cabinets themselves or space for the acquiring and placing of additional cabinets. It is suggested that this problem might be solved in some way other than acquiring additiona l space which, of course, is a continuous thing.

It is my understanding that the laboratory files duplicate to a great extent material contained in the file on the same subject matter maintained in the R cords Section. However, they do contain some material which will be found in no other place such as (1) Laboratory work sheets and examiners' notes, (2) originalevidence. (3) evidence wrappings, (4) photographs of evidence. After a certain number of years why could not we then permanently dispose of that meterial which duplicates material in a file maintained in the R cords Section and take the remainder of the material and add it to the file in the Records Section either by placing it in the file or an anenclosure bheind the file, perhaps, and this is only suggested, using the statute of limitations as the division line.

In connection with the extortion cases alone, classification 9, file 9-7840 was opened June 30, 1941. We now have in the Laboratory Files Unit a file on extortion cases from the year 1934 (file 9-2) up to and including cases opened in June, 1941 (file 9-7838). This material occupies the space in forty file cabinets. It is believed that a competent clerical employee could check the case file in the Records Section and the Laboratory file and reach a decision as to whether there was any necessity for continuing the Laboratory file. This person could then remove from the Laboratory file the examiner's work sheets and notes, any original evidence, and the evidence wrappings, place these in an appropriate envelop properly marked and through proper procedure have it included with the file in Records Section. It would not be necessary to retain photographs of evidence since it is understood that the negatives are retained by the Mechanical Section and if the occasion ever arose when it would be necessary to have photographs the prints could be made from the negatives.

It is possible that by determining a length of period that would be absolutely safe we couldeven go further and completely destroy the file. For instance, if the subject in the case were convicted and given a two year sentence and that was five years ago I cannot see the further value of the material in the case unless it could be for some possible future reference. On the other hand, as a rule if there has been no prosecution and the statute of limitations has run and the case is closed the value of the material from a possible prosecutive angle is gone. Yet we have to remember and bear in mind the Robinson case and its fairly recent developments where he had served some of his sentence and then was able to obtain a new trial and the evidence was again needed.

My recommendation would be along the line of the first one mentioned; that the material be consolidated with the file in the Records Section after a certain length of time, bearing in mind the present activity in the file, if any. In connection with all of this, of course, we have to bear in mind the relative expense, that is, whether it is cheaper to acquire space and keep the files or to ahve an employee who will be paid to spend time in carrying out the disposal of the file as well as the expense connected with the personnel in the Records Section in adding the material we desire to retain to the investigative file.

TO: THE DIRECTOR 10/27/44 80343

FROM: THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

The Conference was advised that the Laboratory is presently studying several hundred cabinets which contain closed Laboratory files with a view to determining whether some of these can be destroyed and sapce thus saved. Mr. Coffey advises that 40 cabinets contain Laboratory files in extortion cases which occurred prior to June 30, 1941, and against which the statute of limitations has run. He further advised that for the most part these cases are closed and since the statute has run the likelihood that they would ever be reopened is very remote. The Laboratory files in these cases as a general rule contain the original extortion note and some original known writing specimens and the original work sheet of the Laboratory examiner. The great vulk of the Laboratory file is then made up of duplicates of correspondence that is in the main Bureau file and extra copies of photographs of the evidence.

Mr. Coffey proposed that of these 40 cabinets 10 be subjected to individual case review wherein wherever a Laboratory file is found in which

1. the case is closed,
2. the statute of limitations has run, and
3. there appears to be no other indication as to why the file should remain active, in these instances the original extortion note, the original known specimens, and the original work sheet be placed in a manila envelope upon which is placed the case file number and that the same be transferred to the main Bureau file on the case, all of the remainder of the Laboratory file to be then destroyed as constituting duplicate material.

After the work on these 10 cabinets has been finished it can then be determined whether the space saved is sufficiently worthwhile when weighed against the time involved to do the work and a decision reached as to whether this procedure should continue through other closed Laboratory files.

The Conference, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Curnea, Acers, Ladd, Clegg, Hendon, Nichols, Carson, Tracy, Glavin, and Coffey, was unanimously of the opinion that this procedure should be followed.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

There are attached hereto samples of correspondence and memoranda to and from J. A. Russell, former Chief Clerk of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This correspondence relates to administrative nature and is dated in the year 1922. There has never been a request made for any of this material and it is believed that it can be destroyed. We have at the present time one-half file cabinet drawer filled with this type of correspondence.

Reference is made to Mr. Seyfarth's memoranda to you dated June 15, 1944, concerning the destruction of old materials which are as follows:

1. Correspondence and memoranda to and from J. A. Russell, former Chief Clerk of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, relating to administrative matters dated in the year 1922. Mr. Seyfarth points out that there has never been any request for this material and believes it can be destroyed.

2. Correspondence sent to and received from United States Marshals regarding matters of an administrative nature.

3. Correspondence sent to and received from Special Agents regarding administrative matters dated in 1920.

4. Correspondence received from the various government departments and other miscellaneous Bureaus of the government relating to various miscellaneous matters dated in the year 1920.

5. Letters filed in folders under the name of the Fair Price Commissioner and the city and state where he is located.

6. Letters dated in the year 1920, relating to supplies furnished to the Field Offices and expenses incurred in operating their offices.

The Useless Document Committee of the Bureau recommends that these items be destroyed since there appears to be no need at all for them. It is, therefore, suggested that appropriate clearance be obtained to have these materials destroyed.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

We have on hand at the present time thirty-six file cabinet drawers filled with duplicate copies of old Anti-Trust Investigation Reports. These copies of reports are dated from 1912 to 1924 inclusive.

For your information Mr. C. L. Keep, a former Special Agent Supervisor assigned at the Seat of Government to supervise Anti-Trust cases, kept these duplicate copies of reports in file cabinets in his office. They were kept mainly for his convenience. Mr. Keep, as he received the original and copies of an investigative report, would detach the copies, assign a number thereto on each separate case and would note on the side of the duplicate report the file number which was assigned to this particular case by the Bureau. He also prepared on a sheet of paper the name of the different cases under investigation, the number he assigned to the case, and the number that was assigned by the file room. The only reason for doing this was that Mr. Keep would have available at all times copies of all reports relative to cases involving violations of the Anti-Trust laws. In as much as all these cases are now closed and these copies of reports are occupying valuable space, it is believed that same can be destroyed. I am attaching hereto a sample of these duplicate copies of reports.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time twenty five-drawer steel filing cabinets containing folders in which are filed closed cases regarding investigations in connection with White Slave Traffic Act violations. These investigations were made by Special Agents of the Bureau during the period 1912 to 1919 inclusive.

It is my recollection that during the years 1912 to 1919 inclusive the Special Agent Supervisor at the Seat of Government handling White Slave Traffic Act investigations sent from FBI Field Offices used the following filing system. When a report on a new case was received there was no index card made on the name of the particular subject or victim. However, there was listed on a yellow abstract slip 3 x 5 inches in size the following information: the names of the subjects and also the names of the victims. These yellow slips were filed in alphabetical order in boxes and were kept on his desk. The reports, correspondence, etc. were filed in folders arranged in order of the date of the report or letter etc. and these folders were then filed in alphabetical order in filing cabinets according to the name of the subject and were kept in the Supervisor's office. As subsequent reports and correspondence was received relating to any particular case showing what action was taken a notation was placed on the yellow abstract slip and the same information was either stamped or written on the folder of that particular case. These notations consisted as follows: "CLOSED - WHITE SLAVE FILES", "SENTENCED TO FOUR MONTHS JAIL DATED FROM TIME OF COMMITMENT", "TO PAY A FINE OF $350 OR SERVE THREE MONTHS IN JAIL", "CASE NOLLE PROS.". I have endeavored to locate these abstract slips but they are not available. It is my belief that these slips were disposed of after the investigations of these White Slave Traffic Act cases were closed. In view of the fact that these White Slave Traffic Act cases are approximately twenty-five years old and the investigations on same have been completed it is believed that these folders containing these reports and correspondence can be destroyed. If approval is given to destroy this material the Records Section will have available these twenty five-drawer steel filing cabinets which, as you know, are urgently needed for taking care of our more important correspondence and reports.

EX-27 RECORDED & INDEXED 166-3286-13

For your information I am attaching hereto four folders containing reports and correspondence in White Slave Traffic Act investigations.

There are no index cards on these. They, this mail are just filed away - buried - on 8th floor.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 regarding obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand twenty-four four-drawer file cabinets filled with letters and applications received from various persons applying for positions as Special Agents, stenographers and clerks in the Federal Bureau of Investigation. These letters and applications are dated from 1917 to 1923 inclusive. They are placed in folders under the name of the individual submitting the application or letter and are filed in alphabetical order. There are also six file drawers filled with this same type of correspondence, however, this correspondence, etc., is placed in files according to the last name of the individual submitting the application or letter. In other words, all correspondence, etc., received from anyone whose last name begins with the letter "A" is filed in the file labeled on the outside--"A", and so on through the alphabet to the letter "Z".

There are no index cards in our regular indices covering the above correspondence, etc., and there is absolutely no way to identify the same. In the years 1917 to 1923 inclusive, when the Bureau received a letter or application from persons applying for a position with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the correspondence was placed in a folder under the name of the particular individual. No index card or abstract slip was typed, and as subsequent mail from the same individual was received and action had been taken on same, it was filed in that particular person's file folder in date order. As far as I can determine, there has never been a call for the above correspondence, and it is believed that same may be destroyed.

For your further information, I am attaching hereto six folders containing communications, etc., received from persons applying for positions with the Bureau. I am also attaching hereto a file which contains applications and communications received from various individuals whose last name begins with the letter "A" and who are applying for positions with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This file also contains correspondence from persons recommending these individuals for positions with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Executive Conference, consisting of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Rosen, Quinn Tamm, Nichols, Hendon, Acers, Coffey, Carson, Mumford, Hince, Ladd and Glavin, considered the necessity for retaining certain old records that have outlived their period of usefulness in the Bureau's files. The Conference recommended unanimously that the disposition of the files be made in the following manner:

(1) Old inventory records dating back through 1934 should be destroyed after three years.

(2) Old statistical records dating back to June, 1935, when statistics were maintained in the Chief Clerk's Office, be destroyed. Statistics at the present time are being maintained by the Crime Statistics Section. Rough statistical records involved, copy of which is attached hereto, serve no useful purpose.

(3) Old ledger sheets of expenses going back many years. These old records serve no useful purpose at this time and it is felt that after a period of three years such records can be destroyed. It is felt that they should be kept for three years so that if any question comes up on any appropriation of the Bureau, a check can be made to appeal the disposition of a particular account at the time it was submitted.

(4) Old duplicates of contracts entered into by the Bureau. It is not felt that these duplicate contracts need be retained for a period of more than one year. They are copies only; there is a copy in the Department and also the original in the General Accounting Office.

(5) Rough statistical data on old war risk insurance cases prepared by former war risk insurance supervisors. It is not felt that any of these statistical figures older than three years are at all necessary and they should be destroyed.

(6) Old duplicate copies of payrolls. It is not felt that payrolls need be retained over a period of three years.

(7) Copies of reports showing status of cases for certain months throughout the fiscal year. This report is a divisional report reflecting the number of cases pending at the end of each month and reflects no information of any value. It is recommended that all material of this type over three years be destroyed.

(8) Old ledgers reflecting other expenses going back for a number of years. It is suggested that all of these records over three years old be destroyed.

The Conference was advised that the Useless Document Committee had reviewed these documents and is in accord that they should be destroyed.

These Official Publications, Bulletins, etc., are dated from the years 1925 to 1944 inclusive. The Official Publications are filed by state and then broken down and filed in alphabetical order according to the city in each state. There are at the present time nineteen file cabinet drawers filled with these Official Publications issued by these Police Departments.

It is suggested that we keep only Official Publications issued by the Police Departments during the years 1943 and 1944, and that all Official Publications prior to the year 1943 be destroyed. For your information, I am attaching hereto samples of various types of Official Publications and Bulletins which have been issued by the Police Departments.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944 in regard to obsolete material that can be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time Annual Police Reports issued by the various Police Departments throughout the United States and foreign countries. These annual reports are dated from the years 1929 to 1944 inclusive. These annual reports are filed in alphabetical order by state and then broken down and filed by the city under each state. The annual reports occupy seven four-drawer filing cabinets. It is suggested that only the annual reports of these Police Departments for the years 1943 and 1944 be retained and that the reports prior to the year 1943 be destroyed. For your information, I am attaching hereto samples of these Annual Police Reports.

We have worked out in detail the steps to be followed in destroying Identification mail which is of more than one year in age. It is recommended that we proceed as follows:

(1) We will go through each individual folder and take therefrom all mail dated June 30, 1943 or prior thereto.

(2) Each piece of mail will be torn into and thrown into cardboard boxes.

(3) This destroyed mail will be taken at the close of business each day to the paper room in the Identification Division in the basement where it will be taken away along with all other waste Identification Division mail. It is understood that this material is contracted for by paper companies and is not burned up. However, it is believed that this Ident mail is in no way confidential.

(4) The only material to be destroyed is that received from domestic sources. Ident mail received from foreign and domestic Federal sources is not to be destroyed.

(5) The destruction of this material will be very closely supervised. Miss Irene Clementz, one of the assistant Coordinators in the Filing Unit, who is in charge of the Ident files directly under Special Agent Brown will personally supervise the entire procedure. Mr. Brown, Mr. Seyfarth and the writer will, of course, check on the operations constantly.

(6) There will no doubt be problems presented from time to time in connection with this project and it may be necessary to bring to your's and the Bureau's attention some various types of mail for question. Caution will be used and in case of any doubt each matter will be brought to your attention by memorandum.

(7) We will probably be able to place ten employees on this project, and it is estimated that it will take about a month to complete.

Reference is made to Mr. Seyfarth's memorandum to you under date of June 24, 1944, wherein he recommends the destruction of certain old obsolete material as follows:

That material located in twenty-four four-drawer file cabinets filled with letters and applications received from various persons applying for positions as Special Agents, stenographers and clerks which date from 1917 to 1923 inclusive, be destroyed.

It is noted that there are no index cards on this material and there is no way it could be located other than going through the file as it is alphabetically set up at the present time. It is noted Mr. Seyfarth states that no call has been made for this material.

It is felt that since the material serves no useful purpose, authority be secured by you from the appropriate authorities for its destruction.

The Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Carson, Clegg, Hince, McGuire, Acers and Glavin concurs.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944, regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time eight file cabinet drawers filled with photographs of various criminals. These photographs of these criminals are placed in envelopes with the name of the criminal written on the outside of the envelope and the envelopes are filed in alphabetical order according to the name of the criminal. Some of these photographs are of Vernon C. Miller, Harry Campbell, and "Baby Face" Nelson. The file cabinets containing these photographs of criminals were at one time maintained in the office of the Supervisor assigned to the handling of fugitive cases on which identification orders had been issued. These photographs were turned over to the Records Section some years ago for storage. There has never been a request made for any of these photographs to my knowledge during the past five years, and in view of the fact that they are occupying valuable space and copies of these photographs are always available, it is believed that these extra photographs can be destroyed. I am attaching hereto three envelopes containing photographs of Vernon C. Miller, Harry Campbell, and "Baby Face" Nelson.

MEMORANDUM

Mr. Charles F. Urschel, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, was kidnaped on July 22, 1933, by George R. Kelly and Albert L. Bates, and held for payment of $200,000.00. The ransom was paid at Kansas City, Missouri, on July 30, 1933. Bates was taken into custody at Denver, Colorado, on August 12, 1933. He was removed to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he was tried and convicted on September 30, 1933, and sentenced to life imprisonment. Bates was represented by Ben B. Laska, an attorney of Denver, Colorado. Kelly was taken into custody at Memphis, Tennessee, on September 26, 1933. He was removed to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he was tried and convicted, and on October 12, 1933, was sentenced to serve life imprisonment. Kelly was represented by James C. Mathers, an attorney of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. A number of other persons identified as participants in this kidnaping were tried, convicted, and received severe penalties.

On November 6, 1934, Alvin H. Scott was taken into custody by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, at Roseburg, Oregon, and a considerable portion of the ransom money was recovered. Clara Feldman, wife of Albert L. Bates, and her son, Edward Feldman, were taken into custody by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, at Dunsmuir, California, on November 9, 1934, at which time another portion of the ransom money was recovered. Following the arrest of these individuals, evidence was obtained implicating Attorneys Laska and Mathers as recipients of some of the ransom money, representing attorneys' fees.

The Federal Grand Jury at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on December 14, 1934, returned an indictment charging Clara Feldman, Edward Feldman, Alvin H. Scott, James C. Mathers and Ben B. Laska with conspiracy to violate the Federal Kidnaping Statute, approved June 22, 1932. Laska was charged with accepting from Edward Feldman, at Denver, Colorado, on August 16, 1933, $8,000.00 of the ransom money. Mathers was charged with accepting from Laska, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on September 16, 1933, $2,000. of the ransom money. Laska and Mathers were taken into custody by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, at Denver, Colorado and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, respectively, on December 17, 1934. They both entered pleas of not guilty, upon arraignment. On December 17, 1934, Clara Feldman entered a plea of guilty to the indictment, and Edward Feldman and Alvin H. Scott entered pleas of guilty to the indictment January 2, 1935. On June 15, 1935, Scott, Clara Feldman and Edward man were each sentenced at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to serve five sentences were suspended for 5 years and each was placed on probati

Mathers was acquitted by a directed verdict. On June 15, 1935, Laska was found guilty by a jury verdict. On July 29, 1935, Laska was sentenced in Federal Court at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to serve 10 years in a Federal penitentiary to be designated by the Attorney General of the United States. Laska is now at liberty on a $5,000.00 appeal bond.

Mrs. Mollie O. Bert, a Denver, Colorado, attorney, furnished certain testimony during the trial of Laska and in his defense. As a result of this testimony, a complaint was filed against Mrs. Bert at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on June 15, 1935, charging her with perjury. She is now at liberty on a $5,000.00 bond awaiting the action of a Federal Grand Jury.

RE: MRS. GEORGE M. CHASE, with aliases:
Grace Chase, Vivian Chase, Vivian Davis,
Alice White, Alice Waite, Vivian McDonald,
Grace Hickey, Grace Adams, Mrs. Charles Mays.

Mrs. George M. Chase, who was best known as Grace Chase, was one of the original conspirators in the plot to kidnap August Luer, of Alton, Illinois, which crime was perpetrated on July 10, 1933. Mrs. Chase was identified as the individual who first entered the Luer home on that night and who immediately cut the telephone connections. She was indicted as one of the principals in the kidnaping by a Grand Jury for Madison County, Illinois on August 10, 1933, together with Walter Holland, alias Walter O'Malley, Randol Norvell, Percy Michael Fitzgerald, Lloyd Doyle and others. Of the nine individuals indicted, six were apprehended almost immediately after the release of Mr. Luer, as a result of intensive investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Police Departments of St. Louis, Missouri, East St. Louis, Illinois, and of various other cities in that vicinity. Three of these persons were sentenced to serve life in the penitentiary; one was sentenced to twenty years and two were sentenced to five years.

Mrs. Chase has been known for approximately fifteen years as a notorious underworld character in Missouri, Kansas and surrounding states. She, for a time, consorted with a bank robber named Charles Mays and with him participated in the notorious Cherryvale bank case, in which the robbery of the Montgomery County National Bank, Cherryvale, Kansas, was plotted by the former president of the bank, the cashier and several underworld characters. Following the faked robbery, Mays was killed in an actual robbery at Picher, Oklahoma in 1926. Mrs. Chase participated in various bank robberies with Mays and following his death consorted with other notorious criminals and participated in their crimes. She was acquitted by a jury of complicity in the Cherryvale bank case. She was alleged to have participated in a bank robbery at North Kansas City, Missouri on April 9, 1932, for which crime she was arrested by the Kansas City Police Department and taken to Clay County Jail at Liberty, Missouri. She escaped from that jail on October 17, 1932 and not long thereafter appeared in East St. Louis, Illinois, where she lived in the rooming house of Norma Vaughn, the mistress of Walter O'Malley, one of the principals in the kidnaping of August Luer.

7-30-82 SPECIAL

MEMORANDUM

During the early evening of October 10, 1934, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Justice was informed of the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, wife of Mr. Berry V. Stoll, Vice President of the Stoll Oil Refining Company, and niece of the Honorable Frederic M. Sackett, former United States Senator from Kentucky and former Ambassador to Germany, at Louisville, Kentucky. An immediate investigation, which was initiated by the Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, developed the information that at about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of October 10, 1934, an unknown man appeared at the residence of Mr. Berry V. Stoll on Lime Kiln Road on the outskirts of Louisville, Kentucky, and by means of a pretext that he was an employee of the telephone company, sent for the purpose of checking the telephone connections, gained access to the house.

After apparently disconnecting the telephone service in the basement, he moved through the house, ostensibly checking several extension telephones. Finally, by threatening the maid, Mrs. Fowler Woolett, with a gun, he forced her to accompany him to the second floor of the home where Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll was resting in her room. There he forced the maid to tape the hands of Mrs. Stoll and he, himself, struck Mrs. Stoll on the head several times with a piece of iron pipe which he had been carrying in his pocket, the blows causing Mrs. Stoll a considerable loss of blood. The individual then tied the hands and feet of the maid and left with her a ransom letter. Mrs. Stoll was then taken from the house and placed in what the maid believed to be a Ford V-8 automobile.

The two page ransom letter, which was typewritten on legal size paper, referred to the kidnapings of the Lindbergh baby, William Hamm, Jr., John Factor, Charles V. Urschel, and Charles Boettcher II, and demanded the payment of $30,000 ransom for the release of Mrs. Stoll. It threatened that if the demand was not complied with, or if any attempt was made to apprehend the writer, the victim's body would be burned and the ashes scattered in a stream of water, after which the galvanized tank, which would be used in destroying the body, would be cleaned in such a manner as to defy a microscopic examination.

ENCLOSURE
DATE 7-27-82 BY SP4EWJ/Cal

Identification Order No. 1199 was issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on July 27, 1933, which requested the apprehension of Mrs. Chase. On March 27, 1935 a complaint was filed before the United States Commissioner in East St. Louis, Illinois, charging her with conspiring, with other defendants, to use the United States Mail to extort money from August Luer.

The fingerprint records of the Identification Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, disclose that Vivian Chase, in the name of Mrs. George M. Chase, was arrested by the Police Department at Kansas City, Missouri on December 23, 1923, charged with investigation. This case was dismissed for want of prosecution. The records also disclose that Vivian Chase, using the name of Vivian Davis, was arrested by the Police Department at Wichita, Kansas on February 14, 1926, on the following charges: drunkenness, investigation and vagrancy. There are no dispositions to these charges.

The bullet-riddled body of Vivian Chase was found at 11 P.M., on November 3, 1935, in an abandoned Ford sedan automobile, which had been parked near the St. Lukes Hospital in Kansas City, Missouri.

The letter further stated that the sum of $50,000 should be placed in a small box and shipped by Railway Express to a designated intermediary within a period of five days. At the conclusion of the letter the name of T. H. Robinson, 1716 Ashwood Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, was inserted in handprinting as the desired intermediary for the ransom negotiations. Other printing in the margins of the letter indicated that it was the kidnaper's original intention to abduct Mr. Stoll.

The ransom letter, which was left by the kidnaper at the Stoll home, was obtained by Special Agents and immediately forwarded to the Technical Laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Justice, in Washington, D. C., where latent fingerprints developed on the letter were pronounced by the fingerprint experts to be identical with the fingerprints of T. H. Robinson, Jr.

Known specimens of the handwriting and hand printing of T. H. Robinson, Jr. were also obtained by pecial Agents and upon comparison by the handwriting experts of the Technical Laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, were concluded to be positively identical with the fragmentary hand printing contained in the ransom letter.

On October 14, 1934, a special delivery letter was received at the residence of T. H. Robinson, Sr., 1716 Ashwood Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee, addressed to the intermediary and stating that the letter should be turned over to the wife of T. H. Robinson, Jr. who would receive secret instructions concerning the collection of the ransom payment, and who was instructed to walk the streets of Nashville, Tennessee for the purpose of making contact with the kidnaper.

On October 14, 1934, an intimate friend of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll in Louisville, Kentucky, received a telephonic message from the kidnaper which was supplemented by a letter, dated at Indianapolis, Indiana, October 14, 1934, in the handwriting of Mrs. Stoll, stating in effect that she had asked the kidnaper to make the telephonic call; that he had driven to Indianapolis, Indiana to do so; that the kidnaper believed the intermediary was being watched and wanted the intermediary to deliver the ransom money to Mrs. Frances Robinson, the daughter-in-law of the intermediary; and that she was the only person from whom the kidnaper would agree to accept the money. The letter concluded with the statement that if these instructions were followed, Mrs. Stoll would be released unharmed within twenty-four hours; otherwise, the previously expressed threats would be carried out.

On October 15, 1934, Mr. Berry V. Stoll received a letter, dated at Indianapolis, Indiana, October 14, 1934, in the handwriting of his kidnaped wife, through Mr. W. H. Speed, the father of the victim, stating in effect that the kidnaper believed the intermediary T. H. Robinson was being watched so that he could not deliver the ransom money to his daughter-in-law who, in turn, would deliver the money to the kidnaper, and further that the kidnaper would not accept any person other than this daughter-in-law of the intermediary to deliver the money.

The ransom money was paid over by the Stoll family to Mrs. Frances Robinson, the wife of T. H. Robinson, Jr., and daughter-in-law of the intermediary, during the afternoon of October 15, 1934, and during the evening of the same date she proceeded directly to Indianapolis, Indiana.

During the evening of October 16, 1934, an automobile in which Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Reverend E. Arnold Clegg, Mrs. Clegg and Mrs. Frances Robinson were en route to Louisville, Kentucky, was located at Scottsburg, Indiana by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Mrs. Stoll was taken under the protection of the Special Agents and immediately returned to her home in Louisville, Kentucky.

It was learned from Mrs. Stoll that immediately after she was abducted from her home on October 10, 1934, she was transported to an apartment located on the first floor of an apartment building in Indianapolis, Indiana, where she was advised that if she made any outcry she would be killed. Whenever the kidnaper left the apartment, Mrs. Stoll was bound and placed in the closet until he returned, although at all times he treated her courteously. When Mrs. Frances Robinson, the kidnaper's wife, arrived at the apartment in Indianapolis during the morning of October 16, 1934, Robinson attempted to persuade her to accompany him and leave Mrs. Stoll in the closet, but Mrs. Robinson declined to do so. Robinson left the apartment at approximately 9:30 A. M., October 16, 1934, after he had given his wife $500 of the ransom money. Upon leaving the apartment where she had been held, Mrs. Stoll went to the residence, in Indianapolis, Indiana, of Reverend E. Arnold Clegg, who is a relative of Mr. Stoll.

The apartment where Mrs. Stoll was held pending the payment of the ransom, was located by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at 2735 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana and many personal effects of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. were found in the apartment, including a gray suit, one suit of men's pajamas bearing the initials "T.H.R.", a considerable amount of twine and unused adhesive tape; one Corona portable typewriter, and many other articles. In addition thereto, there was found a typewritten letter, together with a stamped envelope, addressed to the custodian of the apartment building, at his residence 2725 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana, which in substance indicated that Robinson intended to have the custodian discover the presence of Mrs. Stoll. This custodian identified the photograph of Robinson as that of Thomas H. Kennedy, who resided at the apartment.

The typewriter found in the apartment has been identified by the experts of the Technical Laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as the machine used in writing the ransom letter which was left in the Stoll home on October 10, 1934, and specimens of writing paper found in the apartment were likewise pronounced to be identical with the paper used in the letters sent to the friend of Mrs. Stoll, and to Mr. Jerry V. Stoll while the victim was being held in the apartment.

When Thomas H. Robinson, Sr. was questioned by Special Agents during the evening of October 16, 1934, after the release of Mrs. Stoll, a small diagram, believed to represent a house and a street intersection, was found in a waste basket in his house. Although the elder Robinson was at first very evasive and emphatically denied that he possessed any information concerning the diagram, he finally admitted that it was drawn by him under the direction and immediate supervision of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frances Robinson, about 2:00 P. M., October 14, 1934. Although the letters contained in this diagram were in code, Robinson stated that the diagram represented an apartment house located at 2735 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana. The drawing was so made that he could, after locating the apartment building, reach the particular apartment occupied by his son, the kidnaper of Mrs. Stoll.

Investigation by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reflects that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. after obtaining a high school education, studied law for two years at Vanderbilt University, where he was a member of a social fraternity.

On January 18, 1927, he married Sue Ann Tubbs, at Nashville, Tennessee, and on March 1, 1927, he filed in the Davidson County, Tennessee Chancery Court, a bill for divorce from Sue Ann Tubbs, alleging that they were married on January 18, 1927, after he had been arrested by deputy sheriffs of Davidson County, Tennessee on the same date on the complaint of Miss Tubbs that he was the father of her unborn child. The bill further alleged that a child was born one week after the marriage, and that Robinson was not its father. Further pleadings in the case alleged that Sue Ann Tubbs had been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment, and after their marriage she had falsely complained to the Ku Klux Klan that Robinson had been guilty of raping her before their marriage, after having rendered her unconscious by drugs. The final decree filed on July 6, 1928 granted a divorce to Robinson, but the Court declined to pass upon the paternity of the child.

In January, 1929, Robinson married Frances Natalie Althauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Althauser of Nashville, Tennessee. Young Robinson and his wife have one child, Frank, aged 5 years.

Robinson was arrested at Nashville, Tennessee on June 6, 1929. In connection with this arrest it was alleged that Robinson, on or about March 12, 1929, posing as an officer and possessing faked search warrants, gained admission to the homes of two wealthy Nashville women, after which he locked them in their clothes closets, searched their homes, and took approximately $6,000 to $8,000 worth of jewelry. On June 10, 1929, Robinson was indicted by the Davidson County Grand Jury, Nashville, Tennessee, on a charge of robbery, and on the same date was committed by the Court to the Central State Hospital, Nashville, Tennessee, for observation as to his sanity. The records of this hospital indicate that he was returned to the Court on June 24, 1929, when a report was submitted stating that Robinson was suffering from dementia praecox. He was returned to the Central State Hospital on June 27, 1929, and a nolle prosequi was entered to the charge of robbery on May 6, 1930. The records of the Central State Hospital further reflect that Robinson was discharged on May 20, 1930.

The records of the Western State Hospital, Bolivar, Tennessee, reflect that Robinson was received at that institution on June 25, 1930, and was discharged on August 24, 1930, contrary to the advice of the superintendent of this institution, who secured a statement from Robinson's father purporting to relieve the hospital of any responsibility for the subsequent actions of his son. At the time of discharge from this hospital, the records indicate that Robinson was not insane, but had a psychopathic personality.

During the month of April 1934, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., while driving an automobile on a highway near Nashville, picked up a young girl and offered to take her to Nashville. She accepted the offer, but after getting into Robinson's automobile, he proceeded in the direction of Franklin, Tennessee, where it is alleged he parked his car in a secluded area, forcibly took the girl's jewelry from her, and attempted to rape her. On April 28, 1934, Robinson was arrested at Nashville, Tennessee and charged with robbery from the person. He was released after posting bond, and subsequent thereto, it is alleged, he accosted another woman in the same manner and subjected her to like treatment. However, prior to the issuance of a warrant for the last mentioned attack, Robinson left Nashville, Tennessee.

Investigation by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation also reflects that on September 20, 1934, Robinson, under the name of John H. Ward, while residing at 4838 Magnolia Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, rented from the Saunders System, Rent-A-Car Company, Chicago, Illinois, a 1934 Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan. This car was rented solely on personal identification, and when Robinson failed to return it, the Saunders Company determined that Robinson and his wife had moved from the above address on September 20, 1934, and had taken the automobile with them.

After the payment of the ransom money to Robinson during the morning of October 16, 1934, it was ascertained that during the afternoon of the same date an individual, identified as Robinson by Mrs. Edna Dearwester, 1547 West Main Street, Springfield, Ohio, registered at her rooming house under the name "Mr. Jerry Dobson, South Bend, Indiana." The signature appearing on the register maintained by Mrs. Boarwester was pronounced to be identical with the handwriting of Robinson by the handwriting experts in the Technical Laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Robinson abandoned in this city the Ford V-8 automobile which he had rented from the Saunders Company in Chicago, Illinois on September 20, 1934. He left the rooming house of Mrs. Boarwester shortly after he had registered.

The senior Robinson on November 8, 1934 was ordered removed from Nashville, Tennessee to Louisville, Kentucky to stand trial on the indictment. He was released on bond. Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. was committed to the County Jail Louisville, Kentucky in default of bond.

On October 20, 1934 a Federal Grand Jury at Louisville, Kentucky returned an indictment charging Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Frances Althauser Robinson, and Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., with the kidnaping of Mrs. Stoll. The elder Robinson and Mrs. Frances Robinson were then taken into custody, Mrs. Robinson being held at Louisville, Kentucky until February 11, 1935, when she was released under $5000 bond.

The senior Robinson, on November 8, 1934, was ordered removed from Nashville, Tennessee to Louisville, Kentucky to stand trial on the indictment. He appealed from this order of removal, but his appeal was dismissed by the Circuit Court of Appeals on March 11, 1935, and he was ordered to appear for trial at Louisville, Kentucky on June 17, 1935. He was released under bond.

On October 7, 1935, the trial of Thomas H. Robinson, Sr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. was commenced at Louisville, Kentucky. On October 13, 1935 the jury returned a verdict of acquittal as to each defendant.

Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., was apprehended by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Glendale, California, on the evening of May 11, 1936. He admitted his identity and waived all removal proceedings. He was accordingly removed to Louisville, Kentucky, arriving there on May 13, 1936.

On May 13, 1936, at Louisville, Kentucky, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. pleaded guilty to the charge of having kidnaped Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, and was promptly sentenced to serve the remainder of his life in the penitentiary.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated April 3, 1944, regarding old obsolete material to be destroyed.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time two file cabinet drawers containing copies of so-called running memoranda regarding Press Releases issued on various criminals wanted by the Bureau. These Press Releases refer to kidnapping and other investigative cases which were investigated by the Bureau during the period 1932 to 1936 inclusive.

Copies of these memoranda regarding Press Releases are of course filed in the respective investigative case to which they relate. In view of the fact that these cases are now practically closed and we have a copy in the case file, it is believed that these extra copies of Press Releases may be destroyed. For your information, there is attached hereto three sample copies of these Press Release memoranda.

Mr. Nichols
Mr. Rosen
Mr. Tracy
Mr. Mohr

The Executives' Conference consisting of Messrs. Tracy, Ladd, Coffey, Acers, Rosen, Mumford and Nichols reconsidered a recommendation which had previously been disapproved by the Conference.

Mr. Seyfarth, who has been assigned to survey old material in the files that could be destroyed, points out that at the present time we have 20 five-drawer steel filing cabinets containing folders in which are filed closed investigations of White Slave Traffic Act violations for the period of 1912 to 1919. It is estimated that there are between 30,000 and 40,000 cases on file. These old reports were not indexed at the time and have never been indexed. It is believed that they are of no permanent value to the Bureau.

For the Director's information, Mr. Seyfarth points out that from 1912 to 1919 Supervisors kept yellow abstracts, 3x5 inches in size, on which was noted the pertinent data. The folders were then filed alphabetically in filing cabinets according to subject and were kept in the Supervisor's office. The old yellow abstracts are not to be found, and it is Mr. Seyfarth's opinion that they were disposed of after the investigations of these White Slave Traffic Act violations were closed. It was the recommendation of the Files Section and Mr. Nichols that it would be a waste of time to go ahead and index these reports at this late date and that since the reports are of no value unless indexed, that authority be secured for their disposal.

This matter was considered by the Bureau's Useless Document Committee, which recommended that the reports be retained and indexed.

It was considered by the Executives' Conference under date of July 17, at which time Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Carson, Clegg, Hince, McGuire, Acers and Glavin agreed that the material should be retained and suggested when possible it be indexed.

EX-27

Mr. Nichols asked the Conference to reconsider the previous decision. The reports are now approximately 30 years old. They have never been indexed, and it seems a shame to take the time to index them at this late date. It is believed that to index them will require the making of approximately 100,000 index cards, the assignment of a file number, and a renovation of the jackets, which would require several employees for an extended period of time.

Glavin

Messrs. Tracy, Ladd, Coffey, Acers, Mumford and Rosen were of the opinion that every investigation ever conducted by the Bureau should be indexed and a report should be kept regardless of how old they are or of the fact that they had not previously been indexed.

Mr. Nichols recommended that authority be secured for the destruction of the reports, and certainly if the reports are kept they should not be indexed.

I agree with Nichols 7/28

Destroying Bureau Police mail

You will recall that just recently authority was obtained from the Department of Justice and from the proper Congressional Committee to destroy all Ident mail over one year in age, except Federal and foreign communications. The mail to be destroyed under this authority included Police Bulletins. You will further recall that if a Police Bulletin received here in the Bureau lists any guns which have been stolen or any worthless checks which have been issued the procedure is and has been to index such guns and to route any mail setting out worthless checks issued to the Laboratory. It is, of course, necessary for us to retain such Bulletins because we have indexed some of the contents.

However, if the Bulletin does not mention either of the above two items, we merely send the Bulletin to our Ident Files where we file it in the folder under the city sending in the Bulletin. This is, of course, useless and you will recall that I discussed this with you the other day and it was agreed that we should destroy such Bulletins upon receipt.

This memorandum is submitted as confirmation and, accordingly, when Police Bulletins are received which do not list any guns stolen or any worthless checks issued, we will destroy such Bulletins upon receipt and they will not be filed. Bulletins listing stolen guns or worthless checks will, of course, be indexed and properly routed and filed permanently in the Ident Files. The Supervisor of the Routing Unit has been authorized as the only person to destroy these bulletins, and all such will be sent to her by the routing clerks.

The Records Section has on hand at the present time approximately 3,000 War Department form letters. These form letters date back to 1941 and relate to the misspelling of names, etc., furnished the Identification Division, and requesting that the correct spelling of the names, etc., be made on the records in the Identification Division. I understand there are approximately 50,000 of these form letters held in the Identification Division on which corrections must be made on their records. In view of the fact that these form letters deal only with the correct spelling of a name, etc., it is believed that they are of no further value after the necessary changes have been made. It is recommended for your approval that the 3,000 form letters now held in the Records Section be destroyed, and that instructions be issued to the Identification Division that in the future these War Department form letters not be sent to the Records Section for filing, but to destroy same after the Identification Division has made the necessary corrections on their records.

For your information, I am attaching hereto samples of these War Department form letters.

ADDENDUM: (js) 9/7/44 The Identification Division at the present time is not forwarding the War Department form letters above-referred to to the Records Section but instead is destroying the same. The matter was discussed before the Executive Conference on September 5th and the Conference unanimously approved destroying the letter and avoiding the unnecessary routing and filing along the lines set out above and in the same manner as was recently approved in the handling of War Department death notices.

The Records Division should continue to send the form letters directly to the Identification Division without filing and sorting. The Identification Division will destroy the same after the appropriate corrections have been made on the finger-print card. ST

Subject: IDENT FORM LETTERS

The Records Section has on hand at the present time approximately 20,000 cover letters which do not have any names mentioned therein; but merely state that there are fingerprint cards attached, or that the attached finger prints are not clear for one reason or another.

A Spot Check was made of the filed correspondence in Ident Files Section dating back to 1925. It was determined that because almost all of these cover letters without names are from Federal sources such as the Army, Navy and Civil Service Commission, the bulk of it has been received since the Defense program has been in effect. At least 250 pieces of this type of cover letter was received daily from the Identification Division to be filed in the Ident Files until the last two or three months during which time the number has decreased to approximately 100 a day.

In view of the fact that there is never a request from the Identification Division for the above described correspondence, it is recommended for your approval that in the future these cover letters not be sent to the Ident Files Section, but destroyed by the Identification Division when they have detached the fingerprint cards.

Because almost all of these cover letters are from Federal Sources, they were not destroyed in the recent destroying project which called for the destruction of all Ident mail up to July 1, 1943 with the exception of Police Bulletins, Foreign Mail and Federal Mail.

The additional cabinet space gained by the destruction of the 20,000 pieces of the above type of cover letter now in File would not be of sufficient value to warrant a project requiring extra personnel and expenditures. However, if permission was granted to destroy this federal mail the project could be taken care of in July, 1945 when our yearly check to destroy all mail prior to July 1, 1944 is handled.

For your information there is attached nine samples of these cover letters

Destruction of Bureau records - gen'l

There are at the present time in the Routing Unit several folders entitled "Record of Incoming Registered Mail". These folders date back to December 31, 1941. They set out the date, register number, addressee, and disposition of each piece of mail received from that date. They are serving no purpose as the Routing Unit never has cause to check into these folders any further back than about one year.

There are in the Routing Unit folders containing Diplomatic Pouch Mail Receipts dating back to January, 1942. We never have occasion to refer to these prior to one year.

The Routing Unit has a procedure of recording in a folder all enclosures that are received by the Bureau under separate cover. The Routing Unit does not have cause to refer to these prior to one year.

Due to the fact that the Routing Unit does not use this information prior to one year, it is believed that it can be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATIONS: (1) It is recommended that the Routing Unit be given permission to destroy all folders containing records of Incoming Registered Mail, Diplomatic Pouch Mail Receipts, and Records of Enclosures prior to January 1, 1943.

(2) It is recommended that the Routing Unit be given authority to destroy all folders containing records of Incoming Registered Mail, Diplomatic Pouch Mail Receipts, and Records of Enclosures prior to one year on January 1 of each year.

There is attached hereto a sample of each of the above, number one, Incoming Registered Mail; number two, Diplomatic Pouch Mail Receipts; number three, Record of Enclosures.

Reference is made to the attached Daily Reports for the month of January, 1940. These reports were maintained daily from January, 1940 through December, 1942. They were sent to the Routing Unit and filed in a special folder. The Annual Report for the amount of mail dispatched was recapitulated from these reports. Therefore, we have the Annual Reports filed in Administrative Mail File 66-3088. These Daily Reports have since been discontinued and the Routing Unit receives a Monthly Report of all mail dispatched from the Fifth Floor Mail Room. It is believed that these Daily Reports are obsolete and of no value.

RECOMMENDATION: It is recommended that the Routing Unit be given permission to destroy these Daily Reports covering the period from January, 1940 through December, 1942.

DESTRUCTION OF OLD RECORDS

August 31, 1944

Reference is made to my memorandum dated May 31, 1944 requesting authority for the destruction of certain identification files material after an elapse of one year.

This is to advise that all this old material has now been destroyed. By the destruction of this material, the Records Section of the Federal Bureau of Investigation secured 131 four-drawer steel filing cabinets or approximately 1050 linear feet of filing space.

The Records Section of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was urgently in need of these steel filing cabinets and is appreciative for the authority granted to destroy this material.

RE: CLOSED AND ADMINISTRATIVE FILES

In view of the possibility that due to unforeseen circumstances it might be found necessary to destroy all the records in your office without warning, it is desired that you be prepared for such an emergency.

You are accordingly authorized to immediately destroy all except one copy of each serial in the administrative and closed investigative files of your office. The one copy of each serial retained should be marked "copies destroyed." It is suggested that a rubber stamp might be secured for this purpose. You should immediately institute this project and advise the Bureau when it has been completed.

This practice should be continued in the future and as quickly as an investigative file is closed, all but one copy of each serial should be destroyed. In the future only one copy of each serial should be placed in the administrative files of your office.

Very truly yours,

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Re: Closed and Administrative Files in SIS Offices

Mr. Gurnea pointed out to the Conference that due to revolutions and changes in governments, there always exists the possibility that we may find it necessary to destroy all of the records in a given Legal Attache's office without warning. Even under favorable circumstances, the destruction of files is a difficult task in view of the volume. So that we may be better prepared for such an emergency, Mr. Gurnea suggested that the Legal Attaches be instructed to destroy all but one copy of each serial in closed and administrative files. The originals then could be marked "Copies Destroyed."

On November 4, 1944, the Executive Conference composed of Messrs. Coffey, Acers, Clegg, Mumford, E. A. Tamm, Gurnea, Carson, Glavin and Tracy considered this recommendation and was unanimous in its agreement that this should be done.

In the event that this is approved, an appropriate change should be made in the SIS Manual.

Respectfully for the Conference,

Clyde Tolson,
Chairman

W. R. Glavin,
Secretary

Reference is made to the attached Department of Justice Circular No. 3854, Supplements No. 1 and 2.

In my memorandum of November 8, captioned as above, reporting a discussion between Mr. diGirolamo, of the Department of Justice, and myself, it is noted that Mr. diGirolamo had attended a conference recently at Philadelphia, Pa. in which various officials of the Department of Justice discussed the program of disposition of superfluous records. Mr. diGirolamo informed that this body was to be known as the Records Administration of the Department of Justice and that shortly the Attorney General would issue Departmental orders defining procedures and regulations by which the various officers of the Department of Justice should be guided in the disposal of superfluous records.

Presumably, the attached Circular, Supplements No. 1 and 2, is the program referred to, in action.

It is to be further noted that Mr. diGirolamo, who was previously in charge of the Division of Records in the Department of Justice, has now been made Records Administration Officer, which title will cover his duties as head of the Division of Records as well as his duties in connection with the disposal of surplus records of the Department. As you know, he has been working very closely, for some time, with Mr. Davis of the National Archives on schedules of disposal and accession.

Mr. Seyfarth has informed me that in discussing matters with Mr. diGirolamo this morning, he informed that he intended to pay us a visit within the next few days to go into the matter of regulations for disposal of records.

Supplement No. 1

TO ALL UNITED STATES ATTORNEYS:

The inclosed Disposal Table covers records of the Offices of the United States Attorneys which records have been authorized by Congress for destruction after they have been in existence for the period of time indicated.

It is suggested that the records in your office similar to those covered by the Disposal Table be destroyed as soon as they have reached the designated period of time shown for each item. Should the records be needed for reference purposes beyond the time fixed for disposal, they should be destroyed whenever they have no further reference value. Every effort should be made to dispose of records in accordance with the Congressional mandate as soon as they serve no useful purpose.

The Department of Justice is required to furnish the Archivist of the United States with an annual report on disposal of records. Therefore, upon destruction of any records you should forward a report to the Records Administration Officer, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., stating the number of cubic feet of records disposed, the date of disposal and the manner by which the records were disposed of, such as by sale as scrap or by burning.

SUBJECT: Disposition of Records.

It will be appreciated if officials of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will meet, at their earliest convenience, with Mr. A. di Girolamo, Records Administration Officer of this Department, and Mr. Gerald Davis, Chief of the Division of Justice Archives of the National Archives, to discuss a proposed program for the scheduling of the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as required by Public Law 115 of the 78th Congress.

The program will include the taking of an inventory of all of the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation including field offices and recommendations for appropriate disposition of these records. If possible, the inventory should be taken by employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who are engaged in record work or are familiar with the records of the Bureau. Recommendations for disposition should be made and reviewed by officials of the Bureau at a higher administrative level in order to insure appropriate and safe disposition of valuable material. Mr. Davis and Mr. di Girolamo will be glad to give any assistance that the Bureau may require.

Please advise me as to the date and the names of the officials whom you will designate to attend this meeting.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TRACY

I would again like to recommend that the policy of the Identification Division with reference to destroying paper material be changed.

I would like to call your attention to the fact that approximately seven employees in the Identification Division are engaged in tearing up criminal records and other items which have been prepared in connection with searches of the Identification Division files. I feel very definitely that this is a distinct waste of time and does not justify the expenditure necessary.

I recommend that if the Bureau feels that this material which is extremely large in volume should be torn up before it is discarded, rather than have the material destroyed in the Identification Division, it be bundled up and turned over to the Supply Section of the Chief Clerk's Office for disposition.

Respectfully,

Quinn Tamm

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

The Executive Conference, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Clegg, Glavin, Ladd, Rosen, McGuire, Long and Tracy, considered a suggestion by Mr. Quinn Tamm that the policy of the Identification Division destroying extra copies of criminal records prepared for statistical and other purposes and other paper items which have been prepared in connection with searches of the Identification Division Files not be considered confidential material to be torn up prior to being placed with the waste paper.

The Conference was advised that it takes the full time of several employees just to tear this material in accordance with prior Bureau instructions and it is felt, as a security measure, this is no longer necessary or justified in view of the expense involved.

The Conference unanimously concurred in the recommendation that all waste paper from the Identification Division be disposed of as non-confidential material. This means it will be gathered up and hauled away as any ordinary waste paper is.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Mr. diGirolamo from the Department File Room called today, in company with Mr. Gerald J. Davis and a Mr. Lenton of the National Archives, primarily to discuss the matter of the destruction of some old WSTA cases from the years 1912 to 1919 and, also, the destruction of reports and correspondence dated during 1919 and 1920 and dealing with violations of the Lever Act, which is concerned with profiteering at the time of the first World War.

You will recall that we have formally requested authorization from the Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General, Mr. John Q. Cannon, for the destruction of these records, basing our request on the fact that they have no current or future value.

During our conversation today, Mr. Davis indicated that the National Archives is considerably interested in both of these types of records from an historical aspect, and Mr. Davis talked considerably of the interest the WSTA records would have as reflecting the early history of the WSTA. He also mentioned that unidentified officials of the Government had recently requested information from the National Archvies as to any data they might have concerning conferences carried on during 1919 and 1920 between representatives of large commercial firms and Fair Price Commissioner Howard Figg, of the Department of Justice, who was in charge, at that time, of investigations of the Lever Act. Mr. Davis suggested the possibility that our files dealing with this Act may contain considerable information along the line above set out.

Mr. Davis stated that due to the potential interest of these records, he would like to suggest that the Bureaus request that these records be placed on the disposal schedule be withdrawn and, instead, that they be turned over to the National Archives by accession in accordance with the regulations of Public Law #115, 78th Congress, which deals with these matters. Mr. Davis stated that in such event, the National Archives would handle the moving of these records to their physical custody and would return the file cabinets, in which they are presently contained, to us, immediately, after their transfer. He stated that, thereafter, they would be maintained in the custody of the National Archives for a certain length of time during which they would not be available for review by outside parties except with the specific approval of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Without raising any obvious issue with Mr. Davis, I suggested to him that the Bureau, of course, in the event approval were granted for the destruction of these records, would not go ahead with the execution of this permission without a thorough review of the records, themselves, with the idea in mind of maintaining any parts of the records which would have residual value from an historic point of view, or otherwise.

As background to this discussion, it is to be noted that a Mr. Allen, of the National Archives, visited the Bureau, by arrangement, on October 23, 1944, for the purpose of briefly checking over some of our old WSTA records. During the visit, Mr. Allen suggested the possibility that some of these files may be of considerable interest to individuals in academic life who would be, from time to time, conducting research into matters pertaining to these records.

After concluding our conversation today, Mr. Davis and Mr. Lenton were taken to the eighth floor where they briefly reviewed some of the Lever Act correspondence in company with Mr. Seyfarth. Mr. Seyfarth has informed me that Mr. Davis and Mr. Lenton again referred to the fact that some of the material would be of value, for research purposes, to college professors and research academicians.

While the interest of the Archives officials may be perfectly legitimate, I gained the impression, during the discussion with Mr. Davis, that he was more than casually interested in these specific records, and while he was careful to point out that if they were transferred to the custody of the Archives, that no outsiders would be allowed to review them without the specific approval of the Bureau, it is to be noted that we would be dependent on another agency, in this regard, and would not have complete control.

Mr. diGirolamo informed me during the conference that he had attended, recently, at Philadelphia, a meeting of various officials of the Department of Justice, which he referred to as the Records Administration, at which time a program of disposition of superfluous records was discussed. He stated that there is presently in preparation, under the Attorney General's signature, a departmental order defining the procedures and regulations to be followed by all offices of the Department of Justice in disposing of superfluous records. He stated that as soon as this order is issued, the Department will address a memorandum to the Director requesting that a meeting be arranged between the Records Administration of the Department of Justice, which is under the direction of Mr. Cannon, and Bureau Officials to plan the superfluous records disposition program as it may affect our records.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) It is recommended that the Bureau not agree to the suggestion of the National Archives that our records be turned over to them by accession in accordance with Public Law #115. This should not be done because:

(a) while these files already recommended for disposal or to be recommended in the future, may be of no positive value, they will contain considerable information of a highly confidential nature. For instance, in our old WSTA records there is, undoubtedly, considerable information of a very personal nature and potentially derogatory to the character of persons still living. In many of these cases it is probably true that no legal process was ever issued on the basis of the investigation. If such material should, perchance, become, even in part, public property, we would BE in an embarrassing position without even the defense of an indictment or authorized complaint.

(2) Inasmuch as the program of destruction of superfluous records will probably continue since it is being fostered by the Budget Bureau, and inasmuch as we will desire, probably, to recommend the destruction of a great deal of obsolete or superfluous records in the subsequent years, and inasmuch as the National Archives is evidently anxious to thoroughly review and retain portions of all material recommended for disposal; it is believed that we may wish to clarify this whole situation by recommending to the Department that none of our records be transferred to the custody of any other agency and that portions thereof pertinent for retention because of historic or archive value remain in our custody. If we do not have this point clarified now, we may find ourselves, later, in a somewhat anomolous position by recommending on the one hand destruction of material because of its superfluous nature, and on the other, of objecting to its destruction when some mechanism for transferring it to the National Archives has been perfected.

The Executive Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Ladd, Coffey, Hendon, Acers, Carson, E. A. Tamm, Quinn Tamm, Tracy, Glavin and Nichols considered the request of Mr. Gerald J. Davis, Mr. Lenton and Mr. Allen from the National Archives, which request was orally communicated to Mr. Cartwright by Mr. Davis, that we withdraw our request for destruction of certain files and turn them over to the National Archives.

By way of background, the Bureau recently directed a communication to John Q. Cannon requesting authority for the destruction of the following files: (1) Reports and correspondence received during 1919 and 1920 dealing with violations of the Lever Act, which is concerned with profiteering during World War I. These reports are unindexed. They are not used. They take up needed space. (2) The reports, correspondence and records covering the handling of the White Slave Traffic Act cases from 1912 to 1919. These reports are unindexed and are obsolete.

Mr. Davis pointed out that the White Slave Traffic Act reports would be of interest to historians, sociologists, etc. reflecting the early history of the White Slave Traffic Act, and that for that reason the records should be turned over to the National Archives. Secondly, he pointed out that the records dealing with profiteering in World War I were of an historical nature today in that recently they had received requests from unnamed government officials for information regarding conferences carried on by the representatives of large commercial firms and the Department of Justice in 1919 and 1920, that he thought possibly our files dealing with this act might contain considerable information which would be of value.

RECORDED & INDEXED

Mr. Davis pointed out that in the event these records were transferred to the Archives that they would be placed in Archives files and our cabinets returned to us, that for a certain length of time after they were taken into the custody of National Archives they would not be available for review by outside persons except on specific approval of the FBI.

Cartwright recently was informed by Mr. DiGiralamo that there had been a conference in Philadelphia attended by various officials of the Department of Justice, at which time a program of disposition of superfluous records was discussed, that there is presently in preparation over the Attorney General's signature a Departmental order defining the procedures and regulations to be followed by all departments of the Department of Justice in disposing of superfluous records.

Memorandum for the Director

The Conference was unanimous in approving the following recommendation:

(1) That the Bureau not agree to the suggestion of the National Archives that our records be turned over to them by accession in accordance with the law because considerable information of a highly confidential nature is contained in the records. For example, in the old White Slave records undoubtedly there is considerable information of a personal nature which might potentially be derogatory to the characters of persons still living, and undoubtedly in many of the instances legal process was never issued on the basis of the investigation. Furthermore, the Bureau is in a position whereby it would be violating a trust in that it would be a party to making available to the public information given to us confidentially. In addition, this is the first time this matter has ever come up, and it would be setting a precedent. Mr. Cartwright, who talked to the Archives people, gained the definite impression that they are definitely anxious to review all information recommended for disposal.

(2) The Conference was also unanimous in recommending that none of our records be transferred to the custody of any other agency and that portions thereof which might be of historical value remain in our custody. Accordingly, it is suggested that we take steps to withdraw the request for authority to destroy this material and ask for the return of our original memorandum.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

In the New York Office there are a large number of old files, ten years old and older, which were transferred to the New York Office with the closing of other offices previously existing and subsequently closed in the New England States and in New York State. The release of storage space and the release of a large number of file cabinets greatly needed are involved and are awaiting authorization for the destruction of these files.

The inspection report recently made on the basis of the inspection of the Chicago Office indicates that if a similar type of old files can be destroyed there, it will be unnecessary to acquire additional floor space which has been previously authorized.

I am calling these matters to your attention since I understand that these matters are presently being discussed with Department of Justice and Archives officials with a view to getting authority to dispose of these types of files and the urgency of the situation is as you can see indicated by the above information.

The problem of disposal of old investigative files has arisen in connection with the Inspector's recommendations in the New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and other offices. The Los Angeles office has in its possession old Phoenix files; the Chicago office has in its possession some old Milwaukee and Grand Rapids files; and the New York office has old files from New England offices which have been closed.

The principal question involved is what legal authority, if any, is necessary for the destruction of these files. Historically, the Director instructed Mr. Nathan by memorandum of May 14, 1941, to look into the matter of disposing of old files and thereafter, as office inspections were made, the Inspector would go into the individual problem presented in each office. Apparently, old files, ten years or more old, were forwarded to the Bureau for review and disposition. Upon receipt at the Bureau, these files were spot-checked by Mr. Seyfarth to determine that the Bureau file was complete. This being done, the file was subsequently destroyed. At this time the destruction of old papers was covered by Title 15, United States Code Annotated, Section 112, which provided in substance that before any files or papers which are not needed or useful in the transaction of current business or have no permanent value or historical interest may be destroyed or disposed of, the head of the department concerned shall submit to Congress a report accompanied by a list of such papers. Upon receipt of this report by Congress, two Senators and two Representatives, acting as a committee, examine the report and submit a recommendation to the Congress.

Today the destruction of such documents is covered by Public Law 115, passed by the 78th Congress and approved July 7, 1943. Briefly, this Act states that documentary materials made or received by any agency of the United States Government and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency shall be destroyed in accordance with the procedure set forth below. It is important to note the following language:

MAR 5 1945

"Extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience of reference... are not included within the definition of the word "records" as used in the Act."

The procedure required by Public Law 115 is: (1) submission to the Department schedules and sample documents proposed for disposal; (2) submission by the Department to the Archivist of the United States; and (3) submission to Congress by the Archivist at such times as he shall deem expedient the lists or schedules submitted to him in accordance with the Act. The law specifically provides that the Archivist shall not submit to Congress lists or schedules of records of any existing agency in the government in his legal custody without first having obtained the written consent of the head of such agency.

52 MAR 7 1945
COPIES DESTROYED
20 - JAN 22 1965

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. CLEGG

When the Archivist submits the list or schedule to Congress, the documents are considered by two Senators appointed by the presiding officer of the Senate to serve with members of the committee on the disposition of executive papers of the House of Representatives. The decision of this committee is presented by resolution and thereafter the Archivist is furnished the necessary authorization to dispose of the records if this be the finding of the committee.

Section 8 of the law appears important in that it provides, "Whenever it shall appear to the Archivist that any agency has in its custody or is accumulating records of the same form or character as any records of the same agency previously authorized by Congress to be disposed of, he may empower the head of such agency to dispose of such records after they have been in existence a specified period of time, in accordance with regulations, without listing or scheduling them."

It appears, therefore, that if authority can be granted for the destruction of old field office files of a certain age, submission to the Department and to the Archivist might suffice as authority in disposing of files of a similar type in various field offices.

In summary, were there only copies of communications which are available in the Bureau's files, it appears that these copies could be disposed of without any authorization from any source. However, there are in these field files original correspondence received from members of the public. There are also original letters transmitted by the Bureau to the field office. In addition, there are in some files photographs, signed statements and other material which would apparently require authorization before destruction. These problems apparently have not been passed on ~~at~~ to the present time insofar as the Bureau is concerned. There is no reference to such matters in the Bureau's files and individual employees who have handled the destruction of records in the past do not recall this problem having been raised.

Mr. Nichols has advised me that he telephonically instructed the New York office yesterday, January 10, 1945, to send samples of the files proposed for destruction to the Bureau for examination.

RECOMMENDATION: It is recommended upon receipt of these files that an informal discussion be arranged with the Bureau's contact at the Archives to determine whether a similar problem has arisen. It may be that some ruling handed down subsequent to the Act which was approved July 7, 1943, may permit the destruction of this material without preparing complicated schedules and submitting sample material.

There is attached original reference material on which instant memorandum is based.

As you know on January 22 a meeting was held in your office attended by, you, Mr. DiGirolamo of the Department of Justice, Mr. Gerald Davis of the National Archives, Mr. Seyfarth and myself. Subject matter of this meeting was to discuss and clarify the general program promulgated by the National Archives Counsel in connection with Public Law 115 of the 78th Congress governing the destruction of government records.

The National Archives Counsel is presently maintaining a great deal of contact with all government departments in an effort to accelerate the development of (1) complete inventories by each department of all records therein. (2) A comprehensive disposal schedule by each department containing recommendations as to the retention either permanently or for a period of years or the immediate disposal of each item.

Presumably it is the National Archives Counsel's sole purpose to act as the central clearing house for all government agencies in this disposal program and by virtue of this to achieve perfect coordination and correlation in the program.

Public Law 115, which is the impowering legislation for the program promulgated by the National Archives Counsel, defines "records" as "all books, papers, maps, photographs or other documentary materials made or received by any agency of the U.S. Government. . ." Among exceptions to the definition of "records" the law lists "extra copies of documents preserved only for the convenience of reference."

With regard to the matters quoted above from the act, for the Bureau's substantial purpose a "record" will consist of any file maintained at the Seat of Government or in the field. There is no distinction as far as the word "records" is concerned between the original report of an Agent filed here at the Seat of Government and the copy of the same report filed in the Field Office file. Duplicate copies in the same files are likewise records and for all of such material authority must be obtained for destruction through National Archives Counsel procedures. The exception quoted above in which "extra Copies" are mentioned refers to our tickler files maintained for the personal convenience of individual supervisors and officials.

Section 2 of Public Law 115 states "the National Archives Counsel shall promulgate regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, establishing (1) procedures for the compiling and submitting to the Archivist of the United States of lists and schedules of records proposed for disposal, (2) procedures for the disposal of records authorized for disposal, and (3) standards for the reproduction of records by photographic or microphotographic processes with a view to the disposal of the original records. Such regulations, when approved by the President, shall be binding on all agencies of the United States Government".

By reason of the above it will be seen that it is necessary for the Bureau to comply with the program of the National Archives Counsel. There are several potential pitfalls which I believe we must guard against in following the program. First, as has happened in connection with the obsolete WSTA material, the National Archives Counsel in appraising records, recommended for disposal by us, can approve or disapprove destruction. Alternatively, it can suggest that the material under appraisal be turned over to the National Archives Counsel under the "Accession Schedule", a procedure separate from the "disposal schedule". Accession, of course, relieves the agency of the problem of maintaining the records further. In most cases the National Archives Counsel would suggest accession on the basis of historical value. You will recall that the Archives desire to take over the old WSTA material on such basis.

In this connection the Executives Conference memorandum dated December 16, 1944, attached recommended that none of our records be transferred to the custody of any other agency and that portions thereof which might be of historical value remain in our custody.

It is being pointed out for the record that during the conversation with Mr. Davis the Bureau policy as expressed in the Executive Conference memorandum was emphatically brought to his attention by you.

STATUS OF MATERIAL PREVIOUSLY REFERRED FOR DISPOSAL TO THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES COUNSEL

WSTA RECORDS, 1912 to 1919.

Under date of August 9, 1944 a disposal list was forwarded to the Archives Counsel by Mr. Cannon of the Department of Justice, requesting that the above captioned material be approved for disposal. Thereafter, Mr. Davis and a Mr. Allen of the Archives came to the Bureau and surveyed these reports after which they informally stated that the National Archives would like to take over this material by accession, feeling that they had considerable historical value. In line with the Bureau policy as above stated we have requested that this disposal list be withdrawn and through Mr. DiGirolamo, of the Department of Justice, a formal memorandum was directed to the National Archives on January 25 to that effect. No further action in this connection is necessary. The National Archives will cancel this disposal list and will return samples of the material used by them in their appraisal to the Bureau.

LEVER ACT: Reports and correspondence, 1919 and 1920, dealing with violation of the Lever Act.

A request for disposal of this material was referred to the Department of Justice on October 31, 1944. No formal request has gone to the National Archives from the Department but Archives representatives have informally surveyed the files here. They feel that this data likewise has historic and research value and would like to take it by accession for retention in the Archives files. Mr. Davis during our conference was informed by you that we would not agree to this transfer. Mr. DiGirolamo has returned our memorandum of October 31 mentioned above and no further action in this connection is necessary.

DAILY REPORT BOOKS, 1908 and 1909, under date of September 27, 1944.

A memorandum was directed to the Department of Justice requesting authority to destroy old daily report books of Special Agents for the years 1908 and 1909. This memorandum was sent to the Assistant Attorney General Mc Granery instead of to Mr. Cannon. It was misdirected in the Department to Judge Holtzoff and no action had been taken on it as of January 24. Through Mr. DiGirolamo this data has been located and a disposal request has been referred to the National Archives in connection with the material.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS - RETURN A

By memorandum dated November 7, 1944 authority was requested for the disposal by destruction of all Return A-Uniform Crime Reports over 3 years old. This request has been granted through National Archives and favorably acted upon and the memorandum has been received back giving formal authority for the destruction.

No other material has been referred to the Department or the National Archives for disposal at this point.

QUESTION OF DESTRUCTION OF FIELD FILES OVER 10 YEARS OLD.

Under date of December 15, 1944, Mr. Clegg by memorandum to you and Mr. Glavin raised the question of the possible disposal of old Field Office files. He pointed out that in the New York office there are a large number of files 10 years old and older which were transferred there when other offices previously existing in New England had been closed. A similiar situation, Mr. Clegg stated, existed in Chicago. It is believed that the Los Angeles office also maintains some such files as do possibly other Field Divisions.

At your request 20 samples of such files have been forwarded to the Bureau by the New York and Chicago Field Divisions. During the conference with Mr. Davis these samples were displayed to him and after examination he stated that it was his informal opinion that authority for their destruction could be rather easily obtained from the National Archives Counsel. It was pointed out to Mr. Davis that while the originals of all reports contained in these files were on record at the Seat of Government, the Field files do contain original correspondence from U. S. Attorneys and Marshalls, and other officials and outside individuals of which material Bureau files did not contain copies. Mr. Davis informally advised that such original records could be cleared for disposal through the National Archives Counsel by submitting such records as part of the Comprehensive Disposal Schedule governing all records of the Bureau to be submitted later or by submitting a separate disposal list immediately requesting approval as to these records only. Accordingly unless you desire otherwise, a separate disposal list will be submitted with samples governing the New York, Chicago and Los Angeles files in question.

BUREAU'S RESPONSIBILITY IN THE GENERAL DISPOSAL PROGRAM.

Under the law and under the promulgations in connection with it, it will be necessary for the Bureau to make a complete inventory of all its records at the Seat of Government and in the Field. After such inventory has been completed it will be necessary to make a detailed survey and appraisal of the records and thereafter to submit to the National Archives Counsel through the Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General, John Q. Cannon, a comprehensive disposal schedule known as National Archives Form 108 (copy attached) listing the items on which authority is requested for disposal either immediately or after a certain period of years.

I have gone into this matter at some length with Mr. DiGirolamo of the Department of Justice, and I find that it is not so difficult as it may seem at first glance. For instance, it will be possible to list as one item, described in a rather brief paragraph, all the investigative case files at the Seat of Government and, potentially at least, to make recommendations for their destruction after the lapse of, say 20 years. At the end of 20 years, granting that approval had been received for destruction, the Bureau could then destroy the material or not as it desired. Authority, as granted originally applying to the old record described, would never need to be obtained again, unless, of course, a new law had superseded Public Law 115.

Similiar Field Office Investigative Case files could be grouped on a nation wide basis as one item and would not require separate listing for each Field Division.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. It is recommended that appropriate instructions be issued to the Field to submit to the Bureau immediately a complete inventory listing of the records maintained by each office, the cubic footage displacement of such records and an estimate as to the annual rate of increase of such records. Specific instructions in this regard will have to be drawn up so as to obtain a clear and detailed report from each office.

2. It is recommended that on receipt of such inventory from the Field a complete inventory be drawn up of all Bureau records.

3. It is recommended that on completion of action on recommendations 1 and 2 that a comprehensive disposal schedule be submitted to the National Archives Counsel with appropriate recommendations as to the destruction or retention of Bureau records.

4. It is recommended that immediately a disposal list be prepared for the Field files discussed in Mr. Clegg's memorandum above mentioned so as to relieve congestion and space problems in the Chicago, New York and Los Angeles Field Divisions. The list in preparation if approved by the National Archives Counsel will give authority for disposal of files in other Field Divisions in the same category which may come to the Bureau's attention later.

Marginal Notations on publications

In the light of the data set out in the attached memorandum of Mr. Cartwright to Mr. Nichols dated February 21, 1945, it is believed that the recommendation set out should be followed. I should like to suggest, however, that arrangements be made through the Chief Clerk's Office to have made a rubber stamp bearing the following inscription:

> "For evidentiary purposes. This publication must not be marked in any manner except where file numbers are necessary."

As the extra copies of pamphlets and publications are being culled over in order to obtain four satisfactory copies, it is recommended that that copy which has not been marked by pencil or ink or marginal notations be stamped with the above-mentioned inscription. The publication so stamped can then be filed, together with the three other copies of the identical material, no separate file being maintained for the one which has been stamped.

The purpose in making this recommendation is in the light of possible future prosecution of the Communist Party or members thereof. Such a prosecution will, of course, be based largely upon ideological grounds, wherefore it will be necessary to introduce official publications of the Party. Pamphlets and material of this kind which have been marked are not regarded as admissible in evidence, because the marks unduly direct the attention of the jury to material contained therein and the courts have held that this is prejudicial to the interests of the defendant. Consequently, it is believed that the Bureau should maintain at all times at least one unmarked copy.

If this procedure is followed the file clerks handling this material in the future should be instructed that when sending out pamphlets at the request of a Supervisor for study purposes, that pamphlet which is stamped with the above-mentioned inscription will be retained in the Files Section at all times and not, therefore, likely to be marked.

Reference is made to the attached memorandum recommending that surplus copies of the publication "The Communist" be destroyed. It will be noted from a cursory examination of this memorandum, particularly on page two, that an extremely large number of the publications are presently being retained in the Publication Files of the Records Section. A large number of the pamphlets listed in the attached memorandum have just recently been received from Mr. McIntire and have not been filed, awaiting a decision as to the retention of the minimum number of copies necessary. It is urgently requested that consideration be given to disposing of all unnecessary copies.

Miss Rita Molseed, a Records Section employee assigned to the maintenance of the Publication Files, has suggested that the same principle of destroying extra copies, as set out in the attached memorandum, be applied to all material maintained in those files. It has been the practice in the Publication Files to keep all copies of periodicals routed to that section, regardless of the number of duplicates already in file or being submitted for filing. As you know, the publications filed, for the most part, consist of subversive pamphlets secured by Mr. McIntire. It is a known fact that we have many extra copies of various pamphlets throughout Publication Files. We have also received a large group of pamphlets recently from Mr. McIntire which are being prepared for filing. In this group there are also many duplicate copies.

If at all possible, it is suggested that some arrangement be set up whereby only the minimum number of duplicate copies be retained on any given publication or pamphlet. The arbitrary number of four has been suggested. Of course, there will be exceptions to this rule, but as a general policy it could be adopted with the resulting saving in space and equipment in the Records Section.

RECOMMENDATION: (1) That all pamphlets presently being received for filing in Publication Files be carefully checked for duplicate copies, and unless specific exceptions are made, all over four be destroyed. (This survey will cover the large number of pamphlets just recently received from Mr. McIntire's Office and an additional group which is expected momentarily from the same office.)

(2) As time and personnel permit, the Publication Files be reviewed for the elimination of all unnecessary and duplicate copies. The number retained should be reduced to a minimum and, as previously indicated, the arbitrary figure four has been suggested.

The number of requests for this pamphlet does not warrant the retaining of such an excessive amount of copies.

RECOMMENDATION:

Inasmuch as this material is occupying too much space in the Records Section, it is requested that the Communist Research Desk of Division Five, under Supervisor K. R. McIntire, express an opinion as to the disposition of it.

It is recommended that only four copies of each issue be retained and the remainder destroyed. In cases where less than four copies exist, it is recommended that all copies be retained.

Inasmuch as numerous Communistic publications which are duplicates, have been authorized to be destroyed, it is suggested that prior to destruction these publications be examined by Mr. McIntire, or the appropriate supervisors in Division Five, in order that they might clip for filing purposes any special articles they deem advisable.

Subject : DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE RECORDS

Reference is made to your memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated February 19, 1945 regarding the Interagency Records Conference at the National Archives on February 23, 1945.

At your instructions I attended this conference and I want to inform you that your forecast that it would "probably be a waste of time" was entirely borne out.

The conference lasted from 9:00 A.M. to 11:00 A.M. There were approximately 200 representatives of various Government agencies present and while I did not have an opportunity to meet many of them, I did note that the I.N.S. sent a representative from Philadelphia for this conference. Mr. Di Girolamo of the Department attended also. The conference was given over for the entire two hours to the panel discussion "Evaluation of Records". Those making up the panel were Mr. Robert Ballentine, of the Adjutant General's Office; Miss Elizabeth Drewry, of the National Archives and Mr. Cyril Paquin, of the Foreign Economic Administration. Dr. Philip C. Brooks of National Archives acted as chairman. The net results were three very wordy and generally meaningless papers read by the panel members with incidental comments by Dr. Brooks. The vast majority of the audience slept through the proceedings.

The only information of particular value to the Bureau was the incidental intelligence dropped by Mr. Paquin of the Foreign Economic Administration who stated in the course of his comments that his agency had 49 missions in foreign countries, ranging in size from a very small one in Iceland, to a very large one in Brazil. He stated that the Brazil mission had numbered at one time, 2400 employees of the Foreign Economic Administration. Dr. Paquin, in general terms went into the screening process carried on by the Foreign Economic Administration, explaining that most of the intelligence information was forwarded to other Government agencies which would have pertinent interest in the particular data.

Throughout his talk Paquin manifested the fact that the Foreign Economic Administration was working on a very intimate basis with the National Archives Council in the Records Destruction Program.

The National Council is entering this program with a great deal of enthusiasm. There is another conference scheduled in a few weeks and their officials seem to be anxious to extend every cooperation to the Government agencies and their representatives with the exception of injecting interesting material in the conference. I shall advise you of further developments at future meetings.

On Friday, March 23, I attended the Interagency Records Administration Conference at the National Archives auditorium. Mr. Seyfarth accompanied me. The program consisted of a talk by Mr. William Muller of the Army Air Force. Mr. James Cummings of the National Archives was not present as scheduled and the meeting was conducted by Mr. Stewart Portner of the National Archives. The conference lasted from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. and consisted of the formal address by Muller during which he decried the imperfect cooperation extended by various Government departments to the program being forwarded by the National Archives Counsel of formulating a complete inventory of all Government records and of evaluating these for retention and disposal.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Portner and Mr. Phillip Brooks of the National Archives, and Mr. Hogan of the Civil Service Commission entered into the spirit of the occasion by contributing their remarks along the same lines. It became apparent that at least one of the objectives of the Records Disposal Program as far as the National Archives was concerned is to promote a larger appropriation. They evidently hope to do this by demonstrating to the Bureau of the Budget the vital need for an extensive and active program for the evaluation and disposal of records and by gaining strong support from the Bureau of the Budget with the expectation of increasing their appropriation.

Mr. Portner brought out during the discussion the fact that the Federal Government in the United States maintains approximately 18 million cubic feet of records in various degrees of order or chaos. He emphasized the fact that with the "old line" departments, the records of which run back into the last century, there is great confusion and lack of standardization; that with the new temporary agencies of the Government there is a relatively better degree of standardization but a great deal of duplication. He presented with some force the idea that it is immediately necessary for some agency of the Government, preferably the National Archives, to conduct a large scale experimental operation to arrive at perfect standardized methods for file systems throughout the Government. Mr. Portner indicated that while it was apparent that the records officers of the various departments were interested in the program as evidenced by the attendance of so many at the meetings that a corresponding enthusiasm had not been reflected on the part of administrative heads of the departments who had been somewhat lethargic in cooperating. The inference was that it was going to take Budget Bureau pressure to forward this program and that through the Budget Bureau the top officials of the departments would be spurred to more intense interest.

EX-50 APR 3 1945

With reference to Mr. Portner's compliment to the records officers present on their enthusiasm it might be stated that there were only 50 in attendance compared to 100 last month and that as was noted at the previous meeting most of those present slept fitfully throughout the 2 hours.

After the meeting I visited Mr. Gerald Davis in his office at his request. He is in charge of Justice Department Archives and has a staff of 7 or 8 professional assistants. Enroute to his office it was noted that 2 of his professional assistants were indulging in a late breakfast at approximately 11:00 a.m. and were discussing matters of mutual interest over their coffee. Mr. Davis explained something about the work in his jurisdiction and demonstrated the terrible backlog of work which had been accumulating on his desk and tables. During the conversation with him he directly touched on the question of the Archives appropriation pointing out that at the initiation of the war the Archives appropriation had been cut greatly so that they could not maintain an adequate staff to handle their normal work and accordingly were in no position to forward the records retirement and disposal programs. Davis also reflected his dissatisfaction with the Justice Department set up in the program. This dissatisfaction consisted of lack of approval of di Girolamo as Records Administration Officier of the Department. He stated that after much prodding Mr. Cannon of the Department of Justice acquiesced to Davis' suggestions and had set up a Records Administration within the Department of Justice. Davis as Archives representative desired to have what he termed a "professional man" in the job. I gather that the word professional in Archives parlance means Ph.D.

During the conversation with Davis I pointed out to him that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was of course doing everything that should be done in accordance with the Public Law No. 115 governing the records disposal program. I also pointed out that the Federal Bureau of Investigation did not have the same problems to contend with in the matter of formulating inventories and evaluating records as were present in other agencies; that since 1924 we had had a highly standardized and closely supervised records system in the Bureau both at the Seat of Government and in the Field Divisions and that accordingly much of the necessary work attendant to the inventory and disposal program had been actually accomplished in a systematic way over the years in the Bureau and that the progressive point of view of Bureau leadership would continue of course to seek out the most efficient and satisfactory systems.

Another conference is scheduled for April which I will attend.

Reference is made to my memorandum to you dated January 29, 1945 captioned as above, which sets out the regulations of Public Law #115 of the 78th Congress and discusses the responsibility of the Bureau in connection with the Law. In connection with the recommendations contained in the memorandum of reference which have been approved, there is attached hereto a suggested letter to all special agents in charge directing that an inventory of all field records be submitted to the Bureau by April 15, 1945. To facilitate submission of the inventory information two forms have been drawn, the first to cover all classified records in the field, the second to cover the alphabetical index in each field division.

Included in the letter to all special agents in charge is a brief outline setting out the origin and development of the Bureau's records system and describing in that connection some of the earlier forms of our files, such as MISCELLANEOUS, OLD GERMAN and MEXICAN. This information is being included to clarify the earlier record procedures in the Bureau in case some field offices still maintain these older forms of files. The letter to all special agents in charge also contains general instructions dealing with the execution of the inventory forms.

The field is being directed to submit the original and one copy of the form to the Bureau by April 15, 1945 and to retain a copy in the field division file.

The letter to all special agents in charge instructs that on April 15, 1945, likewise, a descriptive memorandum should be submitted to the Bureau covering any of the earlier individualized forms of files which may be maintained in the field.

When the inventories are received from the field, the original can be filed and the duplicate copy can be utilized here as a work paper for the necessary correlation and recapitulation in connection with the comprehensive inventory of all Bureau records.

RECOMMENDATION:

RECORDED 66-3286-1111

It is recommended that the attached letter to all special agents in charge and the related forms be forwarded to all field divisions. Each field division should receive three copies each of forms 1 and 2. It is suggested that approximately 500 copies of each form be prepared so as to have a sufficient supply available.

be filled out by your office and submitted to the Bureau no later than April 15, 1945.

For your assistance in properly listing the necessary information and to facilitate the reviewing of records in your office, there is being set out below an outline of the background and development of the Bureau's records system from the time of the inception of the system in July of 1908.

ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE FBI RECORDS SYSTEM

The first investigative body within the Department of Justice was formulated on July 26, 1908. This embryonic organization later became the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The present classification system utilized by the FBI was not initiated until October 17, 1921. In the interval between 1908 and the above date there were developed only three generic classifications.

At the initiation of the Bureau in 1908, the first file opened was given the number 1. And thereafter as each new case was opened it was given the following number in sequence. At this time all files were grouped in the general classification MISCELLANEOUS.

In 1916 in connection with military activities on the Mexican border, it became necessary to initiate a second generic classification. At this time the FBI had utilized in the MISCELLANEOUS classification all numbers up to 231. In other words, 231 files had been opened. In order to facilitate the handling of the reports on Mexican matters, the new classification MEXICAN was initiated and for facility the number 232 (the next file number in the MISCELLANEOUS sequence) was considered as the classification number in the MEXICAN sequence. Today in the Bureau files the word MEXICAN, or the number 232 may be found as signifying the classification for files containing reports dealing with Mexican border matters during the year 1916, et.seq.

In the year 1917 when the United States entered the World War, many files were opened on individuals in subversive matters. To segregate such files, an additional classification was initiated, namely, OLD GERMAN. At this time the Bureau had utilized in the generic MISCELLANEOUS classification 7999 files and sub-numbers. Accordingly, the classification 8000, the next number in sequence, was utilized to designate the OLD GERMAN classification.

Accordingly, from 1908 to October 16, 1921 among the files used during the period we will find three classifications, MISCELLANEOUS, MEXICAN, with its corresponding code classification, 232, and OLD GERMAN or O.G. with corresponding code classification, 8000.

In summary, as of October 17, 1921 when the current classification system was initiated, the Bureau, at the Seat of Government, had the following classifications and numbers of files in each category:

Classification	Classification No.	Sub Files
MISCELLANEOUS		1 to 43,156
OLD GERMAN	8000	1 to 391,901

It is believed that throughout the field in the early days of the Bureau, the three classifications described above were not specifically used. It is known that many field offices at that time utilized only the MISCELLANEOUS classification and sequenced all types of cases in numerical order thereafter without the differentiating between MISCELLANEOUS, MEXICAN, O.G. or other types. However, the above descriptive matter is being set out in case the records of any field division may have followed a breakdown similar to those maintained at the Bureau in the early days.

INITIATION OF CLASSIFICATIONS CURRENTLY USED

On October 17, 1921 the present day classification numbers from 5, signifying INCOME TAX through 60, signifying ANTI-TRUST MATTERS, were initiated. Classifications 1 to 4 were not originally utilized as these were types of cases handled in the Department of Justice, but not by the Bureau. The first four classifications were later utilized by the Bureau, as you know, for NPA, NEUTRALITY ACT, OVERTHROW AND DESTRUCTION OF THE GOVEVRNMENT, and FIREARMS ACT. The classifications 5 through 60 corresponded with the classifications utilized in the Department of Justice files. The Bureau classifications from 61, signifying TREASON AND RELATED STATUTES, through 113, signifying FOREIGN MILITARY AND NAVAL MATTERS, were developed after October 17, 1921 as necessity arising from expanding jurisdiction required.

In view of the fact that the Bureau in its early form did not manifest the unity and conformity to standard, typical since 1924, it may be that certain field divisions have individualized files of various types. One such type of file of which we are aware is concerned with activities of the AMERICAN PROTECTIVE LEAGUE during the first World War. At that time the Chicago Field Division was considered the headquarters of the League and the central files were retained there. There were in existence throughout the United States various sub offices of the League operating in very divergent forms. It is believed that some of the files for the sub offices may be retained in the Bureau field divisions. No doubt other types of individualized files are in possession of some of the field divisions.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

FORM #1. Form #1 attached should be filled out in triplicate.

The original and one copy should be submitted to the Bureau and one copy should be retained in the field division.

This form, as you will note, is for utilization in connection with all files in your office maintained under the classifications 1 to 113. Some of the classifications within the sequence are inactive and presently not utilized. If your office has files under these inactive classifications, the appropriate data should be set out in the columns indicated. In the event your office does not have files in certain classifications, in the columns concerned with the classification, an "X" should be inserted.

MISCELLANEOUS FILES. In connection with the earlier classifications, MISCELLANEOUS, MEXICAN and OLD GERMAN, described in the above caption, ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE FBI RECORDS SYSTEM, if you have such records, you should submit to the Bureau also by April 15, 1945, a memorandum containing information descriptive. This memorandum should specifically cover the following points:

1. Description of material in the particular category.
2. Description of condition of the records.
3. Date of the earliest file.
4. Date and number of the latest file.
5. Number of four drawer cabinets housing.
6. Number of five drawer cabinets housing.
7. Are files indexed completely or partially? Explain fully.

In addition to the above specific points, any additional data which may be of value to the Bureau in connection with this MISCELLANEOUS category should be included.

In the event your office contains old records not coming within any of the categories described, a memorandum should be submitted descriptive of each category of record covering the seven points above set out.

FORM #2. Inventory Form #2 applies to the alphabetical index maintained in your office. No further clarification is necessary in this connection.

With reference to the Laboratory project of reviewing files over three years of age and disposing of them by stripping the file and sending the balance of the file to the Administrative Files Section for permanent retention, the Executive Conference discussion on the recommendation of the Inspectors that the project be expedited resulted in the question as to how many employees should be assigned and how long it would take.

Mr. Coffey will be able to assign two additional employees full time and two employees can be sent from the Identification Division making a total of four full-time employees on the project. Under this arrangement, the work can be completed within 45 days.

If you approve, arrangements will be made and instructions issued.

I feel that the assignment of four will be the most efficient way to handle the project. The files section is rather small and a large number could not be as profitably utilized.

With reference to Mr. Cartwright's memorandum to Mr. Nichols concerning the destruction of old Memorandum Vouchers dated from 1909 to 1917 inclusive, this will advise you that the Old Records Committee of the Bureau has discussed the possible destruction of these records with officials of the Accounting Section of the Department, and it has been ascertained that within the Department Memorandum Vouchers through 1935 have already been destroyed, and there appears to be no reason why the Memorandum Vouchers attached to Mr. Cartwright's memorandum should not at this time be destroyed.

It is therefore the recommendation of the Old Records Committee and of the Executive Conference that authority be secured from the Department for the destruction of these records.

Inventory of Field Division Records

Destruction of Surplus Property

Reference is made to my memorandum to you dated January 29, 1945 on the basis of which instructions were issued to the Field Divisions by SAC Letter 34, dated April 3, 1945, to submit an inventory of all records maintained.

The complete inventory figures have been made available and totaled. The following figures are reflected:

Total Classified Files 4-1-45	Total Classified Files 1-1-24	Total Classified Files 1-1-40	Total Four Drawer Cabinets	Total Five Drawer Cabinets	Total Index Cards	Total Index Card Drawers

Field Files Maintained Prior to present Classification System

In addition to the files maintained in the field under the classification system currently used there is a good deal of material dating from the years prior to 1921 when the Bureau's records were not carefully maintained. In addition to the casual manner in which these old files were initiated and kept in the early years, they have probably suffered in the interval between by being poorly maintained. Much of these old records have been kept in packing cases and various forms of receptacles other than file cabinets. In addition to their originally poor order they have become more confused in the years between and many of them are, according to descriptive matter received from the field, in such disarray as to be useless from that standpoint alone if they are not obsolete inherently.

According to the inventory figures received there is presently a total of 240 file cabinets of such old material presently maintained in the field, over half of which material is in the Chicago and New York Field Divisions.

Files Transferred From Closed Field Divisions

Under date of December 15, 1944 Mr. Clegg by memorandum to you and to Mr. Glavin raised the question of disposal of old field office files. In this connection he pointed out that the New York and Chicago Field Divisions were maintaining files ten years old and older which had been transferred to those offices from closed offices within the present territories assigned to New York and Chicago.

As recommended and approved in my memorandum of reference to you dated January 29, 1945, a disposal list was forwarded to the Department of Justice and thereafter to the National Archives Counsel under date of February 15, 1945 accompanied by samples of these transferred files obtained from the field. This disposal list was approved by the National Archives Counsel by the memorandum attached, which was received from Mr. Cannon of the Department of Justice under date of April 16, 1945.

The Bureau thereby has authority to destroy the above listed files currently maintained at the Chicago and other Field Divisions which have been forwarded to those offices from other offices previously closed. This authority covers closed files for the years from 1910 to 1938. A recommendation is being included in the final section of this memorandum for action in the event the Bureau desires to dispose of these records.

GENERAL

The ultimate objective is to develop a complete inventory of all Bureau records at the Seat of Government and in the Field. This inventory should include, to comply with Public Law 115 of the 78th Congress and the regulations promulgated in connection therewith, not only material maintained in the Records Section at the Bureau and in the Chief Clerk's Offices throughout the Field but should also cover fingerprint records of the Identification Division, possibly material maintained by the Crime Records and Crime Statistics Sections, the Chief Clerk's Office, the Laboratory, and any other Bureau Divisions which develop and maintain "records" within the meaning of Public Law 115. After all figures have been developed and collected a comprehensive schedule should be forwarded to the National Archives Counsel itemizing all Bureau records and, in connection with each item recommending (1) maintenance, either permanent or temporary or (2) disposal, immediately or after a period of time.

In the event the Bureau desires, however, prior to preparation of the comprehensive schedule to obtain approval for destruction of certain records a disposal list applying to one or more items of records can be prepared and forwarded to the National Archives at any time.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) It is recommended that the Bureau's field files maintained under present day classification initiated in October of 1921 be considered from the standpoint of possible disposal of such closed obsolete records as may be desirable in relation to their costs of maintenance from personnel and space standpoints.

(2) It is recommended that consideration be given to the possible disposal of the files maintained in Chicago and other Field Divisions previously transferred from closed field divisions. It is to be noted that authority for destruction of these records has already been obtained as will be reflected by the attached memorandum from Mr. Cannon of the Department of Justice dated April 16, 1945.

(3) As to unclassified miscellaneous files maintained in the field divisions prior to 1922 it is recommended that representative samples of these files be obtained from each office concerned and that thereafter consideration as to disposal or maintenance be given these records.

The Executives' Conference, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Rosen, McGuire, Morgan, Quinn Tamm, and Ladd, on June 6, 1945, considered the destruction of obsolete material in the Bureau's records and was advised that as of January 1, 1924, the complete inventory made of the Field files disclosed a total of 6,805 classified files. Until January 1, 1940, this number increased to 593,495 classified files. As of April 1, 1945, the total number of classified files in the Field was 2,560,568. In other words, the great bulk of the files in the Field were cases handled from 1940 to 1945.

Field files occupy 5,991 four-drawer cabinets and 740 five-drawer cabinets. A total of 24,846,459 index cards are contained in 13,191 index card drawers. According to the inventory figures, there are 240 file cabinets of old files for the years prior to 1921, when the Bureau's records were placed under the classification system. Over half of this material is in the Chicago and New York Offices, and many of these old records are kept in packing cases and various forms of receptacles other than file cabinets. In addition to their originally poor order, this old material has become more confused in the years intervening, and according to the descriptive data received from the Field Offices the data is in such disarray as to be useless from that standpoint alone if they are not obsolete inherently.

It was the opinion of the Conference that since authority for the destruction of records in Chicago and other Field Divisions, which files had been previously transferred from closed Field Divisions and which total 108 cabinets, had been obtained from the National Archives, instructions could now be issued to Special Agents in Charge for the appropriate disposal of these records by burning in their Field Division.

It was also felt desirable by the Conference to obtain the opinion of Archives at this time as to the possibilities of, with their authority, destroying such closed obsolete records in the Field as may in the discretion of the Bureau be desirable.

RECORDED & INDEXED 66-3286-183

Attached hereto is a suggested memorandum of instructions to the Agents in Charge, giving authority for the destruction of the files transferred from other closed Field Divisions.

EX-30

An appropriate memorandum is being directed to the Department to ascertain the opinion of the National Archives Council as to the destruction of obsolete closed Field Division files.

Respectfully,
for the Conference

Reference is made to memorandum dated May 30, 1945 addressed to you by the Director regarding certain findings of the Inspector incident to recent inspection of the Filing Unit with particular regard to certain classifications of material presently located on the eighth floor which may be subject to appropriate disposition and disposal at this time.

In accordance with the Director's instructions the Records Section contacted Bureau Officials and Supervisors of divisions of the Bureau which may conceivably have an investigative or research interest in any of the material in question.

Listed herein are the recommendations made with regard to the material located on the eighth floor, and the disposition made of same.

1. Miscellaneous World War material, 1914 to 1918, consisting of old pamphlets, booklets and papers relating to radical organizations.

   Mr. Mumford was contacted and he advised that this material was of no value and can be destroyed. Material has been destroyed.

2. Miscellaneous material relating to criminal syndicalism in the U. S., various unrelated radical matters and certain exhibits relative to Goldman and Berkman.

   Mr. Mumford stated that this material was of no value and could be destroyed. Material has been destroyed.

3. Records of Congressional hearings on miscellaneous matters, including Russia and labor, and to miscellaneous material on radical literature and Communism.

   Mr. Mumford advised that all this material could be destroyed. Material has been destroyed.

4. Copies of photographs of a number of prominent criminals now dead, such as Dillinger and Nelson.

   RECORD & INDEXED 31 JUL 21 1945

   Mr. Rosen advised that these copies of photographs could be destroyed as copies of same are filed in the respective case files. All photographs have been destroyed.

5. Copies of press releases and running memoranda on various criminals. These are extra copies of write-ups which are contained in the case files.

JUL 31 1945

COPIES DESTROYED
205 JAN 22 1965

Mr. Rosen was contacted and approximately 15 sample copies of these press releases and running memoranda were turned over to him. Mr. Rosen stated that when he gets an opportunity he will check over this material and advise whether or not these extra copies of press releases and running memoranda can be destroyed.

6. Publications used by various Government departments and Governmental agencies, such as the Department of Commerce Appropriation Bill for 1943, Appropriation for the Department of Justice, 1929, and the Civil Aeronautics Journal for 1940.

Mr. Callahan was contacted and he advised that these publications were of no value and could be destroyed. Have been destroyed.

7. Copies of annual reports relative to fingerprints received in the Identification Division for 1934, lists of inactive contributors to the Identification Division for 1935, and copies of the Recording Section Manual.

Mr. Quinn Tamm was contacted regarding this material and he advised that same has no value and could be destroyed. All this material has been destroyed.

Test papers from the National Police Academy for 1935.

Mr. Morgan was contacted and he advised that these test papers could be destroyed. Test papers have been destroyed.

Miscellaneous training material, samples of lectures used in training schools and samples of reports and material used in bankruptcy lectures.

Mr. Rosen and Mr. Scott were contacted regarding this material and they both advised it is of no value and could be destroyed. All this material has been destroyed.

8. Various American publications, such as the Editor and Publishers' International Yearbook, Newsweek Magazine dating back to 1934, the Notre Dame Alumnus dating back to 1935, the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology dating back to 1927 and the American City Magazine dating back to 1929.

Mr. Suttler was contacted regarding these publications. Mr. Suttler is checking over all this material and he is making the necessary disposition of same. Some of the material is being retained in the F. B. I. Library, some of the material is being sent to the Department Library, and some of the material is being sent to the Congressional Library.

9. Police Department annual reports, police department magazines, pamphlets and so forth.

Mr. Suttler was contacted and he advised that he will check over all these publications and make the necessary disposition of same.

10. Miscellaneous letters received from conscientious objectors during the first World War.

Mr. Mumford was contacted and he advised that these letters are of no value and can be destroyed. Steps being taken to have destroyed.

11. Material relating to the Malleable Castings Company case dealing with violations of the Anti-Trust Law of 1924.

Mr. Rosen advised that these records are the originals and must be retained and cannot be destroyed.

12. Working papers and copies of correspondence of former F. B. I. Accountants relating to cases to which they were assigned to investigate.

Mr. Rosen and Mr. Scott advised that these working papers and copies of correspondence are of no value and could be destroyed. All this material has been destroyed.

13. Material on War Fraud cases from 1922 to 1924, which material was handled by the Department of Justice and in 1924 was turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for further investigation.

Mr. Rosen advised that these records etc., are the originals and must be retained and cannot be destroyed.

14. Telegrams and cablegrams between individuals in Germany and the United States from 1914 to 1918.

Mr. Mumford advised that these telegrams and cablegrams are of no value and can be destroyed. Steps are being taken to destroy same.

15. Letters from various individuals addressed to the Department of Justice and to the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the last World War requesting that certain individuals be exempted from a listing of alien enemies.

Mr. Mumford was contacted and he advised that this material has no value and can be destroyed. Steps being taken to destroy same.

16. Miscellaneous bound books and pamphlets such as the Federal Register for 1937 and out-dated supplements to the United States Code.

Mr. Callahan was contacted and he advised that these books etc. are of no value and can be destroyed. All these books etc. have been destroyed.

17. Miscellaneous collection of German messages, cablegrams and telegrams for the years 1915 and 1916.

Mr. Mumford advised that this material can be destroyed as it is of no value. Steps being taken to destroy same.

18. Material relating to surplus property cases investigated by former Special Agent John M. Keith for the War Department.

Mr. Rosen advised that this material consists of original reports etc.

and cannot be destroyed.

19. Material relating to investigations in 1917 and 1920 inclusive concerning the Northern Pacific District Shipyard. This investigation relates to Frauds Against the Government.

Mr. Rosen advised that this material consists of original reports etc. and cannot be destroyed.

Attention: Mr. Hennrich
JOHN EDGAR HOOVER, DIRECTOR, FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

The Bureau is presently studying the problem of its expanding records and in this connection is looking into the possibility of disposal of certain closed Field Office files which may be obsolete or superfluous in character. To assist in the study it is desired to have samples of Field Office files closed prior to January 1, 1941.

You are accordingly requested to forward to the Bureau 12 samples of closed files from your records and these files of course, should not contain material dated later than January 1, 1941. It is desired that these files be representative of the Bureau's overall jurisdiction. 1 sample should be submitted in each of the Classifications Numbers 15, 17, 26, 31, 47 and 52. 3 samples should be submitted in each of the Classifications numbered 65 and 100.

In accordance with the desire of the Executives' Conference as reflected by the attached memorandum dated June 23, 1945 to ascertain from the National Archives Councel the possibility of destruction of closed obsolete Field records, there is attached hereto a letter to Washington Field Division requesting that office to forward to the Bureau 12 samples of Washington Field Office files closed prior to January 1, 1941.

Consistent with your instructions I have already telephoned Assistant Special Agent In Charge Hennrich, of the Washington Field Office, and discussed with him our needs, explaining the type of files desired and he has a clear understanding in this connection.

As soon as the files are received from Washington Field Office we will prepare a disposal list for the National Archives requesting approval. It is not believed there will be any difficulty encountered insomuch as the records concerned are duplicates in the sense that the originals are already on file in the Bureau. If approval is obtained for the disposal of such records it will apply to all Field Division files and thereafter the Bureau can in its own discretion authorize destruction of certain obsolete Field records if it so desires. Authority from the National Archives to destroy [redacted] records does not make it incumbent on Government Departments to actually destroy the records unless the department concerned wishes to.

Reference is made to Executive Conference memorandum dated May 29, 1945 dealing with a recommendation made during the recent inspection of the Personnel Records Section to the effect that letters in the category of informal applications not be retained by the Bureau after answering and that no index record be prepared on such communications.

It is noted that the Executive Conference memorandum under Recommendation No. 1 states, "When an initial letter is received from an individual which only requests an application blank, it should be routed directly to the Administrative Division without being serialized or placed on record and without any index card being made." The language of the recommendation limits the elimination of initial applicant correspondence to that specifically requesting an application blank. It is to be noted that not all initial letters from a prospective applicant specifically request an application blank. As a matter of fact, a great many of them ask for generic information as to the type of positions available in the Bureau, educational and special requirements, information about recommended schools to attain requirements and other data. The vast majority of these letters are answered by form, no copy of which under previous practices has been maintained in the Personnel Records Section.

It is accordingly being recommended below that consideration be given to including in the type of initial correspondence to be destroyed all such letters as those described above which have been in the past generally described as "informal applications."

Authority for the destruction of the backlog of such communications has already been requested from the National Archives Council and approval for such action will be forthcoming in the not too distant future according to informal advice received.

In the event favorable consideration is given to including in the category of such initial letters to be destroyed all "informal application letters" such letters in the future will not be recorded or indexed but will be forwarded for action by the Administrative Division. In the event any specific communication because of its nature would justify retention and recording such action will be taken by the Records Section at the request of the representative of the Administrative Division.

RECORDED & INDEXED
EX - 47 66-3286-188

This matter has been discussed with Inspector Egan and with Supervisor H. L. Edwards of the Administrative Division, both of whom are favorable to the handling outlined above.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that not only requests for formal application blanks but also generic requests for information about positions in the Bureau in the future not be retained and that the backlog of files containing only such letters written by applicants who did not develop beyond this initial stage be destroyed after official authority is granted by the National Archives Council.

The Executives' Conference on August 6, 1945 those present being Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Glavin, Hendon, Coffey, Rosen, Q. Tamm, Lee, Ladd, McGuire, and Clegg considered a suggestion of SAC Wiley that consideration be given to a suggestion concerning the destruction of RUC reports in the field offices which is a suggestion initially made by Mr. Wiley in December 1943. His proposal was that closed files in all field offices which are more than three years old (using Statute of Limitations) which have been closed by RUCing to the office of origin be destroyed, that the folder of these files be retained as at present and that a 3 x 5 card be stapled to these folders reflecting the complete title of the case, the age, the birth date, race, office of origin, and date the case was RUCd.

The card would be prepared at the time the RUC report was initially prepared and filed in the tickler box for attention three years from the date of preparation. After three years' time the Chief Clerk can pull these cards, staple the cards to the folders, and destroy the file thereby completely culling out the closed files each month.

Mr. Wiley advises that the RUC report serves no purpose except in very few instances, that the auxiliary office cannot rely on information in their files, the file is incomplete in the RUC office, and in most instances the reports themselves are copies of the original which have been sent to the Bureau. He further points out this would relieve congested file space, save considerable money, would make closed files more accessible and compact, and whenever it is necessary to have any information concerning these files after they are destroyed the information can be sought by telephone. The Executives' Conference unanimously disapproved the suggestion.

In the first place, the intelligence work of the Bureau has made it important that each field office have a record of all interviews conducted in the division particularly in security cases for cross-reference purposes and in order that a proper study can be made of all information in the office concerning an individual.

Secondly, very frequently the auxiliary office rather than the office of origin is the office where the case is prosecuted and the RUC reports often contain information as to the final disposition of the case and these records should be available in the same division where the case was tried and court action was taken.

Third, the information contained in RUC reports at the office of prosecution, which is often an auxiliary office, forms a basis for information set forth in a summary report and there should be no destruction of the source material on which some of the reports are prepared.

RECORDED AND INDEXED 66-32386-189

58 SEP 7 1945 140

Fourth, arrangements have been made through the Department and office of the archivist to destroy field office files after a period of years and this is believed to be the best way to proceed in the removing of obsolete files.

Fifth, the field office files at present are about two and one-half million in number and two million of them originated within the past five years and thus the information, particularly in intelligence and name search files and in connection with applicant investigations, will be of current value for a considerable period of time and they undoubtedly should not be destroyed.

Sixth, it would become obviously necessary to review these closed files for any original documents, signed statements, and other material before they could be destroyed and this would require the time of SAs or members of the supervisory staff and the setting up of the additional file of ticklers in the preparation of the cards would involve some expense.

Seventh, it is believed that the wise discretion of the SACs in placing the older closed files in cheaper storage space will accomplish practically all the results desired by Mr. Wiley and still have the information available in the field office for review on cross-reference name searches or on other cases where it appears necessary.

Eighth, the likelihood of repeaters in the criminal field would make possession and availability of these files in a period of three years highly desirable and there should be on record in the office the contacts and interviews made by the Agents of the office for a period in excess of three years.

As the Executives' Conference disapproved the suggestion there is attached hereto a letter to Mr. Wiley.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Clyde Tolson

The Executives' Conference on August 28, 1945, those in attendance being Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Coffey, Tracy, Ladd, Nichols and Morgan, bearing in mind the possibility of further curtailment of Bureau work incident to the war's end, considered two matters originally arising incident to the inspection of the Records Section; viz., the disposition to be made of (1) War Relocation Authority forms and (2) name search forms.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-20-82 BY SP4 ELW/cal

I

Approximately 13,000 War Relocation Authority forms are awaiting filing in the Records Section. These forms were made up on the occasion of movement of Japanese internees and reflect the name of the internee, the Relocation Center, his internee registration number, the point to which he is moving for a temporary stay, and the type of work in which he will engage. It is to be noted that under a Supreme Court decision the authority of the military over the movement of internees has been limited and, further, the information contained on the forms, except for its indication of a single move, is a duplication of that already available. From consultation with employees in the Records Section and through examination of the forms, it has been estimated that the indexing of the forms alone would require the typing of at least 26,000 index cards aside from the other clerical work involved. The agent-supervisor, who formerly handled these matters in the Security Division, has advised that the War Relocation project has been discontinued and that the ratio of citizens to aliens represented in the 13,000 internees is approximately 2½ to 1; that is to say, there are approximately 2½ times as many citizens as there are aliens. Information based on the forms has been furnished the field in the past in a small percentage of instances in the case of internees who are not citizens and whose move was for an indefinite duration. It is noted that the original information is on file with the War Relocation Authority.

Bearing in mind that the 13,000 forms contain little pertinent information and no information that may not be secured in any particular instance through War Relocation Authority records and the further fact that the program has been discontinued, the Conference unanimously recommended that immediate steps be taken with a view to destroying the forms, it being noted that without being indexed and filed the forms have no practical value and that the work entailed in doing this would not be compensated for by any conceivable benefits to be derived.

II

With respect to name search forms, it is noted that the Records Division has an enormous volume, approaching one million, received by the Bureau from various Governmental agencies for searching through our indices. Pursuant to an Executives' Conference memorandum of March 15, 1944, the Director instructed that the project to record and index such forms be discontinued, no action having been taken however with a view to disposal or retention without indexing of the forms.

A survey made as of November 16, 1944, reflected that the number of forms then accumulated was 789,000 and as of April, 1945, this figure was approximately 839,000. The forms are presently stored on the 8th floor in 27 five-drawer wooden cabinets, 9 four-drawer cabinets and 2 wooden cloak cabinets. Approximately 500 of these forms are received daily, which would require the full time of 2 employees to index and handle, while the 839,000 backlog would require the services of 12 employees for approximately 8 months in order that they might be indexed and filed. The Conference noted that the forms referred to are of investigative value only to the extent that the individuals who are the subjects of the forms may also be subjects of Bureau cases, it being noted that the forms do contain background information reflecting relatives, addresses, former places of employment and material of this nature.

It is obvious, however, that the name search forms, unindexed, have no value to the Bureau and that unless their indexing and filing is contemplated, the time and space devoted to them are completely wasted. In view of the speculative nature of the value to be obtained and the substantial additional personnel needed to handle the backlog and keep the indexing of the forms in a current status, the Conference unanimously recommended that the accumulated forms be not indexed and that the necessary action be immediately taken with a view to disposal of the forms now on hand and of incoming forms as soon as their immediate purpose is served.

Respectfully,
FOR THE CONFERENCE

Defective .38 Official Police Hip Holsters

There are on hand at the present time two hundred and thirteen .38 Official Police Hip Holsters which are no longer usable due to the fact that they are either so worn and scarred until they give an unsightly appearance or they are soft at the top which makes it very difficult to insert the Revolver.

It is requested that authority be granted to dispose of these holsters.

The Executive Conference, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Long, Ladd, Morgan, Hendon, Tracy, Glavin and Nichols, considered the matter of destruction of files in offices which are presently being closed, along with the recommendations of SAC Cornelius.

The Conference was unanimous in recommending the destruction of the following files: (1) Quarterly intelligence summaries in offices being closed inasmuch as there would be duplicates in the office to which the district office closed will be assigned; (2) Bureau bulletins and SAC letters in offices closed may be destroyed inasmuch as there are duplicates in the offices taking over the territories; (3) FBI Law Enforcement Bulletins and Uniform Crime Reports in offices closed as they will be duplicated in the offices assuming jurisdiction; (4) interesting cases, radio scripts and speech material. These will be destroyed inasmuch as they will be duplicated in the offices assuming jurisdiction; (5) dead files on the photographs of subjects of Identification Orders which contain copies of I.O.'s and photographs but which do not contain investigative reports since they are duplicated in the office assuming jurisdiction; (6) 00 files in the offices closed since these consist of instructions and are duplicated in the offices assuming jurisdiction; (7) files on expired contracts inasmuch as copies are on file in the Bureau, and it is not believed they would be of any further value.

If approved, a letter to all Special Agents in Charge is attached, so that it will be on file for future reference in the various offices.

Reference is made to Mr. Bromwell's memorandum to Mr. Tracy, dated October 5, 1945, concerning the Identification Division files. We agree substantially with the proposal submitted by Mr. Bromwell, and are ready to proceed with the actual destruction of the accumulated material in 202 file cabinets in the Armory.

It is believed that the following problems are immediately presented in connection with the disposition of the old material, and the setting up of a system for the handling of current Identification Division mail:

1. We are ready to immediately place a squad in the Identification Division files to proceed with the actual destruction. It is believed that several Identification Division employees should be a part of this squad in order to properly identify that material which is not to be destroyed and which later may be filed either in the fingerprint jackets or our regular files.

2. Effective with the setting up of the proposed procedure of handling current Identification mail in the Identification Division, we will immediately discontinue our present Identification files. Thereafter, all mail appropriately marked "File", and initialed, will be placed in regular Bureau files. Most of the mail formerly going into the old Identification files will be placed into a General file by state or country. These files are maintained in the 32 classification.

3. In addition to the Identification Division files, we also maintain in the Armory, 318 file cabinets of other material. We have on order 250 new file cabinets for expansion of the files in this building. In order to accept these cabinets, old material necessarily will have to be removed tosome other space. One of the possibilities is the space to be vacated by the Identification Division files in the Armory.

Attached is an analysis of Identification Division mail which was prepared by the Records Section on September 11, 1945. In accordance with your instructions I have checked into the advisability of the Identification Division taking over the Ident Files. The analysis as furnished by the Records Section reflecting to major breakdowns of the mail handler of that file reflects that disposition sheets make up 83% and general mail 17%. My check of the current material being handled by the Ident File employees is substantially 83% disposition sheets and 17% general correspondence.

I believe that the disposition sheets presently being filed in the Ident Files should be destroyed. This position is taken in view of the fact that all dispositions posted into the jacket are reviewed by a reader either in the Posting Section or the Typing Section and any errors made by the typist should be caught. Formerly this was not true and it was felt necessary to retain the dispositions in the event of some inquiry indicating that the dispositions had been erroneously posted. Another fact taken in consideration of my position in destroying dispositions sheets is that cases investigated by the Bureau would have the dispositions recorded in the report in the Administrative File and if it is necessary to refer back to a disposition in a Bureau case it would merely be necessary to check the Administrative File.

If it was decided that all disposition sheets were to be destroyed after they were posted either in the Posting or the Typing Section such action would immediately reduce the volume of mail in Ident Files 83%. On the basis of this analysis a check was made of the mail handled on October 1 and 2 in an effort to determine what mail within this category might be destroyed or handled in some other manner which would be more economical than under present procedure. Such analysis reflected that the majority of the remaining correspondence was a request for a final record of a letter of transmittal enclosing fingerprints. It is believed that this type of mail could also be destroyed as it is not believed that it is ever necessary to review it or the necessity for reviewing it is so remote that we can not justify the handling of it in order to carry on for those isolated cases. Therefore if the letters of transmittal of fingerprints and letters requesting criminal record were destroyed such action would reduce the volume of mail presently being handled in the Ident Files approximately 95%. This remaining mail which would consist of correspondence pertaining to wanted notices advising of consolidations of two or more records, letters setting forth some correction of a record, personal inquiries by civilians or nongovernmental or law enforcement agencies, and miscellaneous inquiries. In addition copies of Bureau letters returning fingerprints and Bureau acknowledgements would come within this 5%. Most of this mail comprising the 5% I believe should be retained. Its retention could be in several forms. Where there is a fingerprint jacket and the correspondence is positively identical with that jacket, the correspondence could be filed with the duplicator in the jacket. Where the correspondence involves a nonidentification the material could be filed either in a file set up following the same system presently used in the Identification Division files or by serializing the correspondence in the Records Section. These latter types of cases will probably be in minority and possibly it would be more desireable to serialize them placing them in general Administrative Files rather than maintaining a separate file. At the present time a copy of any letter written relative to a record in the Identification Division which contains a FBI number is placed in the jacket and under the present procedure a copy of that communication is also filed in either the Records Section or the Ident File depending whether or not it is purely an identification matter or connected with a Bureau case. For a necessity of this nature it would be barely necessary to retain the existing copy in the fingerprint jacket. At the present time there are eight employees assigned to the Ident Files and there are 202 cabinets containing Ident material. If disposition sheets were destroyed and also letters of transmittal of fingerprints and letters requesting criminal records and communications identical with existing records were placed in the jacket, the number of cabinets could be reduced to approximately 15 or 20 which would contain nonident material and miscellaneous inquiries not involving a specific record. One or two employees should be able to handle such a file. Of course, if the material being placed in the file similar to the existing Ident File were serialized then the complete Ident Filing System could be abolished. I believe in view of the small amount of mail which would have to be filed that the best method of handling it would be by serializing and placing it in the Records Section, Division IV.

The space presently occupied by the Ident Files Section is in the Typing Building. The Typing Section at the present time needs additional space to store their index card supplies and other necessary supplies. In addition, I believe that consideration might be given by the Typing Section to placing their Mail Room in this location in view of the fact that it is close to the garage and it would be possible for the post office truck to drive into the basement, backup to the door leading to that Section and receive mail which it now picks up in the main Messenger Station.

RECOMMENDATION: That disposition sheets be destroyed by readers in either the Typing or Posting Section where they are handled. That letters of transmittal of fingerprints and letters requesting criminal records after the necessary action has been taken be destroyed. That communications positively identical with fingerprint records be placed in the jacket. That copies of Bureau correspondence concerning fingerprint matters be retained in the jacket and no copies be placed elsewhere. That the remaining material which would be nonidents be serialized by the Records Section. It is suggested that the Records Section make spot checks for a period of six months on the nonident matter which they serialize with a view to recommending the destruction of additional types of correspondence which it felt would not be necessary to retain. Destruction of Bureau Property - General

(D) DESTRUCTION OF FILES -- For future guidance in the closing of offices the following instructions are being issued with reference to the destruction of files. The following files in the office closed may be destroyed since material is either duplicated in the office assuming jurisdiction or is on file in the Bureau and no longer would serve any purpose in the field:

1. Quarterly Intelligence Summaries.

2. Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters.

3. FBI Law Enforcement Bulletins and Uniform Crime Reports.

4. Interesting cases, radio scripts and speech material.

5. Dead files on the subjects of Identification Orders which contain the copies of I.O.'s and photographs of subjects may be destroyed so long as these files do not contain investigative reports.

6. OO files containing instructions may be destroyed since the material is duplicated in the offices assuming jurisdiction.

7. Administrative files containing expired contracts inasmuch as the contracts are on file in the Bureau and are no longer of any value in the field.

SUBJECT: PHOTOGRAPHS AND DESCRIPTIONS OF ESPIONAGE AGENTS

As you will recall, during the course of the war the Espionage Section kept a bound volume of the photographs of known and suspected espionage agents.

ACTION:

Since the cessation of hostilities, no further photographs have been added to this album, and the Cartographic Section has been instructed to prepare no further volumes. All photographs which were not made up into an additional volume have been appropriately indexed in the Bureau files.

There is attached a letter to the various field divisions who received copies of this album advising them that such may be destroyed and that a complete copy of the album is being retained at the Bureau.

(E) DESTRUCTION OF INSPECTION REPORTS, CORRESPONDENCE RELATING TO INSPECTIONS, CONTENTS OF PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL FILES AND MATERIAL RELATING TO THE CONFIDENTIAL FUND -- Effective immediately in each field office there should be promptly destroyed the following types of field office records:

1. The Inspection Reports and correspondence relating to inspections and Inspection Reports after such material is three years old or older in the office.

2. Contents of the Office Personal and Confidential Files after the serials are three years old and after the Special Agent in Charge has personally reviewed the serials in order to retain such of these serials as in his judgment he believes to be of current or continuing interest and of benefit in the adminstration of the office and the affairs of his Division. In other words the Special Agent in Charge is authorized to retain any of the serials more than three years old when to do so is believed to be an advantage to the office.

3. Cancelled checks, check stubs, Special Agent in Charge's vouchers, bank statements and similar material relating to the office's confidential fund after such material is three years old.

This enclosure consists of numerous photographs and information sheets regarding persons connected with totalitarian activities in Cuba.

The names listed are not carried as see references in this serial but are indexed elsewhere. At a supervisor's request the part deemed necessary for retention was indexed and placed behind file. In view of these facts it appears that the Bureau could dispose of this material.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO: : THE DIRECTOR

DATE: January 31, 1946

FROM: : THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

SUBJECT: 20990

The Executive Conference of January 31, 1946, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Rosen, Mumford, Nichols, Hendon, Harbo, Clegg, Tracy and Glavin considered a suggestion submitted by Miss Marie Lundy of the Administrative Division concerning the disposition of old inventories.

Miss Lundy stated that there are maintained in the Chief Clerk's Office at the present time all Seat of Government inventories since 1936 and recommended that all inventories more than two years old be destroyed.

The Conference was advised that inventories are taken annually and the new inventories are balanced and brought into agreement with the inventories of the year past; and that it is the belief that these inventories need not be retained for a period of more than two years since experience has shown that it is not necessary to go back over that period of time in order to properly bring the inventories into balance.

The Conference recommended approval of this suggestion. Should the Director agree, the attached communication should go forward to Miss Lundy.

Respectfully submitted,

FROM: THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

The Executive Conference of January 25, 1946, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Hendon, Rosen, Clegg, Nichols, Harbo, Tracy and Glavin considered a suggestion submitted by the Special Agent in Charge at Milwaukee concerning the disposition of gasoline rationing records.

The SAC at Milwaukee stated that since gasoline rationing has been discontinued and the unused gasoline coupons were reported to the Bureau, there appears to be no reason for the records of unused coupons being retained at the present time.

Glavin pointed out to the Conference that immediately after gasoline rationing was ended, this particular problem was raised; and it was felt at that time that due to the fact we were receiving inquiries from time to time from the OPA concerning the distribution and use of gasoline rationing coupons, that the Field Office records should be maintained for a period of time.

At the present time, the combined record is maintained at the Seat of Government; and it is not felt that the Field Office record need be maintained. The Conference, therefore, recommends the adoption of the suggestion submitted by the SAC at Milwaukee that the Divisional Offices be advised they may destroy these records at the present time.

Should the Director approve the Conference recommendation, the attached SAC letter should go forward to the Field.

Respectfully submitted.

RE: SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF FILE PROCEDURE.

"Destruction Program"

Dear Sir:

I would like to make the following suggestion with reference to what I consider to be a possible improvement in Field Office procedure. It has probably been suggested in the past; however it has not been to my knowledge and therefore I desire to submit it to you for your consideration.

We have in every Field Office a large number of closed files which in my experience are never referred to except for reference purposes. It seems to me that considerable space in field offices could be saved by the destruction of all but one serial in closed cases. Of course, some closed cases are reopened for further investigation; however, it is very rare when a case that has been closed for a year is reopened. It is my suggestion, therefore, that all but one serial in cases closed for more than a year be destroyed. I estimate that this will reduce the size of our closed files from twenty-five to thirty percent.

At the present time the files in this Field Division are such that it will be necessary to secure additional file cabinets if the above method or a variation thereof can not be put into effect. So far as the clerical work necessary in the destruction of such serials, it seems to me that it could be done quite rapidly and at a considerable saving to the Government, considering the fact that it would reduce the number of new file cabinets which will have to be purchased in the future as well as having the long range effect of reducing rentals.

So far as the work of a Field Office is concerned I can see no objection to the above suggestion; however, there may be an objection insofar as some Federal Law which may prohibit the destruction of files.

Very truly yours,

JBW:FC

The Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Tracy, Harbo, Morgan and Nichols considered Mr. Jones' suggestion that incoming letters which have no permanent value in our files be destroyed by the supervisors. He has in mind such communications as Thanksgiving Day greetings from Roy Keplinger, a persistent writer; a letter advising that previous correspondence had erroneously been directed to this Bureau; thank you notes from boys for booklets; all form letters, which are generally destroyed now; thank you notes for tours and the like.

The Conference was unanimous in recommending that such communications be destroyed by the supervisors handling the mail.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: LETTERS FROM MENTAL CASES

Attached hereto are a number of communications received in the Bureau from individuals who are definitely known to be mental cases. No action whatsoever is taken with regard to such correspondence and it is not believed that any purpose will be served by wasting time filing this type of letter. Already some files on these "nuts" have grown voluminous. It seems that we have too much to do at the present time to give any consideration whatsoever to this type of letter. Accordingly, I wish to recommend that all correspondence of this type be destroyed in this Section upon its receipt.

Reference is made to Mr. Cartwright's memorandum to Mr. Nichols on November 27, 1945, recommending the destruction of communications from field offices requesting the delivery of fingerprint supplies. I have checked the procedure followed in the Identification Division in handling this type of communication and recommend that Mr. Cartwright's suggestion be adopted and that the correspondence be destroyed after it has been handled.

In order to handle the communications along this line the following procedure will be placed into effect if Mr. Cartwright's recommendation is approved:

Recording Section will prepare the franked address as it has done in the past. It will place a notation on the incoming communication reflecting the supplies to be sent to the contributor and will also prepare a list of the contributors and the supplies to be sent. This mailing list with the incoming correspondence and the franks will then be sent to the Supply Section of the Chief Clerk's Office. No follow-up system will be maintained in the Recording Section and the follow-up letters received relative to supplies will be sent directly to the Supply Section. The Supply Section of the Chief Clerk's Office may consider the problem of destroying the mail there or returning it to the Records Section for destruction, whichever they deem more advisable and efficient.

I do not believe that the mail should be destroyed in the Recording Section at the time the mailing list is prepared but it should accompany the mailing list in order that if any questions might arise before the mailing of the supplies it may be checked back to the original correspondence which is attached.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

The Executive Conference, consisting of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Glavin, Harbo, Hendon and Tracy on December 17, 1945, considered a suggestion of Special Agent R. F. Cartwright of the Files Section that correspondence requesting delivery of fingerprint supplies to law enforcement agencies be destroyed after it has been handled.

The Conference unanimously recommends approval of the suggestion.

If you approve, the necessary details will be arranged by the Identification Division, the Records Section and the Chief Clerk's Office.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Reference is made to my memorandum of December 14, 1945, entitled "Destruction of Ident Mail", setting forth a recommended procedure from field offices requesting the delivery of fingerprint supplies. This procedure has been approved by the Executive Conference as reported in the Conference memorandum of December 14, 1945 and, accordingly, the Recording Section is being advised to place the following procedure in effect:

Recording Section will prepare the franked address as it has in the past, and will place a notation on the incoming communication reflecting the supplies to be sent to the contributor, and it will also prepare a list of the contributors and the supplies to be sent. This mailing list with the incoming correspondence and the franks will then be sent to the Supply Section of the Chief Clerk's Office. No follow-up system will be maintained in the Recording Section and follow-up letters received relative to previous requests for supplies will be sent directly to the Supply Section.

FROM : SAC, Atlanta

SUBJECT: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Reference is made to SAC Letter Number 16, Series 1946, dated Febr 1946, entitled as above.

In connection with the Bureau's request, I wish to advise that con tion given to the streamlining of the Bureau's present administrative proc has indicated the possible desirability of extending the provisions in con with the administrative closing of cases. It is felt that the existing pr in this regard could very well be extended to include such cases as Theft Government Property, which at the present time constitute a large volume o cases under investigation in most offices. For the most part, Theft of Go Property cases presently being investigated entail thefts from military an reservations and successful prosecution is, almost without exception, diff because of the inability of military and naval officials to identify the p as stolen property. In view of this situation, many U. S. Attorneys refus prosecute these cases, which are being closed out in the early stages of t vestigation and considerable work could be avoided if a provision were mad the administrative closing of these cases.

It is further felt that the existing requirements for the stamping "FILE" on particular classifications could be simplified by either elimina the practice entirely or by extending it so as to include reports in all c other than those reflecting statistical accomplishments.

It is further felt that consideration might be given to the use of in connection with cases which are secured in a large volume from a single A specific example of what I have in mind would be the use of forms in reg reports received by the Atlanta Office in connection with National Motor V Theft Act cases referred to this office by the Automobile Underwriters Det Bureau. Under the present procedure, reports are prepared on the basis of forms, most of which are placed in an HUC status and the office of origin nated on the basis of information received. It is felt that a form could well be used, indicating the description of the car, the place of theft, a place of recovery, which constitutes all of the information received in co tion with these cases and thereafter a copy of such letter could be direct the interested office and a copy placed in the 25-C file of this office. procedure could very well be adopted in other localities where similar con exist and would obviate the necessity of opening and closing cases on the of the information received.

It is likewise felt that consideration might be given to the destr of old case files maintained in field offices, which become a problem the necessity for moving offices and changing office space arises. In vie the fact that duplicate files are maintained at the Bureau's headquarters, it is felt that it might be advisable to provide for the destruction of old case files after a given period of years in order to guard against the wholesale accumulation of those files which are no longer of any great value to present field office functions.

Further consideration will be given to this matter ~~and the Bureau will be given to this matte~~r and the Bureau will be advised from time to time as to any suggestions which may come up in the course of handling the routine business in this field office district.

RE: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Dear Sir:

With reference to SAC Letter #16, Series 1946, dated February 7, 1946, requesting that suggestions be submitted aimed at streamlining Bureau operations and procedures, the following suggestions are submitted by the Newark Office:

I F.B.I. LAW ENFORCEMENT CONFERENCES

It is recommended that consideration be given to discontinuing these conferences as such and replacing them with regional training schools in the various field divisions. This recommendation is made as it is felt a substantial amount of duplication exists in districts where both these conferences and regional schools are held and by supplanting the conferences with the schools, the duplication could be avoided and the instruction afforded would be more complete. It is felt that contacts with Police Chiefs at the regional schools and at State and County Chiefs' Association meetings would afford proper liaison with the heads of the law enforcement agencies in the various field division districts.

II ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRATION FILES

In the recent past, the Bureau authorized this office to take material from alien enemy registration files from the file folders, staple it together, and file this material in alphabetical order as to persons without the use of the file folders. This change has been completed in this office and the net result is a saving in file cabinet space of 49.8%. It is recommended that the Bureau consider authorizing the entire field to adopt this procedure. It is estimated that this procedure will take care of the file cabinet expansion needs of this office for a three year period.

It is noted that the contents of the alien enemy registration files are essentially duplicates of material contained in the records of the Immigration & Naturalization Service and the various United States Attorneys' offices. It is felt that consideration may be given to the making of a survey in this field and if it is determined that identical material is contained in the files of these other agencies that consideration might be given to making some complete disposition of these files as they are contained in Bureau field offices.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 02-19-2009 BY 60292 AUC DCG/DEK/YMW

III COPIES OF AGENTS' EXPENSE VOUCHERS

Inasmuch as it is felt that reference to duplicate copies of expense vouchers as presently maintained in field administrative files is rather infrequent and in cases where such is necessary after a six month period reference could still be effected through inquiry of the Bureau, recommendation is made that existing requirements be changed so that duplicates of these expense vouchers are retained in the field for only six months instead of one year.

IV AGENTS' DAILY REPORTS AND NUMBER THREE CARDS

Recommendation is made that regulations be changed so as to require the maintenance of Agents' daily reports and Number Three cards for a period of six months rather than one year. It is felt that reference to these records in order to check investigative reports, expense accounts, and analyze the work picture of Agents can well be had within the six month period and that considerable filing space can be acquired by requiring that these records be maintained for only a six month period.

V AGENTS' TECHNICAL QUARTERLY CONFERENCES

Recommendation is made that these conferences as such be held twice a year instead of four times a year, but that the practical training be continued on a quarterly basis. It is believed that with Agent personnel, with limited exceptions, having been in the service for more than two years that there is a certain amount of repetition in the technical conferences and for this reason consideration might be given to requiring the conduct of these conferences only twice yearly. In respect to practical training, it is believed that instead of decreasing or continuing this training on a quarterly basis that it might be held even more frequently.

VI ASSIGNMENTS OF AGENTS

For the past two years, the field has been instructed to rotate Agents on assignments every six months in order that all Agents will be afforded experience in all types of investigations. It is observed that in some instances this procedure has worked a hardship on some investigations and has created a situation whereby the experience an Agent has gained in a particular type of investigation or in respect to a particular case has not been utilized to the fullest advantage by the service. Accordingly, recommendation is made that the field be authorized to discontinue this procedure in cases where Special Agents have been in the service for a period of three years or more and where the variety of assignments they have had has been broad.

VII CP CHARTS AND MEMORANDA

It is recommended that the field not be required to maintain charts on Communist organizations and other organizations infiltrated by the Communist Party and to submit twice a year complete memoranda showing the composition of the charts. This recommendation is made for the following reasons. A considerable amount of time is required for employees to maintain the charts in a current manner. They contain little information of value which is not contained in the comprehensive reports submitted in the individual cases pertaining to the organizations. The memoranda which are required twice a year would seem to be a duplication of reporting inasmuch as the information contained therein is set out in investigative reports. The charts of necessity are maintained in the vault and are no more readily accessible to Agents than are the investigative files. In addition, both the charts and the memoranda contain the names of all officers of all locals of the various organizations whether or not there is any infiltration into that particular local. This in many cases requires added work inasmuch as only a few locals of a large union may be infiltrated and only the infiltration is pertinent in connection with the case. It is noted that key figure lists are maintained by the field and the Bureau, which lists include the names of important unions in the various organizations and should at any time action be taken towards these important unions, their identities would be readily available through referring to the key figure list.

VIII INTERNAL SECURITY ORGANIZATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

It is recommended that the field be authorized to place investigations of Communist infiltration into organization cases in a pending inactive status for a period of six months after the initial investigation has been conducted. It is noted that in many cases involving the infiltration into labor unions, the unions elect officers annually and there are very few changes in the officers of the union except for the annual election. Annually the amount of infiltration in the way of Communists holding office in the union can be ascertained and it is felt that through the general coverage of the Communist Party by informants, technical and microphone surveillances, etc., Communist activity can be followed with respect to the various organizations. In most cases, it is not believed practical to submit a report every 45 days because of the relative inactivity of the Communist Party in that particular organization or the lack of changes of importance in Communist infiltration. It is believed that this procedure would reduce the delinquency for this type of case in the field offices and have the effect of the field offices submitting comprehensive reports each six months which would show the complete set up with regard to infiltration into the organization.

IX BULKY REPORTS

It is observed, particularly in connection with some Security investigations, that bulky investigative reports have been rendered in years past in a considerable number of investigations. In a goodly number of instances, auxiliary offices in years past have forwarded, mainly for the purpose of information, two copies of these bulky reports. Also in some cases, there have been indicated for the reporting office, three, four, and more copies of these bulky reports. It is felt that consideration might be given to conducting reviews of the closed files sections and in instances where these bulky reports are found that consideration might be given to disposing of them by destruction where more than two copies are in the possession of the reporting office and where more than one copy of a report from an auxiliary office, forwarded in the first instance for information only, is found. It is felt that this suggestion should not necessarily be limited to closed files, but might well apply to files which are presently pending.

This need as pointed out by the Bureau will be borne in mind and when additional suggestions occur, they will be submitted to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

S. K. McKEE

The Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Ladd, Tracy, Harbo, Morgan and Nichols considered Mr. Jones' suggestion that a yellow not be made in answering correspondence from individuals requesting material or information which is not of a permanent value to the Bureau.

The Conference had previously unanimously approved that the practice be adopted of destroying letters when the individuals requested a booklet, which can be acknowledged by merely placing the booklet in an envelope and sending it out.

However, the Conference was unanimous in recommending that whenever the Director writes a letter, a record should be kept in files and that such correspondence should not be destroyed.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: DESTRUCTION OF BULKY ENCLOSURES

We have been reviewing the bulky enclosures maintained in the Records Section and referring certain ones to you and to the interested Bureau officials with a recommendation for their destruction for some months past. This program was initiated on the basis of the last inspection of the Records Section. To date we have handled approximately seventy-five per cent of this job and have something under a thousand enclosures yet to handle.

In line with our recent conversation, there is attached hereto a suggested form memorandum to facilitate the completion of the program. If you approve, as each enclosure is considered it will be referred to the specific desk handling the violation concerned by me and we shall act according to the decision of the Supervisor on that desk in the matter of destruction or retention.

As I informed you, I personally review each of these enclosures prior to referring them and shall continue to do so. All matters concerning Division IV of this nature will, of course, be forwarded for your attention prior to destruction and any particularly important matters will be similarly referred to you prior to action. I believe that the attached form will handle the situation nicely and facilitate the completion of this program.

We have been receiving numerous administrative files with bulky enclosures from the Records Section. We have been asked to review the enclosures to determine their disposition inasmuch as they occupy much space in the Records Section.

I have noted that the bulky enclosures which they have been forwarding to us consist mainly of positive photographic prints which have been made in connection with examinations conducted in this Section. The cases involved are almost entirely 95 cases. Heretofore, it has been the policy of the Laboratory to have each examiner make positive prints for examination purposes and possible trial use and file these prints as enclosures with the file. The cases which the Records Section are now calling to our attention are those in which prosecution has been completed, or in which no conclusion reports have been submitted. The employees of the Files Section are apparently of the opinion that because a no conclusion report has been submitted the case will not go to trial.

I have discussed the disposition of these positive photographs with other representatives of the Document Section. Some of them are of the opinion that we should retain the positive prints even though negatives are available in view of the possible disposition, at some future date, of the negatives which are now filed in the Photographic Section. If we can be assured that the negatives will not be disposed of by the Photographic Section under any circumstances without consulting the Laboratory, I believe we should give consideration to the disposition of the positive prints in all cases where prosecution is completed and where they serve no further use. With reference to prints of checks, however, I believe they should be retained inasmuch as they form a complete file of all the handwriting of a check artist and, although he may be in jail at this time, after he finishes his sentence, he will undoubtedly return to his previous calling and if we destroyed these prints at this time it would mean considerable reprinting.

Therefore, unless you advise otherwise, we will review each case submitted by the Records Section and authorize the disposition of the positive photographs in those instances where prosecution has been completed, where they do not involve fraudulent checks, and where there appears to be no other reason for retaining the photographs, it being understood that the negatives for these photographs will be available in the Photographic Laboratory, in the event positive prints are needed at some future date.

There are being maintained in Room 1243 approximately 14,000 3 x 5 index cards containing names and data on German, Japanese, Italian and United States citizens repatriated to their respective countries during the war. Since sufficient time has now elapsed to have these names in the general indices, there now appears no need to longer maintain these special indices.

The cards are broken down as follows: German repatriates - outgoing, 3600; Japanese and Thai - outgoing, 1900; Italian and miscellaneous - outgoing, 700; United States repatriates - incoming, 7700. Each card contains the name and age of the individual, the date and port of exit or arrival, and the name of the ship.

In addition to the foregoing, there are maintained approximately 2300 cards on Japanese, Germans, and Italians to whose repatriation some objection could be raised. Many of these were interned at the time the index was prepared. The information on these cards appears in the files, of course, and as a matter of fact, the majority of the individuals probably have been repatriated already or their cases otherwise disposed of by Immigration Authorities.

In recent months it has seldom been necessary to refer to these special indices and it does not appear that they will be needed in the future.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that these special indices, consisting in all of approximately 16,300 cards, be destroyed.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That field offices destroy material contained in FBI Law Enforcement Conference files after the material in any one section is more than one year old.

ADVANTAGES: 1. It would save some filing space.

DISADVANTAGES: 1. These old files are of use to SACs in preparing future programs and in determining exactly what the program has been at any prior conferences.

2. They are of value in determining the places at which meetings have been previously held.

3. They are of extreme value to new SACs in preparing future programs and particularly in avoiding duplication of subjects of the speakers.

4. The amount of space saved in any field office is relatively insignificant.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously opposed.

EXECUTIVES' CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION: Unanimously opposed by Executives' Conference of April 24, 1946, those present being Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Glavin, Harbo, Mumford, Tracy and Clegg.

Re: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to SAC Letter #16 dated February 7, 1946. The contents of this letter have been read and the desires of the Bureau for suggestions to improve the administrative procedures will be borne in mind in the future.

At the present time I have no specific suggestion to offer. However, I should like to suggest for the study of the committee the problem that is no doubt becoming acute in many offices of rapidly expanding files. I am aware that the Bureau has already, through the periodic destruction of certain administrative files, provided a means of reducing the file space necessary.

Possibly the Bureau can eventually decide on some disposition of the great number of Selective Service files which require a good deal of filing space in every office. In this office particularly a great amount of space is devoted to files in the 25 classification because of the disproportionate number of such cases this office has had to handle. The investigation in many cases is routine and does not result in the arrest of the subject nor the filing of any derogatory information.

It is suggested that thought be given to either storing such files and retaining on an index card a brief summary of the data contained in the file, or even of permitting the destruction of such files where the data is recorded in reports on file in the Bureau.

Attention is also directed to the fact that every office opens a file on the subject of an identification order or wanted flier. In the great majority of instances most offices subsequently conduct no investigation on these cases. The San Juan Office for instance has a great number of such dead files which are relatively bulky because of the necessity of making up exhibit envelopes in which to place copies of the fliers and copies of the photographs which are submitted.

Re: Administrative Procedures

It is suggested that consideration be given to the value of retaining these files in every office when the subject has been apprehended and there is no investigative material in the file. Again preparation of an index card might suffice together with the retention of the copy of the identification order to maintain any necessary record of this individual in a particular field office.

I have also requested the personnel of this office to be alert to the possibilities of improving our administrative procedures and am encourgging them to submit suggestions.

Very truly yours

SUBJECT: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Suggestion Letter #64

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated February 7, 1946, instructing that each Special Agent in Charge give consideration to present requirements, policies and procedures with a view to submitting specific recommendations for any changes, modifications, additions or eliminations.

I have given this matter serious thought and desire to make the following recommendations:

Eliminate the rule requiring Special Agents to submit daily reports. In my opinion Daily Reports contribute very little to the efficient administration of a Field Office and the results derived therefrom do not justify the time spent in preparing and handling them.

Eliminate the requirement that each Field Division maintain bank robbery albums. In my opinion these albums are practically useless and the results obtained do not justify their continuation. I realize that my knowledge about the results obtained with these albums is very limited but I do not recall a single instance when they proved to be of any assistance in the investigation of a bank robbery.

I desire to suggest that the Bureau give serious consideration to the advisability of establishing some type of uniform procedure whereby Field Offices, which are not the office of origin or office of prosecution, may dispose of files in those cases which have been Referred Upon Completion. Considerable expensive office space is now required to retain files which are duplicated at the Bureau and elsewhere in the field.

DESTROYING

At least some offices now have a portion of their closed files in dead storage and in the event my last mentioned suggestion is disapproved, I desire to suggest that a procedure be established whereby cases falling in the category which I believe should be destroyed could be filed in dead storage. This would make those files which are apt to be referred to more readily

FROM : SAC, Salt Lake City

SUBJECT : ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Reference is made to SAC Letter No. 16, Series 1946, dated February 7, 1946, requesting recommendations for any changes, modifications, additions or eliminations in connection with the Bureau's administrative procedures.

Please be advised that I have the following suggestions to offer at this time:

1. In connection with National Motor Vehicle Theft Act cases it is recommended that when an auxiliary office is requested by teletype to interview the owner of the automobile involved and sutel, the auxiliary office include all pertinent information in its teletype to the office of origin and RUC the case on the teletype, leaving the responsibility to the office of origin to incorporate the information in an investigative report for the benefit of theinterested United States Attorney. Under existing rules the auxiliary office teletypes the results of its interview with the car owner and subsequently submits an investigative report.

2. It is recommended that the closed investigative files more than three years old in each office be reviewed and all duplicate copies of serials be destroyed. Bearing in mind that some of these files are extremely voluminous due to duplication of serials, it is believed that a considerable saving in filing space in each office will be effected.

Re: Administrative Procedures

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to SAC Letter No. 16 dated February 7, 1946, requesting suggestions for the elimination of unnecessary requirements and the maintenance of efficiency in the Bureau's standards and operations. In accordance with the request contained in that letter, I am setting forth hereunder several suggestions which I feel certain will tend to improve the efficiency of the Bureau.

1. Elimination of Filing of Copies of Agents' Expense Accounts - - The present practice is to file on copy of Agents' expense accounts in the Field Office. These copies are subsequently destroyed when the entire Agents' administrative files are destroyed in accordance with current regulations. However, the filing of the copies in itself involves some apparently unnecessary clerical work inasmuch as it is seldom, if ever, necessary for the administrative staff of the office to refer to these copies. At the present time Special Agents are permitted to keep copies of expense accounts for their personal information. It would also appear that copies of these vouchers are filed in the Bureau at Washington, and certainly are on file with the Division of Accounts. Should it ever become necessary to refer to such expense vouchers, appropriate communication with the Bureau would, no doubt, solve this problem. It is, therefore, suggested that in the future copies of Agents' expense vouchers not be retained by the Field Office.

2. Communist Charts - - It is presently a requirement that charts reflecting the activities and affiliations of subversive organizations be maintained in each Field Division. At the present time the chart of the Savannah Field Division contains only the names of the three known Communists residing in this territory. None of these individuals associate with each other nor do they participate in the same types of organizations, and it is difficult to see where this chart is of any value either to the Savannah Field Division or to the Bureau. While the chart has been revised on several occasions in an effort to make it of value, the situation is that there simply is no organized Communist or other type of subversive activity in this territory and the maintenance of the chart is most difficult for the reason that there is nothing to put on the chart. It is, accordingly, suggested that the present requirement concerning the maintenance of these charts be modified to require that the SAC of each Field Division have prepared and maintained in an up-to-date condition charts on subversive covenants where such charts would aid in the investigations pending in that office. The regulation should, of course, include a statement to the effect that the Bureau in its discretion might instruct field offices to maintain such charts when the Bureau felt necessary.

3. Exhibits -

One of the administrative checks in each field office which requires a considerable amount of time is the maintenance of bulky exhibit files in an up-to-date condition. A requirement is in existence in most field offices that Agents dispose of bulky exhibits upon dictating a closing report, but the simple fact is that Agents overlook this obligation frequently. In order to eliminate unnecessary bulky exhibits, it is necessary to check the bulky exhibit files and review pertinent files at frequent intervals. These reviews could be made much more quickly if a system could be developed whereby there would be an immediate flag in the file which would enable a supervisory employee to ascertain quickly that a bulky exhibit was in existence. At present bulky exhibit green sheets may be filed at any place throughout these files and it would be practically impossible for a supervisory employee to completely and thoroughly review these files prior to signing closing communications. It is, accordingly, suggested that it be required that bulky exhibit green sheets be either the first serial in the file in all instances or that they be attached to the back of the file cover. While the latter system is preferable, many field offices use the back of the file cover to make notations concerning routing slips sent to Agents and other offices as well as the assignment of leads. Accordingly, the alternate suggestion is made.

4. Telegrams to Agents' Movements -

It is the present practice to immediately enter information on the Number Three Register card whenever an Agent on a road trip or in the Resident Agencies sends a telegram to the office reflecting that he is to vacate one vicinity to proceed to another. These telegrams are then filed in the Agents' administrative files. This would appear to be a duplication of effort and it involves unnecessary filing. It is, accordingly, suggested that the receptionist or other person charged with maintaining the Number Three Register cards be required to immediately enter the appropriate information on the Number Three Register card and take the telegram in question to the SAC's office. The SAC should then read the telegram for his own information and destroy it. Should it be necessary to subsequently refer to the message, appropriate information can be obtained from the Number Three Register card.

5. Charge Out Slips -

It is the custom in the field when serials are charged out to Agents subsequent to the original charge out to note these charge outs on the face of the charge out slip already in the file. For example, an Agent may charge a serial in the Savannah Field Division on January 20, 1948, and subsequently request that serial 12 be forwarded to him. When this is done a notation is made "12 (2-11-48)". It frequently occurs that several notations of this type will be made and that Agents will subsequently return a portion of the serials, necessitating that entries be scratched out. This makes for a poor appearance on the charge out slip and consequently makes it difficult to tell at a glance what serials are in the possession of an Agent. It is, accordingly, suggested that the charge out be revised to include space for additional serials. A suggested revised charge out slip is attached.

6. Manifold Paper -

It is suggested that the Bureau attempt to obtain manifold paper the same width as the regular Bureau stationery. The paper presently in use is about one half inch wider than official stationery, making it difficult to file and to prepare for filing. If the paper is placed in the file without sufficient trimming it also detracts from the appearance of the file and rubs the file in a poor condition.

7. Bad Letters -

It is suggested that an effort be made to work out a system so the Bureau through SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins are more uniform appliers. A great many letters and bulletins are received in the field which relate to identical topics but which are explained in an entirely different manner. An example is the 140 letter dated November 29, 1945, captioned "Unauthorized Handling of Information Concerning Irregularities Involving Prominent Government Officials." Bureau Bulletin No. 18 dated December 27, 1945, captioned "Bureau Property Administration - Regulation 18 - Handling of Complaints" pertains to the same subject matter. Both of these relate to Grand Juries the Government cases and probably should have been captioned merely "Grand Juries Who Investigate". I am not in a position to know exactly what type of system could be worked out at the Bureau except to suggest that an effort be made to place on closed communications those specific sections which are listed as characters of cases in Section 16 A of the Manual of Rules and Regulations. This type of action on the part of the Bureau would certainly eliminate the necessity for both SAC's and Chief Clerks to deliberate at some length concerning the proper place for filing Bureau communications.

Re: Administrative Procedures February 1, 1966

D. Receiving Slips -

It is suggested that authority be given the Field Offices to destroy Receiving Slips for expendable and non-expendable property immediately after the annual inventory has been prepared for transmittal to the Bureau. These slips would not seem to serve any useful purpose subsequent to that time.

E. FBI - Law Enforcement Conference Files -

It is suggested that authority be granted field offices to destroy material contained in FBI Law Enforcement Conference files after the material in any one section is more than one year old.

10. Charge out of Field Office Property to Employees -

The Field at present has authority to maintain charge out registers for property which will be charged by employees for temporary periods. However, a considerable amount of property such as portable typewriters, handcuffs, field office door keys, etc., is charged on a permanent basis and remains in the employee's possession until such time as he is transferred from the Field Office. In such instances under present regulations it is necessary to prepare a duplicate property receipt clearing and copy in the administrative file and one copy in the inventory file. A review of the administrative files to determine the whereabouts of field office property is a major undertaking and it is believed that a much more efficient system would be to maintain a card on each Special Agent or other employee to whom property is issued. This card would be exactly like that issued by the Bureau for property issued to Agents on a permanent basis. These cards could be filed in alphabetical order in the Chief Clerk's Office and would be an up-to-date record of all Field Office property issued for an employee. The card should have appropriate places for the employee to initial each change and as it is made. When an employee resigns or is transferred the fingerprint could be checked in and the card initialed by the Unit to certify the return of the property. The card should be then filed in the employee's administrative file until it is one year old. It is suggested that this system replace all other charge out systems presently maintained in the Field Offices. It is also suggested that the card follow the chart form of SF 52 with the exception of the changes noted on the attached specimen.

The above suggestions are the only ones which I have to make at the present time. As the years pass, I have from time to time made similar suggestions as they occurred to me and I will continue to forward these suggestions at pertinent periods.

Very truly yours,

D. E. Nelson

Re: SUGGESTION AS TO REDUCING SPACE AND FILE CABINETS NECESSARY FOR CLOSED FILES

During the war period the closed case files of the various field offices increased to such an extent that it presents a problem in many offices as to storage space. In some offices the space now occupied by these closed files is equivalent to the amount of space used by some offices for the entire office operation prior to 1940. Many of these closed files are maintained in office space costing the highest rental. It is difficult in many buildings to find additional or separate storage space for this purpose where the files could be readily referred to. This in many offices gives an undesirable appearance to the office due to the necessity of placing these file cabinets along the walls and in the rooms occupied by the desks of Special Agents. Much of this material will have little value in the future for reference purposes due to the types of individuals referred therein. However, much of this material contains very intimate information as to the history and background of various persons who may be the subject of criminal investigations in the future and it will materially assist in locating these persons should they become the subject of search as to their whereabouts.

As to many case files there are several copies of voluminous reports prepared in mimeograph form which latter increases the bulk of the particular file.

Provided there is no legal restriction on such practice, it is suggested these files be stripped and one copy of each serial in the case file retained to make up the file for such reference purposes as is necessary in the future.

It is believed that this would reduce the fulk of these files approximately 40 percent with a corresponding savings in file cabinets and office or storage space. It would also make the handling of these files easier in the future by reason of their reduced size. If this practice is carried out it should be a selective one as to the copy of the material which is retained in order that the best carbon copy would be retained or the copy upon which appears references such as indexing.

Further possibility of reducing the size of these files would be the elimination of the front and back of the case file and the acco fastener, after which the remaining single copy of the various serials would be stapled together and placed in the file jacket. There are many files pertaining to numerous cases such as Selective Service, etc., in which the material is very limited and the case file, front and back plus the acco fastener will be possibly 50 percent of the thickness of the case file. This would be suggested only as to those case files which contain a very limited number of serials.

These suggestions would be made for a definite date in the past, such as January 1, 1945, to all of which files closed prior to January 1, 1945, this practice would be applied.

Thereafter it is suggested that this be either an instructed practice after the elapse of one year at three-months intervals in order to reduce such closed files in this manner or files which were then closed one year or more in the past would be reduced in accordance with the above suggestions or it would be a permissive practice where the problems of office space make it desirable.

The principal objections to carrying out this project would be the time necessary to accomplish the work, provided the personnel is available.

Respectfully submitted,

Director, FBI

Re: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Dear Sir:

In answer to your letter of February 7, 1946, the following suggestions are being offered:

1. It is noted that a large number of applicant investigations are referred to the field by the Bureau with instructions that teletype summaries must be submitted to the Bureau by a certain deadline date. It is suggested that the deadline dates be set up for a sufficient period of time so that investigations can be completed in the field and the results of investigations submitted in report form or memorandum form by mail, which would effect a savings in communications expense.

HANDLED BY STOP DESK

2. It is suggested that the Bureau issue instructions for action to be taken by the field a sufficient period of time before the action is to be taken in order that the field might take the action by the deadline date set by the Bureau. Recently it has been noted that instructions have been received by the field after the deadline date. This is particularly true of instructions received from the Bureau recently that the monthly administrative report for the month of January 1946 include three copies of the page showing "number of cases pending by classification". These instructions were not received in this office until after the monthly administrative report had been forwarded to the Bureau.

3. It is recommended that agents be called for In-Service [redacted] every eighteen months instead of the present policy of each twelve months. The agent personnel in the field has declined to the point at the present time that all offices are overloaded, and it is believed that In-Service Training on the basis of each eighteen months instead of each twelve months will result in the maintenance of more agent personnel field to handle the investigations.

4. It is recommended that the present special efficiency reports which are submitted sixty days after an employee enters on duty or sixty days after reporting to a field office be submitted after at least

ack 2-21-46 RCN

Joint Committee Memos
4-18-46
"37 A & B
"37 C

ninety days rather than the sixty days. At the present time, especially due to housing conditions, the agent experiences a great deal of difficulty in locating living quarters, and the Agent in Charge does not have an ample opportunity to observe his work and report on his efficiency fairly in a sixty-day period. It is believed the ninety-day period for efficiency reports would give the Special Agent in Charge a better opportunity to observe the efficiency of the employee.

5. It is suggested that Bureau instructions contained in SAC Letter No. 31, dated March 27, 1945 in regard to the listing of "no card" cases on the monthly administrative report be rescinded. It will be noted that these instructions were that "no card" cases pending in the office should be included with all 25- classification cases in Column 8, Page 2 of the report. It is believed this is an unnecessary amount of work which is entailed by the Chief Clerk's Office in preparing the administrative report as a result of these instructions, as these instructions result in a "padded" condition for the administrative report on Page 2, and the figures desired by the Bureau could be obtained by referring to a separate sheet of the administrative report which sets forth the "no card" cases in the office. This is contained in the sheet that is submitted for the Selective Service Log and will reflect the information desired by the Bureau.

6. It is suggested that the Bureau review its instructions to the field regarding the destruction of administrative files with the view in mind of setting a definite period of time for all administrative files to be destroyed in an office, rather than the present procedure of individual periods of time for each administrative file in the office. For instance, at the present time the following instructions for the destruction of files are in effect:

Telephone logs	90 days
Return Registry Receipts	6 months
Nos. 1, 2, and 3 Registers	1 year
Automobile Card Register #71	3 years
Daily List of Absences	90 days
Monthly Administrative Report	18 months

It is realized that there are reasons for the various times for destroying administrative files, but it is believed that the underlying principles of providing more filing space is not warranted by the maintenance of the large number of ticklers in the field office to effect the destruction of these types of files.

Re: ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

7. It is suggested that lead cards be made up in the same operation as the making up of the assignment cards when new cases are received in the office, by merely inserting blank pieces of paper behind the duplicate assignment card and tickler card so that the one operation of typing will automatically make the lead cards.

8. It is suggested that the Bureau issue specific instructions regarding the filing and serialization of green sheets in files so that a uniform practice can be established throughout the field. It has been noted that in some offices the green sheets are considered another serial in the file and might be located anywhere in the entire file. In other field offices the green sheets are maintained as 1-B serials in the file, with all such green sheets filed together in the first section or the current section of the file.

It is also suggested that specific instructions be issued regarding the maintenance of 1-A exhibit envelopes where there are more exhibit envelopes than one, and more than one volume to the file. The instructions from the Bureau regarding the maintenance of 1-A exhibit envelopes and green sheets should apply to one section files and more than one section files.

9. It is suggested that the Bureau reconsider the present date set for the submission of the quarterly report of automobile cost which is due the fifteenth of the month following the quarter. In the past this report was due on the last day of the month following the quarter, and it is suggested that the last day of the month following the quarter be set as the deadline date.

SUBJECT: BULKY EXHIBITS IN PLANT SURVEY CASES.

The Files Section has advised that they have ready for review 488 Plant Survey cases. The purpose of the review is to determine whether the bulky exhibits that are comprised for the most part of maps and plats of the industrial facilities surveyed should be destroyed.

As you know, in about 95% of the plant survey reports submitted, the maps and plats which are now listed as bulky exhibits were forwarded to the Bureau as a part of the investigative report. The report writer in describing the plant facilities continually referred to the maps and plats and if these exhibits are destroyed, the reports will in no sense be complete. In view of this fact, it would appear that these exhibits should not be destroyed and for that reason it does not appear that a review of these 488 files will produce the results desired by the Files Section, namely that of having the bulky exhibits destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

Since it does not appear that the bulky exhibits can be destroyed in these cases, it is suggested that they be retained in the Files Section as in the past and no review be made of the 488 Plant Survey files.

MISCELLANEOUS MEMORANDA

Reference is made to the attached folder made available to me by Mr. Cartwright of the Records Section.

The folder contains memoranda prepared in the Fugitive Supervisors' Offices containing information regarding the apprehension of subjects, additional aliases secured by field offices, and other miscellaneous data. This folder also contains memoranda prepared in the Fugitive Supervisors' Offices containing information received telephonically from the Bureau of Prisons relative to the escapes and apprehensions of individuals from United States Penitentiaries, Training Schools, and Federal Prison Camps.

The information included in these memoranda has been posted in the records of the Identification Division, in all cases where records exist, and has been reviewed by a reader. In cases investigated by the Bureau, the information is normally included in investigative reports. As far as the Identification Division is concerned, it is not necessary that these records be maintained.

Mr. Cartwright requested expression of an opinion from the Identification Division as to whether this material should be retained or destroyed.

As you know, closed filing space is becoming a problem in the field. I have observed during recent inspections that a considerable saving in space may be effected by destroying copies of closed serials. I have in mind particularly voluminous mimeographed reports on German activities and similar matters. In many instances three to five copies of such reports are being retained, each copy being two to three inches in thickness. Some reports are in two sections.

I believe considerable space could be saved by the adoption of the following procedure:

1. At the discretion of the Agents in Charge, copies of reports in closed files may be destroyed, leaving only the indexed copy in the file.

2. No originals of any kind are to be destroyed.

3. The file covers to be stamped "All copies of serials destroyed," giving the date destroyed and the initials of the Agent in Charge or the supervisor authorizing such action.

HANDLED BY STOP THESE

In considering this suggestion it should be borne in mind that the Bureau has copies of all such reports. Likewise, the primary value of closed reports is to serve as reference material. One copy would, under this plan, be retained for such use. It is believed the clerical work involved would be negligible when compared with the saving in space.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the Bureau consider destruction of all files consisting of plant survey reports and plant informant data.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Considerable filing space would be saved.
2. It is alleged that the information in the files is of little, if any, current value.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. In view of the present world situation, it is believed highly undesirable to take any action which would make less accessible to the Bureau the information in the plant survey files.
2. A special rule as to the destruction of files should not be made covering only these classifications of matters.

Tolson, Glavin, and Tracy were in favor of the destruction of all files consisting of plant survey reports. Mr. Tamm was in favor of destroying all bulky exhibit material but believed that one copy of the report should be retained in the case file. Mr. Nichols pointed out that if it were decided to destroy all of the plant survey files it would be necessary to get the approval of Archives and that they would probably want to take all the reports.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

INITIALS ONLY

TO : MR. NICHOLS DATE: May 23, 1946

FROM : R. F. CARTWRIGHT

SUBJECT: BULKY EXHIBITS IN PLANT SURVEY CASES

Reference is made to the memorandum from Mr. Strickland to Mr. Ladd dated May 16, 1946, captioned as above.

On the basis of experience to date, in connection with the files which have been reviewed, it would appear that definite success has been obtained in the matter of elimination of superfluous exhibits in these Plant Survey cases.

A review of our records reflects that during the year of 1944 exhibits were destroyed in eight Plant Survey cases with the approval of supervisory officials in Division Five.

It is also pointed out that during the current year bulky enclosures connected with Plant Survey files have been destroyed with the approval of supervisors in Division Five. This has been successfully done in the cases numbered as follows:

99-6-7	99-56-4
99-155-4	99-45-5
99-276-5	99-0-4210
99-182-7	99-29-32
99-135-7

A cursory examination of five Plant Survey files picked at random reflects that detailed and specific descriptions of Plant Areas for which bulky exhibits in the form of blue prints and photographs were received, have been included in the reports to which they were enclosures.

Consequently, since we have already reviewed some of these files and found satisfactory basis for destruction of these very bulky exhibits, it would appear that the project of continuing this review if justifiable and desirable.

It is further believed that many of the Plants previously surveyed by the Bureau have been substantially altered in the years since they were surveyed so that photographs and drawings made at the time of the survey are no longer accurate or valuable. In this connection many wartime Plnats have been reconverted to peacetime uses and undoubtedly their physical structures have been greatly changed in the process. In view of the fact that the 488 Plant Survey files remaining to be reviewed carry with them a very large number of bulky exhibits, taking up substantial space in the Records Section, it is believed that it would bedesirable to continue their review for the purpose of destruction of superfluous exhibits.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : THE DIRECTOR

DATE: MARCH 13, 1946

FROM : THE JOINT COMMITTEE

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION #99
EMPLOYEE: ASSISTANT DIRECTOR H. H. CLEGG
TRAINING AND INSPECTION DIVISION

MEMBERS PRESENT: H. H. Clegg, E. E. Conroy, R. C. Hendon, E. Scheidt

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That all closed criminal files over ten years of age be destroyed with the provision that the Special Agent in Charge of the field office in his own discretion will be permitted to retain files dealing with general criminal situations and such files as some of the major kidnapping and bank robbery files which would have value for reference purposes to general criminal activities.

ADVANTAGES:

1. The overwhelming percentage of the closed files of routine criminal cases have no subsequent value in a field office after ten years.

2. The provision that certain files might be retained will give the SAC an opportunity to retain those of archivic value to which reference might be made occasionally.

3. This would provide a definite program whereby the old criminal files will be taken out of an office at periodic intervals and will reduce still further the amount of space required for maintaining closed files.

4. Mr. Nichols has advised that the National Archives has agreed that the Bureau can destroy any old files in field offices which they would have so long as the originals are at the Seat of Government. Thus this would be a legal procedure.

5. The infrequent need for the old files beyond ten years is further accentuated by the fact that when cross references lead to older files, the information is of no value or of very little value in most instances.

6. The only added expense occasioned by this procedure would be the occasional necessity of requesting the Bureau to send to the field office an old file to see if there is material of current value which would be far less expensive then the rental for the space required for these old files.

7. The subsequent criminal activities of a subject after he has served a sentence and has been released from the penitentiary in practically all instances occur within the ten year span, it being recalled that the average life sentence of an individual is less than eight years' actual service in the penitentiary. For those serving shorter sentences, correspondingly shorter time would elapse before their subsequent criminal activities.

52 JUL 1 1946

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

DISADVANTAGES:

1. There would be, in Metropolitan areas, more frequent occasion for reference to old files in order to develop leads.

2. This would set up a lack of uniformity as to when files would be destroyed in the field office since a different rule would apply to criminal cases than to intelligence or security cases.

3. It is contingent of some that many of these files are of extreme value beyond a ten year period, particularly in view of the fact that many of the more dangerous types of criminals involved who receive sentences of from two to five or more years will have completed those sentences and again start their criminal activities in the same area.

4. It does not take in a sufficient span of a man's life.

5. On a long range and permanent basis it is believed that the Bureau should adopt the policy which will provide for the retention of these files to which there may reasonably be future reference, and it is believed that a ten year span is entirely too short a period of time.

6. The Bureau's experience in making name checks for certain government agencies during the war time period has definitely proven the value of information contained in our files more than ten years old.

RECOMMENDATION: Mr. Scheidt and Mr. Clegg are in favor of the suggestion. Mr. Hendon and Mr. Conroy are not in favor.

HHC:ELW
EXECUTIVES' CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

Mr. Clegg was in favor of the suggestion.

The remainder of the Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Hendon, Ladd, Mumford and Rosen are opposed to the suggestion upon the basis principally that a uniform rule should be established as to the age after which all types of files in a field office may be destroyed and further they believe that there are entirely too many instances in which general criminal files over ten years of age are of extreme value throughout the various field offices. They also feel that a previous recommendation that all files be destroyed in the field after they have reached 25 years of age will adequately and more safely take care of the closed files problem.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That duplicate serials be destroyed only in those cases which are of more than two sections and that this be done at time of closing.

ADVANTAGES:

1. The greatest saving of filing space is achieved in more voluminous types of files rather than in smaller files.

2. The amount of work required to pull the duplicate serials from all files may not be justified by the amount of space saved.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Material savings of space often can be had through the destruction of duplicate serials in single section files. This is particularly true in those instances where reports of voluminous nature have been furnished only for informative purposes.

2. This leads to a lack of uniformity in the filing processes which in turn without taking time out to make notations on various files would constantly raise the question as to just how many copies of a particular serial should be in possession of an office.

3. Most frequently it would be the file of more than two sections which would be reopened after closing and if duplicate copies had been immediately destroyed sufficient copies for pending work might not be available.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously opposed.

Reference is made to my memorandum of April 8, 1946, in which you were advised that the Bureau did not approve the destruction of these files at that time.

You now state the obsolete files which you requested permission to destroy have not been indexed and the markings which I referred to in my referenced letter merely indicate the names were checked against your files.

In view of this additional information, I can see no objection to the destruction of the seventeen volumes entitled "Passengers Arriving El Paso, Texas, via American Air Lines, Flight 91, from Mexico" at this time.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That more uniformity be established as to the time when certain administrative files are to be destroyed in an office. At the present time there is a lack of uniformity in this regard. For example, return register receipts must be retained for six months; daily list of absences for 90 days; and the Monthly Administrative Report for 18 months.

ADVANTAGES:

1. It is very difficult to keep track at the present time as to when the various administrative files are to be destroyed.
2. It requires that a large number of administrative ticklers be maintained to comply with the various time periods.
3. Little is to be gained by the uniformity in so far as filing space savings are concerned.
4. Any advantage through an earlier destruction of a particular file is overridden by the disadvantage of additional clerical operations to do these things at any different times and at more frequent intervals.
5. It appears that there is no logical reason for the wide variation in the periods when material should be destroyed, and it would be preferable to have greater uniformity in such matters.

DISADVANTAGES:

RECORDED & INDEXED 66-3286-234

31 JUN 28 '46

1. A uniform rule might require the maintenance of some of the files in an office beyond their period of usefulness which takes up some little space.
2. There is no great administrative difficulty in abiding by the various rules since it can be followed on administrative tickler.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously favorable and it is recommended that such administrative records be destroyed after they have become either one year old or three years old and that in the future the date set for the destruction of any kind of administrative record either be handled on an annual basis or on a three-year basis. Further, that this destruction be permitted on the basis of an annual tickler in the field offices but that destruction more frequently not be prohibited provided the material has attained the minimum required age.

EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION

On May 20, 1946, the Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. Tamm, Glavin, Hendon, Harbo, Tracy, Ladd, Rosen, Clegg and Nichols was unanimously in agreement with the recommendation of the Joint Committee.

However, as to the Monthly Administrative Report copies of which are now retained for an 18-month period, Messrs. Tolson and Glavin were of the opinion they could be destroyed at the end of one year.

The other members of the Conference were of the opinion that they should be retained for a period of three years in order to permit a comparison during the course of inspections as to the volume and handling of particular classifications of cases within an office.

ADVANTAGES:

1. This would save space.
2. There is less need for duplicate copies of this type of material than there is for duplicate copies of serials in investigative files which under present rules can now be destroyed.

RE: SUGGESTIONS

It is recommended that the Bureau clarify its desires with respect to destroying duplicate material over one year old now being maintained in zero, double zero, and dead files.

It is recommended the Bureau approve the destruction of such material. It is felt, especially in "25" zero matters, that considerable saving of space will result, and there does not appear to be any good reason at this time for retaining such material.

MEMO SAC:

Reference is made to Section 4-D, subsection 9, entitled PERSONNEL FILES, of the Manual for Clerical Employees, which for ready reference is quoted:

> "When a new employee reports on duty at an office, or when information is received that a new employee will report on duty at a field office, the index cards shall be searched to determine if any investigation has been made of such new employee while an applicant, and in the event such file does exist in the office it shall be delivered personally by the Chief Clerk to the SAC, who will retain this investigative file with the personnel file of the employee."

It is suggested that this section be amended to allow for the destruction of the investigative file after a period of five years. These files have no value in the field and merely take up space in the confidential filing section of the safe. If in rare instances it should become necessary to refer to a file so destroyed in the field, an inquiry could be directed to the Bureau where the main file is located.

Bureau Bulletin No. 19, Series 1946, Section (E), dated April 4, 1946, provides for the removal from files which have been closed for a period of one year or more, all duplicate copies of reports and communications contained in such files. In the case of the above described employees' files, however, it is believed that their complete destruction, after the suggested five-year period, would result in no disadvantage to the field offices.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That closed files be destroyed after a period of 25 years and to include at the present time all files predating the present Bureau field file system which was instituted in April 1925 or 1926.

ADVANTAGES: Destruction of Bureau Property - general

1. On a long range basis it is impossible to retain all closed files, and a decision must be made as to the date after which such files will be no longer useful.

2. It will save filing space and file cabinets.

3. It will save administrative effort and costs since a fewer total number of files will be handled within an office.

4. It is believed that the possible usefulness of files within a 25 year period makes it inadvisable to destroy them at an earlier date whereas the chance for their usefulness thereafter is very slight, recognizing, of course, that some arbitrary date must be selected.

5. The current experience of Agents in Charge, particularly in large metropolitan areas, is that constant reference is being made or utilized in connection with old files up to the inauguration of the present filing system. On the other hand, it is the experience that the files that predate that period are seldom if ever used for purposes of reference, to the extent that it is not felt worthwhile to maintain them.

6. It is the experience in some of the offices that all pertinent information, particularly in security cases that was accrued during the period of World War Number One, has been brought forward into the current Internal Security files and as a consequence the analysis of those files has been completed and they are no longer useful.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Conceivably, there might be some future use for any particular file after the date selected for its destruction.

2. In cases of what might be termed "over-age" files it would be necessary to communicate with the Bureau to obtain necessary information where the originals would be on file.

Suggestion #190

MEMORANDUM:

It is noted that Bureau instructions recently issued called for the destruction of all but one copy of each serial in a case file after that case file has been closed for a period of one year or longer. It appears to me that many other files in the field office contain surplus copies of communications which serve no purpose, - in particular, zero files.

I wish to suggest that zero files contain only one copy of each serial regardless of age. This does not mean that material submitted for inclusion in zero files need be prepared without duplicate copies inasmuch as if active investigation must be conducted with reference thereto the material would not be routed to a zero file. If such material were routed to a zero file all copies but the original would be destroyed and the original appropriately indexed and serialized.

This suggestion is being made with the knowledge that in very rare instances material is removed from zero files and placed in investigative files. However, such material is only used for reference purposes and, therefore, duplicate copies would not be needed.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously favorable.

EXECUTIVES' CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

The Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Hendon, Ladd, Mumford, Rosen and Clegg unanimously approved the recommendation and makes the additional recommendation that when the files over 25 years old are destroyed, the index cards relating thereto be marked with a stamp stating "File destroyed 1946." Thus it would be possible at a later date to purge the index cards from the files while in the meantime they would be available to flag the field office beyond the 25-year period that information on a particular subject or subject matter was available at the Seat of Government from the original reports.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the folders for closed files should be destroyed at the time the case is closed and dividers placed for guides every ten or fifteen files apart in closed files section.

ADVANTAGES:

1. This would be a material saving since the file folders often take up almost as much space as a small file requires.

2. The folders in the old closed files are of little service or use.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. With the folders it is easier to observe the loss or misplacement of any closed file.

2. The folder serves as a ready repository for a charge-out slip when the file is pulled for use.

3. Under the present system it is far easier to locate, withdraw, and replace a file in the jacket since the file number is readily visible.

4. If the folders were destroyed it would require making up a new folder at such a time as a closed case is reopened. This would frequently happen in the event the folder were immediately destroyed on the closing of a case.

5. Dividers are made invariably of heavy press-board and by placing one of these dividers behind ten or fifteen files there would be no material reduction in space.

6. It would require considerable time and effort to provide dividers every ten or fifteen files in the closed files space particularly in an office such as New York which has approximately 200,000 closed files.

7. Inasmuch as the folders each occupy only slightly more space than two thicknesses of heavy paper the amount of saving in space which would be effected by removing these folders would not be worth the time and effort required to place this procedure into effect.

RECOMMENDATION: Messrs. Clegg and Hendon are opposed to the destruction of the folders immediately upon the closing of a case but in favor of destruction if case be closed for one year at which time under the present rules the duplicate serials are also to be destroyed. They are also opposed to the use of any dividers as suggested by Mr. Traynor in view of the fact that labels on cabinets show contents.

Messrs. Conroy and Scheidt are opposed to the destruction of folders at any time.

EXECUTIVES' CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

The Executives Conference considered this suggestion on May 21, 1946, with Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Hendon, Harbo, Lumford and Rosen in attendance.

Mr. Lumford was opposed to the folders being destroyed at any time.

Mr. Rosen was of the opinion that they should be destroyed immediately upon the closing of the case.

Messrs. Tamm, Hendon and Harbo, Tolson were of the opinion that the folders should be destroyed after the case has been closed for one year, at which time the duplicate serials under present rules are also to be destroyed. These members of the Conference were also opposed to the use of any dividers as suggested by Mr. Traynor since they felt that the labels on the cabinets would sufficiently show the contents thereof.

Reference is made to SAC Letter No. 66, dated June 4, 1946, Section "D", concerning the destruction of administrative records and files, and establishing a uniform period of either one or three years for the retention of these records.

Your attention is called to SAC Letter No. 63, Series 1945, dated July 5, 1945, providing for the destruction of Night Differential Logs after two years. Kindly advise if this rule is to continue to apply, or if the destruction of the Night Logs might be included in the uniform list and destroyed at the end of either a one year, or a three year period.

Your attention is also called to the fact that there is not included in the list the fact that files dealing with investigation of Bureau automobile accidents may be destroyed when three years old, providing there is no pending litigation, as instructed in SAC Letter #60, Series 1945, dated June 26, 1945.

This is to advise you that the New FBI Laboratory Recording and Typing Manual has been issued to all clerical employees in the Laboratory and all the old Recording and Typing Manuals have been turned in and destroyed. In all cases where possible the same number was issued to avoid the necessity for signing new property sheets. Inasmuch as there were 129 copies of the old manual and there are only 66 copies of the new manual there are some old manuals in the higher numbers which had to be replaced with new numbers and the attached property sheets were issued to take care of such changes.

Property sheets are also attached for those employees receiving new manuals who did not have old manuals, and also for employees turning in old manuals which were not replaced.

You suggested that the retention of coded communications for one year is an excessive period of time and requested that the Bureau reconsider this change in policy.

You are advised that in order to obtain more uniformity in the requirements for destruction of certain data in the field, it is desired that coded communications be maintained for a period of one year and then destroyed.

Destruction of Bureau Property - Jul

Section D of SAC Letter No. 66, Series 1946, advised that coded communications should be appropriately maintained by each field office for a period of one year.

Prior instructions in connection with the maintenance of these communications were that they were to be destroyed after a period of thirty days. It is believed that the retention of coded communications for one year is an excessive period of time. Coded messages always receive priority attention and if there are any errors in transmission, they are rectified usually within a matter of hours.

In the past the maintenance of such communications for a thirty-day period has been sufficient. If the Bureau did mean that these messages should be kept for one year, it is suggested that the Bureau reconsider this change in policy.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the investigative files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after a period of five years.

ADVANTAGES:

1. This would save space generally in the office.

2. It would save space presently taken up in the confidential filing section or office safe wherein investigative files must be maintained on those individuals who are employed in the particular office.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. This would set up a special rule as to this type of file which is not warranted.

2. The amount of space to be saved would be negligible.

3. These files are of value as reference material similar to other files in the office.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously opposed.

SAC Letter #66 (D), June 4, 1946, sets forth the new requirements concerning the time for destruction of certain administrative records and files. The daily list of absences was one year; standard form 71, leave application, 3 years.

Mr. Long of the FBI Laboratory has raised the question as to whether or not these are to be destroyed at intervals of one and three years respectively or at what period of time they are to be destroyed.

ADVANTAGES:
1. This would save space.
2. The possibility of future use of the glossy photographs is not great.

DISADVANTAGES:
1. The saving of space is not material.
2. The glossy photographs are expensive and such fugitives may well later be of interest to many field divisions with the result that the photographs should be available.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR:

RE: SUGGESTION OF HELEN MONETTI
CHIEF CLERK

SUGGESTION: That duplicate copies of serials be removed from files at the time the files are placed in the closed section.

COMMENTS: It is recommended that duplicate copies of serials be removed from files as they are filed in the closed section rather than after they have been closed for a period of one year. After a case is placed in a closed status, there does not appear to be any reason for maintaining the excess copies of serials until the file is closed for a year as under present Bureau regulations. If a file should be reopened before it has been closed a year, there would be no more disadvantage in having only one copy of serials than there would be in reopening a case which has been closed for more than one year and from which the duplicate copies of serials have likewise been removed.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
DATE 7-27-82 BY SP4 EW/cal

ADVANTAGES:

1. Considerable space would be saved in the closed file sections.

2. After the closed section has once been gone over, it would eliminate the necessity for checking files monthly to remove serials as at present when the assignment cards one year old serve as a tickler for this purpose.

3. The operation would be performed as a daily function as the cases are closed, and as such would not interfere with clerical operations for any great length of time as under the present system of using the year-old assignment cards.

4. The files from which the serials are to be removed will be all in one place after posting the closing material, and it will not be necessary at a future date to go through the entire closed section removing serials from a few files here and a few files there.

5. The removal of the duplicate serials at the time the case is closed could be handled as a review of the file to insure that the file is in correct order to be placed in the closed section.

DISADVANTAGES: None.

Mr. Harry W. Kraft, Scrap Paper Foreman of the Government Printing Office visited me this morning to make arrangements for the disposal of Form T-2. Mr. Bromwell was advised.

About an hour later, Mr. Kraft returned to the Armory with a semi-trailer truck and six men. As the paper was being loaded into the truck, I counted the cartons. Each carton contained 5,000 forms. I then witnessed the weight at Lehman's Truck Terminal, 1525 New York Avenue, Northeast. There were 867 cartons or 4, 335,00 sheets and the Net weight is 37,270 lbs.

These forms were delivered to Mr. Arthur M. Scargorough, Assistant Manager, Thomas Stock Paper Company, 2001 - 16th Street, Northeast. I instructed him that care should be used in the handling of these forms because of the facsimile of the Director's signature on each sheet.

Concerning your letters of July 30 and July 1, 1946, regarding the stamping of index cards to show that the file has been destroyed when the file is over twenty-five years old, you are advised that the Bureau is modifying its instructions so that it will no longer be necessary to stamp those cards showing that the file has been destroyed.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the rules as to the destruction of administrative records and files be clarified as to how long Night Differential Logs and files dealing with the investigation of Bureau automobile accidents should be retained.

ADVANTAGE:
1. For the sake of uniformity, these records should be destroyed after they have become one year or three years old, while at present the Night Differential Logs are destroyed after two years.

DISADVANTAGE:
1. None.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimous that Night Differential Logs be destroyed after they have become three years old since they are of value beyond a one year period, and that files dealing with the investigation of Bureau automobile accidents when they are two years old, if no pending litigation exists. three EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION: The Executives Conference on August 12, 1946, those present being Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Ladd, Hendon, Rosen, and Clegg, believed that both the night differential logs and files dealing with the investigation of Bureau automobile accidents should be retained for three years. Mr. Glavin advised that this material might be of service at any time during such a period and also other material is held in field offices for periods of either one or three years and this would provide uniformity. Three years were recommended in both instances.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO: MR. CLEGG

FROM: L. A. HINCE DATE: 9/17/46

SUBJECT: Outlines of Lectures Prepared by Police Officers

When Joseph Kluchesky was Chief of Police in Milwaukee, he used to tell the National Academy students that they could get copies of the lecture outlines prepared by the Milwaukee Police Department. Subsequently, Mr. Kluchesky asked us if we would reproduce these outlines and distribute them to the class members. We have several dozen outlines mimeographed with hundreds of copies of each, and we have distributed them to National Academy students to graduates on request, to our own police instructors and others. We still have a large supply on hand.

SA Frank Grassy of Milwaukee told me, while attending In-service last week, that Captain Hubert E. Dax, now the Number Two man in the Milwaukee Police Department, who was Director of the Milwaukee Police Training School and who claims credit for preparing these outlines, was very much hurt at Kluchesky for spreading his work around the country, particularly since Dax's name did not show. The Milwaukee Police Department has now adopted the policy of refusing to furnish copies of this outline to police officers who write and ask for them, on the grounds that they are obsolete and are under revision.

The question now arises in my mind as to whether we are authorized to distribute these outlines in the future. They are presumably the work of the Milwaukee Police Department and I think we could distribute them only with the at least implied consent of the Milwaukee Police Department. Personally I feel that we should discontinue distributing these outlines which bear the Milwaukee Police Department name on them and that we should destroy them, keeping a limited number for our lecture files and for distribution to our own police instruction classes.

Destruction of Bureau Property
General

(B) REMOVAL OF FILE FOLDERS FROM CLOSED AND ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRATION FILES -- It has been brought to the attention of the Bureau that in at least one field office file folders are being destroyed at the time they are removed from the closed file section in connection with the present program for conservation of space. It is the Bureau's desire to again bring to the attention of all offices that when the file folder is in good condition it should be re-used. This may be accomplished by reversing the file folder and crossing out the old file number and title. This, of course, applies to file folders removed from any portion of the files maintained in the office.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: Bureau Bulletin No. 35, Series 1946, dated June 26, 1946, under Section B, entitled "Destruction of Closed Files" provided that all Bureau files in field offices may be destroyed after they have become twenty-five years old and the index cards relating to the files destroyed should be marked with a stamp stating "File destroyed - 1946."

The suggestion is that the requirement for stamping the index card be eliminated since all files over twenty-five years old bear the "old German" file number of a system of numbering which no longer is used, and the file number of this type shown on the index card will clearly indicate that the file has been destroyed without stamping this index card. It has been discovered in some field offices that it became necessary to search all the names of subjects in the files as they were destroyed and thousands of index cards had to be searched, pulled, compared, and stamped, which made this an enormous project. It was thus felt by those making the suggestion that the mere fact that the index card bore the "old German" file number would be on its face evidence of the fact that the file had been destroyed.

The new system of filing under classification number and file numerical sequence will not become twenty-five years old until April, 1950, and thus it appears it would be a waste of time to examine the files, pull the index cards, identify them, and stamp them between now and 1950. After 1950, some other plan along logical lines can be developed which it is believed will be satisfactory and conserve time, and it is believed that the previous regulation for stamping index cards should be diminated.

JOINT COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously favorable, and if this is approved, attached hereto is a letter to the Pittsburgh Office, which has requested advice and authority for action of the type recommended, and also a SAC letter to this effect.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION THAT ALL FILES ON BUREAU APPLICANTS BE DESTROYED WHEN THEY BECOME FIVE YEARS OLD.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-27-82 BY SP4 EW/ cal

Attention of: Assistant Director, H. H. Clegg

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum of July 26, 1946 addressed to a number of SAC's and Inspectors requesting views and recommendations on a suggestion having to do with the destruction of all files on Bureau applicants after they had become five years of age.

After studying this matter, I would like to submit the following observations:

Advantages

1. The only advantage I can see in the adoption of this suggestion would be a saving of cabinet and floor space.

Objections

1. In view of the cabinet space presently being made available through destruction of serials, duplicate and triplicate, in closed cases more that one year old, with exceptions in some classifications, a good question arises in my mind as to whether the cabinet space at this time is needed. In this regard it is my observation that the files in question occupy only a comparatively minimum amount of cabinet space.

2. I feel that the derogatory information relating to Bureau applicants should not be destroyed due to the danger of a possible oversight in a possible future investigation incident to a reapplication of the person concerned. In this connection it is also possible that neighbors who furnished derogatory information on one occasion might be contacted in the position of neighbors at the time of a later investigation.

3. I feel that the destruction of these files would logically entail a review of indices in order that the pertinent cards might be destroyed and in the event such cards were not destroyed, it is noted that the general indices would be replete with many useless cards. The cost of this index review from a personnel standpoint would also be considerable.

4. In the light of the projects presently being handled by the personnel of the Chief Clerk's Office, under Bureau instructions, personnel needed in order to handle necessary reviews incident to this suggestion would not be available until completion of the existing projects.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. CLEGG

RE: FIELD OFFICE ADMINISTRATION

During the one-hour formal discussion on field office administration before the In-service class, SAC Soucy presented a suggestion which was confirmed by SAC's McSwain and O'Connor. This suggestion had to do with alien enemy folders. SAC Soucy stated that dispensing with further maintenance of these folders would afford much additional filing space in field offices. He estimated that approximately forty file cabinets were used to house these alien enemy folders at the present time. He thought that some of the other offices such as New York, Newark and Baltimore had thousands of these folders. In his opinion it was not necessary to continue maintaining them as the Immigration and Naturalization Service has a record of them where the information could be obtained if necessary. An index card, of course, is maintained on each one in the general indices. The index card ~~follows~~ an alien enemy folder. If by any chance a case has been opened on any of these aliens who were required to be registered, the case file would be shown on the index card and would of course be maintained in the field office files. Mr. Soucy stated he had made the same suggestion approximately a year and one-half ago and also about three months ago but it had been turned down in both instances.

2. SAC McSwain stated he thought it was a mistake to destroy the file jackets in closed cases at the time additional copies of serials were removed and destroyed. He said there was not a material saving in space and by destruction of the jacket the files could not be as neatly maintained and when chargeout slips were placed in the file they become wrinkled and sometimes lost. He felt the destruction of these files was a mistake, as did he think the destruction of duplicate copies of serials was a waste of time considering the small amount of filing space that is saved. SAC Soucy was in agreement with these comments.

RE: INSPECTION OF OKLAHOMA CITY OFFICE
SUGGESTION OF CHIEF CLERK ORVILLE G. AUSEN

Chief Clerk Orville G. Ausen has called to my attention Bureau instructions set forth in Bureau Bulletin #36, Series 1946, dated July 3, 1946, paragraph (E) relating to destruction of duplicate material in closed files - serials in zero, double zero and dead files.

He has requested detailed instructions as to what procedure should be used in following up on the destruction of the serials filed in the zero, double zero and dead files. He has advised that in connection with the investigative files, these can very easily be followed by utilizing the assignment cards, it being noted that they are destroyed at the end of one year's time, and prior to their destruction the case file can be checked and the duplicate serials destroyed.

In view of the fact that there are no specific instructions set forth relating to zero, double zero and dead files it is believed that the Bureau may desire to issue instructions as to what procedure they desire followed in the handling of this type of file, that is whether they desire an administrative tickler set up for this type of file or whether they desire a routine check of all the closed files falling in this category.

Reference is made to your letter of July 26, 1946 for SAC ACERS and other SACs and Inspectors requesting comments concerning the suggestion made that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old.

I am personally in favor of destroying as many of the office files as we can consistent with current investigative needs and possible future use and convenience of case files. The accumulation of closed files is rapidly becoming an acute problem.

I heartily endorse this suggestion and feel that after five years the applicant files have extremely little possibility of being of use and believe the Bureau files on the applicants should suffice.

About the only use made of closed applicant files are the cases of reapplication or the subsequent application to such positions as Assistant U. S. Attorneys. Usually when it is necessary to refer to such applicant files in the case of these investigations, it will be found the applicant file is much less than five years old. As to the applicant files on employees already in the service, five years should be an extremely safe period for retaining the notes of the investigation in the field offices, this being the only part of such files the Bureau would not have.

SUBJECT: Destruction of Bureau Applicant Files After They Become Five Years Old

Reference is made to the Bureau's memorandum of July 26, 1946, indicating that it has been suggested that all Bureau applicant files be destroyed after they have become five years of age. This suggestion seems to be a logical suggestion. I have talked with the Chief Clerk of this office as well as the Assistant Chief Clerk and they state that very seldom do we have a reference to such files. A summary teletype in most instances which is prepared and sent to the Bureau gives in substance all of the information which is contained in the file. The Bureau file is maintained for a longer period of time and could be utilized for furnishing to the field information in the event such is necessary. It is believed the index cards should be appropriately marked "File destroyed" together with the date of destruction. In the event the file is needed after a period of five years the information would not be up to date and in the event any background data were necessary other than that which appeared in the Bureau file, it is felt that the necessary investigation could then be conducted to gather the desired information which would reflect up to date material with respect to the applicant. This would enable us to destroy a number of files which were opened on Bureau applicants during the early part of the war period, when we conducted numerous investigations with respect to persons who applied for positions with the Bureau. This file space is badly needed at this time. It is felt that the purpose of maintaining the files is outweighed by the advantages to be gained by their destruction after they are five years of age.

In the event this suggestion is put into effect it is suggested that immediately there should be instituted a rule in each field division to call for the dating of the index card at the time the case is opened so that in time a reference to the index card, together with an existing rule to the effect that the file should be destroyed after five years, would not necessitate looking up the index card at the time of the file's destruction.

Reference is made to your memorandum dated July 26, 1946, advising the suggestion has been made that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old.

It is my impression these files could very well be destroyed after a five year period. The maintenance of such files does not appear to serve any useful purpose. It would seem, therefore, that if the master file is retained by the Bureau on all applicants, should material contained in such an investigation be required it could be furnished the field by the Bureau. It is believed, however, that this would be infrequent. It is assumed that the destruction of these files would be restricted to the field offices in view of the danger of not having available anywhere this background material.

If the plan suggested is adopted it is my recommendation that the destruction of these files be restricted to the field offices.

Re: Destruction of Bureau Applicant Files

Director, FBI

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to the Bureau's letter of July 26, 1946 to certain Special Agents in Charge, and Inspectors Gurnea and Naughten, concerning the suggestion that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old. This was received upon my return to San Antonio:

The advantages and disadvantages in destroying these files have been weighed and it is believed that they may be destroyed in the field but I feel that they should be retained at the Seat of Government as a source of valuable information. Whether these files would be of value at the Bureau or not could be determined during the next two years, making a test check to see upon how many occasions they are referred to. At the present time, of course, there would be no way the Bureau could know this inasmuch as the files have been available in the field for reference purposes.

Against destroying the files in the field is the following disadvantage:

A source of extensive information on an individual would not be immediately available in the field.

In favor of destroying the files in the field are the obvious advantages of

(1) Saves file space, and
(2) Reference is rarely made to such information.

Provided the original file is to be retained at the Bureau it is believed that all field files on Bureau applicants should be destroyed after they have become five years old.

Very truly yours,

M. W. ACERS

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum dated July 26, 1946 addressed to Messrs. ACERS, ET AL, in which I was included, requesting our views and recommendations in regard to destroying Bureau applicant files after they have become five years old.

I am heartily in accord with this procedure, and it is my recommendation that the Bureau issue instructions to the field that this be done. I base this recommendation upon my observation that I have had few occasions in the past to consult old applicant files that are five years or more old. The Chief Clerk and the Assistant Chief Clerk of this office inform me that they are in accord with the proposed policy of destruction of these files. They too state that they have little occasion to consult files of this type after they have become five years of age. They take up a lot of space in the office, and that space can be used by closed files and more active case classifications.

SUBJECT: Destruction of Bureau Records

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum dated July 26, 1946, addressed to several Agents in Charge, requesting views and recommendations relative to the suggestion that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old.

I have discussed this suggestion with the members of the field supervisory staff and the Chief Clerk. Our conclusion is that this suggestion is good, provided that the index cards are marked with identifying data reflecting the birth date and other available descriptive data concerning the applicant whose file has been destroyed. At the time the file is ready for destruction, the index card should be pulled, and the aforementioned descriptive data placed on the index card together with a notation that the file has been destroyed, which notation could be made by a rubber stamp captioned "File Destroyed."

The purpose in having such identifying data placed on the index card is first of all, to account for the fact that the file to which the index search relates has been destroyed; secondly, in connection with the consolidation program on indices, to enable the indices checker to identify the individual through the descriptive data; and thirdly, the information on the index card will constitute notice that the individual was an applicant five or more years previously, and should there be need for further inquiry, a request can be made of the Bureau for the information contained in the destroyed file. It is, of course, presumed that the Bureau file on the applicant is being permanently maintained, and that the suggestion relates merely to the destruction of applicant files in the field. Finally, in conducting indices searches in the future, the descriptive data on the index cards will immediately eliminate the person named on the index card from the subjects of future searches.

I do not recall any instances wherein there has been a need for information contained in applicant files after an elapsed period of five years. There have been, of course, frequent occasions to refer to 67-0 serials and even 67 files within a period of from two to four years. Normally, an applicant who has not been successful within a period of five years has given up all idea of becoming employed with the Bureau. There might be isolated instances where 67 references would be of interest in INTERNAL SECURITY - C matters, but even though the file has been destroyed, the descriptive data aforementioned on the index card would enable the office to communicate with the Bureau for any additional data that might be desired.

It is therefore the recommendation of the supervisory staff of the Philadelphia office that the suggestion be adopted by the Bureau in so far as field office files are concerned.

Please refer to Bureau letter to selected Special Agents in Charge with the addition of Inspector GURNEA and Inspector NAUGHTEN, stating that suggestion has been made that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old, and requesting the views and recommendations of the writer.

Insofar as the Pittsburgh Field Division is concerned a removal of closed applicant files five years or more old will do little in supplying storage area. Specific requests or need for information contained in applicant files over five years of age are negligible. It is felt that their retention in the office after that period of time presents a greater burden than it does any assistance to the operation of the office. It has also been found in this office that on those applicant files that are less than five years old practically no cause for reference occurs, so that it appears that even when we get into that period of 1942 and 1943 where a particularly large number of applicants was handled throughout the Bureau, the need for retaining those files will also be negligible.

In the light of the above views, the recommendation that files on Bureau applicants over five years old be destroyed in the field is made.

MY RECOMMENDATION: I concur in the suggestion that all field office copies of Bureau applicant cases be destroyed after becoming five years old.

REASONS ADVANCED IN FAVOR:

1. Field divisions only infrequently have need to refer to such files.
2. Due to the large number of applicants considered in recent years most divisions have a considerable collection of this type of file which, if disposed of, would make additional filing space available for present and future needs.
3. In the event reference is needed to data secured in applicant investigations, included in such files destroyed, the field would consult the Bureau for complete data. Hence, no hardship on the field would be experienced in disposing of these files.
4. By suitable notation on index cards of the files destroyed the field offices will always have a flag signalling the fact that the Bureau will have available all needed data.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-27-82 BY SP3 GLW/cat

ADDED RECOMMENDATION: It is recommended that the suggested rule, if adopted, be extended to include the 67-0 files and all breakdowns of Bureau general applicant files since it is only logical to include such applicant general files in the suggested rule.

1 Bureau Project 1 - General

Reference is made to memoranda dated November 27, 1945, and December 14, 1945, copies of which are attached. The recommendation set out therein which was approved by the Executives Conference memorandum dated December 18, 1945, has not been put into effect.

It is respectfully suggested that communications from field offices requesting that supplies be sent to law enforcement agencies be destroyed by the Supply Section of the Chief Clerk's Office since they are the last to handle the requests when they send the supplies to the agencies.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that this memorandum be referred to the attention of the Administrative Division for action.

The Boston Office previously had maintained a monthly schedule for destroying material when over three years old.

The Bureau is requested to advise if this material is to be allowed to accumulate for 3 years 11 months before being destroyed, or whether it will be satisfactory for this office to continue destroying the material monthly inasmuch as it takes only about six hours per month to destroy the required material.

Reference is made to your letter of September 19, 1946, with respect to the above section of the Manual of Rules and Regulations indicating certain files that should be destroyed when three years old on an annual basis. It is noted that your office has maintained a monthly schedule for destroying such material, pointing out that some six hours per month are required for its destruction.

The Bureau is of the opinion that the manual provision in this matter should be followed and that the destruction of the material should be on an annual basis, thereby avoiding the expenditure of unnecessary time in destroying such material monthly.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the present requirement for the destruction of duplicate file copies of reports in files that have been closed for one year or more be left to the discretion of the SAC of each Division.

ADVANTAGES: Bureau Property - general

1. Not enough space is being saved to justify the amount of work.
2. A specific case recited where the case was reopened in another Division after a year had passed and it was necessary to loan the single remaining copy of the report to another office, thus subjecting the office to some inconvenience and additional work.
3. The SAC could approve the destruction of duplicate copies of thick reports when the amount of saving is substantial and not make a requirement when the reports were very thin.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Lack of uniformity which would make it difficult to enforce.
2. A saving in space in some offices has been appreciable and believed in some offices at least to have been more than enough to justify the expenditure of time in removing the copies. New York City, for example, has reported 24% saving in its closed file space.
3. It would render the execution of this project much more difficult inasmuch as a decision would have to be made with respect to each individual file as to whether the extra copies of the report should be destroyed in that particular file.
4. In the unusual situation which the suggestion cites there is no reason why copies could not be secured from the Bureau inasmuch as the Bureau in that type case has copies of the report, one of which would be available.
5. It is usually impossible to say which closed cases may subsequently be reopened and hence the designation by the SAC of certain files in which the extra copies would not be removed would be no guarantee that cases would not arise in the future in which the extra copies of reports had been destroyed.
6. The suggestion would complicate what is now a relatively simple procedure.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously unfavorable.

Mr. Clegg recommends abandoning the entire project of the removal of surplus copies of serials in files, as soon as the present project has been completed, on the basis that an alleged savings has been accomplished. The shortage of personnel in the future will make it unprofitable to continue this forever after.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS

Reference is made to SAC letter #100, Series 1946, dated September 17, 1946, particularly to Section G thereof wherein the Bureau instructs that materials be destroyed at monthly intervals when the material is to be destroyed on an annual basis and the materials to be destroyed annually when the material is to be destroyed after the expiration of a three year period.

It is suggested that the Bureau reconsider the aforementioned instructions providing for the destruction of serials at monthly intervals and that all serials, whether on a yearly or three year basis, be destroyed when the last serial in any volume becomes one year old. This will enable offices to destroy these materials on a more or less project basis and it will not be necessary that these files be pulled for this purpose each month, it being noted that very frequently a file must be pulled for the destruction of only one or two serials, or none, on a monthly basis. I believe that the most desirable time for destruction of these old administrative files would be at the beginning of the fiscal year, that is during the month of July each year, in that the work is probably somewhat lighter during that period. This annual destruction of all old administrative files would obviously mean that the old file must be pulled only once during the year, whereas if portions thereof are destroyed at monthly intervals, it is obvious that more time will be consumed to reach the same objective.

This suggestion is submitted for any consideration deemed desirable.

EMPLOYEES SUGGEST: That the alien enemy registration files maintained in each Field Office be destroyed.

NOTE: In the Boston Office, for example, there are approximately 45 cabinets. Other offices, SAC Soucy felt sure, had larger quantities. The same information is available in the Immigration and Naturalization Service. In the event the folders were destroyed, the index card would still be available indicating that there had been an alien enemy folder in the office and this would indicate an immediate lead to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for any information desired and would release a great deal of valuable space. It was the opinion of SACs Soucy, McSwain and O'Connor that the infrequent use of such records made it too expensive and unnecessary to retain them.

Messrs. Harbo, Scheidt and Clegg were opposed to the suggestion because they felt it was not the opportune time to destroy records, particularly concerning aliens, in view of world conditions. In some offices there are numerous and frequent name searches still being made; biographical data concerning numerous individuals who have never taken out citizenship papers are available and this provides a good basis for intelligence information and references concerning a segment of our population that might be questionable regardless of the identity of any country with whom the United States might subsequently be involved in an emergency. They were of the opinion that the records should be maintained as is.

Mr. Boardman felt that the actual records could be destroyed because the need for reference to these records is extremely rare. It is further felt that should another international emergency arise, aliens, or at least alien enemies, would be required to register, in which event that data would, it is agreed, be valuable. It is further felt that these files take up a considerable amount of space and that the need for the files does not compensate for the cost of space required to maintain them.

In cases handled by the Laboratory, the examiner's copy of the work sheet, which includes his notations made at the time of the examination, is placed in the case file. In addition, there is a master copy of the work sheet which is filed in the Laboratory in chronological order. Under present regulations the master work sheets are retained for two years at which time they are destroyed.

In view of the policy recently adopted throughout the Bureau, including the field offices, to destroy material either annually or on a three-year basis, the Laboratory recommended that the existing instructions be modified to provide for the destruction of the master work sheets after three years. The examiner's copy of the work sheet is, of course, permanently retained in the case file.

On October 29, the Conference composed of Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Tracy, Hendon, Rosen, Ladd, McGuire and Harbo, was unanimously in favor of the three-year rule for destruction of the master work sheets.

The Laboratory has approximately 325 color negatives of butterfly trays which were submitted during the war for examination for secret messages. These negatives were made for making further examinations in the event additional information was received concerning the method of concealing the secret messages in these trays. The Laboratory has no further use for these negatives unless some information comes out of the war trials. It is recommended that this memorandum be routed to Division Five to determine whether they have any use for the negatives for butterfly trays or whether they may be destroyed.

a Destruction of Bureau Property Year

SUGGESTION: That Section 6 J (3) of the Manual of Rules and Regulations be changed to permit the destruction of field copies of coded messages when such are one month old rather than requiring their retention for one year and destruction on a monthly basis.

REASONS:
(1) Formerly these messages were destroyed on a straight monthly basis. Now they are required to be retained for one year and then destroyed monthly.
(2) Inquiry at various field offices in recent inspections failed to reveal any reason supporting the necessity for their retention for one year.
(3) The clear equivalent of the message is filed in the pertinent file and is sufficient. Rarely is reference made to the coded equivalent which is normally retained in the office safe. All references would not be made later than one month after receipt or dispatch of the coded message itself.

TEN:ER 10/31/46

CONSIDERATION BY JOINT COMMITTEE: Unanimously unfavorable to any change. As a matter of policy it has been decided by the Bureau that materials to be destroyed in field offices can be destroyed either at the end of one or three years. Prior to the issuance of this policy there were innumberable existing rules as to when various types of files and serials were to be destroyed. For the sake of uniformity it was felt that the one and three year provisions are efficent and adequately cover the problem.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the index cards on the cases covered by the "Old German" classification numbers, all of which are now over 25 years old, be destroyed.

ADVANTAGES:
1. This would result in considerable saving in the index sections. For example, it would result in the destruction of some 40,000 index cards in the New York Office.
2. The material to which the index cards relate under present Bureau rules has now been destroyed in the various field divisions.

DISADVANTAGES:
1. The presence of the index card in the field office indices flags the fact that the files relating thereto have been destroyed but that the information is available from the Seat of Government.
2. Cases will arise from time to time where this information would be pertinent and should be available to the field office through a check with the Bureau.
3. A lack of uniformity in this respect would exist if an exception was made for the New York Office.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously unfavorable and that the attached letter go forward to the New York Office.

MEMBERS PRESENT: R. T. Harbo, E. Scheidt, R. C. Hendon, S. K. McKee

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the investigative files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after a period of five years.

ADVANTAGES:

1. This would save space generally in the office.
2. There is infrequent cause for referring to these files after they have become this old.
3. In unusual situations the field could consult the Bureau where the material would be permanently retained.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. It would set up a special rule as to these types of files which is not warranted.
2. The amount of space to be saved is small in relation to the amount of filing space in any field office.
3. These files are of value as reference material similar to other files in the office and to the great number of personnel investigations which will soon confront the Bureau in connection with the Atomic Commission work and the CIG investigations references will probably be made more frequently to these files.
4. The amount of information contained in the files at the Seat of Government in many instances is not nearly as complete as that in the field office files, particularly with reference to the applicant investigations made in the last few years since they are reported by teletype or memorandum. The Bureau's files are not as complete as the field files wherein are maintained the Agents' notes.
5. Derogatory information relating to Bureau applicants should not be destroyed in view of the danger of a possible oversight in future investigations incident to reapplications. Neighbors who furnished derogatory information initially might not be available or in a position to supply such information at the time of a later investigation.
6. Such a project might logically entail a review of index cards with the placing of notes thereon to reflect the date when the file was destroyed which would add to the clerical effort necessary in achieving this saving of space.
7. It is doubtful that the saving of space warrants the necessary expenditure of clerical time.
8. The information contained in the field office files relative to Bureau applicants might be useful in connection with future dealings with the applicant on the part of the field office.

RECOMMENDATION: The Joint Committee points out that this matter was referred to 9 representative SACs, 8 of whom were in favor of destruction, with SAC McKee opposing, although each indicated that references from time to time were made to the files.

By memorandum dated July 26, 1946, selected Bureau personnel were requested to supply their views concerning a suggestion that all files on Bureau applicants be destroyed after they have become five years old. The views expressed are summarized as follows:

ACERS - that the suggestion has merit, saves space, and reference is rarely made to Bureau applicant files that have become five years old. He suggests one disadvantage in that a source of extremely valuable information would not be readily available.

BOARDMAN - favors destruction of the files provided the index cards are marked to reflect identifying data, birth date, and descriptive data, together with a notation that the file is destroyed.

FLETCHER (PITTSBURGH) - recommends that the files be destroyed inasmuch as their retention after five years presents a greater burden than assistance to the operation of the office.

HOOD - recommends that the files be destroyed inasmuch as experience has shown there are very few references to such files after five years, particularly inasmuch as under our present system of not actually writing reports, there is no need for keeping the file.

MCKEE - the only advantage would be saving of cabinet and floor space whereas there are four objections:

(1) With the destruction of duplicate serials in cases closed more than one year the question arises as to the need for more cabinet space, particularly inasmuch as the applicant files occupy only a small amount of space.
(2) Derogatory information relating to Bureau applicants should not be destroyed in view of the danger of a possible oversight in a future investigation incident to a reapplication of the person concerned. Neighbors who furnish derogatory information initially might not be available or in a position to supply such information at the time of a later investigation.
(3) Such a project would entail a review of index cards, the cost of such review being considerable.
(4) In view of present projects required by the Chief Clerk's Office personnel would not be readily available for such work.

MCSWAIN - favors the destruction of these files in view of the fact reference is seldom made thereto. He feels the index cards should be appropriately marked "File Destroyed," together with the date of destruction. He observes that the file space is badly needed at this time. McSwain suggests that if these files are destroyed there be immediately instituted a rule in each field division calling for the dating of the index card at the time the case is opened so that in time a reference to the index card together with an existing rule to the effect that the file should be destroyed after five years, would not necessitate looking up the index card at the time of the file's destruction.

RHODES - recommends that the files be destroyed basing his recommendation on his observation that he has had few occasions in the past to consult old applicant files five years or more old. He observes that such files take up a great deal of space in the office which could be used to better advantage.

SOUCY - recommends the destruction of such files inasmuch as their maintenance serves no useful purpose.

NAUGHTEN - recommends that such files be destroyed since:

(1) field divisions refer to same infrequently
(2) great deal of space would be available in view of large number of applicants considered in recent years
(3) in unusual situations the field could consult the Bureau where data would be available
(4) by suitable notation on index cards the field offices would always have a flag signaling the fact that the Bureau will have available all needed data

WEEKS - recommends destruction of these files since after five years the applicant files have little possibility of being used and the Bureau's files on the applicant will suffice.

SUGGESTION:

That field offices be authorized to destroy applicant files over five years old. It seems to me, however, that the idea of marking the index card creates a great deal of clerical work which may be unnecessary. Why wouldn't it be better merely to put in an appropriate "25" file a list of all files destroyed pursuant to the suggested action? Thereafter, should a search be made to an index card and no file found a simple reference could be made to this memorandum where there would be a clear indication that the file had been destroyed.

OBSCENE FILE

There is presently maintained in a wardrobe cabinet located in the Chart Room a large number of obscene cartoon printing plates which are a part of the obscene file. These plates were obtained back in December of 1942 in connection with the case captioned "Joseph Bennett Harris, Interstate Transportation of Obscene Material" Bureau File #71-1484. During the past year these plates were used on only about two occasions for reference purposes and even in those cases booklets printed from these particular plates and which are maintained in the cartoon file in Mr. Cadigan's room could have been used. It is noted that samples of cartoons printed from these plates are also maintained in Mr. Cadigan's room.

In view of the fact that very little use is made of these printing plates and further in view of the fact that they were last used commercially four years ago and further since booklets printed from these plates are maintained separately as a part of the file, it is believed that consideration should be given to destroying these plates. It is noted that the Bureau already has authority to dispose of these plates permanently.

We are presently maintaining in the Cryptanalysis Section approximately 50 assignment cards for prisoner mail cases dating back to July and August, 1945. There is no other record of the receipt and handling of this material. It would not appear however that these would ever be of any value in view of their age and consequently it is recommended that they be destroyed.

Bureau Property Guide

(A) FILES - DESTRUCTION OF - From certain inquiries raised in the field, it is believed that there has been a misinterpretation of Bureau regulations with reference to the destruction of various records after they have become one or three years old.

It is not intended that this destruction be accomplished serial by serial. Instead it is intended that a section of a file be disposed of in its entirety when the most recent serial therein has reached the age specified by previous Bureau instructions, whether it be one year or three years.

It is, of course, desired that such items as Number 3 Register Cards, Agents Daily Reports and administrative files of personnel be disposed of on a monthly basis as the accumulation for each month becomes one year old.

SUBJECT: OBSCENE CARTOONS

In connection with the review of old case files for the purpose of eliminating useless exhibits, it was found that six sets of comic strip cartoons taken from various newspapers were being maintained in the above-captioned case which were submitted to the Bureau back in 1940. These comic strips were obtained with the idea in mind of possibly identifying some of the obscene cartoons in the file.

No identifications were ever made from this material and in view of the fact that we are pretty certain of the identity of the three principal creators of obscene cartoons, namely Roy Cate, Jack Coggins and a woman by the name of Trace, and in view of the fact that the remaining classified groups do not appear to be of the style used by any of the modern cartoonists it is extremely unlikely that these known specimens will ever serve a useful purpose and, accordingly, it is recommended that they be destroyed.

This material is Serial 3 in the file.

It is now the practice to place in the personnel files old firearms and technical training cards that have been filled. These serve no purpose in that all of our Agent personnel is required to qualify with all firearms and failure on the part of any of them to do so is made a matter of record elsewhere.

RECOMMENDATION: Destruction of Firearms Proficiency Records

It is recommended that all training cards for each Agent be stapled together and maintained in an administrative folder in the Chief Clerk's Office, and that the old cards be destroyed when:

(a) The card is completely filled and a new card begun,
(b) When the new card reflects a qualifying score for each firearm,
(c) When there are no "make ups" necessary, which condition is not reflected on the new card, and
(d) When the new card reflects that training has been had with all pieces of technical equipment.

It is suggested that all filled firearms and technical training cards that are presently in the personnel files be removed.

MEMBERS PRESENT: R. C. Hendon E. Scheidt H. H. Clegg

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTS: That the Bureau consider destruction of all files consisting of plant survey reports and plant informant data.

This data was considered in May, 1946 and the Director instructed that this matter be re-examined after six months.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Considerable filing space would be saved.
2. It is alleged that the information in the files is of little, if any, current value.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. In view of the present world situation, it is believed highly undesirable to take any action which would make less accessible to the Bureau the information in the plant survey files.
2. A special rule as to the destruction of files should not be made covering only these classifications of matters.
3. This material is of value for reference purposes in connection with other types of matters arising within the Bureau's jurisdiction.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously as follows:

1. That all plant survey files and reports now in the field be destroyed at this time and that all such material at the Seat of Government be held. It was felt that there was some likelihood of claims being filed against the Government for a number of years and it was not at all unlikely that included would be claims for reimbursement of expenditures for employees and safeguards for security purposes which were made on the specific recommendation of the FBI. Plants in the meantime have been materially changed and their condition could be reflected only through an examination of the report and the exhibits which are on file at the Bureau. Because the files included the exhibits they should be retained for several years at least. This apparently would not require special approval of Archives or of Congress.
2. It was unanimously recommended that all records of plant informants both at SOG and in the field be destroyed except those which are indicated by symbols in order to obtain a proper identification of plant informants in investigative reports. It was believed that the changing of personnel at plants would make it necessary to develop another group of informants in the event of another war and the records of former informants would be very limited if of any value and certainly not worth the space that the files and records are occupying at the SOG or in the field.

SUBJECT: IDENTIFICATION OF HANDWRITING ON MICROSCOPIC LETTERS ADMINISTRATIVE

There is being held in SIS a quantity of booklets prepared during the investigation of espionage cases in World War II which involved microscopic letters.

These booklets at the present time are of no practical value to the SIS Section. It is possible they may be of some value to the Technical Laboratory.

ACTION:

It is recommended that these booklets be destroyed. However, the Technical Laboratory should be consulted before any action is taken in the matter. These booklets will be held in Room 2250 pending the return of this memorandum.

SUBJECT: Destruction of Twenty-Five Year Old Files

Reference is made to Philadelphia letter to the Bureau dated November 7, 1946 advising that certain Communist files over twenty-five years old would be reviewed by this office prior to their destruction. This review has now been completed and all such files of no apparent value have been destroyed.

However, there is appended herewith a list of certain newspapers, magazines, pamphlets and books, some of which may be of possible interest to the Bureau, primarily for historical reasons. These items are being retained temporarily by the Philadelphia Field Division pending Bureau advice as to whether any of this material is of any such interest.

All of these items will be destroyed at the end of forty-five days unless the Bureau advises to the contrary.

SUBJECT: Disposition of Contract Records maintained on 8th floor

Under date of January 28, 1947, Mr. Casanges of the Department advised that he was in receipt of a communication from the General Accounting Office wherein they requested to be furnished the letter directed to the Ashley-Dewitt Parking Center of Dallas, Texas, serving the notice of cancellation of contract #J-21816 which contract was awarded for services during the fiscal year 1944.

These contract records have in the past been sent to the 8th floor as each fiscal year expires for storage purposes.

Upon endeavoring to locate these records it was ascertained that the records for the 1944 fiscal year were destroyed which arrangement was approved by the Executive Conference.

In view of the fact the contract section of the General Accounting Office is approximately two or three years behind in matters described hereinabove, it is recommended that these records be retained for at least three years after which they should be destroyed.

Destruction of Bureau Property - general

The Executive Conference of February 10, 1947, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Tracy, Harbo, Clegg, Mumford, Hendon, Nichols and Glavin was advised by Mr. Glavin that due to the delinquency being experienced in the General Accounting Office in the auditing of vouchers and contracts, it was suggested that all contract material be maintained for a period of at least three years.

Mr. Glavin pointed out to the Conference that recently the General Accounting Office had requested certain information regarding the cancellation of a contract awarded in 1944. This material had already been disposed of and the necessary information is being secured from the field.

The Conference is of the unanimous opinion that such records should be maintained for a period of no less than three years.

Should the Director agree, the material in question will be so maintained.

Respectfully submitted,
FOR THE CONFERENCE

SUGGESTION: That the file containing miscellaneous correspondence concerning speeches be destroyed after it is 3 years old.

Destruction of Bureau Property - general

ADVANTAGES:
1. Savings of file space. In the Los Angeles Office 2 file drawers would be made available.
2. After 3 years the correspondence would be of little, if any, reference value.

DISADVANTAGES:
1. The material might possibly be of some reference value even though 3 years old.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously favorable. In the event this suggestion is approved a Bureau Bulletin and a letter to the employee advising of this suggestion's approval will be prepared.

RTH:ER
EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION: On February 27, 1947 Messrs. Nichols and Hendon opposed the suggestion and felt that this correspondence should be retained in field offices indefinitely particularly since copies were not retained at Washington.

Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Tracy, Glavin, Ladd, Rosen, Long and Clegg were of the opinion that this material should be destroyed after it is three years old.

WORLD WAR II HANDBOOK — NATIONAL ARCHIVES

Destruction of Bureau Property - General

Mr. Homer C. Calkin, Archivist, World War II Project of the National Archives, called on me this morning to discuss the preparation of a handbook being worked out by the National Archives, which will contain data concerning records developed by the various Government Departments and Agencies in connection with World War II.

Mr. Calkin stated that this handbook had been approved by the President and the Bureau of the Budget in June 1945 and that they had been formally working on it since September 1945. It is to be set up by Government Department, under which general heading will be set out in index and narrative form, a description of the various records developed by the Departments and Agencies in connection with their World War II activity and their volume by cubic footage. In the case of the Bureau it would concern itself with investigative case files, fingerprint records and any other auxiliary records that could be shown to be directly developed from the needs of the Bureau in connection with World War II. This handbook will concern itself with the period from September 1939 to December 31, 1946, generally, but in the event activities prior to the first date are within the purview of the book's definition they would be appropriately included.

Mr. Calkin has in preparation a tentative draft of basic historical material which will introduce the Bureau's part in the handbook. I suggested to him that it might be desirable to refer the finished draft of this to the Bureau for review so that all aspects of the material might be edited and any possible misconceptions clarified prior to printing. He stated that he had this in mind and would very positively refer this material to the Bureau before final printing.

Inasmuch as this is a formal aspect of the National Archives' Congressionally approved program, I believe that it is necessary that the Bureau cooperate in making the information desired available and it is my suggestion that ultimately all data supplied be made up in memorandum form for transmittal to the Archives so that there will be no question about the statistics furnished.

There will be little difficulty in the preparation of data from the Records Section standpoint as to the types and volumes of records developed in connection with World War II and I suppose that similar figures can be prepared in the Ident Division, however, I felt that you would want to consider the matter from the standpoint of the Bureau as a whole with the possibility in mind of including records developed by the Crime Statistics Section, the Chief Clerk's office and perhaps other sections of the Bureau.

RECORDED & INDEXED 62-116275

In discussing this matter with Mr. Calkin it was mutually agreed that inasmuch as the Field Divisions' records are duplications of the record at the Seat of Government it would not be necessary to include them.

ACTION BEING TAKEN:

Consistent with your approval I shall prepare the necessary data concerning the Records Section and I will discuss these with you as soon as they are set up in a few days.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

It is recommended that this matter be referred to the Identification Division for desirable action in preparing similar figures for inclusion in the handbook.

It is recommended that the Bureau give consideration to what types of records other than that of the Identification Division and Records Section material should be included in the handbook and that appropriate arrangements be made to develop the necessary figures in this connection.

The Bureau's Field Divisions in the affected areas received photographs and bulky data from the Bureau for information purposes which may still be in the Field Offices as bulky exhibits. Similarly, during investigations of these incidents the Field Offices accumulated photographs, maps, and other bulky material. There seems to be no purpose in keeping such material and this is to be considered as Bureau authority for disposing of any such bulky exhibits.

In line with our efforts to streamline the main indices and conserve space in the Records Section, the following two files have been reviewed for the purpose of disposing both of the files and index cards. The Alaska Travel Control, File #100-138735, occupies 15 file drawers and has 54 enclosures on a special ramp in the Records Section. The Trans-Pacific Travel Control file occupies three file drawers and has 11 enclosures maintained separately. It is conservatively estimated that there are approximately 75,000 index cards referring to the forms in these files. Several samples of the mail are attached, and as will be noted are nothing more than forms submitted by individuals requesting permission to travel to various points during World War II. During the War these forms were submitted to the Bureau for a name check through our files.

The majority of name search forms handled by the Bureau during the World War II period were maintained in a general file, 100-22. In 1945, the Executives Conference approved the destruction of this file, resulting in the disposal of over one million forms and index cards. Approval was secured from Archives for their disposal. The authority secured from Archives was intentionally made general in nature in order to cover all types of forms received by the Bureau from other Government agencies in connection with name searches. As a result, authority already exists to destroy the above files.

In connection with the contemplated consolidation of the indices, it is believed that we could readily remove 75,000 index cards relating to these two files and destroy them without any further authority from Archives. These files are not referred to either in connection with the processing of mail or handling of name searches and are in exactly the same category as the forms formerly maintained in file #100-22.

These two files for the most part consist of long lists of names of persons arriving in the United States during the War years. The two files together consist of 353 sections, and occupy 20 file cabinet drawers. It is conservatively estimated that there are 500,000 index cards relating to these files in our main indices. A sample section of each file is attached.

During the War, these names were received in the Bureau for name checks, and in a sense can be considered in the same category as thousands of other forms received by the Bureau. As a matter of fact, they do not contain as much information and are of much less potential value than the forms, primarily because of their lack of any identifying information. You will of course recall that we have destroyed practically all of the forms received from other Government agencies.

Because of considerable difficulty experienced in handling this material, several years ago we received permission to break the file down into two categories; one an "Information" file, and the other a "General" file. The objective was to separate all names on which information had been developed in our files from the balance of the material in order to aid our Name Searchers and File Reviewers. As a result, we were able to avoid unnecessary file reviews in the "General" sections which contain for the most part nothing more than long lists of names. It is not contemplated that the "Information" files will be affected by the following recommendation.

Regarding the "General" files, it would now appear to be desirable to remove the index cards from our indices and destroy both the files and cards; this being in line with our efforts to rehabilitate particularly the index in order to make it more productive and accurate. It is also believed that Archives' authority for destruction can be presumed from previous permission secured in connection with the disposal of name search correspondence.

Reference is made to SAC letter #55, dated May 6, 1947, wherein Section C states it will not be necessary to continue to retain copies of the Foreign Travel Control Manual and copies of Summaries of National Defense Investigations.

Summaries were received in this office from the period of November 15, 1940 to May 15, 1941, entitled "Quarterly Summary of National Defense Investigations." Summaries were also received in this office from May 15, 1941 to November 15, 1942, which were called "Subversive Activities in the United States." Summaries were received from November 15, 1942 until the present time, which were entitled "Quarterly Intelligence Summary."

The SAC letter does not state definitely that the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries and the Subversive Activities in the United States summaries should be destroyed. However, in view of the fact it does state that summaries on national defense investigations should be destroyed, I am construing this to mean that all of these summaries should be destroyed and they are being destroyed within fifteen days unless advice to the contrary is received from the Bureau.

Reference is made to SAC letter number 55, Series 1947, dated May 6, 1947 in which instructions are given to the effect that it will no longer be necessary for offices to retain copies of the Foreign Travel Control Manual or copies of the Summary of National Defense Investigations. It is requested that the Bureau advise as to what is intended by these two items. The records of this office do not reflect that any Foreign Travel Control Manual has ever been charged to the Office, or that one is maintained in this office. The only Summary of National Defense Investigations charged to this division is the regular quarterly Intelligence Summary, volumes of which are carried on the office inventory. It is believed that the Bureau does not desire the destruction of the quarterly Intelligence Summary as in many instances material of interest to the Salt Lake City Office was indexed. It would require a considerable amount of effort to locate and withdraw the index cards which would be rendered valueless by the destruction of the quarterly Intelligence Summary.

Clarification as to the exact items to be destroyed is consequently requested.

Since the Bureau desires that each field office retain a copy of these Intelligence Summaries it will be necessary to furnish an entire set to the San Juan Office, if available. It is suggested, however, that the Bureau consider the necessity of replacing these summaries in the San Juan Office. They were seldom used for reference. Although their value is recognized, the difficulty of replacing them might not, at this time, be warranted.

SAC Letter 55, dated May 6, 1947, is quoted as follows:

"FOREIGN TRAVEL CONTROL MANUAL; SUMMARY OF NATIONAL DEFENSE INVESTIGATIONS - This is to advise that it will not be necessary to continue to retain copies of the Foreign Travel Control Manual or copies of Summary of National Defense Investigations which have been charged to your division. These volumes should be destroyed in such a manner that their content could not be made available to any unauthorized individual or agency."

This SAC Letter section was dictated by Assistant Director Glavin and approved by Mr. Carlson of the Training and Inspection Division.

The Bureau is in receipt of numerous inquiries from the field for clarification of the meaning of "Summary of National Defense Investigations." The Kansas City Office has sent in a Disposition Sheet showing that they destroyed the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries pursuant to this letter. Other offices have indicated that unless advised to the contrary by certain dates, they will destroy the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries, and other offices have merely asked for clarification on the basis that they have no such thing in their offices.

When this matter was presented to the Executives Conference, there was unanimous concurrence in the suggestion that the Foreign Travel Control Manual be destroyed and it was understood that the phraseology "summaries of national defense investigations" referred to the thousands of teletype summaries sent back on name checks to the offices having travel control panels. They are, of course, duplications of material in the Seat of Government files and are of no real value to the field. They should be destroyed.

JUN 6 1947

The Quarterly Intelligence Summaries were distributed to G-2 and ONI posts throughout the country and our field offices have heretofore been authorized to destroy all but one copy which is thoroughly indexed in each of the field office indices. The Quarterly Intelligence Summaries should not be destroyed as they are frequently referred to in serials throughout the files and are often the subjects of inquiry from G-2 and ONI which have copies of them.

66-3286-287

Since some of the offices have indicated they will destroy the Quarterly Intelligence Summary on the basis of Bureau Letter 55 in the immediate future if not advised to the contrary, and since a large number of offices are confused by the instant SAC Letter, it is recommended that the attached ~~teletype~~ SAC letter to all field offices be sent out explaining that the Quarterly report should not be destroyed but that the summaries referred to are the name check summaries sent out in connection with Foreign Travel Control which are duplicated in the Seat of Government files.

SUBJECT: Destruction of Old Files

Prior to 1939 all correspondence relating to the contribution of fingerprints and crime statistics by law enforcement agencies were carried in miscellaneous "O", 32, and 33 files. Beginning in 1939 the Bureau authorized the opening of a file on each law enforcement agency pertaining to fingerprinting and crime statistics.

Review of the files in this office shows that there is one cabinet drawer full of these miscellaneous files with nothing filed therein since 1938. These files are not indexed and are never referred to.

It is requested that permission be granted to destroy these files in the Charlotte Field Division.

It is further requested that consideration be given this matter and if deemed worthy that all field offices be given permission to destroy this old correspondence. Throughout the field, using Charlotte as a guide, there would be a savings of approximately one file cabinet drawer in each field office.

RE: FOREIGN TRAVEL CONTROL MANUAL; SUMMARY OF NATIONAL DEFENSE INVESTIGATIONS

Reference is made to SAC letter number 55, series 1947, dated May 6, 1947, section (C), captioned as above advising the field that it would not be necessary to continue to retain copies of the Foreign Travel Control Manual or copies of the Summary of National Defense Investigations charged to the various offices.

Many field offices have misinterpreted the phrase "Summary of National Defense Investigations" to mean the Quarterly Intelligence Summary originally known as the Quarterly Report on Subversive Activities in the United States, which was furnished to all offices until August 15, 1945, at which time the issuance was discontinued. As a consequence, numerous letters have been directed to the Bureau indicating that unless advised to the contrary within a certain period of time, the Quarterly Intelligence Summary would be destroyed.

The "Summary of National Defense Investigations" referred to in the referenced SAC letter are name check summaries duplicated in the files at the Seat of Government which were sent out during the war in connection with the Foreign Travel Control program.

It is desired that each field office retain at least one complete set of the Quarterly Intelligence Summary in its files.

Very truly yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

SUGGESTION: That field offices be authorized and instructed to destroy general files on identification matters and uniform crime reporting matters where they contain correspondence relative to individual law enforcing agencies prior to the time the field was instructed to set up individual files in these categories.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Savings of file space. In the Charlotte office one file drawer would be saved.
2. The information is obsolete and is not currently used.
3. The information is not indexed and is not readily accessible. The correspondence relates to the contribution of fingerprints and crime statistics by law enforcement agencies and was of temporary value to the field office.
4. Copies of pertinent correspondence are available in the files at the Seat of Government.
5. For many years separate files on contributing law enforcement agencies have been maintained with respect to fingerprint and crime statistics and the proposal is that the material be destroyed which was filed in general files prior to the creation of these separate files which are to be continued.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. The files to be destroyed under this proposal probably would include some material which it was not deemed necessary to forward to the Seat of Government and which, therefore, is not in the Bureau files.

RECOMMENDATION: Unanimously favorable.

Sugg. #594

Reference is made to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, section 6J, paragraph 3, relating to the destruction of files when one year old at monthly intervals and under sub-topic (t.) the present provision that file folders in closed cases after the case has been closed one year should be destroyed. It is respectfully suggested and recommended that this requirement be eliminated.

It is sincerely believed that the savings in space would not be commensurate with the difficulties that arise when file folders are destroyed because there is no convenient manner of handling charge-outs of said closed files when there are no file folders available and for the further reason that the saving of space is not commensurate with the clerical time required to remove the folders. The presence of the file folder also insures accuracy in the filing of closed files, so that they are placed in proper numerical order.

SUBJECT:

Destruction of Bureau Property - General

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated May 9, 1947 requesting my recommendation relative to a suggestion that the field offices be instructed to destroy the administrative files opened several years ago in connection with the American Legion contact program and the reasons for the recommendation.

In the Albany Office there are approximately three file drawers utilized for these files at this time and they appear to be of no value. I do not believe that the files will serve any useful purpose now or in the future, but unfortunately in this office the files were assigned a 100 classification.

There are approximately 450 files and approximately 50 to 100 index cards were made out on each file and in some instances even more. It can be seen that it would be a major project which would consume far too much time to be practical to remove the index cards for these files, and in the event the files were destroyed it would mean that periodically references to the 100 classification would be found on index cards and when the references were sought it would be found that the file was not in the closed section at which time a check would be made of the open section, and then when the file was not found the file clerks would be unable to determine whether the file was lost or had been destroyed.

These files in the 100 classification were opened when the American Legion project was first started early in 1941 or late 1940, and it is my recommendation that in this office authorization be granted to destroy the contents of the files and the folders but that the file jackets remain and one serial be placed in each reflecting that the contents of the file have been destroyed. I feel that this will result in considerable saving of space in this office.

With respect to the problem throughout the field generally, I do not know in what classification these files were initially opened in other offices, but in the event they were opened in a 66 or 62 classification I would feel that the files could be destroyed without creating a problem. If however they were opened in the 100 classification, then I would feel that the situation would be the same as in this office.

SUBJECT: ALIEN ENEMY CONTROL
TRANSFER OF APPREHENSION INDEX TO RECORDS SECTION

There is presently being retained in the Internal Security Section a steel 3 x 5 filing cabinet which contains the only ready reference of Alien Enemies of G, I, J, R, H, B nationality, who were apprehended during the war by this Bureau.

These 3 x 5 cards contain subject's name with aliases, date and place of apprehension, recommendation of the Hearing Board, dispositions ordered by the Attorney General and Bureau file numbers. These index cards are filed alphabetically and geographically and are at the present time referred to several times a month for the purpose of quickly ascertaining whether or not an individual has been apprehended, interned or paroled and the main file number for further information.

In view of the fact that the Alien Enemy Control Program is to all intents and purposes washed up, it is recommended that this steel cabinet with its 3 x 5 cards be transferred to the Records Section where the contents will be readily available. In addition to the apprehension index the cabinet contains the denaturalization index, index of seamen who were apprehended as alien enemies, and also an index of Japanese who renounced their American citizenship. Of this group, it is recommended that the indices pertaining to the Japanese who renounced their American citizenship be destroyed and the other two remaining groups be retained. If you agree, arrangements will be made to have the cabinets and indices transferred to the Records Section.

QUARTERLY INTELLIGENCE SUMMARIES

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-22-82 BY SP4 ELW/rte

SAC Letter Number 55 dated May 6, 1947, instructed the Field that copies of the Summary of National Defense Investigations should be destroyed. In several of the Field Divisions these instructions were construed as referring to the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries and as of this time advice has been received from New Orleans, Portland, Birmingham, Savannah and San Juan that the Quarterly Intelligence Summary copies in their possession were destroyed. These Field Divisions have written in requesting that additional copies to replace the destroyed copies be made available by the Bureau.

The first letter along this line referred to me by the Training Division was from San Juan. After checking into the matter with the Security Division and the Training Division, I prepared a letter to the San Juan Field Division advising that copies of each of the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries dating from November 15, 1940, through August 15, 1945, were being forwarded to them under separate cover.

Since submitting the letter to San Juan the letters from the other offices mentioned have been referred to me for similar action.

Two questions arise as to further action in this matter. The first question is concerned with the number of available copies of these summaries here at the Bureau. Of the fifty-two Quarterly Intelligence Summaries available here dating back to 1940, we have four copies of each with the exception of three of them in which cases only two or three are available. If we submit replacement copies of these Summaries to the four Field Divisions requesting, we will have left, in the vast majority of cases, only the original file copy. I suppose that the volumes which have only two or three copies available here could be reproduced for the Field's benefit. There are occasions, of course, when we need more than the file copy of the Summary, when they are needed at two or more places in the Bureau at the same time.

The first question to be answered is whether the available extra copies of the Quarterly Intelligence Summaries should be sent to the Field and the Bureau's extra supply of these Summaries deleted.

The second question that arises has been brought up by the Mechanical Section in packing the volumes to be sent to San Juan. This question concerned itself as to the value that should be placed on these volumes for shipping purposes. It is to be noted that there are fifty-two volumes of the Summaries to be sent and they contain Quarterly Intelligence data back to 1940, as previously explained.

COMMENT:

RECORDED 166-3286-293 EX-22 FBI 17 1947

SUGGESTION: That field offices be instructed to destroy the administrative files opened several years ago in connection with the American Legion Contact program. The 3 x 5 index cards have previously been destroyed or transferred to the source of information index, and the memoranda are frequently obsolete with the election of new officers of the American Legion Posts.

This matter was submitted to nine offices which have replied, and all the offices approve the suggestion.

The Albany Office pointed out that since this file bore a 100 classification in that office instead of a 66 classification, it would be a major project to go through the indices and remove the many index cards, since 50 to 100 index cards were made out on each file. The Albany Office desired to retain the file jackets with a serial to be placed therein reflecting that the contents of the file have been destroyed.

The Bureau has approved the suggestion that the field office administrative files initiated in connection with the American Legion Contact program some years ago be destroyed.

DESTRUCTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE FILES ON AMERICAN LEGION CONTACTS

A suggestion was made by the Detroit Division and Mr. Naughten that field offices be instructed to destroy the administrative files opened several years ago in connection with the American Legion contact program. It was pointed out that the 3 x 5 index cards so prepared have previously either been destroyed or transferred to the source of information index, and the Field has been instructed not to prepare memoranda supplementing source of information cards except in unusual circumstances.

The suggestion was submitted to the following offices: Albany, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, El Paso, Kansas City, Los Angeles, St. Louis, San Francisco and Seattle. An answer has not yet been received from Chicago. All the other offices approved the suggestion that the administrative files be destroyed.

The Albany Office, however, presents a problem, stating that the administrative files mentioned were assigned a "100" classification. There are approximately 450 files, and approximately 50 to 100 index cards were made out on each file. It would be a major project to go through the indices and remove these cards. If the files were destroyed, it would mean that periodically references to the "100" classification would be found on index cards and when the references were sought, it would be found that the file was not in the closed section, at which time a check would be made of the open section, and then when the file was not found, the file clerk would be unable to determine whether the file was lost or had been destroyed. Albany suggests that the files be destroyed, with the exception of the file jackets which would remain, and that a serial be placed in each reflecting that the contents of the file have been destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the files be destroyed but the Field be advised, in accordance with the problem presented by Albany, that if index cards have been prepared, the folder be retained and an indication made in the folder indicating the file has been destroyed.

Re: Disposition of Alien Enemy Registration Material

The Bureau has noted that administrative correspondence; such as, departure visas, declaration of intention to travel, change of address notices, travel letters, travel permits, and other data relative to Alien Enemy Registration is still being retained in some field offices. In some offices there there were no folders on Alien Enemy Registration, such correspondence was placed in administrative files. Before authorizing the destruction of these files, the Bureau is desirous of knowing what other information may be contained in these files which may have some future value; such as, the inventory of items taken on spot raids, the results of hearings and prosecutions in connection with Alien Enemy cases and other material which may at some future time be needed for various purposes.

It is desired that you advise the Bureau concerning the manner in which such material is filed in your office in order that the Bureau may arrive at a decision relative to the destruction of such material.

Please give this matter your immediate attention and furnish the Bureau with a reply by August 15, 1947.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover
Director

SUGGESTION: That all the administrative correspondence; such as, departure visas, declaration of intentions to travel, change of address notices, travel letters, travel permits and similar data relating to Alien Enemy Registration be destroyed; that in the Butte Office the nine sections of material captioned "General Japanese Activities--Montana" be destroyed inasmuch as these sections contain serials relating generally to the Alien Enemy Travel Program; and that two additional sections entitled "Italian Seamen Interned at Fort Missoula, Montana", relating to further Alien Enemy Travel and location, be destroyed.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION:

It appears that in many offices where there were no folders on Alien Enemy Registration that these copies of correspondence were prepared and placed in administrative files and in some offices the system of filing was such that this type of correspondence was placed in other than the Alien Enemy Registration folders.

It is the opinion of the Joint Committee that it was the Bureau's intention when authority was extended to destroy the material in Alien Enemy Registration files that all the material which normally would have been placed in these files would likewise be destroyed.

Recommendation: Unanimously favorable.

If approved, there is attached an SAC letter and a special letter to the Butte Office granting authority for the destruction of such data.

EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

19 AUG 14 1947

The Executive Conference was of the opinion that we should make inquiry of a representative group of SACs in the field to determine exactly what is contained in these records. Mr. Ladd pointed out that such things as the inventory of items taken on spot raids, results of hearings and prosecutions may be contained in these files. Accordingly, letters are being sent to New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, and Newark.

TO : THE DIRECTOR DATE: 7-16-47

FROM : THE EXECUTIVES' CONFERENCE

SUBJECT: INTER-DIVISION IDENTIFICATION AND APPREHENSION BULLETIN

The Executives' Conference, with Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Clegg, Glavin, Nichols, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Ladd, and Rosen in attendance, approved Mr. T. E. Naughten's suggestion that I.O.'s be issued to supersede the three currently outstanding I.I.B.'s and that thereafter the Field be instructed to destroy the I.I.B. and I.A.B. file maintained in each Division. It is not possible to supplement I.I.B.'s 30, 88, and 91, as there are no photographs available of sufficient quality to justify the issuance of an I. O. No. 88 on George Daum has previously been supplemented by a Wanted Flyer, using an artist's conception of Daum's likeness. Nothing would be gained by putting out an I.O. on this fugitive, as there are no fingerprints available.

It was suggested, however, that all I.I.B.'s be considered as obsolete and that the Field be permitted to destroy its I.I.B. and I.A.B. files.

Copies of pertinent data will be found in the investigative files relating to the subjects of the three remaining I.I.B.'s.

A suggested Bureau Bulletin is attached hereto.

Respectfully,

For the Conference

In applying the recently issued Bureau rule regarding the disposition of Alien Enemy Registration files, I found the following condition at Butte, which raises the question of how far the field should and can go in applying the rule:

1. Butte File #65-145, "General Japanese Activities--Idaho," contains 7,578 serials in 33 sections. The material for the most part consists of the following:

   Departure Visas
   Change of Address letters from Bureau offices on which no AER
   Form 22-B--Notice of Change of Address signed by Japs on which no AER
   Alien's Declaration of Intention to Travel--no AER
   Copies of letters from United States Attorney to alien regarding travel--no AER
   Copies of I & NS Travel Letters--no AER
   Travel Permits
   ONI flimsies on movement of Jap Nationals or Jap United States citizens

2. Butte File #65-153 consists of 9 sections containing 1,871 serials and is captioned "General Japanese Activities--Montana." The serials are generally of the same alien enemy data as the above file.

3. Butte File #100-3719 consists of 2 sections pertaining to "Italian Seamen Interned at Fort Missoula, Montana," and contains alien enemy material of the same type as referred to above.

This condition arose due to the fact that Alien Enemy Registrations in many instances were not forwarded on to such offices as Butte when the aliens or Japanese-Americans were relocated in that division or were interned there; yet the material outlined above is certainly the type of data which would have been filed in Alien Enemy Registration folders had the Butte Division such folders on hand upon receipt of these types of serials. Since such Alien Enemy Registration folders were not on hand in so many instances, obviously it was necessary to file these data of an administrative and non-intelligence nature in general files.

I do not believe that this is a condition which is peculiar to Butte since Salt Lake City and Denver, as well as other offices, had relocation or internment centers and are believed to have set up similar general files on Japanese, German, Italian, Hungarian, Rumanian, and Bulgarian aliens.

RECOMMENDATION:

My recommendation is that the field be authorized to strip such general files as may be in existence of all data of an administrative type pertaining to changes of address, notice of moving, notice of new employment, travel authorized, undertaken, or completed, notice of departure, etc., retaining, of course, all serials of an intelligence nature. I believe this could well be included in a Bureau Bulletin to the field authorizing this reasonable and intelligent extension in the application of the rule already promulgated.

Destruction of Bureau Property - genl

My recommendations and suggestions are set out hereinafter relative to various administrative matters discussed with you.

I suggest that Inter-Division Identification and Apprehension Bulletins on hand be destroyed as having no practical value. I further suggest that the system of issuing them not be reinstituted and that the Identification Orders be made to serve instead of the Inter-Division Identification Bulletin. SAs make very few "on view" arrests. The Agents will usually have in their possession small photographs of the Fugitive if such a photograph is available, and any arrests they make are made as a result of planned effort.

1. I recommend that any Inter-Office Identification Bulletin on hand be superseded by an Identification Order.

2. I recommend that all Inter-Division Identification and Apprehension Bulletins on hand be destroyed.

On May 9, 1947, a memorandum was sent to all Inspectors requesting that inquiries be made and a survey conducted relative to the types and kinds of files and data in files in field offices and at the Seat of Government which should be destroyed. The purpose of this memorandum is to summarize the suggestions received.

Messrs. Harbo, Long and Nease had nothing to submit relative to this project.

Mr. Gurnea, in his memorandum, points out that the space situation in many offices is becoming very acute and the problem will probably increase in the future. Mr. Gurnea makes the following suggestions:

(1) Security Files -- At the beginning of the security program many offices prepared huge mimeographed reports on activities of various Axis nationalities and often two copies were sent to all field offices. Many of these reports are from two to four pages long with several copies in the file. Suggestion: Previous Bureau instructions be revised to include the stripping of all security files with the exception of the more recent Communist files.

(2) Circular letters, bulletins, etc. forwarded to field offices by state police, bankers' associations, Burns Detective Agency and others. This information is not indexed. Recommendation: Destruction of all these bulletins and instructions to SACs to destroy same upon receipt unless there is contained some information of particular interest to the office. In this case it should be placed in the appropriate case file.

(3) Consolidation of Files — Mr. Gurnea made a test check in Detroit consolidating applicant files which normally only contain two or three serials. File folders fronts and backs take up as much room as serials themselves. By placing ten or twelve files in a common file front and back, space in file drawer was reduced 50%. Recommendation: SACs be instructed to consolidate closed 67- files in common file fronts and backs appropriately labeling each section to indicate file numbers contained therein.

It is further recommended that similar policy be adopted in closed 25, 77, 116 and 118 cases. Mr. Gurnea also recommends that in the future only one copy of reports in these cases be designated for the file.

I think that this is an excellent suggestion and wish to further recommend that when the files are being placed between common file covers that duplicate serials be eliminated in the process.

(4) Destruction of so-called general intelligence and liaison reports received from Army and Navy -- These usually contain "rehash" of information already in possession of Bureau.

(5) Copies of technical logs in Communist files -- excerpts or copies placed in case files and later repeated or summarized in investigative reports. Suggestion: Mr. Gurnea suggests a series of folders be prepared bearing the name of the subject and the file number to which information from technical surveillances can be placed daily. Which a sufficient quantity is collected to justify the preparation of a report, these excerpts and memoranda should be destroyed and only the report itself be placed in file. Mr. Gurnea sees no reason for going through the administrative gymnastics of first placing the information on an original log, taking a copy of that and placing the copies in a file, later reporting the same information in a report and placing the report back in the identical file, keeping all of this duplicated information indefinitely. Further suggestion: that Communist files containing this volume of memoranda and excerpts from logs be reviewed and where such information has been included in a report, these memoranda be destroyed.

(6) Alien Enemy Registration files have been destroyed; however, considerable correspondence is maintained in some offices regarding such matters as travel of enemy aliens. This consists chiefly of correspondence from U. S. Attorneys and copies of travel permits issued by U. S. Attorneys. Mr. Gurnea suggests that this information be destroyed.

It is believed that Mr. Gurnea has submitted some very intelligent suggestions and it is my opinion that they should all be adopted.

Assistant Director Connelley states that the existing instructions concerning the destruction of files are, in his opinion, sufficient and he does not recommend any additional destruction or more frequent destruction of files and records. Mr. Connelley also feels that the instructions covering the handling of bulky exhibits are adequate for practical purposes. He points out that when a case is closed, any exhibits which cannot be disposed of should become a part of the file and should be destroyed in conformity with the rule for the destruction of complete files after 25 years have elapsed. He does not feel that any elaboration should be made on these instructions unless in order to clarify same it could be stated that any and all matters to be destroyed should be considered in the light that the particular material being considered for destruction is a part of a specific file and the instructions as to that specific type of file would apply in the destruction of the particular object.

SAC Brantley has submitted a suggestion which ties in with this suggestion. He states that in many offices there are administrative files which do not carry the 66-classification. He cites, for example, National Academy correspondence which in Kansas City makes up 12 voluminous sections, practically all of which is obsolete after it is one year old. He points out that the same is true of 94 files on some of the larger police departments within a field division. In these instances correspondence may wish to be retained but much of it can be destroyed.

He suggests that a review of these files can be made similar to that made by the SAC on the destruction of office personnel and office confidential files and pertinent material needed could be retained in the file. Mr. Brantley does not feel that an iron-clad rule could be laid down for all divisions but that the destruction of administrative files of these kinds should be left to the discretion of the SAC.

Inspector Naughten makes the following suggestions for the destruction of files:

I. Material to be destroyed immediately.

- ✓ a. Alien Enemy Registration files (instructions have already been issued to do this)
- ✓ b. American Legion Contact files
- ✓ c. Police Bulletins don't have
- ✓ d. Bankers' Protective Bulletins no
- ✓ e. Private Detective Bulletins no
- ✓ f. Field Office Mailing Lists all but current
- ✓ g. All file folders in closed files Handled
- ✓ h. Civilian Defense School files yes
- ✓ i. FBI War Traffic School files yes
- ✓ j. Files on Black Out Data yes
- ✓ k. I.I.B. files Handled
- ✓ l. Gas Mask Training files yes having no Case file
- ✓ m. Unidentified Criminal Records yes
- ✓ n. 67 files prior to time Bureau eliminated reports and results were submitted by teletype. Handled
- ✓ o. General intelligence summaries no
- ✓ p. Alien Enemy Arrest Registers -- previously instructions have been issued but feels re-iteration would be desirable. Handled
- ✓ q. Plant Survey files except 99-00 and symbol files on informants Handled
- ✓ r. Record of Penalty Mail prior to 7/1/41
- s. Empty files made up in anticipation of use or empty because of consolidation no
- t. Gas Ration Books and correspondence--covered by SAC letter No. 17, 2/12/46, but suggests re-iteration. no

II. Material to be destroyed on monthly basis when collection becomes month old.

- a. Coded communications no
- b. Auto inspection forms no
- c. Copies of outgoing teletypes no

III. To be disposed of monthly after becoming one year old:

- a. Investigator material--presently under 3-year rule. no
- b. FBI News Front -- presently under 3-year rule. no
- c. FBI NA News Letter -- presently under 3-year rule. no
- d. Leave application form 71 -- presently under 3-year rule although Leave Form cc-318 under 1-year rule

e. 32-0 and 32 files on police departments
f. 33-0 and 33 files on police departments
g. 95-0 and 95 files on police departments } Covered

IV. To be destroyed on annual basis when 3 years old

a. Agent and clerical training files OK
b. All speech and public relations matters -- already covered by existing regulations Handled
c. Crime Statistics Reports No
d. All 77 files except investigations of Federal officials presently in office, includes OEM, OPM and other Departmental applicants. No
e. 116 files No
f. 118 files No
g. 67-0 files and other files of general applicant type No OK h. Statistical Accomplishment file
i. Special Service Contact file and any 67 file on contacts. No
✓ j. Overtime files Destroy now

It is believed that Inspector Naughten has given this matter serious consideration and has some excellent suggestions.

Inspector Naughten has submitted the comments of SAC Banister on the suggestions made by Inspector Naughten and it should be noted that he disagrees in part or wholly with the following of Mr. Naughten's suggestions:

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Re: Files that should be destroyed

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-22-82 BY SP4ELW/rtc

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum requesting suggestions as to files that should be destroyed.

As the Bureau realizes, the space situation in many offices is becoming very acute due to the large number of closed files. Looking into the future, I believe that this problem will become more and more pressing and eventually materially increase the average square feet of space to each employee. I believe that many of the files referred to below should either be destroyed, eliminated or consolidated as indicated.

Prior Bureau instructions with reference to the stripping of files indicated that Security files were not to be stripped. I have examined the closed files in the offices recently inspected and have found huge quantities of material filed that will in all probability never be used again and if so only as reference material. This includes such material as the activities of German, Japanese and Italian organizations.

At the beginning of our security program, many of our offices adopted the policy of preparing huge mimeographed reports on the activities of the various Axis nationalities and oftentimes two copies were sent to all field offices within the continental United States. Similarly, the offices preparing these reports oftentimes retained as many as five copies for their own offices. I have come across numerous files wherein each section of the file contained only one copy of such reports. Many of these reports are 200, 300 and 400 pages in length. I am of the opinion that previous Bureau instructions should be revised so as to include the stripping of all Security files with the exception of the more recent Communist files. In many offices, this in itself should eliminate a large number of cabinets in the closed file section.

During this examination, I have observed several files containing circular letters and bulletins issued by such organizations as the State Police, Bankers Associations, Railroad Police, City Police, Burns Detective Agency, National Automobile Theft Bureau and others. As a rule, this information is not indexed. I believe the field should

be instructed to destroy all of this information and in the future to destroy it upon receipt unless it is of particular interest to the office, at which time it should be placed in an appropriate case file.

While in Detroit I conducted the following test check with reference to the applicant files. As the Bureau realizes, most of these applicant files contain only two or three serials. Actually, the file fronts and backs and the file folders take up as much room as the serials themselves. During the test check in Detroit, a representative drawer was selected and the file fronts and backs removed from the individual files and as many as ten or twelve of the files placed in a common file front and back. The file covers, of course, were appropriately labeled to indicate the file numbers contained. This reduced the space of the file drawer from 23 to 10 inches or over 50%.

Each field office does, of course, have a tremendous number of closed 67 files. They are rarely referred to and even more rarely reopened. In the event it should occasionally become necessary to reopen these files, this could of course be done very easily. It is therefore suggested that the entire field be instructed to consolidate the closed 67 files in common sections placing approximately 10 or 12 files to the section and having a common file front and back. Each section should, of course, be appropriately labeled.

I believe that consideration should also be given to adopting a similar policy with reference to the closed Selective Service Act cases, Departmental Applicant cases, Atomic Energy Applicant and Employee cases and Central Intelligence Group Applicant cases.

For further reference to the above classifications, I believe we could eliminate a tremendous amount of stenographic and clerical work, as well as a great saving in space, by designating only one copy of each report in the above classifications for the file. I know of no instance where it was necessary for an office to later transmit a copy of an applicant report to another field office.

During the war, the Army and Navy submitted to the various field offices so-called general intelligence and liaison reports. In most instances, these reports consisted of a re-hash of information originally and primarily submitted to those organizations by this Bureau. In many instances, these reports are filed but not indexed. Even if they are indexed, I can see no reason why they should be retained.

Reference is made to the present method utilized in most offices with reference to technical logs. It is the common practice to file copies of the logs in each file to which the information pertains. At some later date, an agent reviews all of this information and prepares an investigative report. I have run test checks in field offices and found that a large percentage of the files and serials being handled in the Chief Clerk's Office consist of Communist case files into which these memoranda or excerpts from the logs are being placed. As may be readily realized by following this procedure the information originally obtained over the technical is placed in the log and filed chronologically as such. Excerpts or copies are placed in the case files and later the same information is repeated or summarized in an investigative report and returned to the file.

I believe the Bureau should realize that in most instances Communist files are actually depositaries for information that may be used at some future date. This is particularly true with all of those cases in either the closed or pending inactive status that are not being actively investigated.

To avoid a large amount of unnecessary clerical work and to conserve space, it is suggested that the following procedure be adopted in the field:

A series of folders should be prepared bearing the name of the subject and the file number of those case files into which information from the technicals is being placed daily. These memoranda and excerpts should be loosely filed in these folders until such time as a sufficient quantity is collected to justify the preparation of a report. A report should then be prepared and these excerpts and memoranda destroyed and only the report itself filed in the case file. It should be considered that in the event it should become necessary to check on the information in the report, the report itself will of course identify the source and the date on which the information was secured. Thus it will always be possible to go back to the original log in the event such an inquiry should become necessary. Similarly, I can see no reason for a field office's going through all of the administrative gymnastics of first placing the information on an original log, taking copies of that and placing the copies in a file, later reporting the same information in a report, placing the report back into the identical file and then keeping all of this duplicated information indefinitely.

In line with the above, it is suggested that the Communist files containing this tremendous volume of memoranda and excerpts from the logs be reviewed and where such information has been included in a report, those memoranda should be destroyed.

All of the alien enemy files were of course recently destroyed. In addition to the actual alien enemy files, however, there is considerable correspondence in some of the field offices with reference to such matters as the travel of enemy aliens and Japanese. Much of this information consists of copies of correspondence from the United States Attorneys Offices and copies of travel permits issued by the United States Attorneys. I believe that this information may now be destroyed.

I am firmly of the opinion that if favorable consideration is given to the above, there will be a considerable saving of space in each field office at the present and it will of course provide for an even greater saving in the future without jeopardizing the Bureau's efficiency or the availability of information in any way.

Respectfully,

M. E. Gurnea

Re: DESTRUCTION OF FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

In compliance with your instructions, I have examined your recommendations and make the following comments:

I. Following Material to be Destroyed In Toto

1. Alien Enemy Registration files. Moot.

2. American Legion Contact Program files. Destroy completely.

3. Police Bulletins. Destroy completely. (We never retained them in this Office.)

4. Bankers' Protective Bulletins. These bulletins should be destroyed.

5. Detective bulletins of any type. These bulletins should be destroyed.

6. SAC Mailing Lists. Except for the current mailing list, I recommend that all lists be destroyed.

7. File folders in closed files. I agree completely with your suggestion.

8. Civilian Defense Schools. Destroy completely.

9. FBI War Traffic Schools for Police. Destroy completely.

10. Blackout data. Destroy completely.

11. Inter-Division Identification Bulletin files. Commented upon in a separate memorandum.

12. Gas Mask Training. Destroy completely.

13. It is my recommendation that these "no record" criminal records, and in many instances the complete criminal record as submitted by the Identification Division, are sent to Divisions for many reasons. I suggest the adoption of a policy of sending these to the Agent working in that territory.

COPIES DESTROYED

If the office has no interest in the record and the Agent working in the territory where the Subject was last arrested has no interest in it, then the records should be destroyed.

14. I am not in favor of destroying Bureau Applicant records. It appears that we will have to make loyalty checks of Government employees in some manner or other. Many Applicants for the Bureau later obtain employment in another Government Agency. Under no circumstances, in my opinion, should Applicant case files be destroyed where reports were not made and teletypes were submitted.

15. General Intelligence Summaries received from G-2. I agree with your suggestion. At the most, we could set up a three-month rule to destroy such material.

16. Alien Enemy Arrest Registers. I agree with your suggestion that previous instructions regarding the destruction of these registers should be reiterated.

17. Plant Survey matters. Agree partly with your suggestion. I recommend that the 99-00 file be retained, but that the Office symbol files on informants and all other material in connection with Plant Surveys should be destroyed. Agree with your suggestion that instructions should be reiterated.

18. Record of Penalty Mail. I agree that this file should be destroyed immediately.

19. "Empty files" can cover a very broad field. Empty file covers made so by consolidation should not, in my opinion, be destroyed if they pertain to an investigative matter or to any particularly important matter where there might be indexing in the body of the file. I agree that instructions should be issued that file covers should not be made in anticipation of future use.

20. Gas Ration books and correspondence. I agree with your suggestion that this material should be destroyed.

II. To be Destroyed on a Monthly Basis when any Month's Collection Becomes a Month Old.

1. Coded communications. I agree with your suggestion.

2. Auto inspection forms. The Bureau's suggested form is retained as the top serial. It is the current form.

3. The second machine copy of outgoing teletypes. We keep second machine copy until after voucher is prepared.

III. To be Disposed of on a Monthly Basis when Any Month's Collection Becomes One Year Old.

1. "Investigator" material file. I recommend the destruction of this on about a three months' basis, at the most not more than six months. The material is then out of date and is of no interest.

2. "FBI News Front." I recommend the immediate destruction of all material in such files. It is out of date.

3. FBI National Academy News Letter. I recommend that only the current issue be retained. All other Letters should be destroyed upon the receipt and filing of a new Letter.

4. Standard Form 71 (Leave Application). I agree with your suggestion.

5. 32-0 and "32" files on individual Police Departments. I agree with your suggestion that the one-year rule could well apply.

6. 33-0 and "33" files on Police Departments. Same comment as for No. 5 applies.

7. 95-0 and "95" files on Police Departments. I agree with your suggestion that it should not be retained for more than one year.

IV. To be Destroyed on an Annual Basis when Three Years Old.

1. Agent and clerical training files. I agree with your suggestion that the three-year rule could well apply - why not one year? These files usually have correspondence regarding the holding of conferences, etc. As a practical matter, I seldom refer to them.

2. All speech and public relations matters, including correspondence and material. The one-year rule could well apply here. I see no reason for retaining it.

3. Crime statistics reports. I believe the Uniform Crime Statistical reports have outlived their usefulness at the end of three years. If any are needed for something like my comming lecture "The Logic of Crime Causation," I can always borrow the material necessary from the Bureau.

4. Departmental and other similar applicant cases in the "77" classification. I believe the destruction of these files at this time would be premature. After the policy has developed in the Loyalty Check Campaign, which might come up, this matter could be decided.

(B) DESTRUCTION OF FILES -- The following files in field offices shall be immediately destroyed:

(1) Bulletins received regularly from bankers' associations, private detective agencies, state police and similar agencies when the bulletins and data received have no pertinency to matters pending in the field office. These communications should be destroyed as received and any existing files containing such data should be similarly destroyed.

(2) Field office mailing lists except the current issue.

The following types of files need to be very carefully examined in order that before destruction of the contents, the specific items and serials of correspondence which the SAC believes should be retained will not be destroyed. There should be retained information concerning a police department which is on the black list or whenever there is derogatory information concerning an FBI National Academy Graduate or his department, and whenever there are matters of general instructional value which are still in effect, such data should not be destroyed. Otherwise the same rule applying to the destruction of general administrative files shall apply to the following classifications:

(1) Training matters and FBI National Academy correspondence.

(2) 32 - Fingerprint Identification matters.

(3) 33 - Uniform Crime Reporting matters.

(4) 94 - Research matters.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR:

RE: DESTRUCTION OF FILES

Re Bureau memorandum of May 9, 1947 requesting recommendation as to the types and kind of files and data in files which should be destroyed and the frequency of the destruction in order that the Bureau might draw up a schedule for Field Offices.

Briefly, after considering what is already being destroyed and what files are available in the Field Offices, it is believed that the present instructions are specific and sufficient for all practical purposes and that no ~~further~~ latitudes should be instructed in the disposal of files except within the limitation of these instructions.

The Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 6J, Sub-sections 3, 4, and 5 provide for files to be destroyed in one year, three years, and twenty-five years and designates specifically the files which are to be destroyed. This covers both the administrative and case files of the Field Office.

These instructions are believed sufficient for all practical purposes in the conservation of space, savings in expense and labor in maintaining and future handling of files. After considering all of these situations, I do not recommend any additional destruction or more frequent destruction of files and records. It is believed that we have reached the point in this operation where we should consider with caution any greater or quicker destruction of such records.

Section 6I, Sub-section 16 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations as to bulky exhibits covers the proper handling and disposal of these types of exhibits and it is believed this is ample for all practical purposes in the disposing of such material. When the bulky exhibits are disposed of when the case is closed any which cannot be disposed of should become a part of the file and then, of course, should only be destroyed in conformity with the rule for the destruction of complete investigative files which is twenty-five years. If there should arise a specific and unusual situation as to a particular file and as to which authority is only that presently granted by the Bureau's rules and regulations, it is believed necessary to have these evaluated as to the facts and circumstances and destroyed thereafter on specific instructions.

It is not believed that any elaboration should be had on these instructions unless in order to clarify same it could be stated that any and all matters to be destroyed should be considered in the light that the particular material being considered for destruction is a part of or should be a part of a specific file and the instructions as to that specific type of file would apply in the destruction of the particular object. This, in my opinion, will not greatly increase the possibility of additional files and material to be destroyed.

As to case files, there may arise situations where the case is closed and wherein numerous copies of a particular report have been prepared for distribution, if necessary, and as to these it is believed that common sense would dictate that any no longer needed would be disposed of and only sufficient copies retained in the file to meet the Bureau's requirements.

Respectfully Submitted,

E. J. CONNELLEY,
Assistant Director.

"Manual for Bureau Supervisors"

It is requested that permission be granted to destroy the old records on the November 10, 1944 issue of the Manual for Bureau Supervisors.

This manual has subsequently been revised under date of August 1946. All of the old manuals have been received and destroyed; therefore this control serves no useful purpose.

The Executive Conference of 9/8/47 consisting of Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Tracy, Nease, Mohr, Clegg, Nichols, Ladd, Long, Rosen and Glavin, approves the destruction of this old control list. WRG:amb

Destruction of Bureau Property file

SUGGESTION: On May 9, 1947, a memorandum was sent to various Bureau Inspectors asking them to make inquiries as to the types of files and data found in field offices which they believed should be destroyed and to submit to the Bureau their recommendations as to the desirability for immediate, monthly, annual or tri-annual destruction of certain types of files. The purpose was to permit the Joint Committee to study the results and prepare one communication which would resolve most of these problems currently pending in field offices.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION:

The Joint Committee has given consideration to the various suggestions submitted by the Inspectors and makes recommendations as follows:

I. That authority be granted for the immediate destruction of the following field office files:

1. Bulletins received regularly from bankers' associations, private detective agencies, state police and similar agencies when the bulletins and data received have no pertinency to matters pending in the field office. These communications should be destroyed as received and any existing files containing such data should be similarly destroyed.

EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

The Executive Conference of 8/7/47, Messrs.Glavin, Tracy, Nease, Mohr, Ladd, Long, Rosen, McGuire and McCabe being present approved the immediate destruction of all the items mentioned under I with the exception of item 9 -- overtime files. The Conference unanimously recommended that these files be retained since they may be necessary to use in settling claims for overtime at some future date.

With reference to the items listed to be destroyed after one year old, it was pointed out that there may be correspondence in some of these files which should be retained; such as, in laboratory matters a department that is on the black list and derogatory information concerning Academy graduates or their departments, also the "00" files in the classifications set forth above contain instructional material which should not be destroyed. The Conference was in favor of keeping the "00" files in these classifications and also of issuing instructions prior to destroying material in the other files that these files should be gone through carefully in order that material having some future value might be retained.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

The Times Herald newspaper of May 23, 1947, reflects that ADRIAN S. FISCHER was named to the loyalty board of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

On April 30, 1947, according to this informant, Mrs. CONDON informed Mrs. WEISSKOPF that she would be too busy giving a tea for the American Physical Society to take her Czechoslovakian lesson this week. Mrs. WEISSKOPF mentioned that she had been helping write a letter in Slovak for Mrs. CONDON to her parents. Mrs. WEISSKOPF said her husband appreciated EMILY'S offer, but inasmuch as it would be necessary for him to have a license, he thought he would stay with UNRRA as long as he could.

Mrs. CHESTER B. WATTS at the Naval Observatory invited the CONDONS to a picnic on Saturday, May 17, 1947.

On May 5, 1947, JOHN HIPPLE informed CONDON that he had planned to go to Pittsburgh to find out about a patent situation. HIPPLE informed CONDON that Westinghouse would like to get the patent rights on everything that he invented "on this project." CONDON asked HIPPLE what kind of a deal Westinghouse had with the Navy. CONDON said that the understanding has always been that inventions went to the Government if they are done with "your actual assigned work" even though he was with Westinghouse, but that if he invented something that was in no way connected with his work, the Government would not make an attempt to grab that. CONDON informed HIPPLE that the only thing he could do was to stall and promise not to make any inventions. HIPPLE said that he thought the magnet would cost about $35,000. HIPPLE asked CONDON how he had made out and CONDON replied "Well, I can put another fifty grand into this; we didn't do so badly, but no so well, either." CONDON said, "Officially, we don't know until noon, so don't talk to anybody until noon, but we got a total of $7,415,000 in the form of a million for

DESTRUCTION OF ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRATION FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Reference is made to the Bureau's instructions as set forth in SAC Letter No. 78, Series 1947, dated June 24, 1947.

The destruction of these files must necessarily be held in abeyance in the Salt Lake City Office until the weather has become cool enough that the Continental Bank Building, wherein our office is located, can start the big furnace for heating purposes. The building has a small stove in the basement which is sufficiently large to take care of the daily burning of trash. However, the Building Manager advises that any fire as large as that necessitated by the burning of the AER files would have to be made in the large furnace used for heating purposes and that this large a fire at this time of year is prevented by the city regulations, having to do with smoke abatement.

An appropriate tickler has been prepared and as soon as the weather becomes cool enough that the heating system is turned on these files will be appropriately destroyed and a memorandum to that effect made in the administrative file.

ANONYMOUS LETTER FILE
80-691

Destruction of Portions of Property

You will recall that slightly over a year ago the handwritten and handprinted sections of the Anonymous Letter File were reviewed and all non-threatening letters and single unidentified threatening letters over five years old were removed from the active file and placed in an inactive section. This inactive section, consisting for the most part of crank letters, was to be available for search in connection with a major case if the occasion arose. The active section, through which the average extortion letter would be searched, was restricted to actual extortion, kidnapping or threatening letters. It was as a central depository for the latter type material that the ALF was originally intended.

During the 1947 fiscal year, 2114 specimens were searched through the active section of the ALF, resulting in 15 identifications. During this same period the inactive section was not searched once. It is interesting to note that the 0.74% of the specimens searched through the ALF in the 1945 calendar year were identified and that 0.70% were identified for the fiscal year 1947. It thus appears that the reorganization did not materially reduce the results obtained from the Anonymous Letter File but the searching time was cut in half resulting in a real saving of employee time. In addition, we do know that several of the identifications made have been with old material but the basis of the reorganization was sufficiently broad so that these specimens were left in the active section.

HANDLED IN OTHER DEPT.

RECOMMENDATION:

Inasmuch as refraining from searching the inactive section has not effected the results obtained from the ALF and since the active section will soon have to be expanded into additional cabinets, it is recommended (1) that the specimens now contained in the inactive section of the ALF be destroyed, it being noted that these are crank or non-threatening letters and single unidentified letters over five years old; and (2) that the three sections of Remington Rand Kardex visible file which now house the inactive section be used, as needed, in the expansion of the active section.

ADDENDUM: Unanimously approved by Executive Conference 10/7/47. Present Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Ladd, N. H. McCabe, Tracy, Glavin, Carlson and Harbo.

MEMORANDUM:

Re: SUGGESTIONS *DESTRUCTION OF

It is suggested that consideration be given to destroying all unknown subject files in the various Bureau Divisions, which are three years of age or over, in those cases relating to Theft from Interstate Shipment, National Motor Vehicle Theft Act, Impersonation, Theft of Government Property, and National Stolen Property Act Cases relating to fraudulent checks.

This suggestion is made with a view to conserving filing space and in view of the fact that after a three-year period the Statute of Limitations will have expired, which will nullify any possible prosecutive action should the subjects be ultimately identified. It is not believed, however, that such identification would be made after a three-year period in cases within these categories, or that the information contained in the files after this length of time would have any value in subsequent investigations.

The only possibility would be fraudulent check cases under the National Stolen Property Act, in which aliases used by an unknown subject in cashing a fraudulent check would be on record in the National Fraudulent Check File at the Seat of Government.

SUGGESTION 647
DISPOSITION OF ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRATION MATERIAL
SUMMARY FOR JOINT COMMITTEE

Inspector Naughten suggested that all administrative correspondence such as departure visas, declaration of intentions to travel, change of address notices, and similar data pertaining to Alien Enemy Registration be destroyed as well as the material in AER folders. The Joint Committee recommended favorably, and the Executives' Conference suggested that a representative group of SACs' opinions be obtained as to exactly what these files contain.

SACs Boardman, McKee, McSwain, O'Connor, Scheidt and Soucy were asked for their observations.

SACs Soucy and McSwain advised that there was no problem in their offices since all such material had been destroyed under the program already authorized. They further indicated that material such as receipts for property taken and the receipts for the return of the property to the aliens as well as executive warrants had been placed in the individual case file of any alien having such material in their folders.

SACs O'Connor, Boardman, Scheidt and McKee indicated that there were some general files in their offices having material relating to regulations and pertaining to alien enemies generally which they feel could well be destroyed.

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION:

That instructions be issued authorizing the field to review any general files and administrative files having material relating to travel and other non-essential activities of alien enemies for the purpose of withdrawing such data and destroying same.

Re Bureau memorandum of August 5, 1947. 66-3286-301, 100-200-320,

Administrative correspondence, i.e. departure visas, declaration of intention to travel, change of address notices, etc., enumerated in reference communication was maintained in the Alien Enemy Registration folders and not in administrative files. This material, therefore, has been destroyed. Inventories of items taken on spot raids and the results of hearings and prosecutions in connection with Alien Enemy cases were filed in the investigative case file relating to the Alien Enemy investigated and were not placed in either the folder or administrative files. It, therefore, is not believed to be practical to endeavor to destroy any of this material which has become an integral part of the investigative case file.

A survey of files in this office relating to Alien Enemy Registration reflects that there are in existence a few files, the content of which is briefly itemized below.

39-0 There are 333 sections of this file. The vast majority of the serials relate to Philadelphia copies of form letters received from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization Service on persons who had filed a Petition for Naturalization. The instruction was that a check of our files be made for the purpose of disclosing any information in our files that might have a bearing upon the applicant's eligibility to become naturalized. The balance of the serials, of course, are typical 39-0 matters. Inasmuch as a certain small percentage of the index checks resulted in the finding of certain information which was furnished to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, it would appear that it is the type of material which will necessarily have to be maintained to substantiate the information furnished should any question arise as to the type of information actually furnished by this office to Immigration and Naturalization authorities.

HAND CARRIED BY COURIER

100-21743 This file consists of 3 sections and contains exclusively lists of aliens naturalized in the Philadelphia area. These lists were furnished to this office by the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization Service, and the names contained on these lists have been indexed. I see no need for the retention of this material as there appears to be no reason why any reference should be made to our files for the purpose of determining whether a person is naturalized when the proper place to secure such information would be the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization. Authority is, therefore, requested to destroy the 3 sections of this file.

100-7443 This file is captioned "Alien Enemy Registration," and a review reflects it to be an administrative file containing administrative instructions from the Bureau, i.e. Bureau Bulletins, copies of SAC letters, etc., relating to Alien Enemy Registration together with correspondence relating to miscellaneous Alien Enemy Registration matters. It would appear that the material in this file could be destroyed under the existing provisions relating to the destruction of general administrative files that are three years old (Section 6J(4) MRR). Bureau authority is requested to make such disposition.

100-21188 This file consists of 5 sections and relates to Japanese evacuees granted leave from a relocation center. It contains primarily photostatic copies of War Relocation Authority blanks notifying of the address and place of employment to which the released evacuee has gone. It is not felt that this material is of any possible future value to this office, and authority is requested to dispose of this file.

100-10157 This is a 13-serial file containing correspondence between this office and the Albany Office relating to the securing of a list of aliens registered in the Albany Division from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization Service. The most recent communication is dated September 25, 1942, and I can conceive of no reason why this material should be retained. Authority is requested to destroy this file.

100-8239 These files are both captioned "Alien Enemy Control" and contain primarily copies of United States Attorney's letters covering the return of Alien Enemy property. Also interspersed in these files are copies of teletypes transmitted to the Bureau advising of the results of spot searches and Alien Enemies apprehended in connection with the Alien Enemy Control Program. It is believed desirable to retain these files primarily because of the fact that there are contained therein receipts relating to Alien Enemy property.

The Bureau's advice as to the disposition of the above-outlined files is desired.

DISPOSITION OF ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRATION MATERIAL
Destruction of Bureau Property - Gen'l.

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum dated August 5, 1947 requesting my comments concerning the disposition of certain administrative correspondence in connection with the Alien Enemy Registration Program.

For the Bureau's information all administrative correspondence such as departure visas, declaration of intention to travel, change of address notices, etc., pertaining to specific aliens on whom individual folders were maintained was in each instance filed in the specific folders in this office and this data as well as the folders were recently destroyed with Bureau authority.

In connection with any alien who was arrested, whose property was seized and/or concerning whom a hearing was held by the Alien Enemy Hearing Board and prosecution entertained, it was the procedure in this office to open and maintain a separate case file under the alien's name. Thus all data pertaining to the individual alien were filed therein and, of course, these files are maintained as a permanent record. No separate administrative files of property taken, action of hearing boards etc., were or are maintained in this office.

As a practical matter and for the Bureau's consideration in handling this problem, it is pointed out that copies of material relating to hearings before the Alien Enemy Hearing Boards are undoubtedly retained in the files of the United States Attorney and Immigration and Naturalization Services and hence, should be available to the respective field offices at any time. Also the Bureau previously instructed that all property taken from aliens either be returned to the alien or destroyed, contingent upon the instructions of the United States Attorney and accordingly, there seems little point in continuing to retain separate administrative files containing [illegible] inventories of property which in most instances was returned or destroyed sometime ago.

I also feel that 25 years is an excessive length of time to maintain records in the field inasmuch as up to only a few years ago the Bureau received copies of all correspondence between field offices, between field offices and the United States Attorney's offices, and other governmental agencies. Therefore in the event such permission were granted the field to destroy files earlier than the policy now in effect any reference made thereto could be obtained from the Bureau files.

I also pointed out in my suggestion in 1944 that at such time as files were destroyed, rather than to withdraw index cards on any files that are destroyed, inasmuch as it would take a great deal of time and would necessitate reviewing the files to determine what name in the body of the report had been indexed, that a form memorandum be prepared and inserted thereon the file number, the date the file was destroyed, and any reference thereto could be obtained from the Bureau.

RE: SUGGESTIONS "Destruction of Bureau Property - general

With reference to the Bureau's desire in the saving of file space, I wish to point out that on November 7, 1944, I submitted the suggestion to the Bureau that there were many classifications of cases where the files could be destroyed after a shorter period of time than the 25-year rule that the Bureau now has in effect. I still feel this to be the case and wish to submit the following in connection therewith.

There are many files in field offices on unknown subjects, particularly in extortion, kidnapping and automobile theft act cases, as well as many others. I feel that the retention of these files serves very little purpose in a field office after a period of time, particularly after the Statute of Limitations has run on the violations. In many of the extortion cases there are files which indicate the United States Attorney has declined prosecution. There is very little information of value in the particular files relating to any one individual and in most instances their addresses have changed, their appearances have changed, their contacts and friends have changed due to the recent war and the shifting of population in the United States. This is also true in many other cases of this kind. In the Unknown Subject NMVTA cases as a general rule the only information of value contained in the file is the description and motor number of the vehicle and the name of its owner. This information is of little value as a general rule.

If the Bureau were to authorize the destruction of files in unknown subject cases after they have become five years old, tremendous saving of space would be accomplished. In some unknown subject files there could possibly be information of value; however as pointed out above, practically all of the individuals have moved, etc., and the information would have to be run down a second time.

It is therefore suggested that the Bureau give further consideration to the destruction of files which are less than 25 years old.

SUGGESTION: That the Bureau give consideration to destroying all unknown subject files in the various Bureau Divisions which are three years of age or older in those cases relating to Theft from Interstate Shipment, National Motor Vehicle Theft Act, Impersonation, Theft of Government Property and the National Stolen Property Act relating to fraudulent checks.

The suggestion was made with a view to conserving filing space and it is pointed out that after a three year period, the Statute of Limitations will have expired.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION: The Joint Committee felt that it would be unwise to destroy the files in the cases mentioned above after a three year period since a definite possibility exists that these files would be useful in cases arising in the future. These files are referred to from time to time to obtain such information as description of unknown subjects contained therein, and it is felt that these files may be of some value and that the proposal should not be adopted at this time in view of the consideration now being given to a proposal where, in many of these cases, most of the reports prepared by the Field Offices will not be forwarded to the Seat of Government. In other words, if the files in the Field Offices were destroyed, there would be no complete record concerning the case available to the Bureau at any source.

It is further felt that there should be uniformity in respect to the destruction of investigative files, such as the twenty-five year rule which is now in effect. It is further pointed out that although the Statute of Limitations is generally three years, in cases of the type mentioned above the possibility exists that conspiracy cases would be applicable where the last action was within the statutory period, although more than three years had elapsed since the substantive violation occurred. Therefore, some of these files might become highly important.

Re: Report of SA EDWARD J. MASON dated at Cincinnati 10-29-47 entitled "W. H. CROWDER, JR.; JAMES B. DEWEESE; MARTHA DELL DEWEESE, wa; FRAUD AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT; SURPLUS PROPERTY ACT."

The Bureau will note from this report that two copies were sent to Indianapolis as well as several other offices, that each copy is one-half inch thick, being on mimeograph paper and 82 pages in length. The Indianapolis office had one lead which was covered and the case RUC'd by letter. This, of course, is an unusual case, but it is suggested that the Bureau give consideration to permitting the agents in charge and supervisors in the various field divisions to destroy one of the two office copies in a case which is being RUC'd. In instant case it would, as you will note, save one-half inch of file space.

Reference is made to SAC Letter #116, Series 1947, dated 9/6/47, paragraph B, "DESTRUCTION OF FILES", wherein is set out that there shall be immediately destroyed "bulletins received regularly from bankers' associations, private detective agencies, state police and similar agencies when the bulletins and data received have no pertinency to matters pending in the field office".

Reference is also made to the inspection of the New York Office in October 1947, Administrative Memorandum, Pages 285 and 286.

During the course of the inspection it was recommended that the file containing hotel and merchant protective bulletins should be destroyed. It was further instructed that steps should be taken immediately to eliminate the automatic filing and indexing of all of these bulletins as received. It was suggested that the bulletins be reviewed with a view to picking out information of real significance rather than maintaining all issues of the bulletins.

Further, consideration has been given to this by this office and it is desired to point out to the Bureau that these bulletins are pertinent to current investigations. Constant reference is had to this file by agents presently working on National Stolen Property Act check cases and impersonation cases. Further, other offices repeatedly make reference to notices appearing in these bulletins and on numerous occasions the only reference in the files of this office on a subject is the information appearing in this bulletin. Since the file is not bulky and is used frequently and serves a definite purpose, it is felt that it should be maintained and that all bulletins received should be immediately indexed as received. It should be noted that the Bureau has granted permission to this office to orally advise the criminal section of the W. J. BURNS DETECTIVE AGENCY when information is received that subjects published in these bulletins have been apprehended and that on occasions the Bureau may advise this office directly to advise the criminal section of the BURNS DETECTIVE AGENCY of the apprehension of some fugitive.

HANDLE AT STOP DESK

In view of the fact that the BURNS DETECTIVE AGENCY's headquarters are located in New York City and constant leads are set out in reports to contact this unit, and it is felt that the maintenance of the file containing the hotel and merchant protective bulletins is a definite asset in the work of this office, unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, this office will continue to maintain the file containing these bulletins as received and they will be automatically indexed. It is planned that these bulletins will be kept for a period of three years after receipt.

Re: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES
IN FIELD OFFICES

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to Bureau memorandum of November 4, 1947, with reference to a suggestion that the Bureau give consideration to destroying some files in from three to five years.

Considerable thought has been given to this matter in the Los Angeles office and it is our recommendation that all files except those in the classifications listed below be destroyed at the end of ten years. It is believed most desirable to have a uniform rule for all types of classifications that can be destroyed at all, as it would be most confusing to have a different rule apply to different classifications. While only a saving of 8% to 10% could be effected in filing space at the present time, over a period of years this will gradually increase until approximately 25% saving of file space could be achieved.

It is recommended, due to continuing work of a security nature, that the files in the following classifications in the field not be destroyed at all:

61 Treason	111 Foreign Social Matters
65 Espionage	112 Foreign Funds
100 Internal Security C & R	113 Foreign Political & Naval Matters
101 Hatch Act	116 Atomic Energy Applicants
102 Voorhis Act	117 Atomic Energy Act
105 Internal Security (except C & R)	121 Loyalty of Government Employees
110 Foreign Economic Matters

It is believed that a very experienced clerical employee or a special employee, in those offices where they are available, should be assigned to work of actual destruction. It is furthermore believed that a record should be kept, by classification, of the file number destroyed in order that there would be eliminated the possibility of losing files and so that no request would be made of the Bureau for information from an old file when it actually is located in the office and might by chance be out without a charge-out slip. It is not felt that any great burden will be placed upon the Bureau by having an occasional request made to submit a summary of information from the Bureau's file, or actually transmit investigative reports for the use of field offices. Certainly, savings in space throughout the service would more than compensate for the small amount of work that might be involved in requesting the information from the Bureau.

It is the opinion of the employees of this office that most of the reference material of any consequence is in connection with Security Matters and for that reason, it is recommended that all Security Cases be retained indefinitely.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES
Bureau Property guide

Reference is made to the Bureau's memorandum dated November 4, 1947. This memorandum was received while I was out of the district on special assignment. However since my return I have given this matter careful consideration and it is my opinion that the destruction of closed files in a field office presents a rather dangerous problem in that the records immediately available have always been one of the most effective tools of our business. I feel that when we begin to destroy records we will endanger a certain effectiveness of the Bureau's operation. It is appreciated, of course, that filing space is presently a considerable problem for the Bureau and will undoubtedly increase as a problem in time to come. In view of the fact that under the present new rules reports will not go to the Bureau in certain instances in connection with specified classifications to which the rule applies, the destruction of files in a field office is, in my opinion, made more undesirable.

I have endeavored through a study of our closed files in this office and through a study of the various classifications to determine which of the classifications could be destroyed sooner than under the present 25 year rule now in existence and I find that in considering certain of the classifications which occur with less frequency, the saving which would be effected by a sooner destruction of the records would be of only small benefit. In connection with the destruction of Unknown Subject files, I think in many instances it would be unwise to destroy these, particularly in view of the fact that subsequent activities might enable us to compare certain of these files or at least through comparisons of modus operandi gain certain beneficial data which might be potentially important.

Rather than to consider destruction of the files, I am of the opinion that we should give careful consideration of the recording of old files on micro-film, which, of course, would save considerable space and would preserve the material for quick reference in the event an occasion demanded such reference. The initial installation of equipment for micro-film usage would, of course, entail the expenditure of money. However, a great deal of our material I feel could be put on micro-film after a period of three to five years from the original closing of a case and our over-all need for space for the maintenance of closed files could be reduced considerably and in time the saving in space would more than pay for the cost of micro-film equipment.

I am further of the opinion that in the larger offices of the Bureau and at the Bureau headquarters are concentrated the larger closed file units which involve the greatest space problem. Perhaps at the outset the use of micro-film could be limited to the offices which are faced with a peculiar space condition. The adoption of such a program would eliminate a great number of administrative hazards which would be necessitated in the event we were to pass upon a number of individual rules covering the destruction of files under certain peculiar conditions. It would enable us to continue our present administrative procedures without adding to the number of exceptions which is always dangerous and cumbersome. I am informed that the use of micro-film is not difficult and that after the negative is once made it is possible at subsequent periods to make photostatic copies from the original negative within a period of time which is practically negligible and at a very trivial cost. Much of the material in our file pertaining to security is reference material and with appropriate micro-film viewers I think Agents could utilize this film with no greater time consumed than is now presently utilized in thumbing through file material.

Before seeing the Bureau destroy its closed files after a short space of time, I would recommend that careful consideration be given to the use of micro-film for the preservation of our material.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF Bureau Property - file CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Reference is made to your memorandum of November 4, 1947, requesting to be advised as to the destruction of closed investigative files in this office. The following is recommended:

That all Unknown Subject cases, where reports have been submitted to the Bureau, be destroyed after the case has been opened five years, with the following exceptions - (1) where case identifies stolen property not yet recovered; (2) where extensive background investigation has been conducted regarding a suspect which would be of value in some future investigation.

That all files be destroyed in Court of Claims and Renegotiation Act cases where further Court action has been barred by statute.

It is recommended that all files be destroyed after three years in which we are auxiliary office, and where the only investigation conducted by the Washington Field Office was a check of Government records of a Government agency.

The Washington Field Office has in its closed files a large number of cases which were investigated when the territory covered included the States of Maryland and Virginia. These files are of no practical value whatever to this office. It is believed they should be destroyed and that, should the Richmond, Norfolk or Baltimore offices have occasion to desire the information regarding the investigation, it could be obtained from the Bureau.

When files have been destroyed, it is believed the index card should not be destroyed, but that the number of the file destroyed should be written on the file cover of the next succeeding file with the notation that it has been destroyed.

As to the administrative handling of the destruction of these files, it is suggested that the files be checked once each year, according to the opening date of the file, and that they be reviewed to see whether they would fall within a category which could be destroyed.

A discussion during a conference in my office attended by Messrs. N. H. McCabe, J. A. Carlson and K. R. McIntire developed the thought that there were obviously certain administrative problems about which facts should be obtained and policies established or modified, if the facts justify, such as the following:

1. SPECIAL EMPLOYEES - Their status; the desirability of employees in this position; the types of examinations given to them; their usefulness; uniformity of action concerning them; and whether the best advantage was being obtained by the Bureau from their assignments.

2. RADIO EQUIPMENT - Suggestions and requests received by the Bureau for radio equipment and types of radio equipment. The application, use, adaptation by use, and service of this equipment might well be made the subject of a study.

3. NEW AGENTS' TRAINING IN THE FIELD - Questions arising under this heading include the determination as to whether the training given initially in Washington is adequate; whether the training given after they arrive at the field office is good, personally supervised and directed by the SAC; is it constructive and uniform?

4. UTILIZATION OF AUTOMOBILES - The number of automobiles is far less than the number of agents. Are they being assigned properly to the field offices, and do the field offices make the best and most advantageous use of these cars? For example, before the Bureau had automobiles for its agents, trains and buses were used and when occasionally a road-work agent needed a car, he would hire the car for a specific purpose. A question arises as to whether this should not be done more frequently in order that automobiles could be used so they would serve the greatest advantage from the standpoint of production, e.g., at Atomic Energy plants.

5. UTILIZATION OF FLOOR SPACE AND FILES - It is probable that crowded conditions in field offices can be alleviated if some files ten years old or older are moved to dead storage or cheaper storage space, or if some of the files of a very old type are destroyed, which will include a study of the Bureau's policy in the Field of destroying files and use of dead storage and cheap storage space.

FBI FILES

6. COMPLIANCE WITH BUREAU POLICY ON SEARCHES, SEIZURES, ARRESTS AND INTERVIEWS - In view of the court decisions and the instructions issued to the Field concerning these matters, and in view of the establishment of a log record for covering interviews with suspects and subjects, a spot check should be made to determine if field offices are in reality complying strictly with the Bureau's policy.

Carlson

7. RULE ON SUMMARY REPORTS - A study is needed as to the actual application of the existing policy concerning the preparation of summary reports. Is the policy and are the instructions being followed? Is the policy sound? Does it need modification?

Carlson

8. DEVELOPING APPLICANTS FOR BUREAU POSITIONS - A study can probably be made in Omaha and a few other offices where there is greatest success in developing applicants, in order that instructions can be issued to other offices as to the means used by the more successful offices so that these methods can be applied there.

K.R.M.

Concerning the above problems particularly, and certain others that will need further study and development subsequently, it is believed that these matters are of such importance to the Bureau that surveys need to be made to get necessary facts. The spot check, which should be made in five to six offices concerning each of the problems, might be made in different offices, all as near to Washington as possible.

I have discussed these matters with Mr. Tolson and we are in agreement that the spot-check surveys on the above matters are of such importance that the surveys should be made. These surveys will be made by the Inspectors assigned to the Training and Inspection Division as personnel is available and can be spared, if the Director approves.

TO : Director, FBI

DATE: November 19, 1947

FROM: SAC, Philadelphia

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Rebulet 11-4-47 as above captioned.

A heavy volume of files handled during the period of the war, particularly in the 100-, 98-, 65-, 42-, and 25- classifications, is the primary reason why the Bureau is presently confronted with a space problem in the maintenance of closed files. A comparable problem will exist in classifications 116- and 121-.

An actual count in the Philadelphia Office reflects 300 cabinets are contained in the closed files section. I have ascertained that the so-called war files fill cabinets to the degree indicated below:

25- classification:	44	cabinets
42- "	6	"
46- "	6	"
65- "	13	"
98- "	5	"
100- "	100	"
Total:	174

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 2-22-82 BY SP4 ELW/ltc

Over 50 per cent of the file space is presently taken up with these war files. This figure does not include the classifications beyond 100-, which classifications were for all practical purposes created subsequent to the war.

It, therefore, seems to me quite essential in any discussion relating to the destruction of files to pay special attention to this group of files.

With reference to the 25- classification, I have discussed the necessity for the retention of these files in field offices with the field supervisory staff; and, after lengthy discussion, it is our considered judgment that there does not appear to be any reason for the retention of these files beyond a period of three years after they have been closed. It is, therefore, felt that a three-year rule could be placed in effect.

The administrative device enabling us to close files three or more years old would not be too difficult because a quick examination of Serial 1 could establish which file number was used on the selected date. For example, if the program were instituted as of January 1, 1948, it could be readily determined what file numbers were being used in classification 25- on January 1, 1945. Assuming the file number to be 25-10000, we would then know that file 25-10001 couldn't be destroyed, but that any files preceding 25-10000 might be destroyed. A quick perusal of the top serial in those files preceding 25-10000 would enable the clerk to determine whether the files could be destroyed. The institution of the three-year rule would immediately eliminate an approximately 30 of the 44 cabinets in the 25- classification.

Both the 42- and 98- classifications in our opinion could well come within the three-year rule. The vast bulk of the 98- files constitute investigations which were ascertained to be industrial accident or non-criminal in character, and very little information for reference purposes is to be found in any of these files.

With reference to the 100- classification, which presently occupies 100 file cabinets, it is believed that G - I - J files presently have very little reference value from a criminal informational standpoint. They possibly have reference value from a 116-, 118-, and 121- standpoint. Whether the Bureau files could constitute the necessary reservoir for reference purposes is a problem I do not feel capable of answering. I do not feel that these files need to be retained, as aforementioned, for criminal purposes, and a three-year rule could, therefore, be applied to these cases. Of course, the C cases in the 100- classification would naturally have to be retained. The vast bulk of the 100- cases are the G - I - J group; and if the three-year rule were applied, at least 60 of the estimated 70 cabinets comprising the G - I - J group (it is roughly estimated that 30 of the cabinets comprise the C classification) could be disposed of.

With reference to 46-, 65-, and all general criminal investigative files, it is felt that the retention value for reference purposes of these files is ten years; being very conservative, five years could be added as a margin of safety. We recommend, therefore, that a fifteen-year rule be established as regards those classifications relating to criminal investigative matters. The supervisory staff and myself are unable to recall any instances wherein reference to files ten or more years old has been made with any value. The exception that might exist in the future would be those files in major criminal investigations (e.g., BREKID) and files relating to crime survey matters. It should be left to the discretion of the SAC as to whether such files should be retained or destroyed. The retention of files for twenty-five years is believed to be unnecessary. The savings that could be effected by having a rule different from the fifteen-year rule apply to Unknown Subject and NMVTA cases would not be worth the administrative trouble involved.

The 67-, 77-, 116-, and 118- classifications are comprised of files which have very little value, if any, after a period of three years' time; and it is felt that these files could be destroyed after they had been closed for three years, utilizing the same administrative device as suggested previously in the discussion of the destruction of files in the 25- classification.

Should it be felt that it is essential for the field to retain the G - I - J files for a period of fifteen years, it is recommended that the files be grouped in the following manner:

The vast majority of these files contain no more than a half dozen serials. The bulk, therefore, is the file back, front, and Acco fastener. As an experiment, I took five inches of these files, amounting to forty-five files, removed the front and file back, stapled the serials relating to one file together, and placed them in an Acco binder in numerical order, i.e., 100-10100 to 100-10125, until the file was approximately one-inch thick. This reduced the forty-five files involved to two and a half volumes which were two and a half inches thick. There was, therefore, effected a 50 per cent saving in space. The files would be nearly as accessible. No information would be destroyed, but a tremendous saving in space would be effected. It is not believed that the administrative procedures would be any more complicated in the charge-out of these volumes than for files at present.

It is felt that some consideration should be given by the Bureau relative to a comparable consolidation of files by placing numerous files together in one Acco binder or in a file jacket in the 116-, 118-, and 121- categories. If any of those files are going to be reopened, they certainly will be reopened within a period of three months' time. Therefore, the likelihood of ever reopening or again referring to these files is extremely limited, and the vast bulk of the file is the file front, back, and Acco binder. So, practically speaking, our file cabinets in those classifications are more than 50 per cent comprised of file fronts, backs, and Acco fasteners, which seems quite wasteful.

In conclusion, it is recommended that a three-year rule for the destruction of files be imposed on files falling within the following classifications: 25-, 42-, 67-, 77-, 98-, 116-, and 118-; that a fifteen-year rule be placed into effect as regards all general criminal investigative cases plus the 65-'s, 100-'s, and other security cases.

It is further recommended that the consolidation of files technique be employed in the 100-, 116-, 118-, and 121- classifications.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : DIRECTOR, FBI Att: MR. J. P. MOHR DATE: November 22, 1947

FROM : SAC, NEW YORK, N. Y.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Reference is made to Bureau letter of November 4, 1947, addressed to this office and other offices soliciting suggestions in the matter of destruction of closed files.

It is the recommendation of this office that no files relating to Internal Security C and R and Espionage R (100 and 65) or Hatch Act Investigations (101) be destroyed.

A file is maintained in order (1) that the information in that file be available to assist in other investigations; (2) that we have a record of the particular subject and his violation which would be used in later investigative operationsand (3) to assist in identifying and apprehending a former fugitive. Having these purposes in mind, it is suggested that most cases, when they have been closed or RUC'd for ten years, are of no further value to a field office. In the event a subject is being sought, his fingerprints, his old picture and his up-to-date criminal record are on file in the Identification Division, and the field office file, as far as the previous violation is concerned, would be of no practical value, either in the investigation or prosecution of a subject, after the lapse of ten years. In the second place the information in that file, after it is ten years old, would be of no practical benefit in seeking to locate and apprehend the subject. Likewise, the information in the file ten years old is of little or no value from a general criminal intelligence point of view.

A general exception could be made to this rule which would permit the retention of files on major cases such as the Fried and Lindbergh kidnapping cases and others which could be chosen by the respective field divisions. This would include files on any outstanding I.O. fugitives.

To determine how many closed files were being called for and the age of those files, a two week check was kept in this office of the closed files called for. It was determined that in no instance was a file called for during the spot check which was over ten years old except in the case of the major cases such as the Furdress case, Fried case, etc. It would appear, therefore, that the general conclusions suggested above are supported on a two week check.

If such a rule were put into effect in the New York Office, for instance, there are, exclusive of cases with a 25, 42, 65, 97, 98 and 100 classification, 770 file drawers containing closed files. A check has been made and it is estimated that the closed files in these classifications over ten years old are contained in 328 drawers. It is apparent that a substantial saving could be accomplished.

Letter to Bureau 11/22/47

No real saving can be made in many field divisions as far as the closed section is concerned unless there can be a destruction of some of the files in the classifications 25, 42, 65, 97, 98 and 100 (excepting the exclusion of Communist investigations noted above). The greater number of these are less than ten years old. It is suggested, in regard to these categories, that in all cases over three years old in which an office is not the office of origin, the file be destroyed. If such file at a later date was ever needed, it could be located both at the Seat of Government and at the office of origin. Here again an exception would be made in the outstanding cases such as Ducase, etc. The closed files in these six categories in the New York Field Division are contained in 1354 file drawers. It is estimated that if the cases closed over three years, in which we are not office of origin, were destroyed we would save at least one-quarter of the file drawer space.

In regard to the files that would be destroyed, the index cards could either be pulled and destroyed, or left in the file, or a middle position taken. It would be our recommendation that the index cards could be left in the indices in all instances but Unknown Subject cases. It is conceivable that an index card on a subject, even though the file is destroyed, might be of some assistance in the future to at least reference to the fact that there is a file in existence at the Bureau. However, all Unknown Subject index cards in "26" cases, for instance, and every other type of case, after the file has been destroyed, would be of absolutely no value. Since in Unknown Subject cases in most instances only one index card was prepared, it is not felt that the job of pulling and destroying index cards on Unknown Subject cases would be a terrific, time-consuming one.

If such a program for the destruction of files would be approved, it is suggested that the file front be retained and be filed in regular numerical sequence. A rubber stamp could be used to stamp on the front of the file cover the fact that the file was destroyed and the date of destruction. There might also be added a notation as to what office was office of origin in the particular case.

Under such a program it would be kept current by stripping the closed files once a year.

The closed files in this office are contained in 502 file cabinets. If such a program would be approved we could destroy the files contained in approximately 167 cabinets. Considering every file cabinet as occupying $3\frac{1}{2}$ square feet, there would be a saving of 585 square feet.

It is further suggested that substantial file space could be saved by filing several closed AEA (116) cases in one file. Most of these cases ReBurmemo of 11-4-47 requesting consideration and observations as to the above suggestion.

I desire to set forth advantages and disadvantages as follows:

ADVANTAGES

1. Saving of cabinet space.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 12-22-82 BY SP4ELW/ptc

DISADVANTAGES

1. Without files or file folders the question of whether a file had been destroyed or lost would exist when references arose as a result of index checks.

2. In order to retain reference material for index cards some part of the file would be necessary, such as possibly a mimeographed memorandum to the effect that the file had been destroyed in connection with such and such a program. Or, a notation across the file front would have to be made to the effect that the file had been destroyed.

3. Pulling all references on index cards relating to files to be destroyed would be costly as to time.

4. Projects of destruction already completed or ordered, have provided considerable cabinet space and a good question exists as to whether cabinet space is needed at this time. It is felt that where the projects of destruction have been completed, there will not be a shortage of cabinet space.

5. In view of files already destroyed under Bureau instructions, a blueprint would be virtually necessary to chart those files still supposedly in existence and those destroyed.

6. A good question exists as to whether there has been uniformity in furnishing copies of reports to the Bureau, under rules, and there is a possible danger of no record remaining either at the Bureau or in the Field in respect to a given case.

7. The Bureau's record and reputation has been built, in good part, on thoroughness and availability of reference material and the destruction of this material would be detrimental in this respect.

8. Even though reference material is in unknown subject cases or is concerned in cases where the statute of limitations has run, it is useful in handling current investigations and is impressive to other law enforcement and governmental agencies.

9. Any program of destruction of files, regardless of the age concerned such as five, ten or twenty-five years, would require a very close review program by experienced personnel and would be costly in respect to time.

10. It is felt that only limited classifications and types of investigations such as unknown subject matters could be considered in connection with such a program and I doubt whether the saving in space would offset the cost of implementing the program.

11. In order to make any such program logical it would have to be carried forward periodically and it would thus become a regular project.

12. This suggestion strikes me as only a temporary or stop-gap expedient.

13. I feel the twenty-five year rule on destruction of files should remain in effect.

RECOMMENDATION: Opposed.

Reference is made to the Director's Memorandum of November 4, 1947, requesting suggestions and recommendations as to the destruction of closed files.

The following suggestions are made:

1) Destroy all closed individual files on police training matters on the various departments, incorporating all police training schools and schedules in a single "1" file.

2) Destroy all 25-0 files three years after the expiration of the Selective Training and Service Act.

3) Destroy all 29 (National Bank and Federal Reserve Act) cases closed for more than three years.

4) Destroy all 33 (Uniform Crime Reporting) cases inactive for more than three years.

5) Destroy all 42 (Deserter) cases closed for more than three years.

6) Destroy all 51 (Jury Investigation) cases closed for more than three years.

7) Destroy all material in 67-0 more than three years old.

8) Destroy all 73 (Restoration of Civil Rights, etc.) cases closed for more than three years.

9) Destroy all 77 (Personnel Matters, Except Bureau) cases closed for more than three years.

10) Destroy all 82 (War Risk Insurance) cases closed for more than three years.

11) Destroy all 83 (Court of Claims) cases closed for more than three years.

12) Destroy all 93 (Ascertaining Financial Ability) cases closed for more than three years.

13) Destroy all War Relocation Authority Forms 177 and 178. Previous authority has been granted for destruction of similar items relating to aliens; however, many offices have large files covering American citizens, coming under the jurisdiction of War Relocation.

14) Destroy field files on general appearance forms.

15) Destroy speech correspondence and newspaper releases over three years old.

It is believed that the above recommendations can be carried out arbitrarily with a minimum of administrative effort and with no file review other than to determine if the file in fact has been closed three years or more, which could be handled by a Special Employee or clerical employee.

In the Little Rock Field Division, the file space problem would be solved for many years to come by the replacement of present four-drawer legal-size cabinets with five-drawer letter-size cabinets. This would probably apply to many Field Offices, although it is realized that in some, four-drawer cabinets are double-decked. If arrangements could be effected with any other agency for an exchange of equipment without cost to the Government, it is felt that this would be an extremely practical move. It is also suggested that in the future, the Bureau order metal five-drawer letter-size cabinets for general distribution throughout the Field and that justification be required for the use of any other type of file cabinet.

Destruction of Unknown Subject and other types of closed criminal investigative files would be contingent on a careful file review, and in my opinion should be definitely a last resort means of obtaining additional file space.

If this situation has reached the acute stage, it is my recommendation that a review be made of every investigative file which has been closed for more than five years, and in each instance where the files at the Seat of Government contain complete information, that such files be destroyed. The disadvantage of this situation is well known to the Bureau in that it would necessitate communicating with the Bureau concerning these matters any time an inquiry is received in the Field. I do not believe any instructions to destroy criminal files should be dogmatic, but that some leeway should be given the Field in determining whether any one individual subject is of sufficient importance to warrant retaining the file on that case.

Of course, a further disadvantage in connection with the destruction of files is that the Field would be unable to determine whether the former subject is identical with the subject of a present inquiry without communicating with the Bureau and requesting a review of the file. In an office the size of Little Rock, I do not believe these demands would be of an unreasonable number; however, I can readily perceive that throughout the Field inquiries might become so numerous as to necessitate a substantial increase in supervisory personnel at the Bureau to handle this matter.

RE: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Bureau Property - Guld

Dear Sir:

With reference to Bureau memorandum dated November 4, 1947, it is suggested that in the following cases the files be destroyed after five years:

Classification	Character
15	Theft from Interstate Shipment (Unknown Subject cases in this classification where value is less than $500)
26	NMVTA (Unknown Subject)
29	National Bank & Federal Reserve Act
46	Contract Settlement Act, Civil - Renegotiation Act, Civil
60	Anti-Trust Laws
81	Hoarding of Gold
82	War Risk Insurance
83	Court of Claims
93	Ascertaining Financial Ability
96	Alien Employment in Military Aircraft Plants
98	Sabotage
106	Alien Enemy Control
108	Foreign Travel Control

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 2-22-82 BY SP4 EHW/stc

HANDLED BY STOP DESK

In any of the above cases if deemed necessary the index card can be withdrawn and a description of the individual placed thereon so that in the event any future communication is received concerning a person bearing the same name a check of the indices will reveal whether this person is identical with the person named on the index card. Should it be found that the individuals are identical and should it be necessary to secure information concerning him, a communication could be addressed to the Bureau requesting pertinent details.

By removal of the above classified cases this office would save approximately ten cabinets wherein have been maintained cases of this nature over five years.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

Bureau Property - Jml

Re Bulet of November 4, 1947.

Listed below are the classifications I believe many files of which could be destroyed in Bureau Field Offices:

9 - EXTORTION
17 - VETERANS BUREAU MATTERS AND WAR RISK INSURANCE (CRIMINAL)
23 - PROHIBITION
26 - NATIONAL MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT ACT, particularly Unknown Subject cases
29 - FEDERAL RESERVE ACT
31 - WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC ACT
47 - IMPERSONATION
49 - BANKRUPTCY
52 - THEFT, EMBEZZLEMENT, OR ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF GOVERNMENT PROPERTY
62 - MISCELLANEOUS
67 - PERSONNEL MATTERS
77 - PERSONNEL OR ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS, EXCEPT BUREAU
81 - HOARDING OF GOLD

There are possibly other files under some other classifications which could be destroyed, but those set forth above, are in my opinion, those which take up the majority of file space in this office.

Should the Bureau authorize destruction of other and obsolete files in Bureau Field Offices, it is suggested that instead of withdrawing index cards on any files destroyed, a memorandum could be inserted in the folder of the file so destroyed which would indicate the date the file was destroyed. Should an occasion arise wherein information would be desired which appeared in the file destroyed, it could possibly be obtaimed from the Bureau.

PURPOSE

(1) Confiscated Property

To advise that unless instructions to the contrary are received, the Laboratory will be authorized to permanently dispose of the weapons described below. These guns, with the exception of one or two, are of no further value to the referenced firearms collection, according to the Laboratory. They were used in Bureau exhibits in the past but have no further utility from that standpoint. The weapons are described below, and pertinent information which could be located in the files concerning each of them is set out. The Bureau's records do not indicate that we possess any legal authority to dispose of the guns. It would not appear to be possible at this time to secure any legal authority or court order for the disposition of the weapons since most of the cases in point were closed several years ago.

(1) 12 Gauge Browning Automatic Shotgun, Serial No. 148291.

Case: Reo Verne Sankey, et al., Kidnaping.

By letter of March 1, 1934 regarding the firearms taken in the apprehension of Sankey, the SAC at Chicago, in answer to a Bureau inquiry regarding the transmittal of the weapons to the Seat of Government, stated that he had been holding the articles pending a suit which had been filed against him for money found in Sankey's possession. The SAC advised that the U. S. Attorney informed him the suit pertained only to the money. He therefore transmitted the above gun to the Bureau with other property for exhibition purposes. Verne Sankey is deceased.

(2) 12 Gauge Winchester Pump Shotgun, Serial No. 348922.

Case: John Herbert Dillinger, with aliases, et al.

By letter dated December 5, 1934 from the St. Paul Office in the Dillinger case, advice was given that the above gun was located on a farm of Harry Sawyer near St. Paul and was being forwarded for retention in the exhibit cabinet. No other information is available regarding this weapon.

(3) .32 U. S. Revolver, Serial No. 1932.

Case: Brekid (7-576)

This gun was on exhibition in connection with the Bremer kidnaping case. No other information concerning the source of the gun is available.

There is no information in the records as to the source of this gun. On February 25, 1937 the Bureau acknowledged to the Chicago Division the receipt of certain weapons, including the above. The letter indicated the gun would be maintained in the firearms collection.

(5) .32 Colt Automatic Pistol, Serial No. 60505.

Case: Arthur Gerard Yeoman, with aliases, Murder on the High Seas (45-790).

The file in this case contains no information regarding the seizure of the above gun. However, when the body of the victim in the case was found aboard a gambling ship off California, a .32 caliber Automatic Pistol was found on the body. The subject in the case was sentenced to life imprisonment.

(6) .38 Hopkins and Allen Revolver, Serial No. F-8888.

Case: Ne Asure Curlee, Impersonation (47-8034).

The SAC at Jacksonville, Florida forwarded the above gun to the Bureau on December 6, 1933. It was taken from the automobile of subject Curlee when he was arrested by the U. S. Marshal, Jacksonville, on October 6, 1932. Curlee, a member of the Coast Guard, claimed to be a U. S. Marshal but was never prosecuted in Federal court. The Marshal turned the gun over to the SAC at Jacksonville. This weapon, although taken from Curlee, was actually the property of A. H. Farabee, who had loaned it to the subject. It does not appear in the file that Farabee authorized confiscation of the gun.

(7) .38 Special Official Police Colt, Serial No. 577272.

There is no information in the records as to the source of this gun. On February 25, 1937 the Bureau acknowledged to the Chicago Division the receipt of certain weapons, including the above. The letter indicated the gun would be maintained in the firearms collection.

The following weapons were confiscated during the investigation of the case entitled "Earl Rit Barshear, et al., Theft From Interstate Shipment", Bureau File 15-2675:

.38 Special Spanish Revolver, Serial No. 1806
.38 Special Colt Revolver, Serial No. 116986

.38 Special S. and W. Revolver, Serial No. 31565

They were forwarded to the Bureau on August 8, 1934 in answer to the Bureau's request. The file does not indicate any legal authority to bring about the disposition of these weapons.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN

Although the records do not reflect any court order or other legal authority to dispose of the weapons described above, they were taken several years ago and there is nothing presently at hand to indicate that any efforts will be made by anyone to reclaim the weapons. Bureau Employees - General

The present rule is that investigative files in field offices may be destroyed when the file becomes twenty-five years of age. Suggestions have been made by several employees that the Bureau give consideration to destroying some files, such as, Informant Subject and Mail files, in even three to five years instead of twenty-five years.

The basic advantage of any plan along this line is the saving of space as well as savings in the maintenance of closed files. The known problem that the number of closed files has increased greatly in the last few years. It is requested that you give study to the desirability and feasibility of destroying closed investigative files in the field in less than twenty-five years. Your detailed suggestions and comments as to the classifications which you feel any disposition plan might apply as well as the administrative manner of handling the project, [illegible] should keep in mind that in all instances where reports have been made and furnished to the Bureau, a record of this case will be retained at the Seat of Government. Also, you must consider the administrative workability of such a proposal as well as any major disadvantages that it may have so far as the investigative operations of your office are concerned.

This matter deserves your personal attention. It has been noted that [illegible] of the 400 closed files have been increasing in the past few years and will [illegible] 40 will not be destroyed the space requirements per employee will greatly exceed present standards. A complete [illegible] has been explained to the Governors of the [illegible] Conferences. Your cooperation should be assured by [illegible].

Re: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES
Bureau Property
general

Reference is made to Bureau letter to certain Special Agents in Charge, a copy of which was designated for me, requesting suggestions from me concerning the possibilities for a further reduction in the number of closed files retained under the present rule that investigative files in field offices may be destroyed when they become twenty-five years of age and which are causing a tremendous problem in space and maintenance in field offices.

The following suggestions are set out hereafter for consideration by the Bureau:

(1) That the present general twenty-five-year rule for the destruction of closed investigative files in field offices be changed to ten years when an office is origin, subject to certain exceptions, such as (a) National Defense and Internal Security files; (b) Major or Important Case files; (c) Such other files as SAC in his judgment might deem necessary to retain.

(2) Destroy all closed investigative files, with exception of those SAC might specifically designate he desires to keep, when an office is an auxiliary office and provided reports have been submitted to Bureau and/or office of origin, after such files have been closed for three years. This also includes unknown subject cases.

(3) Destroy closed investigative files in all Applicant cases, including AEC, Bureau, Departmental and Special Applicant Investigations for other Governmental agencies, in one year when an office is auxiliary office and all except those in which derogatory information is determined when an office is origin or SAC deems advisable to keep file for some specific reason.

I desire to specifically call the attention of the Bureau to the fact that the greatest turnover in cases in many field offices today is in applicant cases and their use for possible future reference, except where derogatory information is developed, is negligible. In the San Francisco Office during the past month of October we closed 759 AEC cases representing 46% of the 1643 cases closed for the month. Taking the usual average of 150 files per drawer, this means the addition of 1¼ four-drawer file cabinets to the closed file section per month in this classification alone.

Re: DESTRUCTION OF CLOSED FILES IN FIELD OFFICES

I believe that if such proposals were placed into effect the advantages would far outweigh the slight disadvantages. It will be noted that the Bureau would still have a permanent complete master file in each investigative case where reports have been submitted to the Bureau as would the office of origin for a period of ten years except in applicant cases where no derogatory information is developed and the field office file, even though origin, would be destroyed in one year. Further, there would be a reduction in closed file space requirements and the resultant savings in space rentals and file cabinet needs. It would also cause a reduction in clerical time and effort in the maintenance of closed files.

The general disadvantages to these proposals as I see them would be the very infrequent inability for reviewing ready references in closed files for possible leads, background and identification of new cases with old, and the resultant delay in obtaining such data from the Bureau or office of origin. In such instances, there would also be placed a slight burden on the Bureau or office of origin and the resultant delay of a short period of time in supplying the field office with copies of reports necessary for the proper handling of new investigations.

Very truly yours,

Harry M. Kimball

During the War years and while the S.I.S. was in operation, a special method of indexing was inaugurated in connection with the program. In order to afford quick and ready reference to various subject matters, 5" by 8" cards were set up in alphabetical order containing summaries of information from the Bureau's files. This procedure was discontinued approximately three years ago, and for the last two years no reference whatever has been made to these cards by any official. They are obviously out of date because no additions have been made to them for a number of years. Also the same information in more complete form is available in the files themselves and would be normally and logically identified through routine checks of the main indices.

The cards, totalling several hundred thousands, occupy forty-five large cabinets. They are located in our space in the Identification Division Building. Because of the critical space shortage, it is very desirable to use this space for other purposes.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the S.I.S. Brief Cards be destroyed inasmuch as the information contained thereon is obsolete and more complete data is readily available in the Bureau's files.

The Executives Conference on January 15, 1948, Messrs. Tolson, Clegg, Tracy, Parsons, Mohr, Ladd, Nease, E. A. Tamm, and Clegg being present, considered the following suggestions made by Inspector K. R. [redacted] as result of a survey being conducted in connection with Atomic Energy Applicant and Employee cases:

I. Suggestion that a form be adopted, and a sample is attached hereto, on which Agents will record their notes for the synopsized reports in connection with Atomic Energy Applicant and Employee cases, in view of the varying types and sizes of forms being used in the field for recording such notes.

Recommendation of Executives Conference

It was the unanimous recommendation of the members of the Executives Conference present that this suggestion be passed over at this time in view of the fact that during the first quarter of 1948 surveys are going to be made in seventeen field offices concerning the effectiveness of the Agents in making such investigations as reflected by their notes, and the necessity for such a form cannot really be determined until after the survey has been conducted and recommendations obtained as to the need for such a form.

II. Recommendation that at the Seat of Government of the Bureau, following the receipt of synopsized reports in closed Atomic Energy Applicant and Employee cases, that the Bureau copies of such reports not be filed, but that such copies be destroyed.

Recommendation of Executives Conference

32

Since it was pointed out that the copies prepared for the Atomic Energy Commission are sent to them and the contents of the synopsized reports (which do not reflect any derogatory information) merely contain such statements as "Neighborhood investigation: No derogatory information," without any listing of names of persons interviewed, there would be nothing worth while to be gained by keeping this report or copies thereof in the Bureau files. In the file on these cases is a copy of the Personnel Security Questionnaire transmitted to the Bureau by the Atomic Energy Commission; there could merely be noted on this Questionnaire the statement that "Synopsized reports sent to AEC" and the date, and this is a clear indication that there was no derogatory information. It was considered that Congress or some executive agency might want to examine Bureau files in connection with such cases, but in the event a specific instance arose,

Mr. Clegg
Mr. Mohr

it would be an easy matter to obtain a copy of the report from the field office file within a reasonable time. On a basis of 6,000 Atomic Energy cases monthly, about 50%, or 3,000 cases, result in the submission of synopsized reports. In each such case four offices, on an average, are submitting reports; thus, 12,000 reports are being received of this type. Each of these reports has to be processed through the File Room and eventually filed, and the filing can be completely eliminated by having the supervisor destroy the Bureau copy which is intended for the Bureau's file. At present the Bureau receives three copies of the synopsized reports. Two copies are immediately sent as received to the Atomic Energy Commission. The third copy would in the future be held by the supervisor until the case is closed, after which all the synopsized reports in the case would be destroyed by the supervisor. This should be a considerable saving in that it will reduce an estimated 12,000 filing operations in the Records Section each month. The Executives Conference therefore recommended unanimously that such reports be destroyed in the manner described.

III. That the field be instructed not to submit abstract slips with synopsized reports in Atomic Energy cases. Recommendation that since synopsized reports in these cases are not to be filed at the Bureau, the field should be instructed not to submit abstract slips.

Recommendation of Executives Conference

The recommendation of the Executives Conference was unanimously favorable in view of the fact that reports are not to be filed and therefore the need for the abstract is automatically eliminated.

IV. Recommendation that the Bureau discontinue the preparation and filing of a yellow copy of the outgoing letter to field offices on which a new Atomic Energy Applicant or Employee case is opened.

Recommendation of Executives Conference

In view of the fact that a Personnel Security Questionnaire is in the file as a permanent record and as clerical employees already note alongside each lead the field office to which such lead is being sent, there appeared to the majority of the Conference to be no need for this yellow of the outgoing letter to go to the file, particularly since it would avoid the necessity of filing approximately 6,000 pieces of mail monthly. The supervisor maintains a tickler of this letter until the case is closed, which would constitute any necessary record.

The minority of the Conference felt that there should be a record in the file showing an exact copy of the outgoing letter as a double check against the fact that the investigation actually was ordered and ordered properly.

Those favoring the suggestion that the yellows not be prepared for file were Messrs. Tolson, E. A. Tamm, Tracy, Mohr, and Clegg.

Those opposed were Messrs. Glavin, Parsons, Ladd, and Nease.

V. Suggestion that in the event the above suggestions are approved, the quarterly inspection at seventeen selected offices handling the largest number of Atomic Energy cases be deferred for sixty days in order that at that time the check could be made also on the effectiveness of these added suggestions, including the use of the proposed form.

Recommendation of Executives Conference

The Executives Conference unanimously recommended unfavorably since the proposed form is not recommended favorably at this time and since the inspection is for the purpose of determining the adequacy of the investigations as reflected by the notes presently being made, and therefore any delay was believed unnecessary.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

FROM : The Executive Conference

SUBJECT:

At a meeting of the Executive Conference on February 2, 1948, with Messrs. Tamm, Harbo, Nease, McGuire, McCabe, Tracy, Rosen and Fletcher present, reference was made to a previous Executive Conference recommendation relating to the destruction of synopsized reports in Atomic Energy applicant and employee cases. It was previously recommended by the Conference that the Personnel Security Questionnaire be retained as a possible file record, and such notations as were necessary for permanent record be made on the Questionnaire.

It was pointed out to the Executive Conference with reference to this recommendation, which you had approved, that it would be necessary to record the names of the offices which received leads and submitted reports so that we would know what offices to check in the future if it ever became necessary to obtain copies of the reports. It was further noted that it would be necessary to record the date on which any report was furnished to the Commission, since reports are transmitted as they are received and are not transmitted in one group. It was further pointed out that it would be desirable to have our files reflect the date that we requested investigation of the field and any special instructions that might have been issued.

It was recommended that in lieu of making notations on the Personnel Security Questionnaire that the white tickler copies of outgoing letters to the field or the yellow of outgoing letters to the field should be retained, and at the time the case is closed, they should be stapled to the Personnel Security Questionnaire so that they would be permanently filed. The only notation then that would be necessary would be to place on the appropriate tickler or yellow copy a notation reflecting the date the report covered and that a tickler copy was forwarded to the Commission.

Messrs. Tamm, Harbo, Nease, Glavin, McCabe, Tracy, Tolson, Rosen and Fletcher were of the opinion that the suggestion and recommendation would be advantageous and recommended that it be adopted, particularly having in mind that there would be no additional filing problems so long as the ticklers or yellow copies were stapled to the Personnel Security Questionnaires, which of necessity would have to be filed.

RECORDED & INDEXED 66-3286-328 FEB 11 1948

It was recommended that the yellow of the outgoing communication be retained rather than the white tickler.

Messrs. McGuire and Mohr were opposed to the suggestion because it would add bulk to the files and because with thenotations on the Personnel Security Questionnaires, the Bureau would be in a position in the future to get any information needed from the various field offices involved in any particular case.

If you agree with the majority, the suggested procedure will be immediately utilized.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

BACKGROUND

By memorandum dated April 19, 1947, authority was secured to destroy the Alaska Travel Control and Trans-Pacific Travel Control files and the index cards relating thereto, (66-3286-277).

The files referred to above were the two largest Travel Control files maintained in the Bureau's records. However, there are numerous other such files, similar to the attached on the USS ADMIRAL EBERLE, (108-1722). It is believed that the previous authority to destroy this type of file should be extended to cover similar files in the same category as the one on the USS ADMIRAL EBERLE.

PRESENT PROBLEM

In connection with the Loyalty Program in File Review work, many references are being developed requiring an examination of Travel Control files. As indicated in the attached file, the information is of no substantial value, and not only should the references be ignored, but under the current policy of eliminating names unnecessarily indexed, the entire file and related index cards should be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the original authority to destroy Travel Control files maintained during World War II be extended to include all such files presently being uncovered in connection with the searches under the Loyalty Program.

RECOMMENDATIONS
(Submitted by Special Agent CLYDE E. SMITH)

Recommendation 1:

Sugg #270

It is respectfully suggested that in the future when an office submits reports in the classifications set out below that only one copy of same be designated for the reporting office:

67 77 93 116 118 121

It is likewise suggested that in all other classifications not set forth above that only one copy of each report be designated for the reporting office when the reporting office is an auxiliary office other than the office of prosecution, unless some unusual circumstances exist that would require the reporting office to maintain more than one copy of a report in its file. This recommendation is made in view of the fact that only rarely is it necessary to furnish a copy of a report to another office.

Recommendation 2:

In connection with the preparation of summary reports and the Brief report submitted in connection with Communist matters, it has been noted that correspondence takes place between various offices for the purpose of ascertaining the identity of confidential informants and whether or not the information furnished by them is admissible. In the interest of saving time, it is suggested that some designation, such as "N.A." (Not Admissible) be set forth after the symbol number of the informant in order that the receiving office will know that particular information is not admissible as evidence from a prosecutive standpoint.

Recommendation 3:

It has also been noted that when individuals who are subjects of Internal Security and Security Matter cases move from one territory to another, it is necessary to prepare an activity report and, in some cases, a summary report setting forth the Communist activities of the individual. These reports, of course, are prepared from a review of the numerous memoranda contained in subject's file and of

SUBJECT: Closed Radio Monitoring Files

By memorandum to Mr. Coffey dated September 7, 1945, certain files and indices built up during the war for use in connection with radio monitoring and intercept analysis were placed in a closed-status in the Records Section. It was proposed that consideration should be given to the destruction of this material on six-month intervals.

RECOMMENDATION:

On October 1, 1947, it was felt desirable to continue to retain this material, and, at this time, I have discussed the matter with Mr. Downing who is also interested in the material and we do not feel it should be destroyed at present. Accordingly, unless otherwise instructed, the material will be held for another six-months' period at which time consideration again will be given to its destruction.

There are also ~~eight~~ seven (7) Universal Trade Code Books which are worn beyond use. These books were turned over to the Chief Clerk's Office by the Code Room of Communications Section. It should be noted that these books had previously been used on SIS. Mr. McCoy has advised that these books can be destroyed since they have retained an adequate supply in the Code Room.

There are approximately twelve (12) copies of "Slater's Code", (Telegraphic Code, to Ensure Secresy in the Transmission of Telegrams, by Robert Slater) of which 11 copies are new. Mr. McCoy was also contacted with regard to the use of this book. He stated that these books are not confidential inasmuch as anyone can purchase them. Therefore, since they have no 'secrecy' value to the Bureau, have never been used and in all probability will never be used, it is suggested that they be destroyed or turned over to the Department of Justice for disposal.

It is requested that permission be granted to destroy the Bureau Code Books by burning or some other suggested method.

BACKGROUND

You will recall that several months ago the Bureau approved a system by which Bureau supervisors, certain designated clerical employees, and Records Section clerks, would direct by routing slips, addressed to the Consolidation Unit, that index cards be removed and destroyed. The idea in back of this program was of course the streamlining and simplifying of our main index, which now contains more than thirty-three million index cards. The theory as a practical matter did not work, and the authority formerly vested in the Agent Supervisors and clerical employees of other Divisions was rescinded. Authority was still left intact for the Records Section to assign clerical employees to the purging of unnecessary index references from the main indices.

ACTION TAKEN

Realizing the serious danger of carelessly destroying important file references, the Records Section has approched this problem with great care. A select group of well-trained employees with at least two years service in the Records Section has been organized into a special squad assigned to the Consolidation Unit. Miss Catherine McWhirt, supervisor of the Classifying Unit has given them detailed instructions as to the present methods of Classifying and has issued specific instructions as to the type of index card which may be removed from the indices. That they might better understand the problem, she also gave instructions concerning obsolete methods of indexing and the objective of this program to eliminate these references from our files.

Mrs. Margaret Mead, supervisor of the Consolidation Unit is in direct charge of the employees assigned to this work and will personally review all cards marked for elimination.

Thus far 34,261 cards have been listed for purge from the indices. None have been actually destoyed, however there is no question that the cards are valueless. It would appear that under the strict controls in effect, and the system of reviewing the cards, no important information will be improperly eliminated. On the other hand, the possibilities are excellent for the elimination of large numbers of unnecessary references from the indices. We are not only uncovering single, isolated references, but have discovered lengthy lists of names in various files, which should be destroyed because they are valueless.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: PURGING OF INDICES

Reference is made to the attached section of the Mattson Kidnaping file wherein certain serials are marked which reflect indexing of the deceased individuals whose fingerprints were compared, and the latent impressions remaining unidentified in the instant case. There has been a considerable amount of such indexing in this file. Thus, it is recommended that the cards for the above be purged from the index.

RECOMMENDATION

That all such type cards be purged from the index in connection with the Mattson Case and any other case where such indexing has been done in the past.

Respectfully,

F. W. Waikart

Reference is made to serials 454X and 500 in the attached file which reflects the indexing of individuals who applied for repatriation aboard the SS Gripsholm. Other such lists make up the majority of this file and it is believed that the index cards representing this type of indexing are of no value. Thus, it is recommended that the cards be withdrawn from the index and destroyed.

Recommendation:

It is recommended that approval be granted for the review of this file looking toward the removal of worthless cards in line with the present purge project.

Reference is made to the recent inspection of the Records Section. It was recommended by the Inspectors and approved by the Director that approval be secured from the Department of Justice for the destruction of FBI Investigative reports concerning investigations of White Slave Traffic Act Cases for the years 1912 to 1919 inclusive. As you will recall, these old reports were not indexed and are obsolete. There are attached, hereto, three sample files of these old cases:

1. Lucille Alexander and Pauline Mitchell
2. Mabel Boone
3. C. L. Barnwell.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 7-27-82 BY SP4ELW/ptc

It was also recommended that approval be secured for the destruction of old material relating to investigations made by Special Agents of the FBI in connection with violations of the Lever Act, also known as Profiteering in Food and the High Cost of Living. These investigations were made in the years 1919 and 1920. This material was never indexed and is filed in folders under the name of the city where the investigation was made, in folders under the name of the article, such as sugar, coffee, coal, and under the name of the company or individual charged with violating the Lever Act. There are attached, hereto, three sample files of these old cases:

1. General file regarding High Cost of Living in Los Angeles, California
2. Regarding file on Profiteering in Coal
3. Regarding file on Profiteering in Sugar.

RECORDED - 109 INDEXED - 109 66-1328b-339

You are again reminded that we attempted to obtain approval of the National Archives to destroy this material several years back. They countered with the proposal that they take the records by accession and keep them in their vaults, since they felt that this material had considerable research potentialities. At that time the Bureau was not sympathetic to allowing any other agency to retain its records, particularly in connection with the 31 classification since some of the individuals who are subjects of the files would be living still and in those cases where no prosecution had been initiated, the Bureau would be considerably embarrassed by having information leak out as to them. It is believed that the attitude of the National Archives would be identical if approached again on this subject. ~~It is, accordingly, suggested before the attached memorandum to Mr. Andretta is approved and forwarded, that the Bureau decide whether at this time we will now allow Archives to take this material by accession if they so desire.~~

ADDENDUM; LBN:hmc;8-30-48 - The Executive's Conference consisting of Messrs. Reference is made to the attached memorandum by E. S. Deiss, of the Single Fingerprint Section, dated September 27, 1948, suggesting that the Single Fingerprint Section be granted permission to review some of their previously handled cases so that any unnecessary indexing contained, therein, could be identified for possible destruction under the present index purge.

It is apparent that the plan suggested would help to cull from the index, many useless cards now occupying valuable space but it is doubtful if any immediate action can be taken by the Records Section along these lines as the Consolidation Unit's personnel has been depleted to the point that only sufficient personnel are now available to handle current work.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is therefore recommended that in the event the attached suggestion is adopted, the Single Fingerprint Section furnish to the Records Section the file numbers and serials, wherein, voluminous unnecessary indexing appears so that the necessary steps can be taken to purge these cards from the index when personnel are again available in the Consolidation Unit for such a project.

Reference is made to the Director's memorandum of January 27, 1948, concerning the above-entitled matter.

Since the establishment of the Single Fingerprint Section correspondence listing the names of over 225,000 suspects have been received in connection with latent fingerprint cases. The names of an additional 100,000 individuals have also been listed in incoming correspondence when the fingerprints of the suspects have been submitted. In addition, there have been thousands of individuals whose names have been listed in incoming correspondence whose prints have been submitted or whose prints were to be secured from the fingerprint files for elimination purposes in latent fingerprint cases.

A number of these cases were in connection with investigations conducted during the war in which whole companies or battalions of soldiers would be named as suspects. In at least one instant that I can recall over 35,000 individuals were named and their prints compared with the latent prints which were identified. Obviously the names of all of the individuals in this case, with the exception of the subjects, should be removed from the index file. Many contributors, such as the Hattiesburg, Mississippi Police Department, list fifty or a hundred names just as general suspects and here again it is believed that these names should not have been indexed.

It is believed that a review of these files would result in the elimination of more than 200,000 cards from the indices of the Bureau.

It is noted in the Director's memorandum that he authorized the Assistant Director of a Division to certify that a clerical employee is qualified to pass upon the removal of these cards. Accordingly, it is suggested that the supervisor in the Single Fingerprint Section be granted authority to review these files as they are received in the Section in connection with current cases and furthermore, as the condition of the work permits, to call for and review other files.

(1) Upon deciding on the names to be removed, the names and other pertinent information could be typed by a clerical employee in the Single Fingerprint Section and the information forwarded to the Records Division.

(2) It is also believed that the supervisor in the Single Fingerprint Section should be authorized to indicate to the Records Division which names should or should not be indexed in connection with current cases in which correspondence is being sent to the Records Division to be blocked.

Weakest point is in agreeing to K.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO: THE DIRECTOR DATE: September 23, 1948

FROM: THE EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

SUBJECT: DAILY SUMMARIES OF FOREIGN RADIO BRAODCASTS

At a meeting of the Executive Conference on September 22, 1948, attended by Messrs. Tolson, Ladd, Glavin, Tracy, Parsons, Mohr, Carlson, McGuire, Rosen, Clegg and Fletcher, the Conference was advised that the Bureau received daily reports of foreign radio broadcasts prepared by the Foreign Broadcast Information Branch, CIA. This material is prepared as a result of monitoring foreign radio stations and a good deal of the material appears in the public press. Occasionally, material is abstracted from these daily reports and placed in individual files as to which they are found to be pertinent. In the past these daily reports as received from CIA have been retained in the files.

Inasmuch as much of the data of the reports is public in character and since the reports are voluminous because of their daily issue, it was suggested that the reports themselves not be retained in the Bureau files, but after they have been properly reviewed that they be destroyed, having in mind that if at any time in the future copies were necessary they could be secured from CIA. The report is not numbered, and the text is classified in part as "restricted."

The Conference was of the unanimous opinion that since this material is as described, that no purpose is served by filing it and it was also of the opinion that it should be destroyed immediately following a proper review of it.

If you agree, in the future this material will be destroyed as received after a prpper review of it has been made.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Clyde Tolson

PURGE OF UNNECESSARY CARDS
FROM THE GENERAL INDEX

~~ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED EXCEPT WHERE SHOWN OTHERWISE~~

In November 1940, the Bureau opened a file on American boys leaving the United States to serve in the Canadian Pacific Air Service Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, who were to be employed in flying aircraft from Canada to the British Isles. (C) (U)

b7D

[redacted] requested the Bureau to make a name check on each of the individuals leaving the United States and the results of the name check were furnished to [redacted]. Any and all derogatory information revealed as the result of this name check was, of course, furnished to [redacted] and is reflected in the yellows of our answers to [redacted] (C)

It is being suggested that we review the File 100-5853 which is the file for the above mentioned material and purge from the index all cards prepared as the result of the indexing in this file. Any derogatory information appearing in this file was obtained from previous information contained in the Bureau's records. Thus, the indexing in the above file was a duplication of material previously indexed. (C) (U)

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that permission be granted for the Consolidation Unit of the Records Section to review the above file and purge from the General Index, any cards prepared as a result of the indexing in same.

b7D

In November, 1940, the Bureau opened a file on the [redacted] and the [redacted] (100-5715). This file contains requests from [redacted] for name checks on individuals residing within the United States and employed in one of the two above mentioned organizations. All the names were indexed and in most cases very little derogatory information was developed as a result of the name search. (C)

It is to be noted that all information furnished [redacted] as a result of our name search work was obtained from other Bureau files. Thus, the indexing of these names in the above mentioned file would appear purged from the indices. (C)

SUGGESTION: That the Field undertake the destruction of all files which are in the nature of RUC files and which are three years old or over; and that this be a continuing matter handled in the future on an annual basis.

In addition, it was suggested that a new index card be prepared for each file to be so destroyed, the index card to show the subject's name, victim's name, identifying data on the subject, and a notation showing the office of origin. This card would be added to the index and any other card pertaining to the RUC file would be removed.

ADVANTAGES:

1. The office of origin has a more complete file in every instance than an anxiliary office.

2. The auxiliary office must rely on the office of origin in any instance where complete information is needed.

3. It is alleged that there would be no loss in any type of RUC case, since the office of origin or the Bureau would have a complete file.

4. There would be a considerable saving in closed file space.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. It would be dangerous to destroy such files without first reviewing the files because, through error, they might contain original copies of signed statements, interview logs, or other information which should probably be permanently retained.

2. Similarly, correspondence with people outside the Bureau would not be duplicated in any other file, and in some instances this might be important to retain.

3. In security cases, the RUCing office would be in a position to loose valuable information which may subsequently be desired in connection with other security cases. There is information presently in the file in memorandum form which is not necessarily included in any report sent to the Bureau or the office of origin, which may prove helpful in a later investigation of the same subject.

4. Data will be contained in many RUC files concerning local figures in both security and criminal cases which is generally valuable and usable at future times.

5. If RUC files three years of age are destroyed, when additional investigation may be necessary some considerable expense will be involved on a national basis in transmitting background information upon which an investigation would be predicated.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION:

The Joint Committee recommended unanimously unfavorably.

EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

The Executive Conference on December 10, 1948, composed of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Mohr, Carlson, Rosen, Ladd, Nichols and Harbo, unanimously concurred in the unfavorable recommendation of the Joint Committee.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION - SAC PERCY WYLY, NEW ORLEANS DESTRUCTION IN THE FIELD OF ALL RUC REPORTS
OVER THREE YEARS OLD

Of Bureau Property - Sugg. #62
Gen'l.

Suggestion:

A. The field undertake the destruction of all files which are in the nature of RUC files and which are three years old or over.

Status

B. This be a continuing matter, so that once each year field offices will purge from their closed section all RUC files which were RUC'd to the office of origin three years prior thereto.

Mechanics:

1. To accomplish the above and to take care of incomplete indexing, as well as to provide quick reference to the material destroyed, Wyly suggested that new index cards be made up on all files destroyed. These index cards would show the subject's name (also victim's where necessary, but no automobile motor numbers in Unsub 26 cases) and identifying data on the subject, as well as a notation as to the office of origin.

2. Fold such index cards into the office indices, purging the cards already there which are identical.

3. To accomplish B above, retain the white assignment cards (always reflecting the office of origin elsewhere) for 3 years after RUC'ing the files to act as ticklers to permit the destruction of such RUC files at the end of 3 years, according to a set plan throughout the field.

Advantages:

1. The office of origin has a more complete file in every instance than an auxilliary office.

RECORDED - 39 66-3286-347

2. The auxilliary office has to turn to the office of origin in any case where fuller material is needed, since only the office of origin has the complete file.

31 JAN 8 1949

INDEXED - 39

3. This would serve to decentralize records to some extent.

4. There would be no loss in any type of RUC case. In applicant types only the Bureau has the complete file, while in criminal cases the office of origin has complete files along with the Bureau.

5. Indexing of the RUC files to be destroyed in the manner indicated would negative any complaint that an office would lose references, since by this system there would be always the best method of getting to the complete information anyway.

6. There would be a considerable saving in closed file space necessary.

Disadvantages: None.

Inspector's Comment:

SAC Wyly advised that he had submitted a similar suggestion in 1942 and has given considerable thought to it since then. He has revised his previous suggestion to include what he feels to be a sounder and simpler method of undertaking without loss of valuable reference material.

I am inclined to feel there is much merit to SAC Wyly's suggestion and therefore record my agreement with the suggestion at this time.

SUGGESTION: That Section 13J-7 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations be revised to provide that all coded communications based on the three code books shall be kept separately in the office safe, and bound in a file in chronological order, for a period of thirty days, subsequent to which time they shall be destroyed.

The present manual provision is that they shall be kept in a properly labeled envelope for a period of one year, subsequent to which time they shall be destroyed.

In view of the fact that each field office has, or will have in the near future, a radio telegraph station and all messages send over this network are necessarily in code, each office will accumulate a rather large record of coded messages, much larger than in prior years when a radio network was not maintained.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION:

The Joint Committee recommended unanimously that the manual provision provide that the coded communications be kept separately in the office safe in a large envelope for a period of thirty days, subsequent to which time they shall be destroyed.

EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE CONSIDERATION:

On December 14, 1948, the Executives Conference with Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Ladd, Rosen, and Clegg present considered that this matter be referred to a representative number of Field Offices and personnel for expression of their viewpoint. There is attached hereto a letter for that purpose, if approved.

The Bureau is considering a suggestion that Section 13J-7 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations be revised to provide that all coded communications based on the three Bureau code books shall be kept separately in the office safe in a large envelope for a period of 30 days, subsequent to which time they shall be destroyed.

As you know, the Manual presently provides that such coded communications shall be maintained for a period of one year, after which they shall be destroyed. The present time schedule was adopted in an effort to arrange for periodic destruction of obsolete material at the end of one year or, in some cases, three years, in order to eliminate a wide variation in the time schedules for making such disposal of obsolete records. However, it has been pointed out in support of the proposed modification of the Manual that since all offices either have or will have radiotelegraph stations, there has been a substantial increase in the number of coded communications handled by each office and that the present regulation creates a space problem in the field office safe.

It is requested that you advise the Bureau of your recommendation concerning the proposed Manual change, together with your reason therefor. Please forward your recommendation to the Bureau within two weeks of the receipt of this letter.

ReBuMemo December 16, 1948, addressed to Assistant Director E. J. Connelley, copy of which was directed for my attention.

This office has experienced no problem in the past with respect to the maintenance of coded communications, although it is observed that there is apparently no reason why they should be maintained for an entire year and their destruction at the end of thirty days would seem to be quite sufficient for checking back in the event any mistake might be made.

It is recommended that this suggestion be approved.

Destruction of Bureau Property - 9-16

ReBurlet December 16, 1948, addressed to Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY concerning a proposed change in the Manual of Rules and Regulations with respect to disposing of coded communications.

It is my belief that the change suggested by the Bureau is very desirable. I see no point to keeping coded communications longer than thirty days. These coded communications are of value only for checking the accuracy of coding or decoding operations when a discrepancy appears in the decoded copy. Any such discrepancies should be brought to light within a period of thirty days.

During all of my experience as a Special Agent in Charge I know of no single instance where reference was made to a coded communication after the day on which it was received. I think that the experience of others will be similar and that the change suggested by the Bureau is entirely logical and practical in the light of experience.

I think there is also an additional security factor involved. The longer coded communications are maintained and the more of them there are accumulated, the more chance there is for disclosing the Bureau's codes. As a matter of fact, some agencies who use codes require immediate destruction of the coded communication after it has been decoded. I think that a period of thirty days is a maximum from the security standpoint.

MANUAL CHANGES - CODED COMMUNICATIONS

Destruction of Bureau Property

Re memo addressed to Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY, copies of which were designated for several field offices wherein the Bureau stated it was considering a suggestion that Section 13J-7 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations be revised to provide that all coded communications based on the three Bureau code books shall be kept separately in the office safe in a large envelope for a period of 30 days, subsequent to which time they shall be destroyed. The Bureau requested that I furnish my recommendation relative to the above suggestion.

The Bureau is advised that I am in favor of destroying all coded communications within a thirty-day period. In my experience in the Bureau, I have never had an occasion to refer to a coded teletype after the message had been decoded. By destroying all records within a thirty-day period additional space will be made available in the field office safe. Also, obsolete records will have been destroyed within a reasonable time.

DESTRUCTION OF CODED MESSAGES

Reference is made to your memorandum dated December 16, 1948, addressed to Assistant Director E. J. Connelley advising that the Bureau was considering a suggestion providing for the destruction of coded messages after the expiration of 30 days.

I am of the opinion that after 30 days have elapsed all corrections would have taken place in the event the messages are garbled. For this reason, I agree with the suggestion and recommend such messages be destroyed after a period of 30 days has elapsed.

CODED COMMUNICATIONS

Destruction of Records

Reference is made to Bulet 12-16-48 to Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY, with a copy to this office, requesting that my recommendations be furnished to the Bureau relative to a change in Section 13-J-7 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

A thorough review has been made of the procedure in handling coded communications in this office, and it is felt that the retention of these communications for one year in unnecessary. There have been no occasions since I arrived at this office on 10-14-48 where it has been necessary to recheck the coded communications more than one or two days after they have been received. The retention of these communications for one year in an office which receives and sends a great many coded communications results in a rather bulky file. The destruction of these communications on a thirty-day basis would not result in any additional work since they are presently destroyed monthly after any one month becomes one year old. The destruction on a monthly basis would result in a saving of valuable space in the office safe and would, in my opinion, decrease the amount of clerical work involved in their handling.

It is my recommendation that the coded communications received during any month be placed in an envelope and destroyed at the end of the next month.

RE: DESTRUCTION OF CODED COMMUNICATIONS

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated December 16, 1948, wherein the Bureau requested my recommendation concerning the proposed amendment to Section 13J-7 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations to provide that all coded communications based on the three Bureau code books should be kept in the office safe for a period of thirty days before being destroyed, rather than for a period of one year.

It is recommended that this suggestion be approved as it does not appear to be any advantage to this office to keep coded communications for one year. It has been our experience that since the one-year rule went into effect that these communications had not been referred to for any purpose more than thirty days after the date on which they were sent.

The destruction of coded communications after thirty days would give us the use of more space in one of our office safes inasmuch as practically half the safe in the teletype room is now devoted to the storage of these communications for a period of one year.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD SCHEIDT

Relet 12-16-48 as to suggestion Section 13J-7 of Manual of Rules and Regulations be revised to provide all coded communications based on the three Bureau code books be kept separately in the office safe in a large envelope for thirty days and then destroyed, the following is recommended:

One of the principal purposes for the retention of the coded message received after decoding or message sent after coding is to provide a check to place responsibility for gross error which was not detected and where this has materially affected the action subsequently taken by the Bureau.

Without this prime necessity there would be no particular purpose in their retention after received or sent if in each situation it was checked to verify it was correctly encoded or decoded. The decode would serve all necessary purposes under the latter situation.

Ordinarily thirty days should be sufficient to detect any errors; however, it might only be detected after a long time as a result of developments.

For the last above reason I would recommend they be retained as now presently required.

The lack of space would be only an extenuating circumstance to justify their earlier destruction.

It is agreed with the suggestion contained in your letter of reference that coded communications be kept for a period of thirty days only and then destroyed. It is a definite space problem insofar as keeping messages beyond such a period of time is concerned.

It has not been the experience of this office that it is necessary to refer to any coded messages that are over a week or two old and it is not felt that retaining them longer than thirty days serves any useful purpose.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : H. B. Fletcher DATE: February 24, 1949

FROM : R. W. Wall

SUBJECT: LOYALTY OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES
Destruction of Loyalty Forms and Letters by Field Offices

Reference is made to the attached letter from Oklahoma City, which mentions instructions in Bureau Bulletin #28, Series 1948, that copies of the letter and Loyalty form sent to auxiliary offices in preliminary inquiries should be placed in 121-0 pending notification of conversion to full field and destroyed six months after the date of the letter, if conversion is not made. Reference letter states that at least one notice of conversion was received after the six-months lapse of time.

A second question is also raised as to whether the Loyalty letter and form can be destroyed without record of destruction.

As you know, we are constantly receiving duplicate forms on persons who have been previously processed under the Loyalty Program. Further, there are quite a few cases where the Civil Service Commission at a later date, requests a full field investigation based upon a summary returned by the Bureau subsequent to a preliminary inquiry. As a result of these two circumstances, we do have some correspondence with the field which would make it desirable for them to retain the Loyalty Forms and letters for a year.

With respect to a record of the destruction of the Loyalty form and letter, it is believed the field should destroy the index card, and insert in the 121-0 file the chargeout form ordinarily utilized when a serial is destroyed. This will obviate any concern as to misfiling, should it be subsequently noticed that a serial was missing.

RECOMMENDATION

Attached for approval are a reply to Oklahoma City and a proposed Bureau Bulletin setting a one-year limit and requiring that a charge out be filed in 121-0.

We have presently on file in our Section a collection of loose smear material which generally consists of photostats of news clippings concerning such things as the Dies Committee and the FBI; the Harry Bridges case; the FBI and Pearl Harbor; the situation concerning George Seldes, Editor of "In Fact"; some material concerning wire tapping; the Ducktown case and other similar material.

You will recall that the Executive Conference, by memorandum dated October 25, 1947, allowed us to discontinue smear material.

It is suggested, following your approval, that the loose material described above be destroyed or as an alternative one copy of each item be maintained and duplicate copies be destroyed.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: DESTRUCTION OF OLD INDEX CARDS

We have stored in the Records Section approximately 8,500 old fugitive index cards. These cards were apparently sent to the Records Section years ago after the apprehension of the fugitives involved.

In addition we also have approximately 17,000 alphabetical cards containing the names of banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. It is Mr. Seyfarth's recollection that these cards were made up immediately following the bank holiday in 1932.

There is no other background or information in file on these cards. They have not been used or referred to in any manner for a number of years and since they serve no useful purpose it is believed they should be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the old index cards referred to, samples of which are attached, be destroyed.

Respectfully,

F. W. Waikart

THE DIRECTOR

April 12, 1949

THE EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE

Destruction of Bureau Property

The Executives Conference of April 7, 1949, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Carlson, Ladd, McCabe for Clegg, and Glavin, considered the desirability of continuing to maintain a separate card index file on Special Agents who have been given Major Case School training.

It was pointed out to the Conference that the index was set up in 1945 after the Major Case School training was afforded a number of Special Agents and at present contains approximately 200 cards. The names of the Agents contained in this group have not been utilized since the time the index was set up. It was further pointed out to the Conference that instructions which were previously given in the Major Case School training is now given in all In-Service Schools and no particular advantage is had by maintaining such a Major Case School index of Agents who have participated in the special Major Case School.

The Conference is of the unanimous opinion that this index should be destroyed. Should the Director agree, appropriate action will be taken.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Clyde Tolson

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : MR. NICHOLS DATE: March 2, 1949

FROM : R. F. Cartwright

SUBJECT: DISPOSITION OF TYPES OF IDENTIFICATION CORRESPONDENCE

a Destruction of Bureau Property - Jacket

Reference is made to the attached memorandum of Supervisor J. M. O'Connor to Mr. Tracy dated January 11, 1949, captioned as above.

This matter has been discussed with Mr. McCoy, Supervisor of the Mail Room, Mr. Waikart, who is in charge of Records Section, and Mr. McGuire, and all of us are in accord that the correspondence referred to should be destroyed after action if it is deemed not of permanent value to the Identification Division.

It is definitely felt by all of the above that the active destruction should be handled by Supervisors in the Identification Division rather than clerical personnel either in the Mail Room or the Records Section.

It has been a traditional rule in both of these sections that no correspondence or mail of any kind is ever destroyed there. This is a basic rule for obvious security reasons. You will recall that last year the general security regulations obtaining in the Records Section were reviewed and considerable attention was paid to their observance and additional regulations were promulgated by the Bureau. It is felt that making any exceptions to the rule that correspondence is not destroyed in these two sections would be a basic departure and would leave the way open to error in the matter of destruction.

It is, accordingly, being recommended that in connection with this matter the correspondence be returned to the Identification Division after mailing for appropriate disposal by the supervising personnel of that division. It is suggested that this memorandum be routed to Mr. Tracy for further action. This matter was discussed with Mr. Quinn Tamm on March 1, 1949, who was in accord with our recommendations in this regard.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : MR. TRACY DATE: January 11, 1949

FROM : J. M. O'Connor

SUBJECT: DISPOSITION OF CERTAIN TYPES OF CORRESPONDENCE HANDLED IN THE IDENTIFICATION DIVISION

The question has arisen as to the proper disposition of certain types of correspondence that are received and answered in the Identification Division.

The Records Section has sent back the attached samples of correspondence with the statement that they believe these types of correspondence should not be filed in the Records Section. Types of mail returned are:

1. Letters received from law enforcement officials or others entitled to information asking if an individual's fingerprints are or are not identical with another.

2. Letters from individuals informing us of their change of legal name.

3. Letters received from those entitled to a record, either in this country, or in a foreign country, asking whether or not we have the record of an individual.

4. Letters from individuals asking for a copy of their criminal record, or for information to which they are not entitled, and we do not return the correspondence because Bureau stamps have been placed thereon.

5. Letters from Police Departments enclosing fingerprints and asking for a search of the fingerprints through our files, and that they be advised of the results. Sometimes, we do this by letter, or advise that all the fingerprint cards for which they requested a search were not enclosed.

6. Letters received from law enforcement officials informing us that a wanted man is now in custody, and that the wanted notice should be cancelled.

ENCLOSURE

This mail has been reviewed by the Special Agent Supervisors in the Identification Division, and they believe that this type, and similar types of mail, should be destroyed, with one exception. Mr. Anderson believes that in category #3, letters from foreign contributors should be filed in the Identification Division.

RECORDED - 105 166-3286-370

The Agent Supervisors also agreed that disposition should be determined at the time the mail is first handled. They recommend that on the yellow of the outgoing the statement be placed, "this yellow and correspondence should be destroyed in the mail room", or, "this mail should be returned to the Identification Division to be destroyed." Mr. Waikart, of the Records Section, said that the mail

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 2-22-82 BY SP2 ellyate

ORIGINAL COPY FILED IN 66-3286-370

should not be sent to the Records Section for destruction. Mr. McCoy, in the mail room, said that mail should not be destroyed in the mail room, due to a long established policy in that regard. If it is returned to the Identification Division for destruction, there will be extra work in the routing of the mail.

The Agent must be given some latitude, and must use his discretion as to what mail should be kept, and what mail should be destroyed. Of course, if in the process of reviewing the mail, you or others that review the mail feel that a certain type of mail should not be destroyed, a line could be drawn through the statement, "this is to be destroyed."

We feel that the type of correspondence mentioned above will not necessitate reference to it at any future time. In case of wanted notices, once the information is posted in the jacket that the individual is in custody, and from whence the information came, it is believed no longer necessary to retain the letter in our files.

It is recommended, therefore, that favorable consideration be given the plan that Agents, at the time mail is answered, determine the disposition of the mail.

In an effort to eliminate unnecessary filing procedures, the Records Section recently returned several pieces of correspondence to the Identification Division with the suggestion that filing of pieces of this kind be dispensed with at the discretion of the Identification Division. The returned pieces can be grouped as follows:

1. Letters received from law enforcement officials and others entitled to information asking if an individual's fingerprints are or are not identical with another.

2. Letters from individuals informing us of their change of legal name.

3. Letters received from those entitled to a record, either in this country, or in a foreign country, asking whether or not we have the record of an individual.

SUGGESTION: That duplicate logs prepared for insertion in the respective case files affected by the information in the log be destroyed after the information from the log has been incorporated into an investigative report. It was also suggested that sub-files be created in key figure and top functionary cases for the purpose of filing logs containing excerpts of pertinent material from the log.

ADVANTAGES: Maintenance of Bureau Property - Ignore

1. This procedure would reduce the number of serials in the file and enable a more efficient administration of security files.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Frequently material set forth in the log is not set out verbatim in reports, and at a future date if the occasion arises when the verbatim information would be necessary, several Agents would need to refer to the original log at the same time which would result in confusion and loss of time.

2. The verbatim information contained in the log should be retained in the respective files.

3. The removal of duplicate logs, or excerpts of pertinent material from the log, from the file after a report has been rendered would necessitate the preparation of a memorandum setting forth the contents of the serials removed from the file..

4. Creation of sub-files would present a security problem as it would never be possible to definitely determine in each instance when a sub-file existed.

of this kind should be destroyed at the discretion of Special Agent Supervisory personnel in the Identification Division. These views are expressed in the attached memoranda of Mr. J. M. O'Connor to Mr. Tracy dated January 11, 1949, and Mr. R. F. Cartwright and Mr. Nichols of March 2, 1949. Mr. K. R. McIntire has also discussed this matter with Mr. George Medler and Mrs. Virginia McGrath of the Records Section who feel that destruction is advisable after discretion has been exercised.

If we adopt the procedure of destruction in the above categories, it will be incumbent upon Special Agent Supervisory personnel in Identification Division when dictating upon a piece of mail to decide whether the incoming is to be destroyed after our answer has gone out. Merely because a piece of mail falls within these categories does not mean that it will automatically be destroyed. Destruction must be authorized. If the decision is in favor of destruction, the incoming piece, in addition to being initialed by the proper personnel, will be boldly stamped with the words somewhat as follows: "Return to Ident for Destruction". Mr. McIntire discussed this phase with Mr. McCoy of the Communications Section, who approved this procedure. Under this method there is no need for attaching a yellow sheet of paper to the incoming letter for initials and for inscribing or stamping the destruction notice. It is all done on one piece of paper which is the incoming correspondence. Such pieces, after the replies have been mailed will be returned to Ident where destruction will occur. It may be urged that destruction should occur in our Mail Room in the Justice Building after our reply has gone out. This may be the logical point because it is the "last stop" so to speak. Messrs. McGuire, McCoy, Cartwright and Nichols feel this to be improper because of the caliber of employees in the Mail Room. They are Grade 2 employees and among our newest in point of service. The Mail Room is already burdened with a mass of detailed instructions covering a great variety of mail, much of which requires a special kind of handling. They feel it would, under these circumstances, be undesirable to grant authority to such persons to destroy any mail. Therefore, it is believed all destruction should be handled by the more competent and more specialized employees of Ident.

DISADVANTAGES:

The only disadvantage that can be foreseen is that a party might write in inquiring about some former correspondence had with him. If that occurs, we can write back for added information. On the basis of his recollection on matters of this kind, Mr. O'Connor states he seldom, if ever has any reference to former correspondence which is now filed. Furthermore, it is a current procedure for Mr. Jones' section of Crime Records to destroy a quantity of incoming mail daily. In that instance we take the same chance on some future request based upon past correspondence. We are willing to take the chance because of the saving effected in our daily work.

ADVANTAGES:

1. We could eliminate typing a yellow file copy when outgoing correspondence is prepared in Ident.

2. We could eliminate the making of abstracts in Ident on such basis.

3. All the filing operation in the Records Section will be eliminated.

4. Indexing will cease. This is a serious problem. There are about 230 such pieces monthly that can be destroyed at discretion. These pieces average more than one index card apiece. But at one index card apiece in a 12-month period we are increasing our general indices by 2,760 cards per year. This is the file we would prefer to purge if we could. On future searches, these cards and the files pertaining thereto will have to be pulled when a matter is being reviewed. The number of times that such cards and files will be pulled will be countless. This will prove to be wasteful in terms of clerical services to an extent that is impossible to estimate.

5. Filing space which is at a premium will be conserved by the destruction of incoming mail of this kind.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Special Agent Supervisory personnel in Ident be permitted to authorize, at their discretion, the destruction of pieces of mail falling within the six categories listed herein.

2. That the incoming correspondence bear the initials of the approving supervisor and official of Ident certifying to the correctness of the reply which will be attached for mailing.

3. That the incoming correspondence when destruction is deemed advisable bear a bold stamp such as "Return to Ident for Destruction" or similar words.

4. That the Mail Room return such correspondence to Ident for destruction which shall be done under the guidance of Special Agent Supervisory personnel.

1. ANNUAL REPORTS

There are, at the present time, approximately 31 volumes of reports prepared pursuant to Public Laws No. 135 and 644, 77th Congress (Hatch Act), being maintained in the Loyalty Section. These reports were prepared in conformance with the requirements under these laws for submission to Congress. They contain case summaries of individuals investigated under the above-cited Public Laws.

As you know, the present Loyalty Program has superseded the Hatch Act Program and there is no need to further maintain these reports in the Loyalty Section for reference purposes.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that these reports, which are neatly bound and clearly identified, be forwarded to the Records Section and maintained there.

2. HATCH ACT INDICES

In connection with the Hatch Act Program a separate index card was maintained on each case. This index card reflected the complete investigative activity in connection with the case, as well as the final disposition. These index cards are presently maintained in the Loyalty Section and have been utilized for statistical purposes for the past year and a half. In view of the fact that there are no active Hatch Act investigations, since the Loyalty Program has superseded the Hatch Act Program, the need for these index cards no longer exists.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the index cards on Hatch Act cases, presently being maintained in the Loyalty Section, be destroyed.

3. HATCH ACT POLICY FILES

At the time the Hatch Act Program was active a very complete policy file, which is serialized and indexed, was set up. This policy file and index has been of extreme value in connection with the Loyalty Program for reference purposes. It is not believed desirable that this policy file and index thereto should be destroyed, but with your approval the file will be neatly bound and maintained in the Loyalty Section for future reference. The index will also be maintained to facilitate reference.

(F) DESTRUCTION OF SCIENTIFIC TRAINING RECORD (FD-41) -- A question has arisen as to the disposition to be made of the record of scientific training form FD-41 after the technical training has been completed for the year.

You are advised that this should be treated as other Agents' administrative records and kept for one year and then destroyed. For example, the form maintained for the calendar year 1949 should be destroyed on January 1, 1951.

RECOMMENDATION FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF LETTERS FROM INSURANCE COMPANIES

Destruction of Certain Correspondence

We have been receiving in the Identification Division an increasing number of letters from insurance companies asking us for information in our files in order that they might determine the present whereabouts of persons insured by them who have been missing for several years.

In each one of the requests received from these insurance companies we refer a copy of their letter and the information in our files, if there is any, to the Field Office covering the territory where the insurance company is. The Field Office is instructed to orally convey whatever information we have to the insurance company if they deem it advisable and the insurance company is in good contact of theirs. If there is no information they so inform the insurance company.

The original letter from the insurance company and the yellow copy of our outgoing answer are retained in our files. Within our knowledge in the past years there has been no reference to any one of these letters. Consequently, it is recommended that in cases where the insurance companies send in a letter and we send the answer to the Field Office the original incoming not be kept in our files nor any copy of our outgoing answer. As in the case of some other types of mail sent to the Identification Division for answer we would place a stamp on the incoming mail at the time of answer. Prepare no yellow or abstract of the outgoing answer and use the original incoming for the necessary initialing.

Bureau Property - Destroy

DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE
FILE AND INDEX MATERIAL

During the recent inspection of the Records Section, the disposal of obsolete records was again considered. As you may well appreciate, the Records Section is faced with a critical space shortage and also with a constant need for expansion due to current receipts. If at all possible, something should be done immediately to make available more space.

There is described below file material kept by the Records Section that is of interest to your Division. It occupies floor and cabinet space, yet now appears to be obsolete and of little or no value. It is requested that you have someone review it to determine if you agree that it may be destroyed at this time. The Records Section will provide representative samples upon request.

It will be appreciated if you will give this matter immediate attention so as to provide the Records Section with some much-needed cabinet space.

Y Files

There are three cabinets on the eighth floor containing miscellaneous World War I material from 1914 to 1918. This material pertains to old pamphlets, booklets and papers relating to radical organizations. It is not indexed. There is, however, a card index system maintained in the drawers in which this material is filed. There have been no calls for this material during the past ten years.

Miscellaneous Reports

There is one drawer containing Dies Committee Reports, Economical Act To Purchase And Charter Foreign Vessels and similar material. No requests have been made for this material during the past fifteen years.

Alien Enemy Control Index

A prior memorandum was submitted May 3, 1949, with a recommendation that the Alien Enemy Control Index be destroyed. This control index pertains to an index of approximately 40,000 aliens taken into custody during World War II. The index was maintained by the Security Division and served to keep that Division advised as to the arrests and disposition of aliens. The field offices when preparing the original permanent register pertaining to these aliens were instructed to likewise prepare a duplicate for transmittal to the Bureau so that the Bureau might have available at the Seat of Government data identical to that possessed by the field. For each individual arrested, two 3x5 cards were prepared. One card being filed in an alphabetical index subdivided by nationalities and the other in a geographical index subdivided by nationalities and field offices. In January, 1944, these cards were consolidated into one permanent 3x5 index. By a memorandum dated January 15, 1946, a recommendation was made that the card index file be transferred to the Files Section where it could be retained as a permanent statistical record of the Bureau's activities during the denaturalization program. By memorandum dated June 7, 1947, Mr. J. C. Strickland recommended that in view of the fact that the Alien Enemy Control Program was to all intents and purposes completed, the index cards be transferred to the Records Section. In addition to the apprehension index, the same cabinets contain a denaturalization index of seamen who were apprehended as Alien Enemies and also an index of Japanese who renounced their American citizenships.

Custodial Detention Index Cards

By memorandum dated November 9, 1939, Mr. A. Cornelius outlined in detail a procedure to be followed by the Security Division on the assembling of data on individuals in this country who in time of war would be a menace to the public peace and safety of the United States Government. The memorandum stated it was planning to assemble material on and prepare a list of the individuals comprising two large groups.

(1) Those with strong Nazi tendencies
(2) Those with strong Communist tendencies

This memorandum described the procedure of preparing 5x8 index cards to be maintained in the Security Division on all such individuals. It was further suggested that metal tabs be prepared on the card in the General Index of the Records Division on each individual included in the Custodial Detention Index. Procedures were adopted whereby a blue index card would be inserted in the Index Section. The Security Division was requested to furnish the Records Section the blue cards bearing the name of the individuals who were being considered for custodial detention. In addition to the blue cards filed in the Records Section the Security Division maintained a duplicate or master set of these same cards. The duplicate or master set maintained by the Security Division is the set presently referred to which is now located on the eighth floor of the Justice Building and numbers approximately 27,000 cards.

An Executive Conference memorandum dated July 25, 1941, recommended that the duplicate master index in the Security Division be transferred to the Records Section and that this index no longer be utilized by the Security Division. The custodial detention subjects in the Records Section were discontinued May 16, 1942. By memorandum dated October 29, 1943, approval was granted to remove the blue cards from the Bureau indices and to destroy them which was done by November 16, 1943.

As previously stated, 27,000 blue cards are presently being maintained by the Records Section which constitutes the master index previously maintained by the Security Division. There appears to be no useful purpose to the Bureau in the retention of these cards.

Reference is made to the memorandum of instructions from the Director dated September 8, 1949 as a result of the recent Inspection of the Records and Communications Section. Included were instructions to submit recommendations for consideration of the Executives Conference for the destruction of some old and obsolete file material. Material considered herein falls into two major categories: (1) some records presently stored in the file cabinets in the 8100 corridor of the Department of Justice Building, (2) certain records found in the Personnel Files Section.

The material listed in this memorandum should be reviewed by the interested Divisions for possible items of real or potential value that should not be destroyed. Representative samples of the material will be made available to the interested Divisions upon a request of the Records Section. It is not anticipated that it will be necessary to clear these records with the National Archives in the event all or a portion of them are approved for destruction.

The interested Division has been designated in each case.

I. OBSOLETE RECORDS ON EIGHTH FLOOR

There is set out below a list of old and obsolete records properly maintained in file cabinets on the eighth floor, 8100 corridor. For the most part, there have been no requests for this material in the last ten years or more and the value of retaining it longer is questionable. Some of the items were previously recommended for review and destruction in 1945 but no further action was had at that time and it is believed now is an opportune time for reconsideration.

1. Press Releases

These press releases refer to kidnapping and other investigative cases which were handled by the Bureau during the years 1932 to 1936 inclusive. A copy of these releases are filed in the case file to which they are related. Extra copies of these releases are presently in the files on the eighth floor. When one copy is in file the others should be considered for destruction. This does not appear to be a matter for which the Archives would have an interest. It is apparent that much of this material was at one time maintained by a Supervisor. It includes many photographs, fingerprints and other similar bits of material as well as press releases.

2. Property of Robert H. Laughlin
(Former Chief Clerk)

There are two drawers of material formerly maintained by Mr. Laughlin which relates to baseball and other sports as well as copies of FBI memoranda, phamphlets and personnel material which was used as ticklers. There have been no calls for this material since it has been maintained on the eighth floor. An examination of the material revealed that it pertains to athletic activities handled by the Chief Clerk's Office and Mr. Laughlin was formerly assigned to that office.

Interested Division — Administrative Division

3. Y Files

There are three cabinets on the eighth floor containing miscellaneous World War I material from 1914 to 1918. This material pertains to old pamphlets, booklets and papers relating to radical organizations. It is not indexed. There is, however, a card index system maintained in the drawers in which this material is filed. There have been no calls for this material during the past ten years.

Interested Division — Security Division

4. Blue Slips

Four cabinets and two drawers of a fifth cabinet contain blue slips regarding the payments of confidential informants in connection with investigations regarding Bureau cases from 1913 to 1931. All blue slips from 1931 to date are being retained and not considered for destruction.

Interested Division — Administrative Division,
Chief Clerk's Office

5. Miscellaneous

There is one drawer of Proof Code Books, Charts of Assignments and votes of the Special Agents' Insurance Fund dated 1937.

Interested Division — Administrative Division,
Chief Clerk's Office

6. Miscellaneous

There is one drawer containing manuals of instructions for Special Agents and stenographers dated 1937 and prior thereto. There have never been any requests for this material. It was ascertained that this same material is contained in the Manual Files.

7. Chief Clerk's Material

There are two drawers of material containing Annual Reports of Government Agencies on the State of Finance. This material is contained in book form and dated from 1934 to 1940. There have been no requests for these books for approximately ten years.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division,
Chief Clerk's Office

8. Miscellaneous Reports

There is one drawer containing Dies Committee Reports, Economical Act To Purchase And Charter Foreign Vessels and similar material. No requests have been made for this material during the past fifteen years.

10. Laboratory Matters

There are eight drawers containing material in the Polygraph Files, Laboratory Reports, Interesting Case Write Ups from 1935-1941 as well as newspaper clippings pertaining to executions which were sent to the Bureau by a Doctor Hoffman.

Interested Division --- Laboratory Division

11. Congressional Records

Congressional Records contained in the Chief Clerk's Office are kept for three years and destroyed. This particular material dates from 1946 to the present. It is to be noted that a permanent copy of each Congressional Record is maintained in the Publication Files. The Chief Clerk's material contains copies which frequently are not available in the Publication Files. One complete set of Congressional Records should be maintained in Crime Records Section but other copies are not deemed necessary and it is suggested that they be destroyed. It is suggested that the missing copies from the Publication Files be replaced.

12. Alien Enemy Control Index

A prior memorandum was submitted May 3, 1949, with a recommendation that the Alien Enemy Control Index be destroyed. This control index pertains to an index of approximately 40,000 aliens taken into custody during World War II. The index was maintained by the Security Division and served to keep that Division advised as to the arrests and disposition of aliens. The field offices when preparing the original permanent register pertaining to these aliens were instructed to likewise prepare a duplicate for transmittal to the Bureau so that the Bureau might have available at the Seat of Government data identical to that possessed by the field. For each individual arrested, two 3x5 cards were prepared. One card being filed in an alphabetical index subdivided by nationalities and the other in a geographical index subdivided by nationalities and field offices. In January 1944 these cards were consolidated into one permanent 3x5 index. By a memorandum dated January 15, 1946, a recommendation was made that the card index file be transferred to the Files Section where it could be retained as a permanent statistical record of the Bureau's activities during the denaturalization program. By memorandum dated June 7, 1947, Mr. J. C. Strickland recommended that in view of the fact that the Alien Enemy Control Program was to all intents and purposes completed, the index cards be transferred to the Records Section. In addition to the apprehension index, the same cabinets contain a denaturalization index of seamen who were apprehended as Alien Enemies and also an index of Japanese who renounced their American citizenships.

13. Custodial Detention Index Cards

By memorandum dated November 9, 1939, Mr. A. Cornelius outlined in detail a procedure to be followed by the Security Division on the assembling of data on individuals in this country who in time of war would be a menace to the public peace and safety of the United States Government. The memorandum stated it was planning to assemble material on and prepare a list of the individuals comprising two large groups.

(1.) Those with strong Nazi tendencies
(2.) Those with strong Communist tendencies

Memorandum for Mr. Nichols
Re: Destruction of Obsolete File and Index Material October 5, 1949

This memorandum described the procedure of preparing 5x8 index cards to be maintained in the Security Division on all such individuals. It was further suggested that metal tabs be prepared on the card in the General Index of the Records Division on each individual included in the Custodial Detention Index. Procedures were adopted whereby a blue index card would be inserted in the Index Section. The Security Division was requested to furnish the Records Section the blue cards bearing the name of the individuals who were being considered for custodial detention. In addition to the blue cards filed in the Records Section the Security Division maintained a duplicate or master set of these same cards. The duplicate or master set maintained by the Security Division is the set presently referred to which is now located on the eighth floor of the Justice Building and numbers approximately 27,000 cards.

An Executive Conference memorandum dated July 25, 1941, recommended that the duplicate master index in the Security Division be transferred to the Records Section and that this index no longer be utilized by the Security Division. The custodial detention subjects in the Records Section were discontinued May 16, 1942. By memorandum dated October 29, 1943, approval was granted to remove the blue cards from the Bureau indices and to destroy them which was done by November 16, 1943.

As previously stated 27,000 blue cards are presently being maintained by the Records Section which constitutes the master index previously maintained by the Security Division. There appears to be no useful purpose to the Bureau in the retention of these cards.

Interested Division — Security Division

II. OBSOLETE FILE MATERIAL IN THE PERSONNEL RECORDS SECTION

There follows a description of various files occupying space in our Personnel Records Section, and which appear to be obsolete and of no value. In many cases their destruction has previously been considered by Mr. Glavin and he concurred when the recommendation for their disposal was set out. A notation appears where this holds true. In the event of approval for destruction no Archival authority will be needed.

1. Clerical Tests file

There are presently being maintained in the general files of the Personnel Records Section three sections of a file captioned "Clerical Tests". This file consists of quarterly listings of the grades of clerical personnel regarding their shorthand and typing abilities. The last serial in this file is dated in July, 1942 and it is the present practice to incorporate this type of data into the general files pertaining to the individual division at the Seat of Government.

Memorandum for Mr. Nichols
re: Destruction of Obsolete File and Index Material October 5, 1949

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

15. Outstanding Recommendations File

The material contained in this file, which comprises three sections, is dated from 1937 through February, 1941 and consists of a listing regarding the status of various recommendations that have been made as of that time pertaining to appointments and promotions. It appears that these listings are recapitulations submitted on a monthly or a bimonthly basis and were at that time informative in nature.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

16. File Pertaining to Applicants Referred to Interviewing Officials

During the period immediately preceding the entry of the United States into World War II an intensive recruiting program was instituted throughout the United States, designed to secure qualified applicants for employment by the Bureau. At that time there were built up six sections of files dealing with the names of these applicants that had been referred for interview from the Seat of Government to the various offices throughout the country. The last serial contained in this file is dated in October of 1940, and it is the consensus of opinion among employees of the Personnel Records Section that it has not been removed from file for reference purposes for several years past. The file for the most part consists of long lists of names and addresses of prospective agent applicants.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division.

17. Applicant General File

It is the present practice to file correspondence pertaining to applicants interested in Bureau employment into a general applicant file whenever the correspondence does not include a formal application. After five pieces of this type of mail are received and included in the general file, a specific applicant file is then opened and the mail contained in the general applicant file is removed therefrom and becomes the basis for a specific applicant file concerning the applicant. Contained in this file are letters from youngsters seeking employment with the Bureau or inquiring as to the educational qualifications necessary for a Special Agent's position after they grow up. Also there is correspondence received from individuals who obviously are not qualified for employment with the Bureau. In other words, it is a general repository of applicant mail dealing with general applicant matters and not specifically with potential future employees. The safeguard has been previously established that if the individual is a potential future employee that upon receipt of the fifth piece of mail a specific applicant file is opened and all previously received correspondence is incorporated in the new applicant file.

In May of 1946 a project was completed encompassing the review and destruction of 132 sections of this file on the basis that they were of no further value and should not be retained. As a result of this project, all of the index cards pertaining to these serials were removed from file, there being 17,270 serials destroyed.

It was recommended that all serials contained in this file which are over five years old be destroyed at the present time and consideration be given to reducing this period of retention to a three year period. It was likewise recommended that the destruction of old material be done under competent supervision on an individual serial basis on a long range project so as to insure that no information deemed to be of future value be destroyed. As the serials are destroyed arrangements should be made to remove the index cards pertaining to these serials from the indices.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

18. Anonymous Applicant File

This consists of two sections of files containing anonymous informal applications for employment with the Bureau. The last serial in this file was received in the Bureau in October of 1947. It has been the practice to file this type of communication without indexing since the individual writing the letter has neglected to sign his name thereto, and consequently there is no indexing that can be accomplished on this type of mail.

It was recommended that this file be destroyed and that any similar type of communication received in the future be destroyed upon receipt.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

Memorandum for Mr. Nichols
Re: Destruction of Obsolete File and Index Material October 5, 1949

19. Interviews - Identification Division

There is presently being maintained in the Personnel Records Section a general file folder captioned as above. This folder contains eight serials, running from February to October, 1930, consisting of memoranda submitted by the Identification Division recording interviews of officials of the Identification Division conducted during that period of time. It appears to serve no further value as reference material.

Interested Division — Administrative Division

20. Unnamed Applicant File

The above-captioned file consists of communications received from individuals interested in securing job qualifications for applicants for positions with the Bureau. The writer of the communication is not interested in employment himself, however, he is securing the information for an individual whom he does not name.

It was recommended that on correspondence presently being maintained for a longer period of time than three years be destroyed. If this recommendation should be approved, it would enable the Personnel Records Section to destroy three sections of this file and to remove from the indices index cards pertaining to this correspondence. It is likewise pointed out that this file contains some inquiries by Congressmen or prominent individuals and accordingly consideration should be given as to whether three years is sufficient in which to answer any subsequent inquiries.

Interested Division — Administrative Division

21. Personnel Inquiries File

The above-captioned file is utilized to house inquiries and answers received from the individuals who are interested in securing information for other people regarding possibilities of employment with the Bureau. In many instances, the writer of the communication does not mention the name of the person who is interested in employment with the Bureau, but confines his remarks to general requests for educational requirements and opportunities for employment and advancement in the Bureau. This file contains written requests on behalf of organizations and institutions, particularly schools, concerning the qualifications and requirements for employment with the Bureau. It is noted that the question may be raised at some future time as to what data was in fact furnished to the particular organization or institution. The Inspector felt that the retention of this type of correspondence for a five year period would be a sufficient length of time for reference purposes. If this recommendation is approved, Personnel Records Section will be able to destroy five sections of this file which go beyond the five year period and also the index cards pertaining thereto.

22. Accounting Zone Files

There are being maintained in the general files of the Personnel Records Section several folders captioned "Accounting Zone" or "Accounting District" dealing with accounting work in the New York, San Antonio, and San Francisco areas. The last material placed in these folders was dated in 1930, and apparently it was the requirement at that time for periodic submission of the status of the accounting work by individual cases then being handled in these accounting zones.

Interested Division --- Investigative Division.

23. Division Organizational Files.

In the past, it has been the practice of all Divisions at the Seat of Government to prepare on a monthly basis the outline of the organization of each Division showing by name all personnel assigned to the Division and listing the grade and salary. A survey of these organizational files maintained in the Personnel Records Section reveals that for the most part the submission of such organizational charts was discontinued in July, 1945. It is, however, the current practice of some Divisions to continue to prepare these organizational charts, and in one instance they are still being designated for the Organizational File in the Personnel Records Section. The Inspector felt that the retention of this type of material serves no definite purpose as illustrated by the discontinuance of the filing of this type of memoranda in July, 1945. He therefore recommended that steps be taken to destroy all previously filed organizational charts consisting of approximately 26 volumes and that in the future should such charts be prepared for informational purposes in the various Divisions that they be treated as temporary memoranda and typed on pink memorandum form. It was recommended that when they have served their purpose they be destroyed. Should the old volumes presently in the file be destroyed, it will allow for one additional filing cabinet in the Personnel Records Section.

It should be noted that these files contain background data as to the organizational and personnel set up of the various divisions years ago, and the material may possess some historical archivial value. It is recommended therefore that these files be carefully reviewed before being destroyed.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

Memorandum for Mr. Nichols
Re: Destruction of Obsolete File and Index Material October 5, 1949

24. Interviews File

In the Personnel Records Section general files, there are presently being maintained six sections of files captioned "Interviews". This file was originally started in 1927, and the last serial contained therein stops in January, 1933. For the most part it deals with telephone and personal calls at the Seta of Government from prospective applicants for employment with the Bureau. It apparently was the practice to record each inquiry and each call received during the day, these all being incorporated into one memorandum for file. A check reveals that some of these calls were the cause for index cards being prepared as well as abstract slips recording the inquiry. A further check also reveals that in some instances the individual applicant file of the applicant contains a duplicate copy of this memorandum listing the fact that he had made an inquiry of the Bureau as to his prospects for employment here. This procedure has been discontinued and such inquiries are now recorded in longhand on the top serial of the individual applicant file as they are received.

Interested Division --- Administrative Division

RECOMMENDATION:

That the above listed material be reviewed by the interested Divisions and consideration given for its destruction. Any material of actual value should be earmarked for retention. The Records Section will provide representative samples upon request.

Reference is made to a memorandum from C. F. Downing to Mr. Harbo dated October 21, 1949, in the captioned matter requesting that certain items be destroyed provided the Security Division agrees.

According to referenced memorandum, the items to be destroyed are now in dead storage and are being retained for analytical purposes at some future date.

The Security Division is not in a position to judge the value, if any, of the material in dead storage. Referenced memorandum indicates that the material is being retained for analytical purposes at some future date. If analyzed in the future some of this material may be of value and assistance to the Security Division.

RECOMMENDATION:

The Security Division has no objection to the destruction of any of the material described in referenced memorandum if the Cryptanalysis-Translation Section believes it will be of no value at a future date in the solution or partial solution of espionage cases.

The Security Division, however, does not believe that any material relating to Bureau file 65-33780 (Kurt Frederick Ludwig, alias Joe K., Espionage - G) should be destroyed at this time.

ACTION:

To be forwarded to Mr. Harbo for any action deemed advisable.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM — UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : THE DIRECTOR

DATE: October 22, 1949

FROM : EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE

SUBJECT: Destruction of Obsolete File and Index Material

Bureau Property

The Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Rosen, Nease, Fletcher, Ladd, Carlson, Mohr, Parsons, Tracy, Glavin and Nichols considered the suggestion arising from the recent inspection of the Records and Communications Division that certain of the old files material be destroyed.

Illustrative of this material is the Alien Enemy Control Index, Miscellaneous Reports of the Dies Committee, three file cabinets of books, pamphlets, and papers relating to radical organizations collected from 1914-1918.

The Conference was unanimous that we include this material in the program of microfilming, that it would be most inadvisable to destroy any of this material, and accordingly, the Conference recommended that portion of the inspection report pertaining to the destruction of old files, etc., be disregarded.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE FILE AND INDEX MATERIAL

During the recent inspection of the Records Section, the disposal of obsolete records was again considered. As you may well appreciate, the Records Section is faced with a critical space shortage and also with a constant need for expansion due to current receipts. If at all possible, something should be done immediately to make available more space.

There is described below file material kept by the Records Section that is of interest to your Division. It occupies floor and cabinet space, yet now appears to be obsolete and of little or no value. It is requested that you have someone review it to determine if you agree that it may be destroyed at this time. The Records Section will provide representative samples upon request.

It will be appreciated if you will give this matter immediate attention so as to provide the Records Section with some much-needed cabinet space.

Miscellaneous

There is one drawer containing manuals of instructions for Special Agents and stenographers dated 1937 and prior thereto. There have never been any requests for this material. It was ascertained that this same material is contained in the Manual Files.

Press Releases

These press releases refer to kidnapping and other investigative cases which were handled by the Bureau during the years 1932 to 1936 inclusive. Copies of these releases are filed in the case file to which they are related. Extra copies of these releases are presently in the files on the eighth floor. When one copy is in file the others should be considered for destruction. This does not appear to be a matter for which the Archives would have an interest. It is apparent that much of this material was at one time maintained by a Supervisor. It includes many photographs, fingerprints and other similar bits of material as well as press releases.

Accounting Zone Files

There are being maintained in the general files of the Personnel Records Section several folders captioned "Accounting Zone" or "Accounting District" dealing with accounting work in the New York, San Antonio, and San Francisco areas. The last material placed in these folders was dated in 1930, and apparently it was the requirement at that time for periodic submission of the status of the accounting work by individual cases then being handled in these accounting zones.

It is noted that in some instances you have already agreed with the Inspector that the listed material should be destroyed, and a notation appears where this holds true.

Property of Robert H. Laughlin
(Former Chief Clerk)

There are two drawers of material formerly maintained by Mr. Laughlin which relates to baseball and other sports as well as copies of FBI memoranda, pamphlets and personnel material which was used as ticklers. There have been no calls for this material since it has been maintained on the eighth floor. An examination of the material revealed that it pertains to athletic activities handled by the Chief Clerk's Office and Mr. Laughlin was formerly assigned to that office.

Blue Slips } They cannot be destroyed at any time - they are original expenditure records.

Four cabinets and two drawers of a fifth cabinet contain blue slips regarding the payments of confidential informants in connection with investigations regarding Bureau cases from 1913 to 1931. All blue slips from 1931 to date are being retained and not considered for destruction. These must be retained

There is one drawer containing Dies Committee Reports, Economical Act To Purchase And Charter Foreign Vessels and similar material. No requests have been made for this material during the past fifteen years.

Miscellaneous

Status procedure pertaining to national defense, investigative facilities of the FBI and numerous copies of other miscellaneous pamphlets are being retained and there has been no requests for this material during the past five years.

Congressional Records

Congressional Records contained in the Chief Clerk's Office are kept for three years and destroyed. This particular material dates from 1946 to the present. It is to be noted that a permanent copy of each Congressional Record is maintained in the Publication Files. The Chief Clerk's material contains copies which frequently are not available in the Publication Files. One complete set of Congressional Records should be maintained in Crime Records Section but other copies are not deemed necessary and it is suggested that they be destroyed. It is suggested that the missing copies from the Publication Files be replaced.

Clerical Tests File

There are presently being maintained in the general files of the Personnel Records Section three sections of a file captioned "Clerical Tests". This file consists of quarterly listings of the grades of clerical personnel regarding their shorthand and typing abilities. The last serial in this file is dated in July, 1942 and it is the present practice to incorporate this type of data into the general files pertaining to the individual division at the Seat of Government.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Outstanding Recommendations File

The material contained in this file, which comprises three sections, is dated from 1937 through February, 1941, and consists of a listing regarding the status of various recommendations that have been made as of that time pertaining to appointments and promotions. It appears that these listings are recapitulations submitted on a monthly or a bimonthly basis and were at that time informative in nature.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

File Pertaining to Applicants Referred to Interviewing Officials

During the period immediately preceding the entry of the United States into World War II an intensive recruiting program was instituted throughout the United States, designed to secure qualified applicants for employment by the Bureau. At that time there were built up six sections of files dealing with the names of these applicants that had been referred for interview from the Seat of Government to the various offices throughout the country. The last serial contained in this file is dated in October of 1940, and it is the consensus of opinion among employees of the Personnel Records Section that it has not been removed from file for reference purposes for several years past. The file for the most part consists of long lists of names and addresses of prospective agent applicants.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Applicant General File

It is the present practice to file correspondence pertaining to applicants interested in Bureau employment into a general applicant file whenever the correspondence does not include a formal application. After five pieces of this type of mail are received and included in the general file, a specific applicant file is removed therefrom and becomes the basis for a specific applicant file concerning the applicant. Contained in this file are letters from youngsters seeking employment with the Bureau or inquiring as to the educational qualifications necessary for a Special Agent's position after they grow up. Also there is correspondence received from individuals who obviously are not qualified for employment with the Bureau. In other words, it is a general repository of applicant mail dealing with general applicant matters and not specifically with potential future employees. The safeguard has been previously established that if the individual is a potential future employee that upon receipt of the fifth piece of mail a specific applicant file is opened and all previously received correspondence is incorporated in the new applicant file.

In May of 1946 a project was completed encompassing the review and destruction of 132 sections of this file on the basis that they were of no further value and should not be retained. As a result of this project, all of the index cards pertaining to these serials were removed from file, there being 17,270 serials destroyed.

It was recommended that all serials contained in this file which are over five years old be destroyed at the present time and consideration be given to reducing this period of retention to a three year period. It was likewise recommended that the destruction of old material be done under competent supervision on an individual serial basis on a long range project so as to insure that no information deemed to be of future value be destroyed. As the serials are destroyed arrangements should be made to remove the index cards pertaining to these serials from the indices.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Anonymous Applicant File

This consists of two sections of files containing anonymous informal applications for employment with the Bureau. The last serial in this file was received in the Bureau in October of 1947. It has been the practice to file this type of communication without indexing since the individual writing the letter has neglected to sign his name thereto, and consequently there is no indexing that can be accomplished on this type of mail.

It was recommended that this file be destroyed and that any similar type of communication received in the future be destroyed upon receipt.

Mr. Glavin concurred in the recommendation for destruction.

Interviews - Identification Division

There is presently being maintained in the Personnel Records Section a general file folder captioned as above. This folder contains eight serials, running from February to October, 1930, consisting of memoranda submitted by the Identification Division recording interviews of officials of the Identification Division conducted during that period of time. It appears to serve no further value as reference material.

Unnamed Applicant File

The above-captioned file consists of communications received from individuals interested in securing job qualifications for applicants for positions with the Bureau. The writer of the communication is not interested in employment himself, however, he is securing the information for an individual whom he does not name.

It was recommended that on correspondence presently being maintained for a longer period of time than three years be destroyed. If this recommendation should be approved, it would enable the Personnel Records Section to destroy three sections of this file and to remove from the indices index cards pertaining to this correspondence. It is likewise pointed out that this file contains some inquiries by Congressmen or prominent individuals and accordingly consideration should be given as to whether three years is sufficient in which to answer any subsequent inquiries. I have no objection —

Personnel Inquiries File

The above-captioned file is utilized to house inquiries and answers received from the individuals who are interested in securing information for other people regarding possibilities of employment with the Bureau. In many instances, the writer of the communication does not mention the name of the person who is interested in employment with the Bureau, but confines his remarks to general requests for educational requirements and opportunities for employment and advancement in the Bureau. This file contains written requests on behalf of organizations and institutions, particularly schools, concerning the qualifications and requirements for employment with the Bureau. It is noted that the question may be raised at some future time as to what data was in fact furnished to the particular organization or institution. The Inspector felt that the retention of this type of correspondence for a five year period would be a sufficient length of time for reference purposes. If this recommendation is approved, Personnel Records Section will be able to destroy five sections of this file which go beyond the five year period and also the index cards pertaining thereto. No objection here K

In the past, it has been the practice of all Divisions at the Seat of Government to prepare on a monthly basis the outline of the organization of each Division showing by name all personnel assigned to the Division and listing the grade and salary. A survey of these organizational files maintained in the Personnel Records Section reveals that for the most part the submission of such organizational charts was discontinued in July, 1945. It is, however, the current practice of some Divisions to continue to prepare these organizational charts, and in one instance they are still being designated for the Organizational File in the Personnel Records Section. The Inspector felt that the retention of this type of material serves no definite purpose as illustrated by the discontinuance of the filing of this type of memoranda in July, 1945. He therefore recommended that steps be taken to destroy all previously filed organizational charts consisting of approximately 26 volumes and that in the future should such charts be prepared for informational purposes in the various Divisions that they be treated as temporary memoranda and typed on pink memorandum form. It was recommended that when they have served their purpose they be destroyed. Should the old volumes presently in the file be destroyed, it will allow for one additional filing cabinet in the Personnel Records Section.

It should be noted that these files contain background data as to the organizational and personnel set up of the various divisions years ago, and the material may possess some historical archivial value. It is recommended therefore that these files be carefully reviewed before being destroyed.
They have been very helpful several times in the past - K

Interviews File

In the Personnel Records Section general files, there are presently being maintained six sections of files captioned "Interviews". This file was originally started in 1927, and the last serial contained therein stops in January, 1933. For the most part, it deals with telephone and personal calls at the Seat of Government from prospective applicants for employment with the Bureau. It apparently was the practice to record each inquiry and each call received during the day, these all being incorporated into one memorandum for file. A check reveals that in some instances the individual applicant file of the applicant contains a duplicate copy of this memorandum listing the fact that he had made an inquiry of the Bureau as to his prospects for employment here. This procedure has been discontinued and such inquiries are now recorded in longhand on the top serial of the individual applicant file as they are received.

No need to keep these 5/10/17

Reference is made to the memorandum from Mr. Nichols to you in captioned matter, dated October 11, 1949, wherein it was suggested that certain materials being held in the Records Section be reviewed for the purpose of determining if the same might be destroyed to make available more space. A review has been made of sample portions of the material made available by Records Section and the following observations are made:

1. Press Releases — this material destroyed

It would appear that there would be no objection to the destruction of any duplicate press releases after it has been first definitely determined that a copy of the press release is being maintained in the case file.

2. Accounting Zone Files

These files contain the efficiency reports of the accountants, some of whom are still presently employed in the Bureau. It is not believed, therefore, that these files should be destroyed. New York Accounting Zone file is attached and your attention is called to serial 67-8317-36.

3. Photographs, Fingerprints, and Miscellaneous Materials

The samples reviewed consisted of a copy of a report of Special Agent H. S. Boone, dated Des Moines, Iowa, 12/10/37, in the case entitled "Joseph Hanley, with aliases - FUGITIVE, I. O. 1268; Ernest K. Newman - Victim. Kidnaping; Federal Escape Act; National Motor Vehicle Theft Act."; copies of fingerprints and palmprints submitted by the Sheriff of Dane County, Madison, Wisconsin, apparently for examination on a latent print report marked No. 689583; photographs of latent prints submitted by the West Virginia State Police, Martinsburg, West Virginia, Identification fingerprint number 658553. It would appear, therefore, that material of this type should be maintained or other disposition made on the basis of a recommendation from the Identification Division.

Reference is made to your memorandum of October 11, 1949, reflecting that one file drawer maintained on the 8th floor contains old Bureau manuals which should be considered for destruction as a part of the over-all destruction of obsolete material recommended during the recent inspection.

This material was reviewed by Messrs. Boswell and Mobley of this Division and found to be of no value. This material is duplicated in the master manual file of the Chief Clerk's Office and can be destroyed.

Reference is made to a memorandum from Mr. Nichols dated October 11, 1949, requesting a review of the material mentioned below to determine if it can be destroyed.

I. POLYGRAPH RECORDS

A separate memorandum is being prepared for file No. 80-5 suggesting that the Polygraph Records be destroyed. ← not prepared records to be kept permn.

II. LABORATORY FILES

These files are dated from 1934 through 1936 and consist of correspondence, worksheets, and original evidence in Laboratory and single fingerprint cases where no Bureau File Number has been assigned. They are filed numerically by Laboratory numbers. Inasmuch as the files contain original evidence and correspondence not duplicated in other Bureau files it is believed that they should not be disposed of. However, it was noted that the majority of the cases contained only one or two serials and it is believed by consolidating this material, in a limited number of folders, a saving in space would be effected.

III. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

Approximately 300 of these write-ups, dated 1930 through 1934 are maintained in correspondant type folders. They consist of yellow copies of the write-up and are filed in numerical order. In addition there are two index systems, one in a loose leaf notebook listing the cases by number and the other, an elaborate 5x8 inch card system with a case classification break-down (Kidnapping, WSTA, etc.) In view of the age of these write-ups they have little value at this time and the card index system has outlived its usefulness. The loose-leaf index is attached with a memorandum directed to the Record Section for filing in the general Laboratory File No. 80-11.

IV. BOOKS

Several books and pamphlets of a technical nature were among the materials reviewed. It is suggested that this material be forwarded to the Physics and Chemistry section in order that they may determine whether any of the books are of value and if so they should be added to the Laboratory Library.

V. FILES OF DOCTOR FREDERICK L. HOFFMAN

This is a collection of books, papers, reports, etc. on homicide, capital punishment, and general crimes, which were given to the Bureau in 1935 by Frederick L. Hoffman, who was attached to the University of Pennsylvania at that time. (Bufile No. 62-22444-391,397). This material was reviewed and appears to be of no interest to the Laboratory and if it is of no interest to the Crime Records Section or to any other division it is suggested that it be destroyed.

SUBJECT: CARD INDEX SYSTEM

Bufile # 305 37775

It was noted during the check of the license numbers being indexed by the Portland Division that a considerable number of index cards prepared on these license numbers were old and of no value. In view of the fact that there are no instructions as to the destruction of these cards after they have served their purpose, it is thought that systematic destruction of these cards, which would save space in various field offices, should be worth considering. One possible solution might be that at the beginning of 1950 a tab be set up with 1950 on it and placed just to the rear of the index cards presently being maintained on these license numbers, and that all 1950 numbers be filed thereafter behind this tab. After a reasonable period of time has elapsed it is thought that the index cards previously made upon license numbers could then be destroyed.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : MR. CLEGG

FROM : H. C. BOSWELL

Destruction of Bureau Property (General)

SUBJECT: MANUAL OF RULES AND REGULATIONS

Purpose:

To obtain authority to include in the Manual of Rules and Regulations additional clarifying instruction regarding the destruction of files when contents become one and three years old.

Background:

Section 6J (3) of the Manual of Rules and Regulations lists the files which may be destroyed when the most recent serial therein is one year old. Section 6J (4) lists those files which may be destroyed when the most recent serial in a section of the file is three years old.

By SAC Letter No. 103, dated 11-9-49, the field was instructed to set up a number of specific administrative files and was advised that in the future, SAC Letters and Bureau bulletins would so far as possible bear a caption corresponding with one of these files in order that there might be a uniform system of filing instructions, etc. In view of SAC Letter No. 103, there were provided a number of administrative files not covered by the instructions in Section 6J (3) and (4). In order that there might be a uniformity in handling correspondence in these various files, it appears desirable to include in the Manual of Rules and Regulations specific instructions as to those files in which the contents may be destroyed at the expiration of one year and to list those files in which the contents may be destroyed when the most recent serial therein is three years old.

Suggestion:

It is suggested that there be included in the next revision of the Manual of Rules and Regulations a break down of the files in which the contents may be destr when they become one year old as follows:

Addressograph Ammunition
Bills of Lading - Incoming Bills of Lading - Outgoing Films
Fiscal Control Members Forms
GTRs
Property - Nonexpendable charge-out system
Recreation Association - Inventory Supplies
Telephones and teletypes
Week-end and night duty

It is suggested that the contents of the following files may be destroyed when the most recent serial therein is three years old:

Automobiles - general
Bureau Bulletins
Firearms
Household Goods - transportation Inventory
Jails - approved or condemned
Leave
Personnel - Conduct
Photographic equipment
Photostatic equipment
Radio - FM
Radio - CW Network
Receiving Slips - Nonexpendable
Receiving Slips - Expendable
SAC Letters
Salary matters
Surveillances
Technical Equipment
Technical plants

The current instructions that SAC Letters and Bureau bulletins contained in administrative files should be carefully examined before they are destroyed to insure that instructions which are still applicable and which will be of future value are retained, will remain in the Manual.

The files listed above are in the same caption as included in SAC Letter No. 103.

These files together with those covered already by instructions in the Manual of Rules and Regulations insofar as the destruction of contents is concerned leave the following files which each office was instructed to open:

Arraignment
Arrests
Confidential Informants
Employees' compensation - Civil Service Regulations Ament. - [illegible]
Law Enforcement Bulletins
Report Writing
Retirement
Searches and seizures
Source of Information

No provision is made for the destruction of correspondence in these files since the subject matter of these files is such that it should be retained permanently.

Recommendation:

It is recommended that authority be given for amending Section 6J (3) and (4) of the Manual of Rules and Regulations to include data regarding additional files, the contents from which may be destroyed at one and three year intervals.

(D) ADMINISTRATIVE - INDEXING -- During World War II, passenger lists of individuals arriving in the United States by plane or vessel were obtained by various offices and the names of these lists were indexed. In most instances, there was contacted on this list nothing other than names of those entering the United States. However, in some instances descriptive data, background material or derogatory information was furnished regarding some of the passengers.

These lists should be destroyed providing they contain no descriptive data, background material or derogatory information. The index cards pertaining to the Lists which are destroyed should be destroyed as they are encountered by the clerical employees working with the indices. Index cards should not be destroyed if there is additional information in the files of the office regarding the persons named on these passenger lists.

It is also desired that in the future, index cards or motor numbers, serial numbers, or license numbers of automobiles when such index cards are over five years old be eliminated as encountered by the clerical employees working with the indices.

It is not desired that a special project be made to eliminate the index cards pertaining to passenger lists or those relating to motor numbers, serial numbers, and license numbers over 5 years old.

AS AMENDED

PURPOSE:

To advise of certain observations made by the Correlation and Review Unit concerning the reviewing of daily technical surveillance summaries and to make recommendations in connection therewith. X

BACKGROUND:

During the preparation of correlation memoranda, as well as various special memoranda, it has been observed that considerable time of the Supervisor is required to review and summarize information appearing in daily summaries of technical surveillance logs furnished by the Washington Field Office. These summaries are most frequently those from the Sub 1 file of the Gregory case and from similar files maintained for the summaries of technical surveillances on the various Embassies in Washington, D. C. It is practically impossible to summarize these references inasmuch as the true meaning might be distorted and, accordingly, the Supervisors preparing correlation memoranda are now following the practice of quoting entirely the pertinent portions of the technical surveillance summaries. In many instances, this necessitates the copying of much material which is of little, if any, value except possibly as investigative leads. In this regard, it is noted that a considerable amount of material is of a purely personal character and, therefore, would seem to have no significance or value. X (U)

It has also been observed that pertinent information obtained during the course of a technical surveillance, already summarized in the Sub 1 file, is also reported in a report, letter or teletype from the Washington Field Office. In many instances, it is only when the information is reported in one of these communications that the true meaning of the reference in the Sub 1 file becomes clear. X (U)

Due to the numerous sections of the Sub 1 files of daily technical surveillance summaries and the many references contained therein, it is extremely difficult, if not at times impossible, to prepare complete and reliable summaries for the Director expeditiously. Oftentimes the Director finds it necessary to request complete information on an individual immediately prior to a conference with that person. The problem of attempting to review and correlate the information in hundreds of files is obvious and is made more difficult because of the numerous references in the daily technical surveillance summaries. This problem is further emphasized by the fact that these summaries X (U) are reviewed time and again but seldom, if ever, is any pertinent information found which does not already appear in a report or other communication from the Washington Field Office. XU

Research for information relative to the forwarding of these daily technical surveillance summaries to the Bureau disclosed that the preparation of these summaries apparently is peculiar to the Washington Field Office and that they were originally prepared in order that they might immediately supply information to the Bureau. No other field office appears to have furnished the Bureau with detailed daily summaries of technical surveillance logs. It is, of course, realized that the Washington Field Office had a peculiar problem during the war involving the coverage of the Embassies in that it was necessary that the Bureau be promptly furnished a summary of the information obtained during the coverage of the Embassies. In other words, the primary purpose for submitting these summaries to the Bureau appears to have been that the Bureau be furnished with current information daily in order that appropriate action might be taken. XU

The matter of submitting the summaries of the technical surveillances on the Gregory case to the Bureau by the Washington Field Office was discussed by Supervisor J. S. Ammarell with Supervisor R. L. Jones of the Espionage Section on November 17, 1949. Supervisor Jones advised that the MI and the KAP summaries submitted by the Washington Field Office were discontinued on November 15, 1949. Supervisor Jones explained that originally these summaries were submitted to the Bureau in connection with the Gregory investigation because the Bureau Supervisors handling that case desired to see the summaries daily and have them indexed with the thought that they might note some information of value which the Washington Field Office might miss. Supervisor Jones stated that after doing this for some time the Supervisors concluded that while they still desired to examine these summaries daily they no longer felt it necessary to index them. He said that finally they concluded that it was no longer necessary to see the daily summaries and, accordingly, instructions were issued to the Washington Field Office on November 15, 1949, to discontinue furnishing these summaries to the Bureau. XU

At the present time the Bureau is receiving the technical surveillance summaries from the Washington Field Office on the Soviet Embassy and on the Jewish Agency for Palestine. It is noted that Assistant Director R. T. Harbo in a memorandum to the Records Section on June 15, 1948, instructed that only confidential files with a cover memorandum are to be retained in the Records Section with the exception of the Confidential File EP on the Jewish Agency for Palestine. This confidential file is being filed in Records while all other confidential summaries are to be returned to Supervisor R. L. Jones. Supervisor Jones advised that after reading the other confidential summaries they were returned to the Washington Field Office. XU

Supervisor J. S. Ammarell discussed the possibility of eliminating the daily technical surveillance summaries from review in the Bureau with Supervisor George Medler of the Records and Communications Division. Supervisor Medler subsequently discussed the problem with Mr. Waikart, Section Chief of the Records Section, Records and Communications Division. Supervisor Medler advised that he and Mr. Waikart agreed that considerable time would be saved in the Files and Records Sections if the daily technical surveillance summary references no longer would be reviewed. He pointed out that a considerable amount of time is required to write up the numerous file references, pull the files, and locate files since they are so frequently requested. Supervisor Medler also stated that he and Mr. Waikart were in favor of the suggestion. X(4)

Due to the many references contained in a single section of the Sub 1 files containing these summaries, several Supervisors often request identical sections at the same time. This adds to the confusion and increases the number of special locates. The physical handling and examination of the daily technical surveillance summary references account for a considerable portion of the clerical time in the file room as well as clerical and supervisory time in the Correlation and Review Unit. Thus, it logically follows that the elimination of these summaries from review will eventually lead to a considerable saving in clerical and supervisory time in the Bureau. X(4)

It appears that the Bureau has been receiving these daily technical surveillance summaries from the Washington Field Office for a considerable period of time, even prior to the beginning of World War II. However, it is believed that since October, 1942, pertinent information obtained during the course of technical surveillances has been incorporated in appropriate investigative reports. SAC Letter No. 66, Series 1942, dated October 21, 1942, advised all SAC's that in addition to the weekly summaries which were to be furnished to the Bureau in connection with technical surveillances, it was desired that pertinent information be incorporated in an appropriate investigative report for inclusion in the regular case file. X (4)

In view of these instructions and since the submission of these daily technical surveillance summaries to the Bureau appears to be peculiar to the Washington Field Office, it is believed that these references should no longer be reviewed in the Bureau. It is apparent that the primary reasons for submitting these summaries were in order to give the Supervisor at the Bureau an opportunity to be currently advised of activities and to take appropriate action. It seems that the subsequent indexing of the summaries merely has made more burdensome the reviewing of the information on file on any one individual. In this connection, your attention is specifically referred to the fact that in connection with the Gregory case, it has been X(4) decided that it is no longer necessary to index the references in the daily summaries and recently the submission of these summaries to the Bureau has been discontinued. Inasmuch as we are no longer indexing the daily summaries on the Gregory case, it seems useless to review the numerous references indexed in summaries on the same case in past years. It is not believed that pertinent information will be lost by discontinuing the review of the references in the daily technical surveillance summaries. X(4)

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That references in the daily technical surveillance summaries no longer be reviewed at the Bureau and that instructions be issued to the Files Section to discontinue writing up these references. X(4)

2. That consideration be given to destroying the daily technical surveillance summaries received from the Washington Field Office in the Gregory case and in those files maintained on the technical surveillances of the various Embassies during World War II. In this connection, it is noted that the original daily summaries and technical surveillance logs are maintained on file in the Washington Field Office and that where the exact time, date, and wording of information in these logs are necessary it may be secured by contacting that office in the same manner as is done with other Bureau offices. X(4)

3. That if the daily technical surveillance summaries are destroyed, all index card references in these summaries be withdrawn from the General Indices and destroyed. Thus, we would materially advance our present efforts to purge our constantly increasing index system by eliminating thousands of cards. X(4)

ADDENDUM:

I agree with the foregoing recommendation. I have checked with Supervisor Oberndorf, of the Washington Field Office, and pertinent information received from all technicals is always reported to the Bureau either in report form or by letter or teletype, when required. The daily summaries of log information are therefore duplication on an over-all basis. I have instructed that all daily summaries be discontinued, including those named in the last paragraph on page two. X(4)

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: CARD INDEX DATING FROM 1914 - 1920

There is attached hereto a memorandum recommending the disposal of an old index, maintained by the Records Section, which contains cards dating from about 1914 to 1920. These cards are no longer referred to by anyone in the Bureau, and because of their age and the fact that most of the material referred to is contained in our regular files, there is no further need for their retention.

In view of the fact that Miss Gandy has had some interest in these cards in the past, her views were obtained as to the advisability of their disposal, and she agreed that these cards should be destroyed. Miss Gandy also advised that Mr. J. S. Egan should be contacted in this regard to obtain his views. Mr. Egan concurred with the recommendation that the index be disposed of.

Respectfully,

F. W. Waikart

Destruction of Bureau Property

There is presently maintained on the eighth floor of the Department of Justice Building, in the area from 8209 to 8215, an index of 5 x 8 cards dating back before World War I. This index initially constituted what is now known as the security index, and could be more aptly described as abstracts as all reference data contained therein was originally excerpts from our files. There are 208 drawers of these cards with an average of about one thousand cards each, making a total of 208,000 in all.

The Records Section, as you know, has been surveying all of the material on the eighth floor which is in our custody, with the thought in mind of either moving it to the Identification Building or considering it for destruction.

The Service Unit has never received a call for a search of these cards, and Mr. Seyfarth, who is more familiar with the history of this index, cannot recall the last time he had occasion to make reference to same; thus, the following recommendation that we destroy all cards contained therein.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the above described index be destroyed as all information appearing on these cards was orginally extracted from Bureau correspondence and, of course, such data in our files is available through a search in the general index; also that the wooden cabinets which housed these cards be disposed of, as all are of an obsolete size and beyond repair.

Reference is made to the attached memorandum to Mr. Nichols dated December 29, 1949, concerning the destruction of certain Time and Expense Reports for Bureau Accountants for the dates approximately 1922 to 1926.

Mr. Pennington has indicated that he does not feel that this material is of value. It is believed that it should be destroyed and that it may be destroyed without further clearance under National Archives general schedule No. 5. This schedule, promulgated pursuant to the Records Disposal Act, authorizes the destruction of many fiscal and accounting records together with their supporting papers after a period of 5 years or less, and is considered sufficiently broad to cover the material in question.

Recommendation:

That this memorandum be referred to the Records Section for the destruction of this material without further clearance with Archives.

DESTRUCTION OF OLD POSTING SECTION MANUAL

The new Posting Section Manual dated December 1, 1949 has been issued and all of the old manuals issued in 1941 have been returned or otherwise accounted for.

Manual #5 issued to Helen R. Fitzgerald was reported lost.

It is requested that permission be granted to destroy both the control and the old manuals inasmuch as they are of no further use to the Bureau.

In accordance with the Director's recent notation, "I want Tolson, Clegg, Ladd, and Nichols to immediately consider over-all procedure re destruction of any and all records and submit recommendations for any such continued procedure," a survey has been made of the material now being destroyed at the Seat of Government and in the field, the results of which are set forth in the attached memorandum.

The Records Disposal Act, approved by Congress 7/7/43, amended 7/6/45, is the basic law governing the preservation or destruction of government records. It defines the material included in the term "records" and authorizes the destruction of material which does not fall within the meaning of the term "records." It provides the circumstances under which obsolete material may be authorized for destruction, through the submission of "Disposal Lists." Recurring material is authorized for destruction upon the submission of "Disposal Schedules." Certain material common to many or all government agencies may be destroyed under the Act upon the authority of "General Schedules," approved by Congress at the request of Archives. The Act covers all types of government records and provides that no "records" shall be disposed of except in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

Much of the material presently being destroyed in the Bureau is non-record in character and requires no outside authorization for its destruction. An example is the tickler copy of a memorandum. A considerable amount of obsolete material, as for instance old Bertillon cards covering the period 1903 - 1924, has been destroyed upon the authority of Disposal Lists submitted by the Bureau and approved by Archives and Congress. Other material is being destroyed on a continuing basis upon the authority of General Schedules. Examples are leave requests covered by a general schedule relating to personnel records, and obsolete mailing lists covered by a general schedule concerning records of informational services and relations with the public. Additional material is being destroyed by the Bureau in accordance with Disposal Schedules. An example is the schedule, approved in 1946, authorizing the destruction of closed field office files more than 25 years old.

Certain other material not falling clearly within the aforementioned categories is also being destroyed currently, and additional Disposal Schedules are being recommended in the attached memorandum in order to clarify the situation. In this connection, the Criminal Division, by memorandum dated 2/8/50, indicated that the intention of the preparing agency is a governing factor in determining whether any given material shall be classified as "record" or "non-record" and hence, many of the Disposal Schedules suggested may be unnecessary. No change in the type of material presently being destroyed is recommended.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

RECORDED INDEXED 66-3286-3

1. That the Disposal Schedules suggested in the attached memorandum be prepared by the Bureau Records Officer, Frank W. Waikart, and submitted to Archives.

Prior to the preparation of the schedules, however, it is suggested that the Records Officer discuss the schedules with the Justice Department Records Officer and the Archives representative, in order to eliminate any considered unnecessary under their interpretations of the Disposal Act and Archives regulations.

2. That in the future, all materials dealing with the destruction or disposal of Bureau records be referred to the Bureau Records Officer prior to the disposal of such material for a determination as to whether it is necessary to obtain additional Disposal Schedules, or Disposal Lists.

3. That a brief statement containing the pertinent provisions of the Records Disposal Act be added to the Supervisors' Manual and to the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

In accordance with the Director's instruction, a survey was made with reference to the captioned matter, the results of which are set out hereinafter.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this survey was to determine what material is being destroyed currently and whether or not this destruction is authorized or requires authorization under existing statutes.

LEGISLATION

Records Disposal Act, approved July 7, 1943, as amended July 6, 1945. Title 44, Section 366 - 380, U. S. Code

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 1-27-82 BY SP4 ELW/kkc

This Act provides conditions under which government records may be destroyed. It defines the term "records" as "All books, papers, maps, photographs, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristic, made or received by any agency of the U. S. Government in pursuance of Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency..." The Act further provides that certain material, such as "extra copies of documents preserved only for convenient reference (ticklers), and stocks of publications and of processed documents" are not included in the definition of the word "records," and may be destroyed at will. "Records," on the other hand, can be destroyed legally only upon compliance with regulations promulgated by National Archives under the provisions of the Act.

The records destroyed must be included in (1) Disposal Lists, (2) Disposal Schedules, (3) General Schedules, or (4) be covered by emergency authorization. The Act provides that Disposal Lists or Disposal Schedules shall be submitted to the Archivist (through the Department of Justice). Congressional clearance on all lists and schedules is required. After the appraisal has been completed by the National Archives, the list or schedule with an accompanying appraisal report is transmitted by the Archivist to Congress where it is referred to the Joint Committee on the Disposition of Executive Papers. This Committee makes a report of its examination of and recommendations on the lists and schedules to the.

Senate and the House of Representatives. If favorable, this report constitutes the disposal authorization.

Disposal Lists cover the destruction of non-recurring records which are of no further value, as for instance Old Bertillon cards covering the period 1903 to 1924.

Disposal Schedules authorize the destruction of records of a recurring type after a given period of time on the premise that they are of no further value. An example is the schedule permitting destruction of copies of closed investigative reports in the field offices after they become 25 years old.

General Schedules. Section 4 of the Act authorizes the Archivist to request the issuance of General Schedules from the Joint Committee of Congress for the destruction of records common to any or all government agencies. Six such General Schedules have been issued. They relate to personnel records, selective service deferment records, records of informational services and relations with the public, mail and postal records, fiscal and accounting records, and bankruptcy records of the U. S. Courts of Bankruptcy.

Emergency Authorization. Section 10 of the Act authorizes the destruction of records without following the regular procedures "whenever the Archivist and the head of the agency that has custody of them shall jointly determine that any records in the custody of any agency of the U. S. Government are a continuing menace to public health or life or property. Section 11 authorizes the destruction of records outside the territorial limits of the continental United States "during the existence of a state of war between the United States and any other nation or when any hostile act by a foreign power appears imminent," whenever the head of an agency determines that their retention "would be prejudicial to the interest of the United States," or that they "occupy space urgently needed for military purposes and are ... without sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their continued preservation." In such a case the official who directed the disposal of the records should submit a written report thereon to the Archivist describing the character of such records and stating when and where the disposal was accomplished.

Section 15 of the Act provides that the procedures prescribed in the Act are exclusive and that no records of the U. S. Government shall be alienated or destroyed except in accordance with the Act. Section 2071 of Title 18, U. S. Code, provides certain penalties for the wilful destruction, concealment, etc., of records of the U. S. Government.

DEPARTMENTAL INTERPRETATION

By memorandum dated June 26, 1945, Mr. Andretta advised that duplicate copies of investigative reports or other material in the same file would be regarded as non-record and that only one copy need be considered as a record copy. He advised, therefore, that duplicate copies could be destroyed without the submission of Disposal Lists or Schedules providing they are in the same file.

Assistant Attorney General James M. McInerney, by memorandum to the Director dated February 8, 1950, furnished the Justice Department's interpretation of the Records Disposal Act (Section 366 - 380, Title 44, U. S. Code) and of the criminal provision (Section 2071, Title 18) with particular emphasis upon the destruction of disc recordings and the associated monitoring slips, and temporary memoranda.

The Criminal Division is of the opinion that such materials do not fall within the statute's definition of "records" and may be disposed of at will by the agency preparing them.

It is the Department's opinion that the words "preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency" appearing in the definition of records in Section 366, coupled with the Congressional Committee's explanation of the purpose of the Section leave no doubt that whether a particular document, paper or other record falls within the scope of this particular statute, depends entirely on whether the agency making it or having custody of it intends that the document be preserved. "If that agency does not intend that the particular document be preserved then the Act has no application. This is as it should be, for the agency making the record is, after all, the best qualified to make that decision since it is most familiar with the document and its 'administrative, legal, research, or other value, sufficient to warrant....preservation'."

Speaking of sound recordings, temporary memoranda, and other similar data relating to wire taps, the Department states, "It is readily apparent that these temporary memoranda, and other records, do not fall within the purview of this statute since they are not intended to be permanent records in the first instance."

It must be remembered that the foregoing Departmental opinion was furnished in answer to the specific question as to the legality of destruction of sound recordings and allied memoranda and does not, therefore, necessarily apply to the destruction of other types of records. It is interesting to note that considerable stress is laid upon the intent of the agency in determining whether records are temporary or permanent in nature. This interpretation, if applied to all types of records, would appear to broaden materially the authority of the Bureau to determine what records it may legally destroy without reference to Archives.

ARCHIVES' INTERPRETATION OF THE ACT

In determining what disposition should be made of records, Archives has set up certain tests which are necessarily only rough guides. Two points of view are to be considered:

1. The producing agency is responsible for determining the value of its records in connection with its own current or future operations and,

2. Archives considers the value of the records to the scholar and the private citizen, in addition to any future value the records may have to the producing agency.

These further guides have been suggested by Archives to be used by an agency in evaluating its records:

1. Values for administrative, legal and fiscal use by the government. These pertain to the normal, routine fuctions of the agency.

2. Values for the protection of the rights of the private citizen. An agency which becomes an "office of record" or a repository of information establishing various property rights, old age security, pensions, and citizenship status is responsible for the preservation of such records for whatever period is necessary to protect these rights. Archives points out, however, "that the Federal Government is not obligated to retain records that might incidentally or accidentally contain facts useful only to private litigants in settlement of disputes in which the government has no interest."

3. Values for functional documentation. Records of every agency containing the basic facts of its organizational structure and functions should be preserved. "They should show the policies followed and the reasons for their adoption, its working methods and its specific individual transactions, at least in an exemplary form."

4. Values for research. Operation, statistic, and scientific records of an agency may hold considerable interest for scholars and historians and thus would be appropriate for retention by the agency or by the Archives after ceasing to have current value to the agency.

A study of the text of the Archives' instructions on disposal of records indicates that any doubt as to whether material should be preserved indefinitely or destroyed should be resolved by presenting the matter to the Archives in the form of a Disposal List or Disposal Schedule in order that official approval may be obtained.

In discussing this question with Archives' representatives, however, the impression has been gained by Bureau representatives that Archives considers many of the Bureau's routine "housekeeping" correspondence and forms as non-record material which may be destroyed at will, without submission to Archives. It appears quite probable that this is a personal interpretation and hence subject to change with change of Archives' personnel. As a precaution against some future reversal of this opinion it would appear to be a safer course for the Bureau to have specific authority for the destruction of any record material not clearly covered by some Disposal List or Schedule.

MATERIAL PRESENTLY AUTHORIZED FOR DESTRUCTION

Specimens of the material destroyed at the SOG and in the field were obtained from the various Division at the SOG and from the Washington Field Office for study in connection with this survey.

The following material is representative of the records which are destroyed both at the SOG and in the field. This material is the type considered non-record on the basis of a study of the Act itself, the Departmental interpretation and the Archives interpretation of the Act:

Administrative intra-Bureau memoranda (Those containing information not intended for or appropriate for preservation as having no evidentiary or permanent informational value, the type formerly prepared on pink paper. Departmental interpretation clearly indicates that the intent of the agency at the time the memorandum is prepared is a governing factor.)
Administrative and Informative pages of reports sent out of the Bureau
Agents' original investigative notes
Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters
Corrected pages of reports, letters, etc.
Cover letters which are of no value in themselves
Daily reports of stenographers and typists
Delinquency reports of all kinds
Directories of all kinds
Duplicate assignment cards
Duplicate copies of criminal reports
Duplicate copies of inspection write-ups
Error slips
File charge-out and transfer slips
Gymnasium registers
Index cards of no further value
Magazines, journals and similar publications
Newspaper clippings
Press releases of other agencies
Recordings (see Departmental Interpretation concerning disc recordings)
Rough draft material
Routing slips
Stenographers notebooks
Stenographic notes
Tickler copies of reports, letters, etc.

Certain other matters peculiar to each Division are being destroyed as non-record and are not being listed in detail here.

Much of the material commonly disposed of in the Bureau is covered by the General Schedules. Representative of this type of material are leave requests covered by General Schedule #1 and mailing lists covered by General Schedule #3. Many old and obsolete records have been disposed of in the past by the Bureau pursuant to specifically obtained disposal lists. Also the Bureau has submitted and obtained clearance on certain Disposal Schedules. For instance, in connection with the handling of mail in the Identification Division, the Bureau obtained a Disposal Schedule, completed on 7/2/45(Job No. 345-5366), (66-3286-188X), which authorized the destruction of correspondence with state and local law enforcement agencies concerning fingerprint and criminal records after the information was posted to the Bureau's records, and considerable material is currently being destroyed pursuant to this authorization. An itemization is not being made of all of the specific records which are being disposed of pursuant to such Disposal Schedules. There are set out hereinafter suggested Disposal Schedules to cover those items now being destroyed which are not clearly covered by any existing Schedules.

66-19287-8

MATERIAL SUGGESTED FOR DISPOSAL SCHEDULES AT SOG

A review of the material being disposed of suggests the desirability of obtaining certain additional Disposal Schedules.

Item #1

1. Crime reports. Uniform Crime Reports received from police departments are incorporated into consolidated reports, copies of which are prepared for permanent retention. It is suggested that a Disposal Schedule permitting the destruction of these reports after they are three years old be obtained.

Item #2

2. Copies of correspondence from other Government agencies. Copies of letters, wires, cables, telegrams, etc., are frequently sent to the Bureau by other government agencies for purposes of general information. It is suggested that a Disposal Schedule be obtained permitting their destruction after perusal if they are of no value.

Item #3

3. Identification Division mail. It is suggested that an additional Disposal Schedule be obtained or the existing Disposal Schedule concerning Identification Division mail (Job No. 345-5366) be broadened to permit the destruction of mail from foreign police departments, other Federal agencies, and private individuals or corporations in order that it may be disposed of on the same basis as that received from other law enforcement agencies, that is, immediately after pertinent information has been posted to the permanent Identification records.

Item #4

4. Information, Bulletins, letters, reports, etc. Bulletins, reports, letters, etc., of an informative or intelligence nature are received from time to time from foreign governments, other Federal agencies or police agencies which are not believed, after review, to have information of permanent value to the Bureau. It is believed that a Disposal

Schedule permitting their destruction after perusal should be obtained.

5. Informative letters from field offices. Many routine letters of a temporary informative nature are received from field offices from time to time and which have no permanent value to the Bureau because the information in such letters is posted to inventory or other card records or is summary material already in Bureau records. This includes such letters as status letters, follow-up letters from the Bureau, etc. It is not felt that letters of this type need be permanently retained but that a Disposal Schedule should be obtained permitting their destruction after noting and making the appropriate entries on record cards to which they may relate.

6. Inventory records. It is suggested that an appropriate Disposal Schedule permitting the destruction of all inventory records three years old be obtained. Present regulations require a new inventory each two years.

7. Leave correspondence. Routine correspondence concerning leave matters and corrections in leave records, etc., are frequently received in the Bureau and have no permanent value. It is believed that the Schedule should permit their destruction immediately after such correspondence has been acknowledged.

8. Correspondence concerning movement of personnel. All correspondence relating to the movement of personnel is posted to movement cards in the Chief Clerk's Office and unless other information of value appears in the communication it serves no other purpose. It is recommended that the Bureau be permitted by Disposal Schedule to destroy all such correspondence after the pertinent information has been posted to the movement cards.

9. Radio intercepts. Material for cryptographic examination is received from time to time in the Cryptanalysis Section of the Laboratory. After the material has been deciphered, much of it is found to have no permanent value. Some of such material also is never deciphered. Much of this material received prior to 1945 has been destroyed. It is felt that a Disposal Schedule should be sought permitting the destruction of this material after a period agreed upon by the Laboratory as being adequate for its retention.

10. Sign-in registers. It is suggested that a Disposal Schedule be obtained to cover the disposition of daily sign-in registers at the SOG after a period of three years.

11. Supply and equipment requests. There appears to be no need to retain for any length of time routine correspondence from field offices requesting supplies, equipment or government property after the SOG has complied with the field request. It is believed that a Disposal Schedule permitting the disposal of such correspondence after the request has been handled should be obtained.

12. Correspondence with the public. Most routine correspondence with the public requesting miscellaneous information concerning the Bureau or from the Bureau's files does not appear to have any permanent value. It has been the practice in the Crime Records Section and the Identification division to either destroy much of such correspondence or return it after it has been answered. It is believed that a Disposal Schedule should be requested permitting the destruction of this material immediately after it has been answered. It is noted that General Schedule #3 provides for the retention of such miscellaneous correspondence for three months; however, it is believed that the Bureau's experience is such that we should request its destruction immediately. The retention of such correspondence, even for a three-month period, would cause considerable burden because of the volume.

It is observed that the Bureau has a practice, under certain circumstances, of returning correspondence to the sender with the information requested. For all practical purposes such correspondence is disposed of as far as the Bureau's files are concerned, and the disposition of most of such material is covered in existing Disposal Schedules. However, this type of correspondence was also taken into consideration in connection with the Disposal Schedules suggested above.

It is also pointed out that the destruction of records under Disposal Schedules, such as those suggested above, is permissive and not mandatory, and any given correspondence or class of correspondence can be retained for a period longer than that set forth in the above suggested schedules, if our experience indicates that to be desirable.

DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS IN FIELD OFFICES

The Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 6J, itemizes the material which may be destroyed in field offices. The following administrative files are destroyed on a monthly basis when the most recent serials are one year old:

17 — a. Addressograph
7 — b. Administrative files for Agents
8 — c. Administrative reports - Monthly
9 — d. Agents' daily reports
17 — e. Ammunition
18 — f. Assignment cards on closed cases
10 — g. Automobile Register Form - FD-73
11 — h. Automobiles - Individual car files when one year has elapsed since sale 17 — i. Films

j. Fiscal control numbers
k. Forms
l. GTRs. (only obsolete material of an instructional nature should be destroyed)
m. Gun vault charge-out records
n. Mailing list
o. Office memoranda
p. Recreation Association - Inventory
q. Register No. 2
r. Scientific training record forms - FD-41
s. Supplies
t. Telephones and teletypes
u. Transmittal letters - Checks and bonds
v. Visiting employees
w. Week-end and night duty

The following files are destroyed on an annual basis when the most recent serials are three years old:

a. Administrative - General
b. Automobiles - Accidents (Files relating to accidents should be retained without prior Bureau approval beyond the three year period when there has been a loss of life, or personal injury to a third party, or when there is a possibility of future damage suits.
c. Automobiles - General
d. Bureau Bulletins
e. Confidential fund
f. Firearms
g. Household goods - Transportation
h. Inspections
i. Inventory
j. Jails - Approved or condemned
k. Leave
l. Personnel - Conduct
m. Photographic equipment
n. Photostatic equipment
o. Property - Non-expendable charge-out system
p. Radio - FBI
q. Radio - CW Network
r. Receiving slips - Expendable
s. Receiving slips - Non-expendable
t. Register No. 1
u. SAC Letters
v. Salary Matters
w. Speech material. However, one copy of each interesting case write-up and other speech material of continuing interest shall be maintained in the files.
x. Surveillances
y. Technical equipment

z. Technical plants
aa. Vouchers - By name of companies
bb. Vouchers - General
cc. Files containing miscellaneous correspondence concerning speeches

The Bureau authorizes the destruction of the following types of files in whole or in part, depending upon the content of the file in each office, on an annual basis when the most recent serial is three years old:

1. Training files and FBI National Academy Correspondence
2. 32 - Fingerprint Identification Matters
3. 33 - Uniform Crime Reporting Matters
4. 80 - Public Relations
5. 94 - Research Matters
6. 95 - Laboratory Matters

All Bureau files in field divisions may be destroyed after they become 25 years old. Authority for this destruction was obtained from Archives in 1946 (66-3286-214X) under a Schedule which permits the destruction of closed files containing duplicate copies of investigative reports covering violations of Federal laws and related correspondence.

It is to be noted that certain of the files, or portions thereof, are included within the type of material already covered by one of the General Schedules, as for instance, mailing lists on law enforcement officials, covered by General Schedule #3, which authorizes destruction of the lists when they are superseded or become obsolete. Exactly what is covered by the authority is open to interpretation, particularly in view of the fact that the Bureau's instructions pertain to correspondence in administrative files on mailing lists as well as to the lists themselves.

Likewise, there is no complete uniformity in the field on the filing of material in administrative files. Some offices file considerable instructional and other "record" material in the administrative files, along with non-record correspondence. The Bureau recognizes this in its instructions to the field, which require a careful review of each file to insure against the destruction of current valuable material. It is true that in many instances the material in the field office file is duplicated in the SOG files and hence cannot be considered sole record copies. It must be remembered in this connection that under Archives' interpretation each file should stand independently when the question of destruction is considered.

Representative samples of the material destroyed in the field have been obtained from the Washington Field Office and are being made available to the Bureau Records Officer in order that each item may be discussed with an Archives' representative. Appropriate schedules should be prepared covering the items destroyed in the field which are not considered by the Department and Archives to be non-record material or material already covered by some schedule.

STATUS OF EVIDENCE

A study of the Records Disposal Act and available interpretative material indicates that this Act was not intended to relate to or control the disposition of material which is purely evidentiary in nature. The status of such material is under the control of the courts and it has been the policy of the Bureau to clear its destruction with the Criminal Division of the Department. Page 5A of the Supervisors' Manual provides certain requirements concerning the initialing of correspondence relating to the destruction of evidence. Material acquired by the Bureau as possible evidence but which is later determined to be clearly non-evidentiary in character, such as the known handwriting standards of four suspects in an extortion case when the fifth is identified as the subject, appears to be clearly non-record and can be disposed of at will.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That the Disposal Schedules suggested in this memorandum be prepared by the Bureau Records Officer, Frank W. Waikart, and submitted to Archives. Prior to the preparation of the Schedules, however, it is suggested the Records Officer discuss the schedules with the Justice Department Records Officer and the Archives representative, in order to eliminate any considered unnecessary under their interpretations of the Disposal Act and Archives regulations.

2. That in the future, all matters dealing with the destruction or disposal of Bureau records be referred to the Bureau Records Officer prior to the disposal of such material for a determination as to whether it is necessary to obtain additional Disposal Schedules or Disposal Lists.

3. That a brief statement containing the pertinent provisions of the Records Disposal Act be added to the Supervisors' Manual and to the Manual of Rules and Regulations. If this recommendation is approved, the necessary action will be taken.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLS

RE: FORM DJ-Al-2
THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
TIME AND EXPENSE REPORTS

Destruction of Records Property - Request

The Records Section has retained, over a period of years, forty-seven 3x5 index drawers containing Time and Expense Reports for Special Agent Accountants working on War Fraud Cases, dating from approximately 1922 to 1926. There has, of course, been no requests by any supervisor for this material, and it is the writers understanding that regular expense vouchers were submitted for the periods covered above. The captioned form apparently served as a supporting document only.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that authority be granted to destroy these Time and Expense Reports, as their usefulness has expired. There is attached hereto, the Time and Expense Report for Special Agent Accountant E. J. Armbruster, dated September 14, 1922, as an exhibit.

Reference is made to the attached file (44-52) on the "Fiery Cross" a newspaper published at Indianapolis, Indiana in the '20's. Serial 2 of this file consists of an issue of the paper dated July 7, 1923 containing a list of names and addresses totalling about 12,000 which were indexed into the Bureau's indices.

Although the identifying data on page one is now difficult to read with clarity because of missing segments, it appears that the claim is made that it is a copy of a list that purported to constitute membership of the Ku Klux Klan in Indianapolis. In its introduction the "Fiery Cross" denies the authenticity of this list as to Klan membership by stating it was in the first instance merely a poll of Protestant citizens of Indianapolis that was stolen and published in "Tolerance" by persons mistakingly claiming it to be a Klan list. The cover letter dated July 10, 1923, made no attempt to evaluate the list but merely forwarded the paper to the Bureau.

In any event the list itself is now twenty-seven years old and for the most part the persons listed on it would at the present time be old, inactive, or deceased, assuming they were adults in 1923.

Because the list is obviously obsolete and of questionable authenticity, the Bureau approved its elimination from review in the Loyalty Program (121-0-695). It is therefore believed that the names be purged from our indices.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the 12,000 names listed in the newspaper "Fiery Cross" dated July 7, 1923 be purged from the Bureau's records.

DESTRUCTION OF Bureau RECORDS General
(CORRESPONDENCE CONCERNING THE MOVEMENT OF AGENTS)

Reference is made to the attached memorandum to Mr. Nichols dated December 29, 1949, indicating that the Executive Conference approved the destruction of correspondence concerning the movement of Agents after the information had been posted to the movement cards and the correspondence had served its purpose in the Movement Section where it has been retained in the past for a period of 2 months.

In connection with the general survey being made concerning the destruction of records, a review made of the Records Disposal Act and the general schedules promulgated pursuant thereto failed to indicate that correspondence of this type is authorized for destruction at this time. It therefore appears that it will be necessary to prepare an appropriate communication to the Department requesting that a schedule be set up for the destruction of these records. Unless advised to the contrary, an appropriate request will be forwarded to the Department for transmittal to Archives in order that appropriate Congressional authority may be obtained for the destruction of this correspondence at the end of a 60-day period. This schedule will be prepared along with several others upon the completion of the survey concerning the subject matter.

In the meantime, it is suggested that all material of this type be maintained in the Movement Section pending the receipt of the approval from Congress.

Recommendation:

That correspondence concerning the movement of Agents be retained in the Movement Section pending the receipt of appropriate authority to dispose of it.

MR. TRACY January 25, 1950

W. W. BROMWELL

CORRESPONDENCE - DESTRUCTION OF Bureau Records

The destruction of correspondence was begun in the Identification Division back in the Fall of 1945 and it was at this time that the "Ident Files", which were maintained by the Records Section, were discontinued and procedure set up whereby certain types of correspondence were destroyed. Also, certain file copies of outgoing communications were discontinued. Some of the latter are recorded in a memorandum directed to you under my signature dated November 8, 1945, captioned IDENT FILES. These referred to file copies of forms used in the Recording Section and designated as R-17, R-101, R-116 and R-122. Additional file copies of forms used in the Recording Section were discontinued. This information is contained in a memorandum from me to you captioned IDENT FILES, dated November 21, 1945.

On November 21, 1945, I prepared a memorandum for you captioned IDENT FILES in which it was recommended that communications received in the Bureau informing of consolidations of two or more records should be destroyed after the action was taken.

During the Fall of 1945 conferences were held with representatives of the Records Section and additional correspondence was recommended for destruction. A recap of that which was recommended destroyed is contained in a memorandum under my signature captioned IDENT MAIL and dated November 23, 1945. The following types of correspondence had been recommended to be destroyed after they were handled:

1. All disposition sheets (R-84) and letters and communications which are purely disposition in content.
2. War Department returned to Military control forms (WD AGO Form 0190).
3. War Department corrections of names, numbers and addresses (WD AGO EBMI 1017).
4. War Department death notices (WD AGO 52-1).
5. All other death notices idented with a single print.
6. Letters of transmittal of photographs and/or disposition sheets.
7. Non-idented photographs.
8. Non-idented disposition sheets.
9. United States Board of Parole referral (Parole form 33-April, 1937).
10. War Department dishonorable discharges from Turlock, California.
11. War Department missing in action forms, 180 day letters.
12. War Department approval and disapproval forms relative to alien employment.

NOT RECORDED

COPY FILED

13. Contributor letters informing of consolidation of two or more records.
14. Letters of transmittal of fingerprints.
15. Letters requesting criminal records, descriptive data, photographs and present location.
16. Letters incorporating additional arrests not supported by fingerprints.
17. Contributor letters requesting corrections of previously furnished information.

On December 14, 1945, I prepared a memorandum to you captioned DESTRUCTION OF IDENT MAIL which refers to a recommendation by Mr. Cartwright that communications from the Field Offices requesting the delivery of fingerprint supplies be destroyed. This was later approved and put into practice.

Additional instructions regarding correspondence are set forth in a memorandum to all Supervisors and Sections of the Identification Division dated January 12, 1948, and issued by you. Copies of this memorandum were sent to Mr. Quinn Tamm, Mr. Logue, Mr. Cartwright, Crime Records Section, Records Section and the Bureau Mail Room. This memorandum covers, generally, the returning of original correspondence. A copy of this memorandum is attached.

The policy with regard to returning correspondence handled in the Identification Division is further governed by a memorandum dated March 15, 1949, from Mr. Clegg to Mr. Tolson, captioned DISPOSITION OF CERTAIN TYPES OF CORRESPONDENCE HANDLED IN THE IDENTIFICATION DIVISION. This memorandum sets up six categories with regard to handling destruction of mail. They are as follows:

1. Letters received from law enforcement officials or others entitled to information asking if an individual's fingerprints are or are not identical with another.
2. Letters from individuals informing us of their change of legal name.
3. Letters received from those entitled to a record, either in this country, or in a foreign country, asking whether or not we have the record of an individual.
4. Letters from individuals asking for a copy of their criminal record, or for information to which they are not entitled, and we do not return the correspondence because Bureau stamps have been placed thereon.
5. Letters from Police Departments enclosing fingerprints and asking for a search of the fingerprints through our files, and that they be advised of the results. Sometimes, we do this by letter, or advise that all the fingerprint cards for which they requested a search were not enclosed.
6. Letters received from law enforcement officials informing us that a wanted man is now incustody, and that the wanted notice should be cancelled.

Mr. O'Connor, in a memorandum to you dated May 5, 1949, recommended destruction of letters from insurance companies which ask for for information in our files regarding missing persons. This recommendation was approved by the Executive Conference on May 11, 1949.

For your information there are some samples of correspondence which destroyed in the various Secions of the Identification division.

SUGGESTION: That the present instructions authorizing the destruction of index cards on license numbers of automobiles after they are five years old be amended to permit destruction after they are eighteen months old.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Will reduce the number of cards in indices in field offices.
2. The indices will be more active and serviceable and the location of the files will be quicker.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Existing rules will provide a means for keeping a record for the maximum length of time these license numbers may be necessary or of pertinent interest.
2. Some states permit the continuance of the same number with merely a change in the year tag by a small device attached to the regular license plate; and the continuing use of this same number may be a matter of pertinent interest longer than a period of 18 months.
3. Inadequate information to justify any change in the existing regulations.

JOINT COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION: Unanimously unfavorable.

SUGGESTION: That the rule for the destruction of administrative files after the top serials have become three years old be modified so that the rule will not apply to files containing SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins.

ADVANTAGES:

1. References are made to old Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters from time to time with valuable results even though they are more than three years old.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. After three years, if the rule is a permanent one, it will have been incorporated in the Manual, and if it is advisory with continuing effectiveness, the Bureau Bulletin or SAC Letter should be reissued.

2. New Agents entering the service after the issuance of a Bulletin should have their attention called to the Bulletin or SAC Letter at three-year intervals if its contents are still valuable or effective.

3. Whenever the information in a Bulletin or SAC Letter pertains to any investigative technique, method, procedure or interpretation, or even to administrative files of permanent value, there is a method provided for in all field offices (the 00 files in which pertinent portions of this SAC Letter or Bulletin appear for permanent records), or as for administrative files, certain permanent administrative files have been established in each field office.

The Manual of Rules and Regulations has required for some time that administrative files (with certain exceptions) be disposed of when the top serials of such files become three years old. I have noted that the field generally has been applying this rule to the SAC Letter and Bureau Bulletin files. I have been giving thought recently to the desirability of exempting the SAC Letter and Bureau Bulletin files from the three year disposal rule.

At El Paso I found that the office has determined that the retention of SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins has been of definite value for reference purposes. Therefore the office has on hand Bureau Bulletins dating from October 1943 and SAC Letters dating from January 1944. The SAC and Chief Clerk there pointed out to me that on numerous occasions during the year they do find the reference material contained in such Bureau communications to have been of definite value. For this reason they have not destroyed these files.

Attached hereto is a copy of the administrative memorandum which was prepared covering this matter at El Paso, in which I specifically recommend that the Bureau give consideration to exempting Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters from the three year disposal rule for the reasons cited above.

ACTION RECOMMENDED: This is being brought to your attention specifically for appropriate handling.

ADMINISTRATIVE FILES

INSPECTOR NAUGHTEN: An examination of the pending administrative files in the El Paso Office revealed that they were being maintained in accordance with Bureau instructions.

An inspection of the closed administrative files reflects that all Bureau Bulletins dating from October 1943 and SAC Letters dating from January 1944 are being retained in the closed file section. The usual three year disposal rule would normally apply to these and would provide for their elimination thereunder. However, the office has found on several occasions that having these items on hand has been of definite reference value, and therefore has felt that the three year rule should not apply to them.

I recognize the merit in the position of the El Paso Office. Hence you may continue your present practice until contrarily instructed by the Bureau.

THE BUREAU ADMINISTRATIVE: It is felt the Bureau could well give consideration to exempting SAC letters and Bureau Bulletins from the provisions of the three year disposal rule applicable to administrative files. It is so recommended.

The Director instructed that a study be made of the over-all procedure concerning the destruction of records and also instructed that recommendations for a continued procedure be made.

Existing legislation approved July 7, 1943, amended July 6, 1945, defines four methods by which Government records might be destroyed. They are as follows:

(1) Disposal Lists - covering destruction of non-recurring records, e.g., old Bertillon records and cards.

(2) Disposal Schedules - authorizing destruction of recurring records. For example, copies of closed investigative reports in Field Offices after they are 25 years old.

(3) General Schedules - applicable to all Government agencies. Six such general schedules have been issued. They cover Selective Service deferment records, records concerning relations with the public, mail and postal records, fiscal and accounting records, personnel records, etc.

(4) Emergency Authorization - on approval of the Archivist and the head of the agency, when public health or life is menaced, when space occupied is urgently needed for military purposes and their continued preservation is not warranted, when located outside the United States, or when outside the United States and seizure by a hostile power during war is imminent, such as, an embassy or consulate.

No records of the Government shall be destroyed except in accordance with the Records Disposal Act is an additional provision of this legislation.

The Department has ruled as to duplicate copies of investigative reports that only one copy will be necessary as a record and the duplicates can be destroyed. The Criminal Division has authorized the destruction of records and recordings which are of a temporary character in connection with wire taps and the Department ruled that the intent of the agency as to whether documents should be preserved is a controlling factor in determining whether it is to be kept or whether it is to be considered temporary and then destroyed. The Archives interpretation of the Act leaves the determination of the value of the record to the producing agency and in considering value they consider such things as interest to scholars and private citizens, the administrative, fiscal and legal use to the Government, the protection of the rights of private citizens, the basic facts as to organization and functions of an agency and the value of the records for research purposes.

Memorandum for the Director

Material Presently Authorized For Destruction

There are 25 items of material destroyed at the Seat of Government and in the Field in keeping with the Act and its interpretation by the Archives Office and the Department, including such matters as error slips, duplicate assignment cards, directories, stenographic notes, tickler copies of reports and letters (see page 5 of attached memorandum).

Certain other documents are destroyed by each division based upon the General Schedules which have been issued, including correspondence with state and local police agencies concerning fingerprints and criminal records after the data is posted to the Bureau's records.

Material Suggested For Disposal Schedules

There are listed in the attached memorandum 12 examples of types of data which, it is believed, should be included in additional Disposal Schedules, examples being, Uniform Crime Reports from police departments, informational bulletins and letters received by the Bureau and having no permanent value, inventory records, leave correspondence and sign-in registers (see pages 6 - 8 of attached memorandum).

The Bureau's manuals require the destruction after 1 year of 23 types of records in the Field, such as, gun vault charge-out records, addressograph records and Special Agents' Daily Reports. There are also listed 29 types of records which are destroyed after they are 3 years old, such as, Bureau Bulletins, speech material, SAC Letters and general vouchers (see pages 9 - 10 of attached memorandum). There are 6 additional types of records which can be destroyed after 3 years when in the opinion of the Special Agent in Charge they are no longer needed, such as, training files, FBI National Academy correspondence and research matters. Also, Field Office files may be destroyed after 25 years. This latter item was approved by Archives in 1946.

Executives Conference Action

The members of the Executives Conference present on March 23, 1950, including Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Carlson, Rosen, Nichols and Clegg, unanimously recommended as follows:

I. (a) That the attached memorandum be furnished to the Bureau's Records Officer, Mr. Frank W. Waikart and that he note the various listings of records which the Bureau now instructs should be destroyed.

(b) That this Records Officer also obtain from the various Seat of Government divisions any additional types of records which are recommended for destruction.

(c) That the Records Officer then divide these lists into two categories: (1) those which, according to interpretations or authorizations of the Department or Archivist may now be destroyed without further authority and (2) those types which should be submitted to the Archivist for inclusion on new Disposal Lists and Schedules as authority for destruction.

(d) That these two categories be submitted to the Executives Conference for review since what is no longer needed in one division may be of interest to another.

(e) That the lists as approved then be discussed by the Records Officer with the Department's Records Officer and the Archivist with a view to getting approval and authorization. It might be mentioned that all of those types of records listed which are destroyed on an annual or 3-year basis in the Field have already been considered by the Executives Conference previously and approved.

II. In order to establish a procedure for the destruction of records in the future, all recommendations for such disposal or destruction should be referred to the Bureau Records Officer, Mr. Waikart, so that those which may be destroyed under existing authority may be compiled in one list and those for which additional authority should be obtained can be included in another list and both would be considered by the Executives Conference and approved by the Director. Where necessary, the specific authority of the Archivist would be obtained for destruction when not already authorized.

III. That the Supervisors' Manual and Manual of Rules and Regulations be amended to refer to the Records Disposal Act so as to point out the necessity of following such procedure both at the Seat of Government and in the Field hereafter.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

SUBJECT: THE MOVEMENT OF AGENTS

Q Destruction of Bureau Records

As you know, the Bureau requires prompt notification of any travel by Agents in the Field or at the Seat of Government to and from the Field, and as a result of this rule, there is received daily at the Bureau a considerable number of wires and letters containing this type of information.

In the past, the procedure followed by the Records Section for processing these wires and letters has been to "Not Record" them into the Agent's alphabetical file. When two or more Agents are mentioned, copies are prepared for the appropriate files.

It has been suggested, by Miss Catherine McWhirt, Supervisor of the Classifying Unit in the Records Section, that after the Movement Section of the Chief Clerk's Office has posted to their records the data regarding the travel of an Agent or Agents, the wire or letter be destroyed.

For your information, the records maintained by the Movement Section are available in the Chief Clerk's Office for two months, after which they are transferred to the Records Section where they are maintained for an additional year. This suggestion is not intended to affect permanent transfers as all records of this nature are, of course, reflected in the Agent's personnel file.

It is the writer's belief that this suggestion if adopted would in no way impair the accuracy of the Chief Clerk's Office records, but would eliminate considerable clerical time necessary in the Routing, Classifying, and Filing Units of the Records Section, as these sections must handle the material before it is ready for filing.

RECOMMENDATION

In view of the above, it is recommended that this suggestion be given favorable consideration and therefore eliminate entirely the handling by the Records Section the wires and letters pertaining to travel by Agents.

There are attached for exhibit purposes a few of the wires and letters which reflect clerly the reason for this suggestion.

TRAFFIC SOUNDS SLIDE FILMS

Reference is made ot the attached memoranda concerning th traffice sound slide films which are available in the Bureau. Attached is an SAC letter advising the field of the availability of those films which were approved for this purpose. The remaining films will be disposed of as indicaded in the memorandum of December 22, 1949, which is also attached.

With regard to the film entitled "The Man Behind The Star," which is a presentation of Northwestern University Traffic Institute, it is recommended that this film also be destroyed. It was sent to the Bureau presumably through the IACP Traffice Division but is has not been considered desirable for Bureau purposes.

The Film "Stop, Look and Live" should also be destroyed. Previously I had indicated that this film has value for public groups but it is not thought satifactory for police training. I doubt that we will have any use for it in connection with showings before public groups, therefore it is thought we should dispose of it. Based upon the fact it has had no use in the past, there would seem to be no reason to expect it to be used in the future.

QUARTERLY INTELLIGENCE SUMMARY; INTERNAL SECURITY
BUFILE 66-8720

The German desk in Room 2244 has four file drawers of Quarterly Intelligence Reports which were prepared on a quarterly basis from November, 1940 to August 15, 1945. These reports, which are copies of reports available in the Records Section, were previously used for reference purposes by the German desk. However, no reference has been made to these reports for the past several months and it is not deemed necessary to retain them in Room 2244.

It is noted that Serial 514 of File 66-8720 is a memorandum from Mr. R. F. Cartwright to Mr. Nichols, dated January 30, 1946, in which it was recommended that all but six copies of each volume of these reports be destroyed. It is also noted in this memorandum that the Records Section has available six copies of these summaries and it appears that there is no reason why the copies maintained in Room 2244 cannot be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that in view of the confidential nature of these quarterly intelligence summaries and due to the volume of the summaries being maintained in Room 2244 that the Records Section obtain these summaries for destruction.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE MATERIAL

Bureau Records Gen'l

In connection with our efforts to dispose of obsolete material now occupying valuable space on the sixth and seventh floors the following is submitted for your consideration.

At the present time there is maintained in the Filing Unit of the Records Section a number (two four-drawer file cabinets) of enclosures which are considered obscene and are therefore filed in Room 6519. This space having been set aside for highly confidential material and enclosures as mentioned herein.

These enclosures consist of obscene pictures, comic books, suggestive literature, obscene extortion letters, and material from the Field entitled, "Research - Sex Offenders." Review of these enclosures disclose that in many instances the cases have been closed, the United States Attorney has declined prosecution, or the statute of limitations has run. The accumulation of these enclosures is a carry over from the days when the Records Section necessarily maintained such material as possible evidence. However, our procedure now in practically every case is to detach the obscene material, making the proper notations, and directing it to the Laboratory for inclusion in their files.

RECOMMENDATION

It is the recommendation of the writer that a supervisor from the Crime Records Section review the material that may be of value from a research standpoint, and that the Laboratory examine the remainder looking to its ultimate disposal or retention.

As far as lab concerned obscene pictures, comic books, playing cards or motion pictures can be destroyed. JCC 12/12/49

COPLON CASE - DISPOSITION AND DISPOSAL OF RECORDINGS, DATA SLIPS AND MEMORANDA FROM WIRE TAPS

Background

Mr. Pomerantz, attorney for Valentine A. Gubitchev, during hearings on motions in this case, charged in a memorandum which he attempted to file with the Court that FBI Agents had violated Federal laws by disposing of or destroying certain memoranda, sound recordings, etc., from wire taps in this case. The questions raised by Pomerantz' allegations were submitted to the Department and the Department on 2-8-50 furnished an opinion which is summarized as follows:

Allegation #1 by Mr. Pomerantz

FBI Agents had violated Federal law by destroying memoranda, monitoring slips, sound recordings, etc., without complying with Title 44, Sections 366-380, relating to the preservation and disposition of Government records. (Records Disposal Act)

Summary of Department's Opinion on this Allegation

The Department concluded that the destruction of recordings, data slips and memoranda from wire taps was not a violation of the above code sections inasmuch as such material is considered temporary and can be destroyed. Supporting this view, the Department gave the following reasons: (a) the purpose of the Records Disposal Act was to prevent disposal of records having administrative, legal, research, or other value sufficient to warrant their preservation; (b) to facilitate disposal of records in order to conserve space; (c) to reduce clerical work and the time required for obtaining authorization for the disposal of records. The Department contends that under the above code sections (Records Disposal Act) documents to be preserved as permanent records depend entirely on whether the agency making such documents intend that they be preserved. If the agency does not intend for a document to be a permanent record, then the Records Disposal Act does not apply.

In line with the right of an agency to determine whether documents are permanent in nature, the Departmental policy, according to its memorandum, is that recordings, data slips and memoranda from wire taps are not intended as permanent records and, therefore, do not fall within the provisions of the Records Disposal Act. The Department further states that, since these records are temporary, they should be destroyed when they have served their purpose.

RECORDED 66-3286-390X1 RECORDED 15 AUG 2 1950

The Department concludes that the preservation of this material is not influenced by the mechanics by which it is made pointing out that these memoranda, data slips, etc., are merely notations of what took place and whether the notations were made by hand on a pad of paper or whether recorded on a machine has no effect whatever on their admissibility in evidence, the monitoring Agent himself being the best witness of what occurred and who must necessarily testify in any event. Whatever notes or memoranda the monitoring Agent made at the time would not be admissible in evidence except in those rare exceptions governed by the doctrine of contemporaneous memoranda (notes made during any investigation).

In order that no unusual significance is attached to the destruction of such material from wire taps, the Department suggests that the Bureau adopt uniform administrative procedures for the handling of this material.

The Department has stated that any of this material may be retained so long as it is of value and still continue its temporary character.

Allegation #2 by Mr. Pomerantz

FBI Agents had violated Title 18, USC, Section 2071 (Concealment, Removal or Mutilation of Government Records) by the destruction of the above-mentioned records, documents, etc.

Summary of Department's Opinion on this Allegation

The Department states that this code section applies only to certain types of documents that have been filed or deposited with (a) the clerk or officer of a Federal Court or (b) judicial or public officer of the United States. Therefore, any material made by FBI Agents from wire taps for their own use during the course of an investigation are considered "work papers" and are not the types of documents nor public documents which would be covered by this code section. The Department points out that under this code section there must be a wilful destruction to constitute a criminal violation and that a Government agency cannot be considered in violation of this code section when it destroys temporary records by regularly established procedures.

Allegation #3 by Mr. Pomerantz

FBI Agents had committed Contempt of Court by destroying the above-mentioned records in order to prevent their subsequent seizure by Court process in the event these records were desired by the Court.

Summary of Department's Opinion on this Allegation

The Department contends that Mr. Pomerantz' allegations are clearly without merit inasmuch as this material at the time of its destruction was not within the jurisdiction and protection of the Court. The Department points out that it is fundamental that Contempt proceedings cannot issue in the subsequent trial of the case where the actions complained of occur prior to the time that the Court assumed jurisdiction of the subject matter. The Court has no cause to punish by Contempt unless some order or process issued by the Court has been violated.

Memorandum for Mr. Tolson

Current Bureau Instructions Regarding Maintenance of Records Pertaining to Wire Taps

The current instructions regarding the handling of records, including disc recordings, logs, monitoring Agents' notes, etc., are contained in a No Number SAC Letter dated December 22, 1949. These instructions provide that the disc recordings and the rough draft notes made by monitoring employees be destroyed promptly after the log has been prepared and reviewed by a supervisory official and the Agent to whom the case is assigned. The log is retained as are the memoranda which the Supervisor or the reviewing Agent may prepare for different files based on the summary log. These logs are retained in the Sub-One file of the case to which the wire tap relates and such sub file is maintained apart from the regular files and by carefully selected personnel. Summary logs are, of course, serialized and the information contained therein is indexed.

Conclusions

(1) The allegations of Mr. Pomerantz, according to the Department's opinion, are without merit.

(2) All material from wire taps, including recordings, data slips, logs or memoranda based thereon, are temporary in nature and may be destroyed without violation of the law.

(3) There is no prohibition against the retention of this material as long as it is of value to the Bureau and as long as it retains its temporary character.

(4) The Department's suggestion that uniform administrative procedures be adopted for the handling of this material has merit. However, such uniformity was established by the instructions issued in No Number SAC Letter dated December 22, 1949.

(5) The present Bureau instructions provide for the maintenance only of the summary log and for the prompt destruction of the monitoring employee's notes, rough draft logs and disc recordings.

(6) Our present practice of retaining summary logs from wire taps is not inconsistent with the attached Departmental opinion providing they are retained on the basis of being of some value to the Bureau.

(7) Although the Department's memorandum makes no reference to Section 1361, Title 18, USC (Wilful Depredation Against Government Property), it is apparent from the Department's interpretation of the word "wilfully", as appearing in any criminal statute, that the Department feels this code section was not violated through the destruction of recordings, data slips and memoranda from wire taps in the Coplon case. It is noted that the Departmental attorneys have rendered an oral opinion to the effect that the above code section was not involved or violated. However, an additional opinion in writing is being furnished the Bureau specifically relating to this code section. ADDENDUM: CDM:DMG 2/24/50 Departmental memorandum of 2/14/50, received confirming that Title 18, USC, Section 1361 was not violated.

Memorandum for Mr. Tolson

Recommendations:

(1) It is recommended that summary logs from wire taps be destroyed when it has been determined that such logs and material therein are of no value to the Bureau providing that prior Bureau authorization for their destruction is obtained.

While it is recognized that the possibilities of destroying summary logs would occur very infrequently, the foregoing action is desirable in order to clearly establish the temporary character of such logs consistent with the Department's views in the attached memorandum.

(2) It is recommended that the Bureau continue to retain summary logs in Sub-One files as under the present procedures outlined in No Number SAC Letter dated December 22, 1949.

(3) In order to reflect the Bureau's intentions that the above sub-files are temporary in nature, as the Department has stated they must be, it is recommended that the following stamp be affixed to the file cover of Sub-One files as follows: "The contents of this file are temporary but should not be destroyed without prior Bureau authority."

(4) Although it appears that the procedures in effect for the maintenance of these logs are consistent with the Department's opinion as attached, it is recommended that the Department be furnished a complete outline of the procedures we follow in order to insure that the Department agrees in writing with the system now in effect. Attached for approval is a memorandum to the Department to this effect.

Executives Conference

DISPOSITION AND DISPOSAL OF RECORDINGS, DATA SLIPS AND MEMORANDA FROM WIRE TAPS (Destruction of Bureau Property)

The Executives Conference on February 27, 1950, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Rosen, Ladd, Nichols, Carlson, Nease and Clegg, considered the application of the opinion submitted in writing by the Department of Justice concerning the disposal and destruction of data, records, and recordings based upon wire taps. You will recall that Attorney Pomerantz in the Coplon Case filed a memorandum with the court stating that Special Agents had violated the Federal law (1) by destroying memoranda, monitoring slips, sound recordings, without complying with the laws relating to the preservation and disposition of Government records, (2) by removal or mutilation of Government records in violation of the law prohibiting the destruction of such records and documents, and (3) by destroying the records in order to prevent their subsequent seizure by Court process the Agents were thus in contempt of court.

These three propositions, together with the further inquiry as to whether there was involved any violation by the destruction of the records as material Government property, were presented to the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, and opinions and memoranda dated February 8 and February 14, 1950, have been received in each instance advising that there was no violation in any of these propositions by the FBI Agents, and that the same practices could continue without a violation of the law being involved. (A summary of the opinion is attached hereto, which reflects that the allegations of Pomerantz are without merit, that all material from wire taps is temporary in nature and may be destroyed without violation of the law; that there is no prohibition against the retention of this material as long as it is of value and as long as it retains its temporary character.) The Department did suggest that uniform administrative procedures be adopted for the handling of this material, and previously, on December 22, 1949, an SAC Letter was sent to the Field instructing that the longhand or typed memorandums or notes made by the Agent monitoring the lines, the records, discs and recordings of such telephone conversations which were intercepted, and all other records, notes and data pertaining to the product of this telephone tap should be destroyed except a final summary log prepared daily. These materials were to be destroyed promptly after the log had been examined by the Agent to whom the case was assigned and by a Field Supervisor. Thus, there would be retained in the field office the summary log from which data would be subsequently dictated as prt of an individual case when pertinent and advisable into the individual case reports. These logs are maintained in a sub-section of the pertinent file, but they are kept in a locked office separate and apart from the regular file room, under the immediate supervision of select personnel. The pertinent data from these logs is indexed by stenographers especially assignedto this confidential work, and the index cards showing the name or subject and the file number (including sub-section) are then sent to the general indices for filing.

The Executive Conference considered the above matters and recommended as follows:

RECORDED 75 JUL 20 1950

1. That the instructions in the SAC Letter dated December 22, 1949, be continued as is, calling for the destruction of all notes, records, discs and recordings except the summary log prepared on a daily basis, and for the retention of the summary log in the special confidential room handled by specially selected employees.

2. Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Mohr, Rosen, Ladd and Nichols, recommended that the summary logs be retained and maintained as at present, but that the sub-sections of the files containing these logs be considered as temporary files and records. This characterization of these files as "temporary" would permit the subsequent destruction of these files at any time the Bureau subsequently decided that such files or any part of them should be destroyed. It was recommended, however, that these files be retained but that they be considered as temporary files. The reason for the retention of these files for an extended period is the fact that index cards are prepared on many of these daily logs and the index cards are placed in the general indices. This would make it difficult and impractical to require a subsequent review of the files for the purpose of removing index cards prior to destruction. Also, prior to SAC Letter dated December 22, 1949, most of the memoranda, data, logs and transcripts of telephone taps went directly to the case file, and it would be an impractical task to go back through these numberous files and remove these numberous transcripts, memoranda and records as far as those heretofore accumulated were concerned. Therefore, the recommendation of the majority was that the files containing the logs be retained but be considered as temporary. The Department has ruled that the head of an agency has authority to determine whether a record or document should be considered worthy of retention or whether it should be considered as temporary, and they also ruled that temporary records could be retained as long as they were of value. Thus, the proposal is that they be considered "temporary" and that no automatic system of destruction be set up in view of the practical difficulties involved in destroying them and the index cards and related material pertaining to them.

Messrs. Carlson, Nease and Clegg were of the opinion that these logs should be considered as temporary records and files, and that upon the specific recommendation of a Special Agent in Charge with reference to any of these files, they could be destroyed with Bureau authority.

Mr. George Kneipp, who participated in preparing the Department's opinion, advised Mr. Clegg orally on this date that a memorandum in the Bureau's files showing a decision of the Director that these logs are considered temporary would suffice to establish clearly that they are temporary in character.

3. A recommendation was made and unanimously recommended unfavorably by the Executive Conference that the Department be furnished with a complete outline of the procedures followed in order to be sure that the Department agrees in writing with the system in effect at the Bureau. This was recommended unfavorably in view of the fact that the Attorneys in the Criminal Division who prepared this opinion were furnished detailed oral information as to the action taken and practices engaged in, they were thoroughly familiar with the procedure, and to advise the Department formally again as to this procedure would have the disadvantage of binding the Bureau to this procdure in the future when, in fact, some variation might become desirable within the limits of the opinions rendered by the Department of Justice

An SAC Letter will be forwarded to the field offices advising that pursuant to the opinion and instructions of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, the instructions as approved above by the Director are being submitted.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

Clyde Tolson

SUBJECT: SUGGESTIONS BY MISS LILLIAN M. MIEDEL OF THE MEXICO CITY OFFICE RELATIVE TO DESTRUCTION OF COMMUNICATION RECORD LOGS

Tolson
Ladd

Glavin
Nichols
Rosen
Tracy
Harbo
Mohr
Tele. Room
Nease

Miss Lillian M. Miedel, Chief Clerk of the Legal Attache's office in Mexico, has submitted two suggestions relative to the destruction of communication record logs.

1. With regard to the record logs being maintained on all incoming and outgoing airgrams, Miss Miedel has suggested that these logs be destroyed after they have become one year old.

2. With regard to the record logs being maintained on the incoming and outgoing diplomatic mail pouches, Miss Miedel has recommended that such logs be destroyed after they are one year old.

It will be noted that at present the field has no instructions regarding the destruction of the above-mentioned record logs.

FACTS:

Both sets of record logs mentioned above are maintained to keep track of the sending and receipt of Bureau communications. Each airgram is numbered and a record is made of the date it is sent. The number of each incoming airgram is correspondingly recorded when the message is received. In this way it is possible to determine whether or not any of the airgrams which are sent through the open mail are lost. Since a skip in the consecutive numbers recorded in the logs would indicate within a short period of time that a communication is missing, it would appear that no real purpose would be served by retaining these logs for a long period of time.

The record logs for the transmittal and receipt of mail pouches are also maintained in order to make sure that all of the pouches are delivered. In these logs, a skipped number which would indicate that an envelope of pouch mail had not been received would also show up in a short period of time. In this case also it is not believed that any purpose would be served in retaining these record logs for a long time.

It is believed that both of Miss Miedel's suggestions have merit, but it is felt that a 6-month period would be adequate and that it would not be necessary to retain either of these types of record logs for a whole year.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that Miss Miedel's suggestions be approved with the proviso that both sets of record logs should be destroyed after 6 months.

In the event the above recommendation is approved, it is suggested that the attached letter be transmitted to all of the Legal Attaches and to the interested communications and laboratory personnel instructing that such record logs should be destroyed after 6 months.

It is further recommended that this memorandum be referred to the Administrative Division so that appropriate acknowledgement of Miss Miedel's suggestions can be made.

Destruction of Bureau Property - General

RE: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES

On or before May 15, 1950, it is desired that your vote as indicated on this SAC Letter be returned to the Bureau. The problems involved include saving space, and at times rent, and also saving file cabinets. Additional matters to consider are the amount of time spent in eliminating extra copies of reports in files and the consolidation of the files. Please indicate by a check mark in the space provided your views with respect to the following:

1. In the field offices, should the project of eliminating unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files be applied to all criminal cases and all applicant types of cases?

   FOR: AGAINST:

2. Same as No. 1 above, with the exceptions of Crime Survey investigations, Kidnapping, Bank Robbery and Anti-trust investigations.

Under previous instructions, record logs were set up at all of the Legal Attaches' offices and at the Seat of Government for recording incoming and outgoing diplomatic mail pouches. The offices using the airgram system of communication have also set up logs to record the receipt and transmittal of airgrams.

Inasmuch as no purpose would be served by retaining either the airgrams or diplomatic pouch record logs for a long period of time, it is desired that such logs be destroyed after they are 6 months old.

Dear Sir:

With reference to Bureau letter addressed to the Legal Attache, Paris, France, captioned as above, and dated November 23, 1949, setting up a record log system to record incoming and outgoing mail pouches, it has been noted by the writer that no provision was made for the destruction of these record logs. It is respectfully suggested at this time that these logs be destroyed after they have become one year old.

FOR: AGAINST: X

Remarks as to No. 6:

When it is recognized that considerable indexing is done in the bodies of reports, memos and letters (suspects, automobiles, property, etc.) it will be apparent that destruction of index cards constitutes an almost impossible task. To do so would involve reading each serial and searching each proper name and piece of property to locate index cards which should be destroyed. I doubt that, with the limited clerical help available, the El Paso Office could ever complete such a project and since index cards occupy such a small space comparatively, the time expended would not be justified by the results obtained.

By retaining file fronts of destroyed files and stamping them, "File over 15 years old destroyed. Information is ( ) is not ( ) available at Bureau," problem of retaining index cards on non-existant files would be solved and notice given that Bureau has available information in cases where original investigation was of any consequence

It should be observed that the above propositions relate to Field files only, and it is not contemplated that Seat of Government files will be destroyed.

STANDARD FORM NO. 64

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Director, FBI

DATE: May 2, 1950

FROM : SAC, Savannah

SUBJECT: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES

Attached hereto is SAC Letter No. 31 dated April 28, 1950, containing my views.

The project of stripping the files, that is throwing away duplicate serials on old files, seems to me to be effort not worth the time expended insofar as savings of space is concerned.

With regard to question No. 1, this would have been easier to answer had it been divided into two questions. The consolidation of applicant files is a good project in my mind; however, I respectfully suggest that criminal cases not be consolidated for these cases are subject to reopening even after the statute of limitations has run, and these criminal files contain background data which will be helpful in future investigations.

I do not feel that we should destroy files at either ten or fifteen years and thus leave ourselves partially crippled or deprived of material which has been amassed over a period of time.

With the thought in mind of the tremendous number of file reviews conducted during the last war and the necessity for file reviews frequently in response to inquiries from other agencies and file reviews necessary in fugitive and other criminal investigations, I feel that the ideal solution would be to devise a procedure whereby everything on one individual will be contained in one file under that individual's name. Insofar as I can see at the moment, this would be a costly and time-consuming project, bearing in mind, however, the millions of files reviewed at the Bureau and in the field in the course of a year, and particularly during a period of national emergency, and also the problem created by many people having the same name and two or more Agents wanting the same file at a given moment, I think it would be very much to the Bureau's advantage to ultimately have a separate file on each person or organization almost like a dossier. Any consolidation project is in the opposite direction and will aggravate rather than facilitate file reviews which problem is proportionately greater as the size of an office increases.

I realize that the Bureau's purpose in this survey is based on a desire to save space, rent and file cabinets. The thoughts that I have expressed have been with a view toward increasing efficiency and facilitating easy access to files, believing that these items will in the end result in greater economy in the time saved by high salaried personnel rather than a minute physical saving of space or file cabinets.

RE: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL
IN FIELD OFFICES

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to SAC Letter No. 31 dated 4/28/50, captioned as above.

I am in favor of the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files being applied to all criminal cases as well as all applicant types of cases.

I am recommending against any of the remaining five proposals.

Very truly yours,

E.A. SOUCY

Re SAC Letter No. 31, Series 1950, dated April 28, 1950.

I vote as follows:

1. FOR: AGAINST: X

(When we handled a consolidation project in the Butte Office once before, the amount of space saved was not worth the work and effort expended on the consolidation, except for the applicant type cases, such as the 116 classification.)

2. FOR: AGAINST: X

(If we are going to destroy duplicate copies of reports and consolidate criminal cases, we might as well handle crime survey, etc. along with the rest.)

3. FOR: AGAINST: X

(We recently opened a case on an individual and went back more than ten years into the files to get background information. Criminals are continually becoming parole violators, conditional release violators, or in some manner or other coming before us again.

4. FOR: AGAINST: X

5. FOR: AGAINST: X

(If we are going to consolidate files, let us consolidate these too.

6. FOR: AGAINST: X

(If the file on any material in it is destroyed, the index card will show that very probably the Bureau has a record of it.

6. In the event you recommend that files be destroyed under any of the above propositions, do you believe that the index cards relating to the files destroyed should be located and removed coincident with the destruction of the files?

FOR: AGAINST: X

Remarks as to No. 6: The location and removal of index cards coincident with the destruction of files would necessitate the expenditure of a great deal of effort which would not be commensurable with benefits that could be expected to be derived from such an undertaking. To maintain the index card on individuals and other subject matters after the file had been destroyed in the field office would be an indication that the Bureau possibly had a record if the case was of sufficient importance to make the extended inquiry. As cards are found during the regular course of business to have originated from a destroyed file, the card could be identified with a large letter "D" for future guidance. In most instances to the personnel familiar with the indices the file numbers on the cards would reflect whether the index card fell in the category of being 15 years of age or older. To leave the index card would be of no particular burden on the field office other than to take up a comparatively small portion of space and would perhaps make searching over a long period of time slightly more difficult.

It should be observed that the above propositions relate to Field files only, and it is not contemplated that Seat of Government files will be destroyed.

Re SAC Letter No. 31, dated 4-28-50.

1. The answer for this question would be against if the rule is put into effect that files are to be destroyed in their entirety in 10 or 15 years. In the event the present rule is to continue, that is, the destruction of the files every 25 years, then I am for the consolidation of the reports in larger files.

2. I see no reason for excepting the listed types of cases, and the same answer as set forth in No. 1 above should be applied here.

3. I feel that all criminal and applicant type cases which have been closed for a period of 10 years should be destroyed, with the following exception:

I do not feel that a file should be destroyed while the subject of the file is still serving time in a penal institution as a result of the investigation in instant file considered. The subject always has a right to file a writ of habeas corpus, and even though it is on his part to prove the allegations in the writ, it is possible that he may prove them, and if the file, including the exhibits, which are evidence, is destroyed, then it would be impossible for the Bureau to offer for the use of the United States Attorney any defense to the writ or other legal papers filed. I feel, therefore, that it is mandatory that these cases be excepted. It is suggested that the files be given a review prior to their destruction; and that where the subject has received a sentence in excess of 10 years, a notation be placed on the cover of the file, consisting of the date the sentence is to expire, and that these files be filed together in a separate drawer and be checked annually and destroyed therefrom.

It is further suggested in this regard that the rule not be general that all files that have been closed for a period of 10 years but that all files filed in the closed section up to the first file which has been closed within a period of 10 years be destroyed, and that a general memorandum setting forth the numbers, that is, from a certain number to a certain number, of files have been destroyed. The reason for this suggestion is that it would be impossible to determine, unless the file fronts were kept, whether a file was a misplaced file or a destroyed file. I, of course, do not think it feasible to maintain file fronts. The only other alternative would be to keep a list of all files destroyed.

4. Requires no answer as answered in 3.

5. I do not feel that the types of cases enumerated in this question should be excepted under the general rule above.

6. I am against the destruction of index cards relating to these files. This index card is the only evidence left in the field office that there was information in the office on an individual, and it is a signal that such information will be in possession of the Bureau files in Washington, where it will be available when needed. I feel that the advantage of having this index card reflecting there is information on an individual, added to the tremendous amount of work required in removing the index cards from the file, would outweigh the advantage of reducing the indices by the removal of the card. It is further suggested that the cards would need no marking thereon inasmuch as a record would be maintained in the office, as set forth above, as to the files destroyed.

My vote on your inquiry is as follows:

G.M.R.-1

(1) Against
(2) Against
(3) Against
(4) For
(5) Against
(6) Against.

My reason for voting against #6 is because of the enormous amount of work that would be entailed in removing index cards from our indices based upon files destroyed. The definite possibility exists, also, that the destruction of the index cards could cause embarrassment to the Bureau. For example, if a Police Department asked us if we had any record in a field office on a certain individual that we had handled fifteen or more years preceding and our index card had been destroyed, we would have to advise him we had no record. If it were later determined that we had handled the case, I think it would be somewhat embarrassing.

Re SAC Letter 31 dated 4/28/50.

There is attached an extra copy of this SAC Letter on which my vote is recorded as requested by the Bureau.

I am highly in favor of eliminating virtually all duplicate copies of reports in all categories. While the Chief Clerk here has raised the consideration that the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files will be somewhat more of a problem where the individual case files are larger in some classifications, I am also in favor of this. No doubt if one of the devices with which this question is concerned is utilized, the other can be utilized also without any great amount of extra work.

Although I am in agreement with the destroying of the entire file in the field in all types of cases, except security cases, after such cases have been closed for a minimum of fifteen years, I am only in favor of this in the event that the index cards are retained.

As to question No. 6, concerning index cards, I feel that they would definitely be of assistance after a file was destroyed in calling to our attention that reports would be available at the Seat of Government.

Re SAC Letter 31, Series 1950, dated April 28, 1950.

Transmitted herewith is one copy of the referenced SAC Letter on which I have indicated my views with respect to the questions asked in that letter.

It is noted that I have voted against all of the suggested proposals. My position on this has been arrived at after a considerable amount of deliberation. I realize that space is at a premium in many offices; however, I feel that our efficiency would be impeded in the field were we to destroy the entire file in all criminal and applicant type cases as suggested. This is especially true for offices located so far distant from Washington as Portland and the others on the West Coast.

I am opposed to Proposition No. 1 for the reason that it requires DEFERRED RECORDING a considerable expenditure of time to consolidate individual cases into larger files in any except applicant-type investigations and results in a large volume which is hard to handle and generally does not justify the time required to effect the consolidation. It is my opinion that if we were to find some way of eliminating large mineograph reports that the question of file space would not arise so often. I feel that too many voluminous mimeographed reports are being written in the field.

RE: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES

On or before May 15, 1950, it is desired that your vote as indicated on this SAC Letter be returned to the Bureau. The problems involved include saving space, and at times rent, and also saving file cabinets. Additional matters to consider are the amount of time spent in eliminating extra copies of reports in files and the consolidation of the files. Please indicate by a check mark in the space provided your views with respect to the following:

1. In the field offices, should the project of eliminating unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files be applied to all criminal cases and all applicant types of cases?

   FOR: AGAINST: X

2. Same as No. 1 above, with the exceptions of Crime Survey investigations, Kidnapping, Bank Robbery and Anti-trust investigations.

   FOR: AGAINST: X

3. In the Field, should the field offices be authorized at this time to destroy the entire file in all criminal and applicant type cases (not security cases) when such cases have been closed for a period of 10 years?

   FOR: X AGAINST:

4. Same as No. 3 above, except substitute 15 years for 10 years.

FOR: AGAINST: X

5. Same as Nos. 3 and 4 above, with the understanding that files relating to Crime Survey investigations, Anti-trust, Kidnapping and Bank Robbery investigations would be excepted.

FOR: X AGAINST:

6. In the event you recommend that files be destroyed under any of the above propositions, do you believe that the index cards relating to the files destroyed should be located and removed coincident with the destruction of the files?

FOR: AGAINST: X

Remarks as to No. 6: Due to the consolidation of index cards various file numbers will be reflected. In some instances these files will not be ten years of age, therefore should remain in the file. In line with the Bureau's present policy of placing the month and year of index card preparation it will be possible at the expiration of ten years to determine merely at a glance at the index card that the file is ten years old and might have been destroyed. Also, at the end of the ten-year period from the institution of dating index cards all unmarked cards might be destroyed that fall within designated classifications. In event the card has an undated file number and a dated file number both on the same card the card should be retained until the dated file is ten years of age.

It should be observed that the above propositions relate to Field files only, and it is not contemplated that Seat of Government files will be destroyed.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

Remarks as to No. 6:

It is anticipated that index cards relating to files destroyed will be purged from the indices at such time as the cards are 15 years old. The Bureau instructed in SAC Letter No. 113, dated December 27, 1949, that the month and year be placed on index cards. The elimination of these index cards could be effected more readily by following this procedure.

It should be observed that the above propositions relate to Field files only, and it is not contemplated that Seat of Government files will be destroyed.

Re SAC Letter No. 31, Series 1950, dated 4-28-50.

I am against all propositions set forth in referenced letter except Number 4, which I am for. I feel that by destroying the files in fifteen years we shall be able to eliminate many files which are useless, especially in the older offices. I also believe that there should be uniformity and that there should be no distinction between the various types of violations. As concerns most criminals, their period of criminal activity should have terminated at the expiration of fifteen years if they are of the routine type, and if prominent and repeaters there will be current information in the file which will serve as the basis for immediate investigative activity in the Field pending the receipt of complete information from the Bureau's records.

With reference to Item Number 6, I feel that too much time would be involved in searching out and destroying the index cards. This should be accomplished as they are discovered in the indices.

FOR: AGAINST: ✓

Remarks as to No. 6:

It is believed that destruction of index cards would be undesirable, for it would never then be known that the office had a previous record on an individual on whom a file had been destroyed and a very important matter would be missed entirely. Even though the file were available only at the Bureau, it would at least be available in such instances.

Inasmuch as the index cards are consolidated, going through them and eliminating a particular reference would be a tremenduous undertaking and not at all worth the expense involved.

It should be observed that the above propositions relate to Field files only, and it is not contemplated that Seat of Government files will be destroyed.

SUBJECT: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES.

Reference is made to SAC Letter #31, Series 1950, in captioned matter.

1. It is my belief that the project of eliminating unnecessary duplicate copies of reports, and the consolidation of reports where practicable due to size, should be applied to all criminal cases and all applicant type cases.

2. I do not believe there should be an exception made in Crime Survey, Kidnaping, Bank Robbery and Antitrust investigations.

3. I recommend against the destruction of entire files in any criminal or applicant matters, even though such cases have been closed for a period of ten years.

4. I recommend against the destruction of files even after fifteen years, and I believe that the present Bureau police of the twenty-five year period is more practicable.

5. Having recommended against the destruction of files in Questions 3 and 4, I would also be against the destruction of Crime Survey, Antitrust, Kidnaping and Bank Robbery files.

Remarks

From experience in this field division on the destruction of duplicate copies and consolidation of applicant files, as well as other types as authorized by the Bureau, a saving as high as 60% of file space was effected. I, therefore, feel that a large amount of file space could be saved through the continuance and enlargement of consolidation and destruction of unnecessary duplicate copies of reports.

Reference is made to SAC Letter No. 31 dated April 28, 1950, wherein this office is requested to advise the Bureau by May 15, 1950, the votes indicated in mentioned letter.

1. This office has no objection to this proposition other than it is suggested it be on a permissive basis and that it be applied to only criminal and applicant cases which have been closed for more than six months. To undertake to destroy duplicate copies and consolidate, particularly criminal, cases at this time would entail the use of personnel which is not available and would be in the nature of a project. It is observed that it is doubtful that there is much value in the consolidation of multi-section files.

2. This office sees no reason why there should be any exception made in the cases involving Crime Survey, Kidnapping, Bank Robbery and Anti-trust investigations.

3. This office votes "Against".

4. This office votes "For".

5. This office votes "Against".

6. This office votes "Against".

It is believed essential that the offices be aware through their indices of the fact that there has been file material and information available on any current subject somewhere in the Bureau, so that inquiries addressed to the Bureau will be practical and logical.

It will be noted that I have voted against all six propositions. With respect to Proposition Number 1, however, I desire to make the following comments:

Should a Field Office have a shortage of space but not a shortage of clerical personnel then I believe it would be sensible and desirable to institute a project of eliminating unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files, which project should include all criminal cases and all applicant type cases. It is desired to emphasize, however, that this project requires considerable time and sufficient clerical personnel would have to be available to handle the work in a short period of time to be of any appreciable value. It is not believed that this project should be instituted by a Field Office which has ample space.

SUBJECT: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES

Attached is a copy of SAC Letter No. 31, Series 1950, dated 4-28-50, which sets forth the views of this office with regard to the items included therein.

As will be noted, it is the considered judgment of the supervisory personnel of this office, as well as the Chief Clerk, that each of the proposals contained in the attached letter should not be adopted. However, there are two alternative proposals which this office desires to submit:

1. As the prime objective of the elimination of file material in field offices appears to be the conservation of space, it would seem desirable to eliminate unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and consolidate reports on individual cases into larger files in all criminal cases and all applicant type cases. However, with respect to criminal cases, it is recommended that the elimination of duplicate copies of reports and the consolidation cover files that are over five years of age. Through the adoption of this proposal many of the problems which would be raised if duplicate serials and reports were eliminated and consolidation were effected up to the current closed cases would be avoided.

2. It is recommended that field offices be authorized to destroy the entire file in all criminal and applicant type cases (not Security cases) when such cases have been closed for a period of 20 years. (Experience in this office has indicated that quite frequently files are needed for reference work that are 10 to 15 years of age, but very infrequently is it necessary to review a file after it has become 20 years old.)

Re SAC Letter #31 dated April 28, 1950.

In consideration of the suggestions proposed in reference letter, this office has given very careful consideration to the captioned matter and would like to recommend for the Bureau's consideration that in all field offices when cases of the Criminal and Applicant type (excluding Security Matters) become five years of age that elimination of unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and correspondence be effected and that a consolidation of individual cases into larger files be effected. This above suggestion is slightly in variance to the proposals enumerated in reference letter and for that reason it is being answered by direct communication rather than indicating the answers to the enumerated questions.

Supervisory personnel of the Chicago Office is of the unanimous opinion that files in Criminal and Applicant type cases should not be destroyed until they have become 25 years of age and that the foregoing suggestion offered in the paragraph above be sufficient in the saving of space to justify the retention of files.

In view of the above suggestions, of course, the retention of the index cards is necessary.

~~#6 Against~~

With regard to Item #6, I do not feel that it would be worthwhile to locate and remove the index cards relating to the files destroyed. The time involved would be excessive; secondly, when a matter is searched and it is found that the file relative thereto has been destroyed, index cards so located can at that time be destroyed. This, of course, will leave a great many unnecessary index cards in the general indices because no subsequent search will ever be made in a great many instances. In many instances the number of index cards relating to a file would be numerous and I believe the cost of locating and removing them would be unwarranted.

RE: ELIMINATION OF FILE MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES

On or before May 15, 1950, it is desired that your vote as indicated on this SAC Letter be returned to the Bureau. The problems involved include saving space, and at times rent, and also saving file cabinets. Additional matters to consider are the amount of time spent in eliminating extra copies of reports in files and the consolidation of the files. Please indicate by a check mark in the space provided your views with respect to the following:

1. In the field offices, should the project of eliminating unnecessary duplicate copies of reports and the consolidation of reports on individual cases into larger files be applied to all criminal cases and all applicant types of cases?

   FOR: X AGAINST:

2. Same as No. 1 above, with the exceptions of Crime Survey investigations, Kidnapping, Bank Robbery and Anti-trust investigations.

   FOR: AGAINST:

3. In the Field, should the field offices be authorized at this time to destroy the entire file in all criminal and applicant type cases (not security cases) when such cases have been closed for a period of 10 years?

FOR: AGAINST: X

5. Same as Nos. 3 and 4 above, with the understanding that files relating to Crime Survey investigations, Anti-trust, Kidnapping and Bank Robbery investigations would be excepted.

FOR: AGAINST: X

6. In the event you recommend that files be destroyed under any of the above propositions, do you believe that the index cards relating to the files destroyed should be located and removed coincident with the destruction of the files?

SUBJECT: THREE YEAR DESTRUCTION RULE EXEMPTIONS FOR SAC LETTERS AND BUREAU BULLETINS

Suggestion No. 387, captioned as above, was handled by joint committee memorandum of 4/19/50 with the conclusion that SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins not be exempted from the three year destruction rule.

In view of the fact that the Bureau has now resolved this, it is recommended that the next SAC Letter prepared include a statement to that effect so that those offices which may still be retaining these items will be apprized of the Bureau's desires in this regard.

Attached for ready reference is a tickler copy of the original suggestion memorandum wherein it was pointed out that in El Paso such items are being retained pending contrary instructions received from the Bureau. In addition to El Paso, I am of the opinion that there are other offices of the same mind as El Paso and hence the above recommendation.

T. E. NAUGHTEN, INSPECTOR

THREE YEAR DESTRUCTION RULE EXEMPTIONS FOR SAC LETTERS AND BUREAU BULLETINS

The Manual of Rules and Regulations has required for some time that administrative files (with certain exceptions) be disposed of when the top serials of such files become three years old. I have noted that the field generally has been applying this rule to the SAC Letter and Bureau Bulletin files. I have been giving thought recently to the desirability of exempting the SAC Letter and Bureau Bulletin files from the three year disposal rule.

At El Paso I found that the office has determined that the retention of SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins has been of definite value for reference purposes. Therefore the office has on hand Bureau Bulletins dating from October 1943 and SAC Letters dating from January 1944. The SAC and Chief Clerk there pointed out to me that on numerous occasions during the year they do find the reference material contained in such Bureau communications to have been of definite value. For this reason they have not destroyed these files.

Attached hereto is a copy of the administrative memorandum which was prepared covering this matter at El Paso, in which I specifically recommend that the Bureau give consideration to exempting Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters from the three year disposal rule for the reasons cited above.

ACTION RECOMMENDED: This is being brought to your attention specifically for appropriate handling.

SUBJECT: CHARGE-OUT RECORDS FOR NON-EXPENDABLE PROPERTY

Re the attached communication from the New York City Office regarding the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 6J, sub-division 3, captioned "Gun Vault Charge-out Records", and Section 6J, sub-division 4, captioned "Property, Non-expendable Charge-out."

These sections relate to two entirely different systems. Under sub-section 3, GUN VAULT CHARGE OUT, should be used by the field offices when a gun or other item is charged out for a period of time and when the item is returned the charge out is cancelled. These charge outs and cancellations are retained for a period of one year and then destroyed. Under sub-division 4, Property, Non-expendable charge out system, this would tie in the with bi-ennial inventory submitted every two years and whibh the field office is required to keep (the old inventory) for three years. For example, the inventory is taken in 1949, the 1947 inventory which would then be replaced by the 1949 inventory would be retained for three years or until ~~1950~~ 1952. This has proven very useful in the event it is necessary to check back and ascertain just when a field office received items of property or how many were in that office at a certain time.

CHARGE-OUT RECORDS FOR NONEXPENDABLE PROPERTY

Reference is made to your communication of June 12, 1950, concerning the above-mentioned subject, wherein it was suggested that the Bureau consider the advisability of making uniform the period of destruction for gun vault records and the charge-out records for nonexpendable property.

In reviewing the suggestion made by you, it is noted that two entirely different types of records are under consideration. The gun vault charge-out record is used where a gun or other item is charged out for a period of time and when the item is returned the charge-out is cancelled. There appears to be no reason to hold these charge-out records for more than a year. However, under Subdivision 4, Property, Nonexpendable Charge-Out System, this system ties in with the biennial inventory submitted by the various divisional offices. The inventory records under present procedures must be maintained for three years. It is felt, therefore, that these charge-outs should be maintained for the same period of time.

SUBJECT: CHARGE-OUT RECORDS FOR NON-EXPENDABLE PROPERTY

NPC Callahan

It is noted that according to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 6J, Sub-Division 3, gun vault charge-out records are to be destroyed after a period of one year. On the other hand, Section 6J, Sub-Division 4 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations provides that the Non-Expendable Charge-Out System for property shall be destroyed when three years old. It is believed that the period of time for the destruction of these records should be uniform so that all charge-out records, whether for firearms or other Non-Expendable Property, shall be destroyed annually.

No particular advantage is gained by maintaining the charge-out records for Non-Expendable Property for a period of three years. The vast majority of this property is charged-out for a short period of time. Where the property is being maintained for an extended period, Form CC-5 is used. This form serves as a receipt from the agent to the Field Office whereby the former certifies that the property is charged out to him.

Consequently, it is suggested that the Bureau consider the advisability of making uniform the period of destruction for gun vault records and the charge-out records for Non-Expendable Property.

Destruction of Civilian Defense Films - Recommended

At the present time the photographic laboratory has on hand several copies each of a number of films utilized during the late war primarily in connection with civilian defense and related matters. It is suggested that all of these be destroyed with the exception of one copy since we have very little if any use for these films at the present time.

The laeaders and trailers of these particular films which would be destroyed will be retained for repair purposes.

Following is a list of the films showing the number of copies of each available and a brief outline as to the content:

"The Warning"
3 copies - Sound - Approx. 35 minutes
Depicts the changeover from peacetime to wartime including, also, the mobilization of defense in England. Shows some ghastly war scenes in a few places.

"London Fire Raids"
10 copies - Approx. 12 Minutes
Actual bombing of London and the firemen in action. Showing the set-up of Civilian Defense.

"Waretime Factory"
11 copies - Approx. 10 minutes
This film shows the set-up of the factory in regard to the treatment and conditions of the manpower. Point meant to be brought home is to strive for as ideal conditions for the factory workers as possible because of the satisfactory results in production attained by these conditions.

"Ack-Ack"
11 copies - Approx. 10 minutes
Explaining the defense and set-up of the anti-aircraft division. Showing that the main object of the anti-aircraft guns is not to solely hit planes but to obstruct their aims for military objects.

"Stop That Fire"
13 copies - Approx. 3 minutes
Includes the putting out of an incendiary bomb in the home and on the street. Also the cautions that should be taken.

"Mr. Proudfoot Shows a Light"
8 copies - Approx. 10 minutes

Film is trying to bring home the point of the grave importance of complying strictly to the blackout rules and the grave consequences when one person may not cooperate.

"Goofer Trouble"
6 copies - Approx. 10 minutes
Plea to the civilians to keep under cover during air raids as they are a definite hinderance to their pilots. Enemy ships have gotten away because the pilots defending the country have had to avoid machine - gunning to protect civilians watching in the streets.

"War and Order"
2 copies - Approx. 11 minutes
Shows the English police force receiving instructions in their duties. Also, the air raid wardens and the functions that go on behind the lines during a bombing raid, including scenes of a few bombings.

FINGERPRINT FILES
Dead

The problem of maintaining the fingerprints of deceased individuals has been mentioned in the Identification Division Inspection Report of 1949.

Since 1924 to April 1, 1950, there are 550,075 fingerprint cards of deceased individuals. This figure represents approximately 150,856 individuals. There are 196,513 in criminal and 283,027 in non-criminal Dead Files of individuals who are 75 years of age and older. These are presumed to be dead because of their age.

Space and Cabinets

I. Dead
   1. "Master" Fingerprint File
      18 four-drawer fingerprint cabinets which uses 126 square feet
   2. FBI Number Jacket File
      130 six-drawer cabinets which uses 970 square feet

Death Notice forms - Present Procedure

The Identification Division receives Death Notice Forms concerning individuals who have fingerprints on file. Where there is only a single fingerprint card, the death notice is posted and this card is filed in the dead "Master" fingerprint file by fingerprint classification and the name index cards are filed in dead name index file. Where there is a FBI number, the "Master" fingerprint card is filed by fingerprint classification and the jacket folder is removed from the active file and filed by FBI number in the dead file. Also, the index cards are filed in the dead name index file.

Deceased Fingerprint Cards

The Identification Division daily receives fingerprint cards of deceased individuals and the same procedure as indicated above for both single prints and FBI numbers is followed.

The above procedures apply both to criminal and non-criminal prints. In most cases non-criminal prints (armed Forces prints, Loyalty and others) are together in the individual's FBI number jacket folder.

II. Presumptive Dead - "Master" Fingerprint file (Individuals 75 years or older)
   1. Criminal (4th Floor)
      18 four-drawer fingerprint cabinets which used 126 square feet
   2. Non-Criminal (3rd Floor)
      39 Four-Drawer fingerprint cabinets which uses 323 square feet

Presumptive Dead

When an individual in the fingerprint files is 75 years or more they are removed from the active "Master" fingerprint file and placed in a separate fingerprint file. There is a separate fingerprint file for the criminal and for the non-criminal. This procedure has materially assisted searching procedures in the Technical Section.

RECOMMENDATION:

I. Dead

1. Present Time
   The space problem at this time is not acute.
2. Future
   Consideration should be given to obtain legal action for the destruction of all prints exclusive of the Army, where information has been received of the death and twenty years has elapsed since the date of death. This will help to keep the Dead file to a relatively small space.

II. Presumptive Dead (75 years of over)

1. Present Time
   The space problem at this time is not acute.
2. Future
   Consideration should be given to obtain legal action for the destruction of all prints exclusive of the Army where the individual has reached the age of 110 years. This would apply to both criminal and non-criminal prints.

The reason the Army fingerprint cards are not included in the destruction is that the FBI has custody of all of these prints and inquiries are received concerning them (Pensions, widow benefits, etc). In those cases where there is an Army fingerprint card all other cards but the Army card is destroyed.

FROM : WM. C. JACKSON

DATE: July 6, 1950

SUBJECT: TIME LIMIT ON RETENTION OF TIME AND ATTENDANCE REPORTS

DATE 9-30-84 BY SP4 EW/ Cal

In connection with the attached memoranda concerning the destruction of FBI records, it was noted that on the attachment to the memorandum addressed to Mr. Andretta Item 4 is the daily sign-in register sheets used at the Seat of Government, Item 9 is the daily report used by Special Agents in the Field Divisions, and Item 15 is the Field Office Register No. 2 used in recording arrivals and departures of personnel in offices other than their headquarters assigned. All three of these are the source material from which the Time and Attendance Reports required by the General Accounting Office in connection with leave and pay roll matters are prepared.

You will recall that recently the General Accounting Office auditors requested that the Bureau submit for their examination these Field records in connection with a certain employee in order to verify the information shown on his Time and Attendance card. In light of this request, it appears that the General Accounting Office auditors consider these documents to be a part of the Time and Attendance record, and as such must be available for their examination.

In order to verify this inference, I contacted the office of Mr. Smith, who is presently in charge of the agency audit of pay rolls in the General Accounting Office. Mr. Smith was on vacation and a Mrs. Sherrick (phonetic) gave me a citation of a decision dated November 18, 1947 (B-45100) on this subject. It was found that this was an unpublished decision and it was necessary to send someone over to the General Accounting Office to make a typewritten copy. An examination of this decision indicates that the Time and Attendance cards are to be retained for a period of three years, except that the last pay period card on employees who have been separated should be retained for ten years. The decision does not, of course, deal with the question of sign-in registers since the Bureau has special permission to use them and they are not contemplated for use under General Regulations No. 102 put out by the General Accounting Office. I discussed this point with Mrs. Sherrick, and it was her opinion that since we had permission to use the registers that this source material constituted a part of the Time and Attendance record and as such should be retained the same length of time prescribed for the Time and Attendance Reports.

RECORDED - 45
INDEXED - 45

It seems to me that under the above interpretation, Items 4, 9, and 15 on the list mentioned should be revised accordingly. It is further pointed out that no mention is made on the list of the No. 3 Register used by the Field, from which information is also taken in the preparation of the Time and Attendance Reports. It is my understanding that these are destroyed daily by the field offices. Under the above interpretation of the General Accounting Office ruling it would appear that the No. 3 Register should be kept

Administrator,

Federal Security Agency

My dear Mr. Ewing:

There has been received your letter of October 23, 1947, requesting approval by this Office, pursuant to section 9 of the act of July 7, 1943, 57 Stat. 380, of the proposed disposition of Standard Form No. 1130, Time and Attendance Report, in a shorter period of time than that provided in my letter of July 30, 1946.

In said letter it was provided that Standard Form No. 1130 should be retained until the accounts of the disbursing officer in which the payments pertaining to such records have been audited and finally settled by the General Accounting Office. You point out that such an indefinite retention period creates a particularly critical space problem for activities where a large number of people are employed, such as the Federal Security Agency which employs approximately 33,000 persons, Standard Form No. 1130 accumulating therefor at the rate of 858,000 copies per year.

It is appreciated that the date when the General Accounting Office audits and finally settles the accounts of the disbursing officers to which the payments pertain may be unknown to your agency. Furthermore, Public Law 72, approved May 19, 1947, provides that accounts of disbursing, accountable, or certifying officers shall be settled by this office within a period not to exceed three years from the date of the receipt of the accounts by the General Accounting Office. Accordingly, in order to provide a specific period for disposal of the forms in question, you are advised that they may be disposed of after a retention period of three full years after the end of the month covered by the pay period, except in cases of retirement, resignation, death, or separation from the service of the employees. The form for the last pay period of the employee involved will be retained in all cases for a period of 10 years after such event. My letter dated July 30, 1946, is modified accordingly.

Reference is made to the Executives Conference memorandum of March 24, 1950, and to memoranda from Mr. Clegg to Mr. Tolson dated February 10, 1950, and February 17, 1950. In accordance with instructions, a meeting with representatives of Archives was held in my office, in order to clarify archival regulations on destruction as applied to our records. Present were Mr. Gerald J. Davis, Assistant Chief Archivist; Mr. Charles L. Stewart, Chief of the Department of Justice and Executive Section; Mr. F. Hardee Allen, Archivist, Justice and Executive Section; all of the National Archives and Special Agent W. M. May. From the discussion it was evident that these Archives officials are anxious to have us schedule as many of our records as possible not already covered by specific or general schedules. Their attitude was that everything destroyed should be covered by schedules except material that is plainly non-record in nature under their interpretation such as extra copies of material in the same file. They pointed out that the Department of Justice has carried out a very comprehensive program of scheduling and intimated that we should do likewise. Before leaving, however, Mr. Charles Stewart stated that Archives would appreciate receiving additional scheduling from us because of budget considerations. It would thus appear that their attitude was motivated in part by budget conditions within their own Agency.

In light of this discussion with Archives officials, it appears probable that much of the material listed in the referenced memorandum of February 10, 1950, could be considered as non-record on the ground that the Bureau's intent at the time of its preparation was that it should not become a permanent record. The fact is, however, that this material is kept for a period of time, therefore, the doubt probably should be resolved in favor of scheduling for destruction. The attached schedule was prepared dealing with items listed in referenced memorandum dated February 10 and further items will be submitted at a future date. It is noted that the Executives Conference already has approved destruction of the field office material listed after the running of the time interval designated in the memorandum.

MATERIAL PRESENTLY AUTHORIZED FOR DESTRUCTION (page 5)

Mr. Stewart of Archives advised that where newspaper clippings are made a part of the case file to which they relate they ought to be considered as record material. The other items listed are clearly of a non-record nature.

Memorandum to Mr. Nichols
Re: Destruction of Bureau Records.

Mr. Waikart
6-20-50

MATERIAL SUGGESTED FOR DISPOSAL AT THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT (pages 6,7,8)

Item 2 ordinarily applies to certain material of a highly confidential nature received "off the record" from other agencies as informational aids. Where it is of no value it is destroyed. It would appear, therefore, that such can be destroyed as non-record under the "intent" interpretation. The same principle applies to item 9 concerning radio interceptions for cryptographic examination, that is, there is no intent to make permanent records of the undeciphered material that is valueless. It is believed that difficulties could be encountered in scheduling material of that nature and that handling it as in the past is the best expediency.

DESTRUCTION OF MATERIAL IN FIELD OFFICES (pages 8,9,10)

File on mailing lists is covered by the general schedule Number 3, items 1 and 2, which permits destruction after they are superseded or become obsolete, or until changes are made.

Where some of the items lend themselves to grouping, this was done for the sake of brevity. The Administrative File for Agents item has been broadened to include clerical personnel as well and the file on visiting employees would therefore be properly included by the schedule. Bureau bulletins and SAC Letters in the field are non-record since they are "extra copies of printed material of which official copies have been retained for purposes of record". The public relations file (page 10) is covered by general schedule Number 3, items 6 and 7, which permits destruction of this type of material after 3 months. Since general schedules are permissive rather than mandatory, the Bureau may destroy this type of material any time after 3 months.

RECOMMENDATION:

If the Bureau approves, the attachments should be sent to the Department for forwarding to Archives.

RECORDED - 11 The Bureau's records show that your office is in possession of SIS Manual No. 154 and the London Office has SIS Manual No. 55.

Inasmuch as the Bureau's foreign offices are no longer following SIS procedures, you and the Legal Attache in London are instructed to destroy your SIS Manuals by burning. The Bureau should be properly advised when this is done.

The Bureau's records further show that you are in possession of a Bureau Handbook and, if the Legal Attache in London finds it necessary to have a Handbook available, he should notify the Bureau at which time consideration will be given to furnishing him with a Handbook.

BACKGROUND:

Since the termination of the SIS Program, the Bureau's foreign representatives have, of course, been following the policies and procedures prescribed for domestic field offices. They, therefore, have no need for SIS manuals inasmuch as the provisions set forth in those manuals are no longer applicable.

FACTS:

On the basis of inspection reports and special Bureau authorization, the SIS manuals in all foreign offices, except Paris and London, have been destroyed. The Paris Office is still in the possession of SIS Manual No. 154, and the London Office is still in possession of SIS Manual No. 55. Inasmuch as these manuals are no longer being followed, it is not believed that it is necessary for them to retain their old SIS manuals any longer. It is to be noted that the Legal Attache in Paris has a Handbook in his office, and, if the Legal Attache in London believes he needs a Handbook, he should request one, at which time consideration will be given to forwarding a Handbook to him.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Legal Attaches in Paris and London be authorized to destroy their SIS manuals. There is attached hereto a proposed letter to the Legal Attaches in Paris and London instructing them to destroy those manuals.

FRAUD AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT BRIBERY

Reference is made to your memorandum dated September 12, 1950, attaching a copy of a memorandum from your Knoxville office briefly describing six classes of exhibits which are no longer needed in connection with the investigation of the matter mentioned above. You request to be advised as to what disposition should be made of these exhibits.

Disposition of all government records should be made in accordance with the provisions of Sections 366 to 380 of Title 44 U.S.C. In this respect your attention is invited to Department Circular 385A dated November 15, 1943, and Supplement No. 3 dated December 19, 1944.

Section 366 of Title 44 U.S.C. provides:

> When used in sections 366-380 of this title, the word "records" includes all books, papers, maps, photographs, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by any agency of the United States Government in pursuance of Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Government or because of the informational value of data contained therein. Library and museum material made or acquired and preserved solely for reference or exhibition purposes, extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience of reference, and stocks of publications and of processed documents are not included within the definition of the word "records" as used in sections 366-380 of this title.

Section 367 of Title 44 U.S.C. provides:

> The National Archives Council shall promulgate regulations, not inconsistent with sections 366-380 of this title, establishing (1) procedures for the compiling and submitting to the Administrator of General Services of lists and schedules of records proposed for disposal, (2) procedures for the disposal of records authorized for disposal.

and (3) standards for the reproduction of records by photographic or microphotographic processes with a view to the disposal of the original records. Such regulations, when approved by the President, shall be binding on all agencies of the United States Government.

Section 368 of Title 44 U.S.C. provides:

> The head of each agency of the United States Government shall submit to the Administrator of General Services, in accordance with regulations promulgated as provided in section 367 of this title (1) lists of any records in the custody of the agency that have been photographed or microphotographed in accordance with the said regulations and that, as a consequence thereof, do not appear to have sufficient value to warrant their further preservation by the Government, (2) lists of any other records in the custody of the agency that are not needed by it in the transaction of its current business and that do not appear to have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their further preservation by the Government, and (3) schedules proposing the disposal after the lapse of specified periods of time of records of a specified form or character that either have accumulated in the custody of the agency or that may accumulate therein at any time after the submission of such schedules and that apparently will not after the lapse of the period specified have sufficient administrative, legal, research, or other value to warrant their further preservation by the Government.

Documents obtained from other departments or agencies of the Government that have served their purpose and are of no evidentiary value in connection with a case or a matter under investigation, should be returned to the respective government department or agency from which obtained. Should the head of such department or agency decide that such documents are of no further value, disposition of same should be made in accordance with the provisions of Sections 366-380 of Title 44, supra. Accordingly, exhibits listed under Items 2 and 3 should be returned to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Exhibits listed under Item 1 should be returned to the rightful owner.

Exhibits listed under Item 4 should be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of Sections 366-380 of Title 44 U.S.C.

Supplement No. 3 of Circular 3054 dated December 19, 1944, provides in part as follows:

> Records created or received by any bureau, division or office of the Department of Justice in pursuance of federal law or in connection with the transaction of the business of the Department, are the property of the United States Government and as such cannot be removed from the custody of the Department or in any manner disposed of without the approval of the Archivist and the Congress of the United States (40 Stat. 1122; 57 Stat. 380).

Accordingly, exhibits listed under Items 5 and 6 should be disposed of pursuant to the provisions of Sections 366-380 of Title 44 U.S.C. and Department Circular 3054, supra.

Should you have any additional questions concerning this matter we shall be glad to discuss them further with you.

To obtain authorization of CIA and the Records Section of the Bureau for the destruction of reports being received daily by the Bureau and which relate only to military information.

DETAILS: Information remains unclass per Approp Agency ltr dtd 3-3-86 SP8BTJ/cal 8-19-86 211.847

The Bureau is in daily receipt of memoranda from the Central Intelligence Agency captioned "The Korean Situation." The information contained therein is classified as "Secret" and deals entirely with military information relating to the daily current operations of the United Nations Forces. A review of the information contained in these memoranda reflects that although there is information of current interest contained therein they will serve no long-range purpose and have no information which can be indexed into the Bureau's files. It is not believed desirable to serialize these reports and it is believed that after they have been perused by the appropriate Bureau officials they should be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Liaison Section contact the appropriate officials and advise them that their daily Korean situation summaries are received by the Bureau with interest; however, the Bureau would appreciate authority to destroy them when they have served their purpose and use, especially in view of the military type of information contained therein. It is also recommended that this suggestion for destruction of these reports be furnished to the Records Section for their approval.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF "SITUATION REPORTS"

Reference is made to the attached memorandum of Mr. Hennrich dated August 29, 1950, recommending the destruction of "situation reports" which contain military information on the Korean situation.

This is an excellent suggestion and will save considerable time and work in the Records Section. Suggestions such as this are deeply appreciated in Records because of the obvious savings of time and effort in unnecessarily processing material of no permanent value to our records. It is hoped the Security Division can make other suggestions along the same lines involving reports from the various military establishments.

This material can be construed as "non-record" and therefore will need no Archival authority before being disposed.

PURPOSE

To obtain authorization through Liaison for the destruction of "situation reports" presently being received daily by the Bureau and which relate only to military information.

DETAILS

The Bureau is receiving on a daily basis three types of communications that are captioned as follows:

1. "Joint Sititntrep" This is published by the United States Air Force.

2. "Significant Intelligence Briefs Director ate of Intelligence" This also is published by the United States Air Force.

3. "Joint Daily Sitrep" This is prepared by G-2.

The three communications enumerated above are received by the Bureau either as secret or top secret. They deal primarily with the enemy situation in Korea, movements of the United States Army and Air Force, weather information, etc. Although the information contained therein is of current interest in following the prosecution of the war, the inclusion of that information in the Bureau files will serve no long range purpose. It is not believed desirable to serialize these reports and as soon as they have been perused by the appropriate Bureau personnel, it is believed that they should be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the Liaison Section contact the appropriate officials and advise them that the "situation reports" being received daily by the Bureau are of interest however, the Bureau would appreciate authority to destroy them, in view of the type of information contained therein, when they have served their purpose and use.

We have had pending for some time the matter of securing Archives authorization for the destruction of a large volume of old records which have heretofore been destroyed after a certain period of time. The purpose of seeking this authorization is to insure that there will be no question which would arise in the future.

Since the material pertains to work in your Divisions, it will be appreciated if you will look it over and if it meets with your approval send it on through in order that we can have it submitted to Archives for final authorization.

Reference is made to the attached Section 50 of File #94-5, on General Correspondence - Research. Mr. Tracy recently called to my attention how valueless is the bulky material in this file. As will be noted, this Section relates to correspondence received in 1937 requesting various pamphlets and publications put out by the Bureau. There is at least one index card prepared on each serial.

There are presently 430 Sections to this file containing 36,522 serials. As a result, there are a comparable number of index cards in our indices reflecting only that an individual requested a pamphlet of the Bureau. Undoubtedly most of this material could be destroyed and the indices purged. On the other hand, if it is believed necessary to keep, for a limited period of time, recent requests for periodicals and pamphlets of the Bureau, an arbitrary time limit of say 5 years could be set up.

Our own research has developed another file, 62-23533, on Mail Covers, in which most of the data is worthless because of originals already filed in the main case file. Section 53 is attached, and it will be noted that from serial 7851 to 7920, practically all of the mail relates to Mail Covers placed in cases handled by the Bureau and the original or copy is appropriately filed and indexed into the main case file.

There are 54 sections to this file consisting of 8,035 serials. It is estimated that there is an average of 3 index cards to a serial. In other words, there are approximately 24,000 unnecessary and duplicate references in our main indices.

We, of course, are no longer following the procedure of placing a copy of Mail Cover correspondence into this file. We could, if authorized, review the file and retain all policy material but purge and destroy Mail Cover correspondence and related index cards.

66-3286-438

RECORDED - INDEXED OCT 20 1950

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That routine correspondence in the General Correspondence - Research file, 94-5, be destroyed up through the year 1945. This will include the purge of related index cards from the main indices.

2. That the file on Mail Covers, 62-23533, be reviewed and all correspondence relating to the placing of Mail Covers, of which a copy or original is in a main case file, be removed and destroyed along with the index card.

Archival approval is presently being awaited in the first category covering General Correspondence. It will not be necessary on the Mail Cover correspondence in view of the fact that only copies are involved.

The Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. Glavin, Harbo, Tracy, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Rosen, McIntire, Sizoo, Nease and Nichols, considered the following recommendations of the Records Section:

1. File 94-5 on general correspondence research contains 430 sections with 36,522 serials. This file contains routine correspondence directed to the Bureau requesting information, which is answered either by a form letter or a routine type letter sending Bureau publications. It was the recommendation of the Records Section that sections of this file more than five years old be destroyed and that future correspondence of this type be destroyed after the expiration of five years. All members of the Conference, excepting Mr. Mohr, were unanimously in favor of asking Archives' approval for the destruction of the sections of the file.

Mr. Mohr felt that it should be microfilmed. It was pointed out to the Conference that if the file was microfilmed, it would be necessary to maintain an index card; that it would represent a cost; that the reason for destroying the file was two-fold, namely, to provide filing space and to get the unnecessary index cards out of the index.

2. The Conference was advised that file 62-23533 was a file containing copies of original correspondence from the field pertaining to mail covers. There are 54 sections of this file, consisting of 8,035 serials. There are approximately 24,000 index cards. Originals of this correspondence are maintained in the main case file. The Bureau no longer maintains a separate file containing all correspondence on mail covers.

The Conference was unanimous in recommending that this file be destroyed, which does not require any clearance from the Archives inasmuch as all material in this file are duplicates.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

OK.

DESTRUCTION OF OLD GERMAN, MEXICAN, MISCELLANEOUS, AND BUREAU SECTION FILES

Destruction of Bureau Property -

Reference is made to the memorandum of September 8, 1949, from the Director to you dealing with the recent inspection of the Records and Communication Division. This contained instructions to submit recommendations concerning the microfilming of the Old German, Mexican, Miscellaneous, and Bureau Section Files, contemplating their destruction.

By memorandum, from Mr. Cartwright to you dated March 31, 1949, the extent of these files was reflected by the following figures.

CLASSIFICATION	FISCAL YEAR	NO. OF FILES	NO. OF CABINETS
Old German	1914 - 1918	391,901	269
Miscellaneous	1908 - 1919	43,156	42
Mexican	1916 - 1919	47,096	7
Bureau Section	1920 - 1921	25,000 (approximate)	28
Total		507,153	346

In this memorandum, the observation was made that microfilming of these records would be of doubtful advantage because of their age and because the character of the investigative reports therein was such as to make the majority of little value. It was pointed out, however, that some of the Old German Files were found useful in the war years as to German security matters, and during and since the war years as to Communist matters. The recommendation was made, therefore, that the Bureau consider the project of reviewing all the foregoing files for the purpose of saving any valuable information and destroying the remainder.

This general proposition was considered by the Executives Conference on April 7, 1948, with the additional consideration that the valuable portion to be retained would in turn be microfilmed and the originals destroyed. The Conference unanimously approved this recommendation.

In August, 1947, following Bureau approval, the Records Section began pulling all the index cards in our general index pertaining to these files and maintaining them separately on the eighth floor. All supervisors were informed that to secure an indices check of these files, a separate and special request had to be made of the Service Unit. The latter unit kept a record of requests for these files, and as a result only one instance was reported between June, 1948 and January, 1949 where they were of some benefit on a name check.

Available figures show that the Old German, Mexican, Miscellaneous, and Bureau Section Files occupy space equivalent to 484 four-drawer cabinets and 1,645 square feet of floor space. Thus, the savings to be realized by the destruction and microfilming would be very substantial.

It is suggested that the review of these records be made by a representative of the Security Division with the assistance of Mr. Christopher Seyferth of the Records Section. If agreeable, we will proceed to make the necessary arrangements to secure authority from the National Archives for destruction of these records.

I feel that now is an excellent time to move forward on this project to get rid of space-consuming, valueless records. Naturally, the review of one-half million files cannot be accomplished in a short time, but its ultimate achievement is part of a program to counteract our rapid expansion and streamline our records.

RECOMMENDATION

That the Bureau approve a systematic review, for purposes of destruction, of the Old German, Mexican, Miscellaneous, and Bureau Section Files. An exception would be made of files found by the review to possess reference value, and these files would be microfilmed prior to their destruction.

[redacted] Chief Clerk of the Dallas Office, has submitted the following suggestion for the Bureau's consideration regarding the destruction of closed files.

There has been considerable discussion and correspondence relative to whether or not files in divisions of the Bureau should be destroyed after the expiration of a specified period of time. Her specific suggestion is that in the future, all offices except the office of origin, destroy their files exclusive of security cases which have been placed in a RUC status for a period of more than ten years. By retaining the complete file in the office of origin requests for information pertaining to the subject of these files could be directed to the office of origin rather than having all such requests for information submitted to the Bureau. She points out that there was a period of time when the Bureau was not furnished with copies of certain types of reports and therefore by retaining the entire file in the office of origin, full and complete information regarding all investigations would readily be available.

In carrying out this suggestion she states that if it is adopted, the auxiliary offices should retain the file fronts of the files destroyed and there should be noted thereon at the time of the destruction of the files themselves the correct title, the file number of the office of origin, and the office of origin itself. In this manner, should a reference in a file which has been destroyed be material, inquiry could be made of the office of origin without a great deal of added work or confusion on the part of either office. It does not appear that the number of requests for information to any one office would be excessive.

[redacted] points out that the adoption of this suggestion would materially increase filing space in each office and that with the availability of the title of the case, the office of origin and the file number of the office of origin on the file front of the destroyed files, no problem would be encountered in securing any information concerning index reference should it become necessary at a later date.

[redacted] Chief Clerk of the Dallas Office, has submitted for consideration the following suggestion: Considerable expense is incurred by offices in sending telegrams and teletypes by including therein the serial number of the deserter where the receiving division has prior correspondence on the case, including the serial number of the deserter. She suggests that the Bureau consider the advisability of informing the field that it is not necessary in telegrams and teletypes between offices to include the serial number of the deserter where the receiving division has prior information on the case, including the serial number. She points out that this same practice should be followed of omitting the serial number in telegrams from the office to resident agents and road trip agents when the agents have the serial number or other correspondence in their possession.

According to instructions previously issued by the Bureau on January 1, 1950, all files in the San Antonio Office 25 years old are to be destroyed.

It is pointed out that the "61" classification files in this office contain considerable information relating to Communist activities in Texas during the 1920's and 1930's. Just recently one of the persons active in the Communist movement here during this period became the subject of a new complaint received by this office.

In view of the present international situation it is suggested that it may be desirable to except the "61" classification cases from the general rule that all cases years old should be destroyed.

Reference is made to the letter from San Antonio dated 12-5-50 requesting permission to make exception to the 61-classification in the destruction of files in that office over 25 years old.

In January of 1946 a schedule was prepared to clear the destruction of closed investigative files of the F. B. I. field divisions with Archives and Congress. The Joint Committee of Congress on the Disposition of Records approved this schedule on 3-5-46, and as written, the schedule allowed destruction of files as soon as the case was closed or RUC'd. (see 66-3286-214X)

Bureau Bulletin #35, series 1946, dated 6-26-46, issued instructions to the Field that all files of the field divisions may be destroyed after they become 25 years old. This was based on a finding by the Joint Committee of the Bureau on 3-13-46 and was favorably acted upon by the Executives Conference. Some of the factors contributing to this decision were that files over 25 years old were seldom used by the field offices and that any worth-while information of a security nature accruing during World War I had already been brought forward into the current Internal Security files through a program of analysis of these files. (66-3286-238).

From the above it would appear that destruction has been permissive rather than mandatory as far as the Bureau is concerned. However, this appears to be a matter for the decision of the Joint Committee rather than the Records Section.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the reference letter be referred to the Joint Committee for their decision.

I think they should keep every file they think might have a future value

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE FILE AND INDEX MATERIAL

Bureau Property - General

Re memo Waikart to Nichols dated October 5, 1950, recommending the elimination of "worthless material" in the "Y files" pertaining to radical organizations 1914 to 1918 and miscellaneous Government reports; and destruction of the Alien Enemy Control Index and Custodial Detention Index.

Recommendations with regard to these items were set forth in a memo from Mr. Nichols to Mr. Fletcher dated October 11, 1949. (66-16304-43)

These recommendations were the subject of an executive conference memo to the Director dated October 22, 1949, which stated "The conference was unanimous that we include this material in the program of microfilming, that it would be most inadvisable to destroy any of this material and accordingly, the conference recommended that portion of the inspection report pertaining to the destruction of old files, etc., be disregarded." The Director approved. (66-16304-44)

While there has been no factual change in the content of these items, it now appears that some might be difficult to microfilm in useable form. Accordingly, it is recommended that such items as are not susceptible to microfilming be retained, and not destroyed.

Following the last inspection of the Records Section, it was recommended that the Bureau consider the destruction of certain obsolete file material which appeared to have no real value for present or future use. Much of this material has been stored for years on the 8th floor of the Justice Building. Accordingly, memoranda were prepared and directed to the interested Divisions requesting review to determine whether it could be destroyed. As a result, portions of this material have been approved by the Division heads, and these approved portions (only) are listed below. For a more detailed description of this material proposed for destruction, the specific memoranda mentioned below may be referred to.

Memorandum from Mr. Nichols to Mr. Glavin dated October 12, 1949

1. Two drawers of material, the property of Mr. Robert F. Laughlin former Chief Clerk. Destroyed See p. 3.

2. Charts of assignments and votes of Special Agents insurance fund in 1937. Destroyed

3. A file in the Personnel Records Section captioned, Clerical Tests. Destroyed 10-31-51

4. A file in the Personnel Records captioned Applicants Referred To Interviewing Officials. Destroyed 11-1-51

5. A file in Personnel Records entitled, Applicant General. (Portions over 3 years old). 11-15-51 Destroyed Sect 1 & 23

17. Custodial Detention Index.

On October 22, 1949, the Executives Conference considered the destruction of material as recommended in the same inspection. The Conference was in favor of including this material in the program of microfilming, but not of destruction. As is seen from the listings above, the majority of these records in question have no security aspect but are more closely related to administrative matters. Even those records not pertaining to administrative matters are of no particular value to the Bureau, and to reiterate, the respective Divisions have considered and agreed to the destruction because of the obsolete and useless nature of this material.

Although it is possible to microfilm this administrative material, it should be noted that it is not indexed or arranged in any logical fashion lending itself to finding after it has been filmed, thus making it of no value whatever because of the extreme difficulty involved in locating any particular item needed. It would have to be arranged and/or indexed before microfilming and this would be a job of substantial scope and would tie up valuable classifiers and other personnel.

Regarding items 14 and 15, the same reasoning applies, that is, a tremendous amount of work would be involved in systematizing such records so that microfilming would be of practical usefulness. Items 14 and 15, "Y Files" and Miscellaneous Reports, consist mainly of pamphlets and books and it is not proposed that these be either microfilmed or destroyed but they should be retained and made a part of our publication files where their nature and content warrant it. These would first be inspected by competent classifiers so that any worthless material can be eliminated.

Regarding items 16 and 17 which were specialized indices and which served the purpose at one time to allow the Security Division to expedite their work without need for constant reference to the Bureau's General Index, all the information still may be found through the Bureau's General Index, and so these indices no longer serve any useful purpose and should be destroyed.

It is hoped that all this material may be destroyed but as an alternative, that it may be left stored as is rather than microfilmed.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is therefore recommended that this be reconsidered and that the records listed in this memorandum, excepting items 14 and 15, be destroyed as a space conservation measure.

Reference is made to the attached memorandum to Mr. Nichols dated December 29, 1949, indicating that the Executive Conference approved the destruction of correspondence concerning the movement of Agents after the information had been posted to the movement cards and the correspondence had served its purpose in the Movement Section where it has been retained in the past for a period of 2 months.

In connection with the general survey being made concerning the destruction of records, a review made of the Records Disposal Act and the general schedules promulgated pursuant thereto failed to indicate that correspondence of this type is authorized for destruction at this time. It therefore appears that it will be necessary to prepare an appropriate communication to the Department requesting that a schedule be set up for the destruction of these records. Unless advised to the contrary, an appropriate request will be forwarded to the Department for transmittal to Archives in order that appropriate Congressional authority may be obtained for the destruction of this correspondence at the end of a 60-day period. This schedule will be prepared along with several others upon the completion of the survey concerning the subject matter.

In the Meantime, it is suggested that all material of this type be maintained in the Movement Section pending the receipt of the approval from Congress.

Recommendation:

That correspondence concerning the movement of Agents be retained in the Movement Section pending the receipt of appropriate authority to dispose of it.

As you know, the Bureau requires prompt notification of any travel by Agents in the Field or at the Seat of Government to and from the Field, and as a result of this rule, there is received daily at the Bureau a considerable number of wires and letters containing this type of information.

In the past, the procedure followed by the Records Section for processing these wires and letters has been to "Not Record" them into the Agent's alphabetical file. When two or more Agents are mentioned, copies are prepared for the appropriate files.

It has been suggested, by Miss Catherine McWhirt, Supervisor of the Classifying Unit in the Records Section, that after the Movement Section of the Chief Clerk's Office has posted to their records the data regarding the travel of an Agent or Agents, the wire or letter be destroyed.

For your information, the records maintained by the Movement Section are available in the Chief Clerk's Office for two months, after which they are transferred to the Records Section where they are maintained for an additional year. This suggestion is not intended to affect permanent transfers as all records of this nature are, of course, reflected in the Agent's personnel file.

It is the writer's belief that this suggestion if adopted would in no way impair the accuracy of the Chief Clerk's Office records, but would eliminate considerable clerical time necessary in the Routing, Classifying, and Filing Units of the Records Section, as these sections must handle the material before it is ready for filing.

In view of the above, it is recommended that this suggestion be given favorable consideration and therefore eliminate entirely the handling by the Records Section the wires and letters pertaining to travel by Agents.

There are attached for exhibit purposes a few of the wires and letters which reflect clearly the reason for this suggestion.

"THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION"
Destruction of Bureau Property-General

It has been the custom of the Bureau's Library in the past to maintain all copies of The Journal of the American Medical Association, published weekly, which are returned to the Library after they have been reviewed in the Laboratory for any information of value. Those copies which the Laboratory has in the past found to contain articles of permanent interest to the Laboratory have been retained in the Laboratory. Our files therefore, are not complete, but merely are those copies not wanted but have been held here for any calls which might be received concerning them.

These journals are now taking up valuable space in the Bureau's Libary, and as you know we are quite crowded and need every inch of space possible. We have back issues dating back to 1943.

In the event old copies are needed they could always be obtained from the Library of Congress or from the Army Library in Washington.

RECOMMENDATION: For the reasons stated above, it is recommended that all of the old copies of "The Journal of the American Medical Association" be properly disposed of except the issues for 1949. It is also recommended that in the future only the current year's copies be maintained of this journal."

During the recent inspection of the Records Section, the disposal of obsolete records was again considered. As you may well appreciate, the Records Section is faced with a critical space shortage and also with a constant need for expansion due to current receipts. If at all possible, something should be done immediately to make available more space.

There is described below file material kept by the Records Section that is of interest to your Division. It occupies floor and cabinet space, yet now appears to be obsolete and of little or no value. It is requested that you have someone review it to determine if you agree that it may be destroyed at this time. The Records Section will provide representative samples upon request.

It will be appreciated if you will give this matter immediate attention so as to provide the Records Section with some much-needed cabinet space.

Laboratory Matters

There are eight drawers containing material in the Polygraph Files, Laboratory Reports, Interesting Case Write Ups from 1935-1941 as well as newspaper clippings pertaining to executions which were sent to the Bureau by a Doctor Hoffman.

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - 66

Reference is made to the Executives Conference memorandum of December 9, 1950, and to the memorandum of December 21, 1950, from G. J. Engert to Mr. Tracy, concerning the destruction of "extra" fingerprint cards in the jacket folders of the persons dead 10 years or more.

There has been no previous scheduling of fingerprints for disposal. A schedule is attached for transmittal to the Department and thence to Archives. As prepared, this schedule calls for destruction of the "extra" fingerprints upon notification of death rather than 10 years after death as this will impose less limitation on the Bureau in case it later becomes desirable to depart from the 10-year policy. You will recall that in scheduling the destruction of closed investigative files in the Field, authority was granted to dispose of them at any time after the cases are RUC'd or closed, although as a matter of Bureau policy they are kept for 25 years.

RECOMMENDATION:

That if approved as written, the attached schedule be referred to the Identification Division for their information and approval.

Reurlet November 18, 1950.

Regarding your suggestion to destroy Court of Claims case and Renegotiation Act case files after a period of six months, your attention is directed to the Records Disposal Act which permits the destruction of only such files as are set forth in the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 6 J. Your particular attention is called to Section 6 J (5) which authorizes the destruction of field office files only after they become 25 years old.

You also mention that it is the practice of your office to destro one copy of the afore-mentioned reports in an effort to save time and file space. If space is a factor and if the time devoted to the destruction of surplus copies is warranted, the Bureau has no objections to your continuin this practice. You should see to it, however, that the file is complete as to serials before placing such file in the closed file section.

Destruction of Bureau Records

ReBulet November 16, 1950.

The Agent responsible for the suggestion in our letter of November 3, 1950, should be Special Agent EDWARD J. ARMBRUSTER. We talked it over, and I suggested that he submit same.

In addition to the above, it is our further recommendation that all Court of Claims and Renegotiation Act cases that are closed by Court decision be destroyed after a six-months' period. After a decision has been rendered, there is a period of sixty days in which an appeal might be made. After this period, there is no recourse. This office has a number of these cases and, to my knowledge, there has never been one of these cases reopened. A large amount of file space could be obtained if these cases could be destroyed. The Bureau is aware that the Bureau, as well as the Department, has copies of these reports. This office has the practice of destroying one copy of the above-mentioned reports in an effort to save time and file space.

DESTRUCTION OF NUMBERING UNIT ABSTRACTS PERTAINING TO ADMINISTRATIVE FILES

Bureau Property

An inspection of the abstracts of the 66 classification shows that considerable space in that classification is taken up with abstracts of the Agents' and employees' administrative files. The policy apparently changed in 1941 and alphabetical files were used thereafter and no abstracts made. The present administrative material for Agents is filed in alphabetical folders while administrative material for clerks goes into their personnel files.

[redacted] of the Numbering Unit, advised that these abstracts are rarely if ever referred to. At this date even the files section they represent are quite inactive. Destruction of these abstracts would do no possible harm to our service to the Bureau and should provide at least two more cabinets for further expansion in th 66's. Room is needed particularly for the new files being opened on confidential informants.

If approved the Numbering Unit could readily carry out this destruction through careful inspection of the abstracts and the subject matter thereon, and thus insure that no other type of 66 abstract is destroyed since the employees' files are interspersed with other types.

It is clear that Bureau policy of long standing is not to destroy Bureau abstracts. However, it is believed that making exception of this material would cause no future difficulties and on the contrary it would have distinct advantages.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the abstracts in the Numbering Unit representing material in old administrative files, which abstracts were discontinued in 1941, be removed and destroyed.

PURPOSE:

To prepare a list of records which may be destroyed under archival authority and to show the basis for approval, such as specific schedule, general schedule, or non-record material. The following material is mostly exclusive of the items listed in the manual of Rules and Regulations for destruction, authority for which may be found in 66-3286-437. Further details are included in 66-3286-381X.

381X

Description of Material	Basis for Destruction	File Number (or source)
Tickler Copies	Non-record in nature	Archival pamphlet entitled "Disposition of Federal Records" pg.3
Identical duplicate copies of all documents maintained in same file, (including reports).	Non-record in nature	"Disposition of Federal Records"; also 66-3286-179
Extra copies of printed or processed materials where a copy is on record	Non-record in nature	"Disposition of Federal Records," page 3
Preliminary or rough drafts of letters, memoranda, reports, etc. Also, preliminary work sheets and informal notes and stenographic notes which were transcribed.	Non-record in nature	"Disposition of Federal Records" pg. 4
Letters of transmittal which add nothing to information of transmitted material.	Non-record in nature	"Disposition of Federal Records ", pg. 4
Any material of no permanent value where intent of Agency never was to make it "record material" and it was not actually kept as such for any great length of time. (This is a debatable matter and subject to interpretation)	Non-record in nature	Records Disposal Act and Archives Officials Interpretation 66-3286-381X

The following disposal schedules are "general" schedules issued from time to time by the National Archives for the destruction of material common to many government agencies. So far, six such general schedules have been issued. The broad subject covered is listed below but since many specific types of records are covered in the schedules, it will be necessary to refer to the circular letters issued by Archives to determine the items to be destroyed and the period of retention for each one. These schedules are permissive rather than mandatory, so that any of these records maybe retained if desirable.

Director, Dept. of Justice Records Branch

Mr. DiGiralamo, in charge of the Department of Justice records, requested the volume in cubic feet of records we have destroyed at the Seat of Government during the past year. Inasmuch as we have furnished such figures in the past on an annual basis, I had these figures tabulated and he was furnished them orally.

	Description of Records	Volume
(1)	Investigative cases from 1922 through 1942 in the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act and White Slavery Traffic Act classifications. (Microfilm)	1738 Cubic Feet
(2)	Fingerprints of deceased persons.	101 Cubic Feet
(3)	Administrative material destroyed on annual or periodic basis.	74 Cubic Feet
	TOTAL	1913 Cubic Feet

The record material listed as item 1 was reported as destroyed inasmuch as the original papers are in the process of destruction.

DISPOSAL OF PERIODIC STATISTICAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE REPORTS

Destruction of Duplicate Papers

The Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. Belmont, Boardman, Rosen, Ladd, Q. Tamm, Callahan, and Nichols considered the recommendation of the Files Section that weekly and monthly delinquency reports, which at one time were prepared on pink paper and destroyed, not be filed.

Since these reports have no permanent value and are housekeeping records as compared to official government documents which are of permanent value to the file, the Conference was unanimous in recommending the adoption of this recommendation. The Files Section will in the future return such delinquency reports as are of no permanent value to the Division from which they emanated.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

SUGGESTION:

The Field file pertaining to Atomic Energy applicants be destroyed 6 months after the completion of the investigation, provided there is no derogatory information developed. The master index card be stamped indicating that no derogatory data was developed.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Save space in Field Offices.

DISADVANTAGES:

1. Under the Atomic Energy Act program, many cases are opened wherein numerous previous Atomic Energy Act cases are of great assistance. For example, when a relative of an individual previously investigated applies, the material developed in the first investigation is invaluable.

2. During the course of these investigations, documentations have been prepared on individuals and organizations which, if the file were destroyed would entail repetition of work already performed.

3. Numerous requests are received from ONI, G-2 and OSI pertaining to AEA applicants since sub-contractors normally perform functions of interest not only to the Atomic Energy Commission but to branches of the military services. If the files were destroyed we would not be in a position to answer their inquiries, thereby causing duplication of investigation.

Reference is made to the attached suggestion by [redacted] Assistant Chief Clerk, Springfield Division, dated August 8, 1951, wherein it is suggested that "all applicant cases files, particularly the Atomic Energy Act Program, containing no derogatory information be destroyed after six months old, and the master index card stamped indicating no derogatory information developed." This suggestion was referred to Agent Medler by Mr. Mason of the Training and Inspection Division for views and comments.

It must be conceded that considerable space could be saved by the periodic destruction of the closed non-derogatory applicant files in the Field. At the Seat of Government the Atomic Energy Cases alone occupy 329 five drawer, letter size file cabinets. The majority of which are of a non-derogatory nature.

From an over-all records point of view it may be advisable to retain at the Bureau the complete file and apply [redacted] suggestion in the Field. It is believed that this was the original intent in the suggestion; however, I merely want to clarify this point as there should be one place in the Bureau to reflect the results of any applicant investigation whether it be derogatory or otherwise.

b7C

It will be necessary to comply with the Records Disposal Act before these Field records may be destroyed. This can be accomplished by the submission of a special schedule to Archives.

Summarizing the above, it would appear that by the adoption of this suggestion, much valuable space would be realized in each of our Field Offices. However, the Investigative Division should also have an opportunity to evaluate this suggestion and submit their views also.

b6
b7C

We have already said we do not agree + [illegible]

RECOMMENDATION:

That the suggestion by [redacted] be given favorable consideration for adoption by the field offices; also that this suggestion be referred to the Atomic Energy Section for final approval.

SUGGESTION: It is suggested that all applicant case files, particularly the Atomic Energy Act Program, containing no derogatory information be destroyed after six months old, and the master index card stamped indicating no derogatory information developed.

7-30-82 SPUELWAL

Its advantages are: Considerable filing space would be saved if the above suggestion were adopted. In the Springfield office where the Atomic Energy Program is on a smaller scale, it is estimated that approximately twenty-five drawers of files would be eliminated to date if these could be destroyed. The index cards at the present time contain sufficient data to aid in determing whether individuals are ident or not.

It should save at least $_____ annually.

The use by the United States of my suggestion shall not form the basis of a further claim of any nature by me, my heirs, or assigns upon the United States.

The above suggestion appears practical. I recommend its adoption.

This suggestion is to the effect that in all applicant cases, particularly Atomic Energy applicants, where no derogatory information is developed, the file in the Field Office should be destroyed after six months and the master index card should be stamped indicating that no derogatory information was developed. The Training and Inspection Division requested our comments concerning this.

OBSERVATION:

It is not felt that this is a good suggestion for the following reasons:

1. What is and what is not derogatory information falls into the opinion field.

2. Considerable time would be spent in reviewing the files to sift out those cases in which there was no so-called derogatory information.

3. In some of the older cases involving synopsised reports, the reports at the Seat of Government were destroyed and the only record of such investigations is in the Field.

4. It is necessary to re-investigate these cases occasionally and the Field should have a record of the investigation already conducted.

5. Even in non-derogatory cases, questions frequently arise as to what was done, who was interviewed, what Agent did this or that, what Special Employee checked certain indices, and so forth. We recently had a non-derogatory case in which it was essential to determine exactly what investigation was conducted, who was interviewed, and by whom. It will be almost impossible to arrive at the answer of such questions if the Field files are destroyed.

Please peruse SAC Letter Number 78, dated June 24, 1947, which provides that index cards concerning Alien Enemy Registration Files should remain in the general office indices even though the Alien Enemy Registration File itself has been destroyed. Each of the index cards pertaining to Alien Enemy Registration Files should have a notation thereon that the file has been destroyed, which notation was intended to refer any inquiry to the headquarters of the Immigration and Naturalization Service for detailed information concerning the forrer Alien Enemy.

The Bureau would appreciate your views, to be received at the Seat of Government marked for the attention of the Training and Inspection Division, absolute deadline date September 20, 1951, In your opinion should these index cards remain in the general indices in an "As is" status, or should these index cards be removed by employees as they are found in the course of normal duties. STORAGE AND DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACQUIRED AS EVIDENCE
Destruction of Bureau Records - General

The following examples of cases in which we are taking action to have physical evidence disposed of are being submitted for your information in connection with your discussion of this matter at the Executives Conference this morning:

In several classifications of cases such as accounting cases, fraud cases and bad check cases, we have discovered that the field is maintaining photostatic copies of fraudulent checks, records and other papers. These are not originals but photostatic copies and were acquired as investigative aids in the handling of these cases. In those instances where the case has been closed, the Statute of Limitations expired and there is consequently no further use for the material, we are writing to the field and advising them to dispose of such property.

In one Bank Robbery - Burglary case, we ascertained from the inventory submitted that a crowbar which possibly could have been used in the burglary, there being no definite information, however, that it was, was still being maintained. The Statute of Limitations in this case had long since expired. There is, of course, no need for the maintenance of such items as this and latter has been written instructing that it be returned to the local police department who made it available to us.

These are examples of the type of action which we are taking.

The review of the inventory has indicated a generally satisfactory condition in the field in so far as the maintenance of exhibits is concerned. In the 1745 criminal cases in which the field was holding exhibits, we have found only 148 in which there was any doubt as to the advisability of maintaining such evidence and in those case we are communicating with the field.

A memorandum is being submitted today reflecting the results of the review of the inventory in view of the Director's deadline that a report be submitted by September 10th.

MICROFILMING OF THE OLD GERMAN, MEXICAN, MISCELLANEOUS, BUREAU SECTION, AND ALPHABETICAL WSTA FILES 28828

Since we are in sight of the conclusion of microfilming portions of the 26 and 31 classifications to be filmed, it is appropriate to consider other material to be filmed in this space saving operation. In a memorandum of October 7, 1949 from Mr. Waikart to Mr. Nichols, it was stated that these old files amounted to the equivalent of 484 four-drawer cabinets occupying 1,645 square feet of floor space which would represent a substantial savings in space. It was at that time recommended that a systematic review of these files be made for any information which could be considered of value and that the remainder be destroyed. On 10-22-49 the Executives Conference was unanimous in recommending the inclusion of these files and other old file material in the microfilming program rather than to destroy them altogether (66-16304-41).

The Old German, Mexican, Miscellaneous, and Bureau Section files are presently stored in the Identification Building space belonging to the Records Section including a room on the 1st floor and dead storage space on the top floor. The check with the Service Unit discloses that these records have not been used in the last two years or more. By microfilming them and destroying the paper records, we will release space badly needed for other functions at this time.

Unless advised to the contrary, we will proceed with this microfilming. Also to be included in this program will be microfilming of some 27 four-drawer cabinets of alphabetical White Slave Traffic Act files. These are so old they precede the well known numerical classification system and have not been referred to for years.

The necessary schedule for the destruction of this material following microfilming will be prepared immediately for submission through the Department to the U. S. Archives.

RECOMMENDATION:

That microfilming be continued in the following obsolete records already approved for microfilming by the Bureau: Old German, Mexican, Miscellaneous, Bureau Section and Old White Slave Alphabetical files occupying approximately 1,729 square feet of space.

The Executives Conference on 10/23/51, consisted of Messrs. Tolson, Callahan, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Rosen, Gearty, McGuire and Mason.

The Conference considered the procedure presently followed in the destruction of files 25 years old.

The Joint Committee and the Executives Conference, in March 1946, recommended and the Director approved destruction by SACs of files when the file has become 25 years of age. The Field was advised by Bureau Bulletin on June 26, 1946, of this authorization. The Field was instructed that, when a file is destroyed, the index cards relating thereto shall be marked with a stamp stating "File Destroyed - 1946." The idea was that this would make it possible at a later date to purge from the index those cards relating to destroyed files and in the interim would flag the Field Office that data on that particular subject could be obtained from original reports in the possession of the Seat of Government.

No provision was made nor were any instructions sent to the Field as to how to record which files were destroyed. For instance, if a subject's name was known, it would be easy to find out whether the file had been destroyed by consulting the alphabetical indices. On the other hand, a perusal of the closed files might well reflect in one drawer that the following files are present: 26-106; 26-107; 26-108; 26-110. The question would immediately arise as to what became of file #26-109. There would be no way of ascertaining the subject of this file so that the alphabetical index could be consulted. There would be no way of knowing whether the file is missing or has been destroyed.

The Conference of October 23, 1951, felt that some record should be made of destroyed files.

The majority of the Conference suggested that a list of "Files Destroyed" be prepared for each classification and that this list be filed at the very commencement of each of the 133 classifications in each Field Office. Of course, no list need be prepared until some files are destroyed in that classification. — agree.

The minority, consisting of Messrs. Mohr and Mason, felt that the entire file should be destroyed, but that the file front cover should be retained in its usual place in the file drawer and that it should be marked "File Destroyed" so that it would be apparent at a glance without reference to any list which files were destroyed.

The minority view has the advantage of making supplemental lists unnecessary. It has the disadvantage of file fronts taking up more space than a list of destroyed files. To really stretch the imagination, it has a disadvantage in that if the file front itself became misplaced there would then be no record of the file having been destroyed.

Based on the Director's decision, appropriate instructions will be issued to the Field in order that SACs and Inspectors will have a guide.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

DESTRUCTION OF GOVERNMENT PROPERTY - GENERAL

FEDERAL RECORDS REGULATION NO. 1

TO: Heads of Federal Agencies

SUBJECT: General Schedule No. 1 (June 1951 Revision)

1. General. This Regulation promulgates General Schedule No. 1 (June 1951 Revision), copy attached, relating to certain records common to all Government agencies.

2. Authority. General Schedule No. 1 (June 1951 Revision) is issued in accordance with section 505(b) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 (41 U.S.C. Supp. 284(b)), which provides for the establishment by the Administrator of General Services of standards for the selective retention of records of continuing value, and section 4 of the so-called Records Disposal Act of 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 369), which authorizes the preparation of general schedules. Disposal of Government records listed in this schedule as not of continuing value has been authorized by the Congress by H.R. Report 716, 82nd Congress, 1st Session.

3. Coverage of General Schedule No. 1. This schedule describes records relating to civilian personnel which are normally maintained by Federal agencies, including those which are required to be maintained by the Federal Personnel Manual and by applicable General Regulations of the Comptroller General. The records are grouped in two sections:

   a. Those records which are of enduring value and are to be retained indefinitely; and

   b. Those records which are not of enduring value and which should be disposed of after they have been in existence for the periods of time specified in the schedule. The authorization to dispose of them is permissive rather than mandatory, although compliance with the disposal provisions will result in orderly records retirement practices. Disposal authorizations obtained by an agency in previously approved schedules remain in effect although the retention periods may be shorter than those provided for in this schedule.

Permissive provision is made, where applicable, for the transfer of records to a Federal Records Center for storage and servicing. Records designated for transfer to a Center should be held until a substantial quantity exists to avoid scattered transfers of small groups of files. This schedule also indicates an appropriate manner of filing each type of record so as to facilitate maximum effectiveness in its application.

No application to our Personnel records desired at this time.

GENERAL SCHEDULE NO. 1 (JUNE 1951 REVISION)

Personnel Records

Scope of this Schedule: This schedule supersedes General Schedule No. 1 (Revision A), issued by National Archives Circular Letter No. 47-3 of May 26, 1947, and General Schedule No. 7, issued by National Archives and Records Service Circular No. 2 of May 15, 1950. It governs the retention and disposal of all copies of records relating to civilian personnel wherever located in an agency, exclusive of (1) copies included in disbursing accounts, (2) copies of loyalty and other investigative files, and (3) records of the Civil Service Commission (including records of Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners and Committees of Expert Examiners, regardless of the custodian) and the Bureau of Employees' Compensation of the Department of Labor maintained pursuant to their statutory Government-wide functions. In no event, however, can disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted in the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of July 7, 1943 (44 U.S.C. 374).

*Prescribed methods of filing are indicated by referral to the issuance prescribing them; those recommended under the provision of Sec. 505(a) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 (41 U.S.C. Supp. 284(a)) do not make reference to an established authority. Any new regulations or directives that may be issued from time to time will supersede these recommendations.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
2.	Service Record Card: Standard Form 7 or its equivalent.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IA.	Transfer to Federal Records Center 5 years after year of employee's separation or transfer to another agency.
3.	Individual earning and service cards (such as Standard Form 1127 or its equivalent), and papers recommended by item 7 as attachments.	Alphabetically by name. For cards relating to active employees start a new file every 3 years.	(a) Cards on transferred and separated employees: Place in inactive file on transfer or separation of employee; close file at end of each year and transfer it to Federal Records Center 1 year thereafter. (b) Cards on active employees: Transfer to Federal Records Center 2 years after close of file.
4.	Position descriptions pertaining to positions abolished after September 1, 1950, and descriptions superseded after that date.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IC4.	Retain one copy. (See item 12 for disposal of other position descriptions.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
5.	Correspondence in the operating personnel office and its subordinate units relating to their administration and operation.	By subject or agency filing system; start a new file every 3 years.	Dispose of 3 years after file is closed or 3 years after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
6.	Correspondence, letters, and telegrams offering appointments to potential employees.	Alphabetically by name.	(a) If appointment is accepted: Destroy immediately. (b) If appointment is declined: (1) Return to Civil Service Commission with reply and application, if name was received from certificate of eligibles; (2) File inside application, if offered as a result of application for temporary or excepted appointment, and dispose of in accordance with provisions in item 21; (3) All others: Dispose of immediately.
7.	Applications for leave and supporting papers.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	(a) Applications for leave taken immediately prior to separation: Attach to the earning and service card (see item 3). (b) All others: Dispose of 1 year after file is closed or 1 year after date of application if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
8.	Leave record cards, maintained independently of pay and earning records. (Including Standard Form 1130 when used as a leave record).	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 2 years if Standard Form 1137 or its equivalent is used, and every pay period if Standard Form 1130 is used.	(a) Final cards showing accumulated leave on separation: Place in separate file upon separation; close file at end of year and transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter; dispose of 7 years after transfer to Center. (b) All other cards: Dispose of 3 years after audit of related pay records.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
9.	Records of leave data transferred (such as Standard Form 1150).	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Dispose of 2 years after file is closed or 2 years after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
10.	Certificate files, consisting of: (a) Requests for certificates of eligibles; (b) Certificates of eligibles.	File requests and certificates by certificate number.	Dispose of 1 year after date of certificate.
11.	Employee record cards used for informational purposes outside personnel offices (such as Form OF-4).	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IIIB2 and B3.	Dispose of on transfer to another agency or bureau or on separation of employee.
12.	Position descriptions (copies other than those provided for by item 4).	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IC4.	Dispose of when position is abolished or description is superseded.
13.	Employee interview records.	Alphabetically by name.	Place in inactive file on transfer or separation of employee and start new inactive file every 6 months; dispose of inactive file 6 months after it is closed. If filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, dispose of records 6 months after transfer or separation of employee.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
23.	Correspondence and forms in operating personnel offices relating to individual employees not maintained in Official Personnel Folders and not provided for elsewhere in this schedule:
	(a) Correspondence and forms relating to pending personnel action.	Not applicable.	Dispose of when action is completed.
	(b) All other correspondence and forms.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose of 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
24.	Copies of documents duplicated in Official Personnel Folders and not provided for elsewhere in this schedule.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose of 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
25.	Memorandum copies of payroll certification sheets (such as Standard Form 1128 or its equivalent).	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
26.	Payroll change slips exclusive of those in Official Personnel Folders (such as Standard Form 1126):
	(a) GAO audit copy.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
	(b) Copy used to adjust equipment involved in preparing checks.	By pay period, thereunder alphabetically by name.	Dispose of after adjustment of equipment.
	(c) All other copies.	By pay period, thereunder alphabetically by name.	Dispose of 1 month after end of pay period.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
27.	Withholding tax exemption certificates (such as Internal Revenue Form W-4).	Alphabetically by name.	Transfer to inactive file upon transfer or separation; start a new inactive file every 6 months and dispose of it 6 months after it is closed; or dispose of individual certificates when superseded.
28.	Check lists showing net salary payments and names of recipients.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
29.	Memorandum copies of payrolls (such as Standard Form 1013 or its equivalent):
	(a) Where earning record card is maintained.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
	(b) Where earning record card is not maintained.	By pay period with other pay records.	Transfer to Federal Records Center when 3 years old; dispose of when 10 years old.
30.	Time and attendance reports:
	(a) Copies used in payroll preparation and processing. (Where Standard Form 1130 is used for both time and attendance and leave posting purposes, the disposal provision for item no. 7 applies).	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
	(b) All others.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 6 months after end of pay period.
31.	Memorandum copies of fiscal schedules involved in payroll processing.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.
32.	Payroll control registers (such as Standard Form 1125).	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit by GAO.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
14.	Duplicate case files of efficiency rating boards of review, copies of which have been forwarded to the Civil Service Commission.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Dispose of 1 year after closing file; if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, dispose of records 1 year after completion of case.
15.	All copies of correspondence and forms maintained as temporary records in the Official Personnel Folder in accordance with the Federal Personnel Manual, Chapter R1, pages 35-38 (May 1950).	On left side of folder, chronologically.	Dispose of on transfer or separation of employee, or when 2 years old.
16.	Copies of budget authorizations to operating units that control personnel ceilings and personnel actions.	Organizationally.	Dispose of when superseded.
17.	Position identification strips, used in service control file (such as Standard Form 7) to provide summary data on each position occupied.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IA.	Dispose of when position is cancelled or new strip is prepared.
18.	Employee suggestion case files, including files relating to management improvement suggestions considered under Title X of P. L. 429, 81st Congress, or comparable legislation.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 5 years or every 2 years, as appropriate.	After closing case transfer to inactive file arranged in same way as active file but closed at end of each year; dispose of (a) Basic copies 5 years after closing of the file; (b) Duplicate copies 2 years after close of file.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
19.	Case files on rewards for superior accomplishment under Title VII of the Classification Act of 1949.	Alphabetically within fiscal year; start new file each fiscal year.	Start new inactive file every fiscal year; dispose of each year's file 6 months after close of that fiscal year.
20.	Notifications of personnel action, exclusive of those in Official Personnel Folders:
	(a) Pay or fiscal copy.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose of 2 years after audit of related pay records by GAO.
	(b) Chronological file copies, including face sheets.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part IB4.	Dispose of after 2 years.
	(c) All other copies.	Alphabetically; start a new file every year.	Dispose of after 1 year.
21.	Unsuccessful applications for appointment and related papers, excluding records relating to appointments requiring Senatorial confirmation.	Alphabetically; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose of 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of application if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, providing the requirements of the Federal Personnel Manual, Section R2-19.01 are observed.
22.	Statistical reports in the operating personnel office and subordinate units relating to personnel.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose of 2 years after date of report.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
33.	Individual authorization card and record of payroll allotments (such as Treasury Department Form 2254):
	(a) Where record of bond deductions is maintained on earning record card.	Alphabetically by name.	Dispose of when superseded by new card or on transfer or separation of employee.
	(b) Where record of bond deduction is not maintained elsewhere.	Alphabetically by name.	Remove to inactive file when superseded or upon transfer or separation; close inactive file at end of each year and transfer to Federal Records Center 2 years thereafter. Dispose of 5 years after close of file.
34.	Receipts for war bonds and checks.	By month and alphabetically thereunder.	Dispose of 3 months after date of receipt.
35.	Dispensary treatment record cards.	File within year alphabetically by name. Set up new file every year and bring cards forward from previous years to it when individual concerned is treated in dispensary.	All cards pertaining to an individual to be disposed of 6 years after date of last entry on the cards pertaining to him.
36.	Logs or registers of visits to dispensaries or welfare rooms operating under P. L. 658, 79th Congress:
	(a) Where information is summarized on statistical reports.	Chronologically.	Dispose of 3 months after last date on log or register.
	(b) Where information is not summarized elsewhere.	Chronologically.	Dispose of 2 years after last date on log or register.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	PRESCRIBED OR RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
37.	Health record case files, comprising forms, correspondence, and related papers documenting employee medical history under programs authorized by P. L. 658, 79th Congress, except pre-employment physical examinations, disability retirement examinations, and fitness for duty examinations (which may be made a part of or associated with the Official Personnel Folder or may be retained separately).	Alphabetically by name. Set up new file each year and bring forward from previous years files related to an individual when that individual is treated.	Dispose of 6 years after date of last papers in the file.
38.	Copies of statistical summaries and reports relating to employee health retained by reporting unit, and related papers.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose of 2 years after date of summary or report.

JUSTIFICATION FOR AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION

Item 1. The Official Personnel Folder, promulgated in 1947 by the Federal Personnel Manual (RI-35-38), is considered to be the official record documenting employment history. The permanent documents in the folder, which "travels" with the employee throughout his Federal career, comprise papers which give legal force and effect to appointments and all other personnel transactions, and which reflect minimum data on job performance. All other personnel records relating to individuals are subordinate to the permanent papers in the Official Personnel Folder and appropriate provision for disposing of them is made elsewhere in this schedule, individually or as part of the material on the temporary side of the folder. This item includes agency folders maintained as the official folder prior to the promulgation of the Official Personnel Folder.

Item 2. These service record cards are official summaries of the salient facts of employment history that are maintained by personnel offices to obviate frequent references to official folders and to be used as the official record in lieu of lost official folders. The cards serve as a central personnel office record of all aspects of personnel administration, and have continuous significance as a concise reference source after transfer or separation of the employee.

Item 3. These are the official centralized pay records maintained by agencies keeping such records under General Regulations 102 of the Comptroller General or an adaptation thereof. Summaries of service are also normally included. In agencies under payroll site audit, this centralized record is the only record documenting the fiscal aspects of employment history. It is retained as a record related to the Official Personnel Folder and the Service Record Card, which document the employment history itself. Comprehensive payrolls which serve as a fiscal record in lieu of an earning card are retained under item 29 for a ten year period whether or not they are site audited. After the ten year period reference can be made to GAO payroll vouchers.

Item 4. These descriptions must be retained indefinitely in order to protect fully the job restoration rights of persons who are furloughed to enter the military service under the 1948 selective service law. These rights involve restoration to the permanent position held as of September 1, 1950, when personnel actions became temporary under Executive Order 10180 and related legislation.

Items 5 and 6. These files reflect the operation of the personnel office in administering the agency personnel program, and that of the subordinate branches charged with individual phases of the program. Employment policy is normally reflected in agency files at higher administrative levels. Files covered by item 5 serve temporary administrative needs involved in the daily problems arising in personnel work, and the retention period indicated is adequate to serve such temporary needs. Correspondence relating to individuals who receive appointments is provided for elsewhere in this schedule, and item 6 relates to routine papers reflecting pre-appointment negotiations with potential appointees.

Item 7. These records are largely of transitory value only. Information from them is posted to summary leave cards (items 2, 3 and 8) which are retained for longer periods. Records relating to leave taken immediately prior to separation are being retained to facilitate the adjudication of claims by GAO.

Items 8, 25-26, and 28-33. These records relate to processing, preparation, and maintenance of the payrolls, and comprise the rolls and the related time, leave, tax, and bond records directly related to the pay function. Federal payrolls are prepared and processed generally in accordance with General Regulations 102 of the Comptroller General, although some agencies use adaptations of that directive to a lesser or greater degree depending on local administrative conditions. Under the 102 system, the pay records are site audited by representatives of the General Accounting Office, who examine primarily earning record cards (item 3), payroll change slips that are prepared to document changes in normal pay (item 26), certification sheets and payroll transmittal sheets (item 25), check lists which are prepared in lieu of the more formal payroll by the Treasury or local disbursing personnel (item 28), source personnel documents such as basic time and attendance reports (item 30), and copies of personnel action forms (item 20). The files used in GAO audit are of no fiscal or administrative value two years after audit, by which time GAO exceptions will have been raised and cleared. The key record summaries of the fiscal aspects of an employee's history are the leave record cards for which a sufficient retention period is provided to assure individual rights and to satisfy administrative needs (item 8); pay and earning central record cards (item 3), which are to be retained indefinitely; and the "comprehensive" type of payroll (item 29), still used by segments of the Federal service, which contains pay and earning data on its face, and which is to be retained for a period sufficient to satisfy agency and GAO needs.

Copies of the change slips other than those used by the General Accounting Office in audit are proposed for disposal after a short suspense period, as are subsidiary time and attendance reports. SF 1130 is normally used as a combination time and attendance and leave record. When so used the disposal provisions of item 8 must govern. Item 31 covers related fiscal accounting forms, pertaining to pay, copies of which are retained in some pay offices. Item 32 is a form required under the 102 system which summarizes change slip transactions and which expedites local administrative and GAO audit.

Item 9. General Regulations 111 of the Comptroller General provides for the use of SF 1150 to effect transmittal of leave and lump sum payment information between agencies in transfer cases. The one year retention period provides adequately for local administrative needs. The leave data itself will be retained under item 8 for 3 or 10 years, as appropriate.

Item 10. These forms relate to requests made by the agency to the Civil Service Commission for lists of eligibles from established registers. The certificate itself is of little administrative value once decisions have been taken with respect to the names certified.

Item 11. Optional Form 4 was developed as an informational record for operating units served by the personnel office to obviate requests for employee service and related data. Once the employee leaves the operating unit, the card is of no further administrative value. The permanent summary card record is maintained on SF 7 (see item 2) by the personnel office itself.

Item 12. Position descriptions, used in classification work and in employment control, are of value as continuing personnel documents while the descriptions they contain are still valid. Except for descriptions which may be of continuing value because of their aptness of content (which may be retained as nonrecord reference material), these records are of little value after they are superseded or obsolete. Descriptions of positions abolished and descriptions superseded after September 1, 1950, are retained for the special reasons noted under item 4.

Item 13. These are primarily employee relations files and involve entrance and exit interviews, and interviews involving complaints by or against the employee. Any action taken by reprimand or otherwise is permanently documented on the right hand side of the personnel folder. Some agencies place these records on the temporary side of the folder, to be disposed of on transfer or separation.

Item 14. These are duplicates of papers submitted by members of Boards of Review to the Civil Service Commission on termination of their terms of office.

Item 15. These are temporary papers dealing either with the inception of personnel actions documented on the permanent side of the Official Personnel Folder or with administrative matters, and are of administrative value only for a short time.

Item 16. These copies of budget authorizations, used as the basis for authorizing positions, are of no further administrative value when new superseding authorizations are made.

Item 17. These visible strips, which are maintained with the service record card files, provide summary data on each position occupied. They have no record or reference value when the related positions are cancelled.

Item 18. These are case files accumulated under agency beneficial suggestion and management improvement programs. They have administrative value in evaluating new suggestions and in documenting current practices and procedures instituted as a result of the suggestions. The disposal period is sufficient to satisfy administrative needs either in reference or in documenting current practices. A lapse of five years after closing of the file will provide for normal reference needs.

Item 19. These are primarily copies of reports submitted to the Civil Service Commission. The copies are of little value to the agencies after a short period following submittal of the report.

Item 20. Copies of notifications of personnel action (other than the Official Personnel Folder copy) which have administrative or fiscal use are the pay copy, which is to be disposed of uniformly with other pay records, and the journal action copies, which will be retained for two years, in accordance with the provision of R1-2 of the Federal Personnel Manual, to satisfy inspection requirements.

Item 21. These are suspense files of job applications which have no further administrative usefulness after the indicated retention period.

Item 22. These reports, which are required administratively and by the Commission on many phases of personnel administration, are normally consolidated into summary reports submitted to higher administrative levels, or are so detailed as to have no further administrative value after the period indicated.

Item 23. This item is intended to provide for the mass of local and other forms and correspondence which is not placed in the Official Personnel Folder because the Federal Personnel Manual does not require it or because it is deemed not to be administratively necessary to do so. Generally, these files relate to aspects of employment history which are documented in the official folders or in fiscal records to be retained for a lengthy period by the provisions of this schedule, and therefore are of little administrative value after relatively short periods.

Item 24. These are copies of forms relating to personnel actions and other matters involving the employee submitted by the operating unit initiating the form to the personnel office.

Items 25-26, see item 8.

Item 27. Withholding exemption certificates, which authorize withholding tax deductions, are to be disposed of after a short suspense period following change, transfer or separation that is sufficient to provide for GAO exceptions in payroll audit and for administrative needs.

Items 28-33, see item 8.

Item 34. These are routine receipts to be retained long enough to answer inquiries.

Items 35 and 37. These are the continuing records of treatment in a health unit of individual employees; any correspondence, memoranda, or other data that come to the health unit are filed in the same jacket. Journal entries are made on record cards or comparable forms recording each visit of the patient, brief diagnosis or statement of referral to private doctor, and treatment given, if any. The documents excepted from disposal are deemed of long term value by both personnel officials and by medical officials, and are normally filed in the Official Personnel Folder (item 1), but the remainder of the papers in each file are of only ephemeral interest. The records have no historical value; they are not of value for documenting the activities of health units; medical officers believe that if no new data has been obtained during the retention period specified, they are of no value medically; and their administrative utility is limited by the five-year statute of limitations on claims for employees' compensation.

Item 36. These are journals on which are recorded the name of each patient coming to a health unit, date on which he came, and, often, other identifying data, time spent, and a very brief notation of the illness or injury that prompted him to come. The records are occasionally used for administrative purposes for about one year after they are created, but not longer. They have no historical value and no value for documenting the history and functions of the unit; medical officers state that they have no medical value. Since their only administrative use is for statistical purposes, it is possible to dispose of those which are statistically summarized almost immediately and the statistical utility of the others is exhausted within the alternate period specified.

Item 37, see item 35.

Item 38. These are retained copies of reports and summaries compiled by a health unit for transmission to higher administrative echelons, where they are used in combination with other reports for statistical and narrative analysis, and of informational copies of analyses transmitted to health units by higher administrative echelons. In either case, significant data are available at the higher echelons and the records are of no utility in health units beyond the period of time specified.

GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION CIRCULAR NO. 9, Supplement No. 1

TO: Heads of Federal Agencies

SUBJECT: Records Management Service in General Services Administration Regions

1. General. This Supplement advises Government agencies of the establishment of additional Federal Records Centers.

2. Establishment of Additional Federal Records Centers. In addition to existing Federal Records Centers in New York, Washington, Chicago, and San Francisco, GSA Records Depositories in Atlanta, Dallas, and Denver have now been expanded into Federal Records Centers, and a new Federal Records Center has been established in St. Louis, Mo. These Centers will perform the functions described in Section 3 of General Services Administration Circular No. 9, dated April 30, 1951. GSA Records Depositories, responsible for the functions described in Section 5 of that Circular, will continue to operate in Boston, Kansas City, and Seattle.

The Executives Conference of December 18, 1951 with Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Gresham, McGuire and Clegg being present, unanimously recommended that the ~~X~~Identification Division's personnel files (not the personnel files maintained at the Bureau but the ones maintained in the Identification Division) should be destroyed after employees have been out of service for three years. Those who are absent on military leave would not be considered out of service. The conference unanimously concurred in this recommendation.

Reference is made to the Director's letter to you dated March 9, 1950, and the Inspector's recommendation of December 8, 1949, regarding the destruction of inactive personnel files in the Identification Division. To date, no instructions have been received as to whether or not these files should be destroyed.

All inactive personnel files over three years old have been pulled from file and are ready to be destroyed. This memorandum is to request advice as to whether or not these files should be destroyed.

Reference is made to my memorandum of August 25, 1951 reporting the volume of official Bureau records destroyed for a yearly period. Mr. DiGirolamo, in charge of the Department of Justice records, has again requested information concerning the volume of records destroyed between the date last reported and the end of the calandar year 1951. He requested that the volume be broken down into three categories: Non-Record material, material destroyed pursuant to official Lists, and material destroyed pursuant to official Schedules. A tabulation of these figures requested is as follows:

CATEGORY	VOLUME DESTROYED
NON-RECORD 135,943 Index Cards	36 cubic feet
LISTS None	- - - - - - -
SCHEDULES 14,028 Fingerprint Cards of Deceased Individuals	26.5 cubic feet
53 File Sections of Personnel Files	6 cubic feet
Movement Wires	8 cubic feet
	40.5 cubic feet
TOTAL	76.5 cubic feet

In the event of approval, I will orally furnish Mr. DiGirolamo's office the volume of destruction in each of the three categories without regard for the specific itemization in the left column.

DESTRUCTION OF COPIES OF REPORTS AND LETTERS IN CLOSED CRIMINAL CASES IN ORDER TO SAVE SPACE 28825

BACKGROUND

At your suggestion, we have experimented to determine the amount of space that could be saved by throwing away copies of letters and reports in closed criminal cases. These studies were based on experimentation with 25 closed cases in each of the classifications set forth below. The following table reflects the extent of the experiment.

CLASSIFICATION	NUMBER OF FILES	SAVINGS PER 25 FILES	NUMBER OF CABINETS SAVED
26	84,521	2 inches	56
31	11,949	3/4 inch	3
42	65,400	1/2 inch	11
88	6,800	2 inches	4

The total saving would be 74 cabinets if we could assume that all the above cases were closed. It is estimated according to the December administrative report that 10 per cent of the cases in these 4 classifications are pending. It would, therefore, be safe to assume that we could save 66 cabinets by destroying copies.

A fairly accurate estimate of the number of cases that we could destroy copies in at the present time is 150,000 cases. It is estimated on the basis of a limited survey that 1 employee could dispose of the copies in 25 files per hour. This figure may seem low, but the administrative set up necessary to safeguard against destruction of originals would have to be extensive. Undoubtedly certain short cuts could be made in the event the destruction was initiated on a trial basis. For example, it would have to be determined whether or not it would be necessary to record on the original the fact that a copy has been destroyed. Any notations that appear on a copy would have to be copied on the original.

Assuming that one employee can dispose of the copies in 25 files per hour, 6,000 man hours would be necessary or 800 man days.

Fifty grade 3 employees working a 5 day week would require 3 1/5 weeks to complete the project. The salaries for these employees on a 40 hour week would be $7,536.

CONCLUSION:

By an expenditure of $7,536 it would be possible to save 172 square feet of floor space. This is the space occupied by 66 cabinets. The cost to gain 1 square foot of space would be $43.81.

COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

PROCEDURE IN HANDLING DISCS AND RECORDS
FROM TECHNICAL AND MICROPHONE SURVEILLANCES

Reference is made to the memorandum of Mr. James M. McInerney dated February 8, 1950, captioned "United States v. Judith Coplon and Valentine A. Gubitchev. - Disposition and Disposal of Records, Memoranda, etc., Under Sections 366-380 of Title 44 USC and Section 2071 of Title 18, USC," your reference JMM:ABC:tms 146-1-317. In that memorandum Mr. McInerney ruled that all material from wire taps, including recordings, data slips, logs, or memoranda based thereon, is temporary in nature and may be destroyed without violation of law. Also in that memorandum it was suggested that uniform administrative procedures be adopted for the handling of this type of material. In this connection a uniform procedure of destruction of these temporary records has been in operation for sometime.

Reference is also made to the memorandum dated October 19, 1951, from the Attorney General captioned "Communist Party, USA, Policy of the Department of Justice if the Motions to Suppress Illegal Evidence in the Pending Smith Act Prosecutions are Granted and Hearings are Ordered." In that memorandum the Bureau was advised that although the Department was ordered to divulge information in our files which was obtained from technical surveillances the Attorney General was going to refuse to produce same rather than compromise our internal security by allowing the defendants and their attorneys to conduct a general inspection of the Bureau's files.

The Bureau desires the benefit of advice from the Department as to whether the motions and subpoenas such as those in the current Smith Act prosecutions calling for the production of all discs, tapes, records, etc. are to be considered as constructive notice requiring this Bureau to depart from the normal procedure of destroying these discs, tapes, records, etc. after they have served their temporary purpose, or will it be necessary to preserve such records on hand at the time the motion or subpoena was filed and which may accrue thereafter?

SECURITY INFORMATION - CONFIDENTIAL

In the event it is felt that the Bureau is required to retain such records while the motion or subpoena, is pending, is it the Department's opinion that on the quashing of the subpoena or the denying of the motion by the Federal Court, the Bureau should revert to its normal procedure of no longer retaining these records? Of course, the retaining of these records poses a problem of storage and expense as these discs and tapes are normally reused and not stored.

In view of the pressing nature of this problem an early decision is desired.

Suggestion - General - Bureau Property - 117-52

BACKGROUND:

During the Chief Clerks' School 3/24-28/52 the above employee suggested that the present requirement re annual destruction of certain files on monthly basis be amended.

PRESENT RULE:

The Manual of Rules and Regulations 6J3 sets forth a list of certain administrative type files which are to be destroyed when one year old at monthly intervals.

SUGGESTION:

Present rule be amended to provide for destruction of these files at quarterly intervals rather than monthly.

ADVANTAGES:

Lightened burden on Chief Clerk's Office in the examination of all such files for monthly destruction.

During the year the rule would be just as advantageously adhered to by destruction on quarterly basis.

DISADVANTAGES: None

ACTION TO BE TAKEN:

Bureau decision will be brought to the attention of the next Chief Clerks' School 4/21-28/52 in the event no change is desired in the existing rule.

SUGGESTION OF SA [redacted] b6 b7C
NEWARK FIELD DIVISION
SUGGESTION #42-52
DISPOSITION OF NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS
DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - GEN.

Reference is made to letter from Newark to the Director dated January 30, 1952, setting forth the suggestion of Field Supervisor [redacted] that newspaper clippings utilized in connection with the preparation of the General Intelligence ~~Investigative~~ File be destroyed after they have been used for the purpose collected. [redacted] points out there would be no loss of information and that all pertinent and necessary information would be available in the summary and that all clippings not used could be recorded as to identity and they would be readily available through the newspaper morgue.

The Investigative Division states that this is objectionable since it is believed all clippings which are summarized or quoted in the semiannual General Intelligence ~~Investigative~~ Summary memorandum or in any other written communication or memorandum of the Newark Office should be indexed and filed as a permanent record of original source material.

SAC Cornelius of the Philadelphia Office made reference to SAC Letter #65 dated June 30, 1951, Page 8, which authorized the practice of placing clippings in folders and destroying them when the semiannual memorandum is prepared. He stated Philadelphia uses this authority freely and as a result files very few clippings. He could see no objection, however, to granting offices permission to destroy such news clippings if they had been filed since the original filing of this material was permissible and depended on the judgment of the office.

ASAC Hargett of the New York Office uses the same system as Philadelphia and as a result files very few clippings. He stated that those which are filed are usually filed in the main file under subject matter rather than in the General Intelligence ~~Investigative~~ File. He saw no need for keeping routine clippings which were filed in the General Intelligence ~~Investigative~~ File and felt they could be well destroyed when summarized in the semiannual memorandum.

This matter was discussed at the Inspectors' Conference on February 21, 1952, by Inspectors Naughten, Long, Simon, Stein, Brown, and Mason. This group was unanimously of the opinion that newspaper clippings after they have served their purpose can be destroyed. It was pointed out that if an Agent should have visited the newspaper morgue in the first place and recorded the information that appeared in some news item there would be no necessity for his having an exact copy of that news item before he could use the material. Therefore, as long as our records accurately reflect the source of the material so that we can go back to the original source there appears no reason why we should retain copies of the newspaper items as such.

The above is for your information in the event you present this suggestion to the Executives Conference.

It is to be noted that SAC Letter #65, referred to above, does not specifically authorize the destruction of material as stated by Cornelius and Hargett. The pertinent paragraph reads: "A folder should be maintained in each office into which can be placed from time to time memoranda in loose-leaf form and other information pertinent to the General Investigative Intelligence Matters so that these items can be more easily assembled into the Semi-Annual Report."

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - GENERAL

The following suggestion was submitted by Field Supervisor [redacted] b6 b7C

In connection with GIIF, there is maintained a newspaper clipping file. In Newark it amounts to 31 rather bulky sections. Mostly, the clippings refer to gambling and other news items of a general nature which might be pertinent to the semi-annual GIIF memo. The clippings are referred to during preparation of the memo and serve no particular purpose when the memo is completed since the information is summarized and indexed in the memo.

It is recommended that all clippings except those retained since the last semi-annual GIIF memo be destroyed. There would be no loss of information to an office because:

1. All pertinent and important information would be available through the memo.

2. Some clippings are indexed as they are received and then not used in the memo.

   a. This could be cared for by listing all of the clippings destroyed on several sheets of paper in the file as to serial number, name of newspaper, and date. In those rare instances where it would be necessary to refer to clippings not incorporated in any memo, they would be readily available through the newspaper morgue.

Present at the Executives Conference on April 8, 1952, were Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Winterrowd, Gearty, Holloman and Mason. The Conference considered a suggestion from [redacted] Assistant Chief Clerk of the Newark Office, that certain files scheduled for retention for a period of one year and presently destroyed on a monthly basis, thereafter be destroyed at quarterly intervals rather than monthly intervals. It was the belief of [redacted] that this would lighten the burden on the Chief Clerk's Office. b6 b7C

Among the files concerned are those involving administrative files of Agents, assignment cards on closed cases, automobile register forms, individual automobile files (one year after the car has been disposed of), files relating to film, forms, supplies, weekend and night duty, et cetera.

The Conference feels that the interval of destruction is about the same to all practical purposes whether it happens to be a year and one month, as at present, or a year and three months as suggested. The Conference believes that the issuing of new instructions and acquainting employees with them would in itself create more work than would be saved by the adoption of the suggestion. The Conference unanimously recommends no change. b6 b7C

If the Director concurs, there is attached a letter of appreciation to [redacted]

The Executives Conference on 4/7/52, consisted of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Winterrowd, Gearty and Mason.

Under existing rules files may be destroyed when they have become 25 years of age and the file numbers of those destroyed are required to be noted on a list which is maintained in a file at the beginning of each classification.

The recent School for Chief Clerks at the Seat of Government suggested that, when a file is destroyed, the front cover of the file be retained, bearing the file number and a notation that the file itself has been destroyed. The suggestion also included that index cards relating to the file not be purged from the indices and no stamp be placed on those index cards showing that the file was destroyed.

The Executives Conference felt that, since this exact question was considered a year ago and circumstances have not changed during the interim, the present procedure should be continued.

The Conference pointed out that the retention of the file cover will result in the loss of space whereas many file numbers of files destroyed can be listed on one thin sheet of paper at the beginning of each classification. The present procedure of handling index cards is to stamp the index card "file destroyed" so that at a later date the index cards may be purged. (Executives Conference memorandum 10-25-51.)

Although the Chief Clerks' School was unanimously in favor of the suggestion, the Executives Conference was unanimously opposed. If the Director agrees, no change in the present procedure will be made.

3/24-28/52
(DESTRUCTION OF FILES)

Bureau Property - Gen. #116-5

BACKGROUND:

During the course of the above school, the recommendation was made that the listing of files destroyed be eliminated since it had been found that the maintenance of such a list can be eliminated without loss of record of files destroyed by other procedures as set forth below:

RECOMMENDATION:

When under existing rules any files are destroyed, that the file cover be retained with the notation made thereon that the file was destroyed. The index cards relating to the file should not be purged from the indices at the time of the destruction of the file and that there be no need to stamp any index cards of such files to show that the file was destroyed.

REQUIREMENTS:

Section 6J5 of the Manual of Rules and Regulations requires that when Bureau files over twenty five years old are destroyed that the file numbers of such files be noted on a list maintained at the beginning of each classification.

ADVANTAGES:

(1) The file cover is the easiest and at the same time the best record to be obtained showing that the file was destroyed.

(2) It is a conservation of time to ignore purging the indices at the time of the destruction of a file since through a file and indices consolidation, such cards can be purged in routine fashion.

DISADVANTAGES:

VOTE OF CLASS: Unanimously in favor. 25

The Streamlining Conference on 5/2/52, consisted of Messrs. Glavin, Belmont, Winterrowd, Holloman, SAC Malone of Louisville, SAC F. H. McIntire of San Antonio, SAC O'Connor of Chicago, SAC Hostetter of Boston, SAC Shine of Cleveland, SAC Hood of Washington Field Office, Inspector Naughten and H. H. Clegg. b6 b7C

1. The Conference considered a suggestion from Chief Clerk [redacted] of the Miami Office that when Applicant cases, particularly Bureau Applicant cases, are consolidated the large manila envelopes be disposed of and the investigative notes of Agents be retained in the small white envelope normally contained in the manila envelope. ~~Distribution of Investigative Notes in Applicant Cases~~

The suggestion has reference to the fact that after an Applicant case has been closed for 6 months the contents of each file are consolidated into one large volume as a means of saving space and making available for re-use the old file covers and file backs.

The Conference feels that the suggestion itself will save very little space and any savings in space will be offset by the time required to dispose of the large manila envelope, punch holes in the small white envelope, appropriately identify it and file it.

The Conference was unanimously opposed to this suggestion.

2. As an outgrowth of the discussion relative to this suggestion, the Conference unanimously recommends that there is no value in retaining investigative notes in Applicant cases longer than 6 months after the case is closed.

The Conference unanimously recommends that all such notes be destroyed when these Applicant files are consolidated, but that no special project be engaged in to go through all existing files merely for the purpose of destroying notes in Applicant cases, inasmuch as this project would be expensive and time-consuming.

If the Director agrees, there is attached for signature a letter to [redacted] thanking her for her suggestion. Also attached for signature is a proposed SAC Letter. b6 b7C

As you know, we are microfilming the above files. The index cards to these files occupy twenty-six index cabinets, of which twelve can be readily used in the General Index. It is desired to microfilm these index cards. An attachment for one of our microfilm cameras, which will photograph 325 cards per minute can be rented for $10 a month. With this attachment it is estimated that these index cards can be photographed in a week or ten days by one employee. We have a sufficient amount of film with which to photograph these cards.

Authority to microfilm the Old German, Miscellaneous, Bureau Section, and Mexican files has previously been granted by Archives and Congress.

It is recommended that approval be granted to rent from Recordak Incorporated an attachment for microfilming index cards at an estimated cost of $10.

O Destruction of Bureau Records - General

(F) RETENTION OF INVESTIGATIVE NOTES IN APPLICANT CASES --The present practice of the Field in consolidating Applicant files is to retain investigative notes in the manila envelope by filing them in the consolidated volume. The Bureau has approved the streamlining device of destroying investigative notes in Applicant cases at the time of consolidation. You should follow this practice in the future. You should not engage in any project of going through old consolidated files for the prupose of destroying investigative notes.

During World War II when the Bureau was indexing the names of passengers arriving by boat and plane in the United States, we also included in this indexing the names of members of various ship crews. As a result our index is replete with cards containing the names of these crew members.

By previous memoranda dated 5/6/47 (66-3286-281) approval was granted for the Records Section to purge our index of the names representing passengers arriving in the United States. It is now being suggested that like approval be granted to de-index, the list of crew members appearing in our files.

The Consolidation Unit of the Records Section has over a number of years spotted and noted the files containing the crew list. Thus, it would be a comparatively easy task to pull these files and institute a program whereby the cards could be withdrawn from the index and destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the above, it is recommended that the Records Section be granted approval to purge our index of all cards prepared during World War II which contain the names of crew members that reached American shores during the war years.

There is attached hereto a suggestion by [redacted] Defense Reviewer, assigned to the File Review Unit of the Records Section. [redacted] has suggested destruction of search slips which have been retained as a result of searches made on IWO lists against the Bureau indices. The searches have been restricted to loyalty of government employees and various applicant type case references.

b7C

The search slips have been retained in line with the Director's memorandum dated 4-6-50 which instructed that in each instance the search slip on processed loyalty forms be attached to the Bureau's copy of the loyalty form for inclusion in the Bureau's files. The memorandum noted that the procedure was being instituted to fix responsibility in connection with any searches which are made of forms under the Loyalty Program.

Inasmuch as the IWO lists are searched for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not IWO members are employees or applicants in connection with government employment, the search slips referred to have been filed.

In view of the above no further recommendations in this regard are made at this time by the Records Section and in the absence of instructions to the contrary, [redacted] suggestion is not being adopted.

BACKGROUND:

The International Workers Order files and enclosures (61-7341 and all subs) contain a large number of search-slips which are of a bulky and cumbersome nature. These files and enclosures are utilized constantly throughout the day by File Reviewers and in the handling of this material the searchslips continously become detached and fall out of the files and envelopes.

RECOMMENDATION:

The searchslips in the I.W.O. files and enclosures be destroyed. The writer feels that the destruction of this bulky material would eliminate a lot of unnecessary handling and give the Reviewers more time to spend on other forms. Space now occupied by this material could be utilized for more pertinent files.

PURPOSE: Destruction of Bureau Property

To recommend the microfilming of additional inactive criminal classifications.

BACKGROUND:

As you know, we have microfilmed approximately 70,000 ITSMV and 66,000 WSTA cases, which were over ten years old. A tremendous reduction in space was realized by the microfilming of these records.

We are still in the throes of combating a space problem in the Filing Unit. It is therefor felt that additional inactive criminal classifications over ten years old can be microfilmed with a great amount of space being saved.

Cases ten or more years older in the following classifications are recommended for microfilming:

CLASSIFICATION	CHARACTER	THROUGH CASE NUMBER	DRAWERS OCCUPIED
4	NATIONAL AND FEDERAL FIREARMS ACTS	97	½
5	INCOME TAX	181	3
6	INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF STRIKEBREAKERS	106	3
7	KIDNAPING	3,800	191
8	MIGRATORY BIRD ACT	70	½

Of course, if any cases in the above tabulation are still open, as for example, the MATNAP 7-1820, they will not be placed on microfilm.

As can be seen, 664 drawers of files can be microfilmed with a saving of 133 cabinets.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) It is recommended that the cases in the above tabulation, all of which are over ten years old, be microfilmed with the exception of those cases which are still open.

(2) That the Investigative Division furnish their approval or objections to the microfilming of these cases.

(3) That upon the approval of the microfilming of these files, the Records Section secure the necessary approval from GSA and Congress.

PURPOSE: DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU RECORDS

To advise that the Investigative Division is desirous of destroying rosters containing lists of individuals investigated under the Atomic Energy Act upon whom G-2 has no derogatory information.

BACKGROUND:

Inasmuch as G-2 does not have a centralized records system, the Atomic Energy Section of the Investigative Division furnishes a list daily of AEA applicants on whom they desire G-2 name checks. G-2 distributes these lists to their area offices and returns one as a master list indicating that no derogatory information was developed as a result of their searches. In the event derogatory information is developed by G-2, a notation is made on the roster to this effect and a separate memorandum is submitted by G-2 which is filed in the applicant's case file.

The master list which contains only notations that no derogatory information or derogatory information is in possession of G-2, is not placed in file but is filed in the Atomic Energy Section.

The Atomic Energy Section of the Investigative Division presently has one file cabinet of these lists dating from 1947 and desires to destroy all lists over one year old in order to secure additional space.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION GOVERNING DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS:

The Records Disposal Act of 1943, as amended, specifically exempts work papers from the category of records for which Archival authority is necessary in order to destroy. It likewise exempts those records which are not appropriate for preservation.

These rosters are considered to be work papers because:

(1) They are only a preliminary means of securing derogatory information from another agency.

(2) They contain no derogatory information. If any derogatory information is developed, it is filed in the case file.

(3) They contain no information of value.

(4) They are not appropriate for preservation, inasmuch as they serve no useful purpose.

CONCLUSION:

These rosters are non-record material, inasmuch as they contain no information of value and are work papers. Therefore, Archival approval is not necessary for their destruction.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Atomic Energy Section of the Investigative Division destroy those rosters which they consider to be of no current need.

All rosters over 1 yr. old destroyed 7-2-52 CHT.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION RE DESTRUCTION OF SERIALS IN FILES OF SECURITY INDEX SUBJECTS

Destruction of Bureau Property - Gen'l

The following suggestion was submitted to me by SA [redacted] and is being forwarded for the Bureau's consideration. b6 b7C

At the present time, all Field Offices are preparing Summary reports on Security Index subjects. The preparation of the Summary reports will bring up to date all information contained in Field Office files.

Inasmuch as all pertinent information contained in each individual's file will be included in the Summary report, it is suggested that the following type serials may be destroyed upon completion of the Summary in order to reduce the size of the file and thereby reduce the amount of space necessary to store files:

1. FD-122 (all except the first and last copies of this form)
2. FD-154 (all except the last copy)
3. Extra copies of reports made prior to the preparation of the Summary.
4. Serials containing background information already reported.
5. Serials reflecting contact with Confidential Sources (such as BA CS-4) which contain information already reported.
6. Extra copies of Identification Record. Only one copy of the last Identification Record received from the Bureau need be kept.
7. Clippings from local newspapers. b6 b7C
8. Serials which have their origin in written reports or signed statements of informants.

RE: SUGGESTION RE DESTRUCTION OF SERIALS IN FILES OF SECURITY INDEX SUBJECTS

In connection with Item #8, since it is now necessary for the reporting agent to verify the existence and location of the signed statement in its original form and is reflected on the Administrative Page as to the exact serial, it is suggested that when all pertinent information from these serials has been incorporated in the Summary report, the serial at that time could be destroyed. Likewise, regarding newspaper clippings (Item #7), since the pertinent information has been included and the source has been reported as to the date, page, and column of the newspaper in which it appears, this serial could also be destroyed.

I have discussed the suggestion with the Agent personnel supervising Security investigations in this office and we feel that it merits the consideration of the Bureau.

The possibility of a substantial saving in space necessary for the storage of files appears good. In addition, it is felt that file review and supervision will be considerably less difficult if Agent [redacted] suggestion is adopted.

The above is being submitted for the Bureau's consideration and comments.

PURPOSE: Destruction of Bureau Property - Unit

The attached suggestion from Baltimore has been referred to the Internal Security Section by the Training and Inspection Division for our comments. It concerns the destruction of certain types of serials in Security Index cases upon completion of summary reports to reduce the size of the files and storage space for files.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is the recommendation of the Internal Security Section that this suggestion not be adopted.

It should be borne in mind that Security Index cases are very important at this time and will continue to be so as long as we have jurisdiction in security matters. These are the cases of individuals against whom the Government will proceed should such action be warranted at some future date. The Security Section does not recommend destruction of any material in such files inasmuch as to do so might cause the destruction of evidence or intelligence information which could possibly be utilized against such subjects or which may be of value as reference material at a later date. To do so would place the Bureau's security investigative program in jeopardy.

In addition it is pointed out that if such procedure were adopted, the destruction of any serials would necessarily have to be recommended by Agents familiar with the cases. This procedure would involve an extensive amount of Agent time. At the present time we have a tremendous volume of security work in the field. Any time devoted by Agents to such a project as this can better be devoted to bringing security investigations into a current status.

2. Nature of Revisions and Additions

Subsection 302.01 has been revised to eliminate reference to the list of Federal Records Centers, which now appears in new subsection 302.07; and Exhibit 3, Appendix A, has been revised to include the Federal Records Center, St. Louis, Missouri.

Subsections 302.05 and 303.05 have been revised to include a reference to the regulations published in the Federal Register governing the use of records in Federal Records Centers and the search rooms in the National Archives Building. A copy of the regulations has been added as Exhibit 5, Appendix A. Subsection 303.05 also prescribes the conditions under which records may be borrowed for official use outside the National Archives Building.

New subsection 302.08 prescribes Standard Form 127, Request for Official Personnel Folder (Separated Employee), for use in requesting personnel records from the Federal Records Center in St. Louis.

New subsections 303.07 and 303.08 prescribe policies and procedures covering the transfer of audiovisual and cartographic records to the National Archives.

The last paragraph on the first page of the explanatory statement, "Regulations of the General Services Administration," has been revised to provide that only the date of the transmittal letter will be shown in parentheses under the page identification on pages containing revised or added material.

3. Supply of Form

Standard Form 127 may be obtained on and after June 30, 1952, by the submission of purchase orders to the appropriate GSA regional office.

Regulations

of the

General Services Administration

General. Regulations prescribed by the Administrator of General Services pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 152, 81st Congress, as amended, and other law, having continuing application to Government agencies and to the public will be codified into a four title edition entitled "Regulations of the General Services Administration." These Regulations will include all policy directives, procedures, general delegations of authority, GSA and Standard Forms and similar regulatory material.

Title Numbers and Subjects. When completed the codified edition of the Regulations will consist of the following:

Title 1 Personal Property Management
Title 2 Real Property Management
Title 3 Federal Records
Title 4 Emergency Procurement

Method of Issuance. Codified Regulations are issued in loose leaf form to permit the insertion or removal of pages upon which additions to, or deletions or revisions of, regulatory statements are made necessary by changes in policy or fact. Revised or added pages will be issued as needed, and the material under each Title shall be kept up to date by all persons who are responsible for the operation of any phase of an agency program which is affected by the Regulations of the General Services Administration.

Internal Numbering System. Titles are divided into numbered and titled chapters, parts, sections and subsections, to denote delineation between subordinate functional areas under the main title.

Parts, sections and subsections are identified by a five digit numbering system. The first digit identifies the part; the second and third digits identify the section; and the fourth and fifth digits identify the subsection. For purposes of reference a subsection will be identified by using the title number, the chapter number and the full section number. For example, the first subsection of the first section under Chapter II of Title 2, will be referenced as GSA Regulation 2-II-201.01. The first number identifies the title and the second number identifies the chapter. Paragraphs and subparagraphs are identified by small alphabetical letters and by arabic numerals respectively: for example, paragraph a, subparagraph 1. Thus a paragraph and subparagraph under section 201.01 of Part 2 will be referenced for identification purposes as subparagraph a.1. of GSA Reg. 2-II-201.01, or GSA Reg. 2-II-201.01a.1. Further subdivisions, when necessary, will be identified in order by letters and numerals in parentheses, e.g., (a) and (1).

Pages are identified in the upper right or left corner to show the title, chapter, part, section and subsection in which they belong. For example, a page bearing the identification "GSA Reg. 2-II-201.04" belongs in Chapter II, Part 2, Section 1, subsection 4, of Title 2, Real Property Management. The identification shown at the top of the page will be the number of the first subsection beginning on that page. When a subsection extends beyond one page, the continuation page is identified by "(Cont'd-)" appearing after the subsection number at the top of the page; for example, (Cont'd-2), (Cont'd-3), etc.

After the original issuance of material under a title, revised or added pages will be further identified by a date, in parentheses, in the upper right or left corner immediately below the page identification. This date will be the same as the date of the covering transmittal letter.

Transmittal Letters. The original issuance and revised and added material will be promulgated and distributed to agencies under cover of a series of consecutively numbered transmittal letters for each title. The transmittal letters will be designed to serve the following purposes:

1. Transmit as an attachment the pages to be substituted or added and give instructions for insertion.

2. State the purpose of the new regulation or the change in policy involved.

3. Give such nonrecurring instructions as may be necessary to effect the new or changed regulation and the date such regulation shall be made effective.

For reference purposes transmittal letters should be retained, and may be placed in the back of the cover for the particular title; or may be detached and filed separately.

SECTION 302.00 TRANSFER OF RECORDS TO FEDERAL RECORDS CENTERS

302.01 Authority. Section 505 (d) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 authorizes the Administrator of General Services to establish, maintain, and operate records centers for the storage, processing, and servicing of records for Federal agencies. Such centers are known as Federal Records Centers.

302.02 Procedures for Transfers to Federal Records Centers. The following procedures will govern the transfer of records to Federal Records Centers:

a. Federal Records Centers will accept for transfer any records offered by Federal agencies, subject to the following conditions:

   1. That the records are not authorized for immediate disposal; and

   2. That facilities for housing and providing reference service on the records are available.

   Priority will be given to the removal of records from office space, from space convertible to office use, from leased space, and from filing equipment which can be reused.

b. Transfers may be initiated by either oral or written request to the Deputy Regional Director for Records Management in the General Services Administration region in which the records are located. Requests shall specify the nature and quantity of the records proposed for transfer.

c. Transfers of records on an agency-wide basis may be initiated by central or headquarters offices of agencies by either oral or written request to the Records Management Division, National Archives and Records Service, National Archives Building, Washington 25, D. C. Requests shall specify the nature and quantity of the records proposed for transfer..

d. Federal Records Centers will furnish agencies with a receipt acknowledging the transfer of records.

302.03 Surveys of Records Available for Transfer. Surveys will be conducted by the regional Records Management Service of the records accumulations of field offices of those agencies not operating approved records centers for the purpose of recommending records for transfer to Federal Records Centers. Such recommendations will be submitted to the field office concerned and to the National Archives and Records Service for coordination with the appropriate agency headquarters. Surveys of records of agency headquarters will normally be made by the Records Management Division, National Archives and Records Service.

302.04 Release of Equipment. Equipment received with the transfer of records to a Federal Records Center will, when emptied and if needed, be returned on request to the agency from which the records were received. If the return of such equipment is not required, it will be disposed of in accordance with applicable excess property Regulations.

302.05 Use of Records Transferred to Federal Records Centers. Restrictions lawfully imposed on the use of transferred records will be observed and enforced by the Federal Records Centers, subject to the provisions of section 507 (b) of the Federal Records Act of 1950. The regulations (15 F.R. 7713; Exhibit 5, Appendix A), in so far as they concern the use of records in the Federal Records Centers, apply to official use of the records by Federal agencies as well as to the public. Subject to any restrictions on their use, such records may be borrowed by Federal agencies and the Congress for official use outside the Federal Records Centers.

302.06 Disposal Clearances. No records of a Federal agency still in existence shall be disposed of by a Federal Records Center except with the concurrence of the agency concerned.

302.07 Location of Federal Records Centers. A list of regional Federal Records Centers, showing the areas served thereby, is attached as Exhibit 3, Appendix A. The Federal Records Center, St. Louis, Missouri, is the national center for civilian personnel records of former Federal employees.

302.08 Requests for Official Personnel Records of Separated Employees. Standard Form 127, Request for Official Personnel Folder (Separated Employee), Exhibit 6, Appendix A, is specifically designed for use by all agencies in requesting transmission of personnel records of separated employees from the General Services Administration, Federal Records Center, St. Louis 3, Missouri. Use of this form insures prompt transmission of the desired folders. It should be submitted to the Center in duplicate.

SECTION 303.00 TRANSFER OF RECORDS TO THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES

303.01 Authority. The Administrator of General Services is authorized by section 507 (a) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 to accept for deposit with the National Archives of the United States the records of any Federal agency or of the Congress of the United States that are determined by the Archivist to have sufficient historical or other value to warrant their continued preservation by the United States Government.

303.02 Transfers via Records Centers. Records will normally be transferred to the National Archives from a Federal Records Center or an approved agency records center. When such transfers are made, the agencies concerned will be furnished an inventory of the records transferred.

303.03 Direct Transfers. The classes of Federal records listed below may be offered for direct transfer to the National Archives. Such transfers shall be initiated by Federal agencies by written request to the National Archives and Records Service, specifying the nature and quantity of the records proposed for transfer. Existing arrangements for the transfer of records of the Congress of the United States will be continued.

a. Records of the Executive Office of the President and of Presidential Boards, Commissions, and Committees

b. Records of the Congress of the United States

c. Records of the Supreme Court of the United States

d. Audiovisual records (motion pictures, still photographs, sound recordings, etc.)

e. Cartographic records (maps, charts, etc.)

f. Series of records of unquestionable value that are not susceptible to screening or other processing (such as microfilming) to reduce their bulk.

g. Records that have been in existence 25 or more years and that are considered to have enduring value

303.04 Release of Equipment. Equipment received with the transfer of records to the National Archives will, when emptied and if needed, be returned on request to the agency from which the records were received. If the return of such equipment is not required, it will be disposed of in accordance with applicable excess property Regulations.

303.05 Use of Records Transferred to the National Archives. Restrictions lawfully imposed on the use of transferred records will be observed and enforced by the National Archives and Records Service, subject to the provisions of section 507 (b) of the Federal Records Act of 1950. The regulations (15 F.R. 7710; Exhibit 5, Appendix A), in so far as they concern the use of records in the search rooms of the National Archives Building, apply to official use of the records by Federal agencies as well as to the public. In cases of demonstrated need and subject to any restrictions on their use, records deposited with the National Archives may be borrowed for official use outside the National Archives Building by Federal agencies and the Congress, provided:

a. That documents of exceptionally intrinsic value shall not be removed from the National Archives Building except with the written approval of the Archivist.

b. That records in fragile condition, or otherwise deteriorated to an extent that further handling will endanger them, will not be loaned.

c. That each official who borrows records shall provide a receipt for them at the time they are delivered, and that he shall assume responsibility for their prompt return upon the expiration of the time for which they are borrowed.

303.06 Disposal Clearances. No records of a Federal agency still in existence shall be disposed of by the National Archives and Records Service except with the concurrence of the agency concerned.

303.07 Transfer of Audiovisual Records. The following policies shall govern the transfer of audiovisual records to the National Archives:

a. Motion Pictures. Government-owned motion picture records on nitrocellulose film normally will not be accepted for deposit with the National Archives. Federal agencies having nitrate motion pictures, deemed to have sufficient value to warrant transfer to the National Archives for permanent preservation, will obtain from the National Archives and Records Service agreement to accession the motion pictures prior to converting the nitrate film to safety acetate film. Normally, the following shall be considered the minimum number of copies of motion picture film necessary for security, duplication, and use by the National Archives:

> The negative (original or duplicate) that most nearly represents the action originally photographed in pictures of actual events, or that best represents the edited production of a picture for which action is staged, with a master positive print and one "use" or projection print. In most cases these will be the negative after laboratory cutting is done, or the composite negative of sound film, the master fine-grain positive print, and one other print.

b. Still Photographs. A negative and a captioned print (whether on film, glass, paper, or other medium) of each still photographic image are necessary for security, duplication, and use by the National Archives, and such copies, when available, shall be included in collections of still photographs offered for transfer.

c. Sound Recordings. The following copies, when available, shall be included in collections of sound recordings offered for transfer to the National Archives:

For conventional disc recordings the matrix or stamper of each sound recording unit or the original instantaneous recording if no matrix or stamper is made, and a pressing or dubbing of the recording, if one has been made. For magnetic sound recordings on wire or tape, for scribed or embossed recordings on tape, or for recordings photographically reproduced on sensitized film, a "dubbing" if one has been made; otherwise the original magnetic embossed or photographed recording.

d. Copies of existing finding aids (such as data sheets, continuities, review sheets, scripts, or indexes) that are necessary or helpful in the proper identification and the use of audiovisual records shall be transferred with these materials.

303.08 Transfer of Cartographic Records. The following classes of cartographic records when no longer needed for purposes of current administration will be offered for appraisal and, if accepted, for direct transfer to the National Archives.

a. Manuscript maps; printed and processed maps on which manuscript changes, additions, or annotations have been made for record purposes, or which bear manuscript signatures to indicate official approval; single printed or processed maps that have been attached to or interfiled with other documents of a record character or in any way made an integral part of a record.

b. Master sets of printed or processed maps in the custody of the agency by which they were issued. Such master sets should be kept segregated from the stock of maps held for distribution and from maps received from other agencies. A master set should include one copy of each edition of a printed or processed map issued.

c. Index maps, card indexes, lists, catalogs, or other finding aids that may be helpful in using the cartographic records transferred.

d. Preliminary or intermediate materials such as manuscript field notebooks of surveys, triangulation and other computations, "fair drawings" for individual color plates, and aerial photographs for mapping purposes.

e. Related records that bear on the preparation, compilation, editing, or printing of maps, such as project folders containing specifications to be followed and appraisals of source materials to be used.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 14

Informational Services Records

This schedule covers certain records created since January 1, 1921, pertaining to informational services performed by Government agencies in their day to day affairs and to their relations with the public. It applies to copies of these records wherever located in an agency. The records described in this schedule are only a few of the types of records created by Federal agencies in performing these functions, but in many offices they are relatively voluminous and may be disposed of after a very short time. Essentially they consist of routine inquiries, replies thereto and other correspondence in which no unusual administrative decisions, policies, or efforts are involved.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Requests for publications and photographs (including applications and requests made by form and by letter) and acknowledgments and replies to them.	File all requests, acknowledgments and replies together, under a single subject, and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 3 months after acknowledgment or fulfillment.
2.	Acknowledgments of inquiries and requests that have been referred to other Government agencies for reply.	File under a single subject, and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 3 months after acknowledgment.
3.	Letters referring inquiries and requests to other Government agencies for reply.	File under a single subject, and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 3 months after referral.
4.	Requests for information and replies thereto involving no administrative action, no policy decisions, and no special compilations or research for reply, including requests for information and inquiries to which replies are made by printed or duplicated material.	By subject or agency filing practice.	Dispose 3 months after reply.
5.	Anonymous letters and letters of commendation, complaint, criticism, and suggestion and replies to them, excluding those on the basis of which investigations were made or administrative action taken and those incorporated in individual personnel records.	By subject or agency filing practice.	Dispose 3 months after letter or reply, whichever is applicable.

Items 1-4. These records are of transitory value and after the lapse of period of time specified will not have sufficient value to warrant their preservation. Inquiries and requests from the public are of such nature that the retention of the material for statistical purposes would serve no significant purpose.

Item 5. Those anonymous letters and letters of commendation, complaint, criticism, and suggestions and replies for which investigations or administrative action has been taken are not covered by this item. The residue are of little use in the documentation of agency programs and are of no value beyond the specified time.

SUBJECT: G-2 RECORD CHECKS IN ATOMIC ENERGY ACT - APPLICANT CASES

NO DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU RECORDS

Since 1947 we have been requesting a search of G-2 files on appropriate applicants being investigated under the Atomic Energy Act by referring daily to the Army a roster of their names. The Army indicates after each name whether or not they have a record on the individual. The roster is returned to the Bureau together with a memorandum on each individual on whom they have derogatory information. The memoranda are detached and placed in the individual case files and the rosters are filed in the mail room of the Atomic Energy Unit. The roster is the only record of the negative file checks by G-2. It is not feasible to record the negative file search in the individual case file because of the volume of cases involved and more particularly because there is a delay in returning the roster, and for the most part they are received long after the cases are closed. We long since ceased to keep these cases in a pending status waiting for the return of this roster, for we rarely find any information in the G-2 files not already known to the Bureau.

A

These rosters have been accumulated in the Atomic Energy Unit until we now have one file cabinet filled to capacity and additional space will be necessary if we are to continue saving them. A check with the supervisors and clerks in the Unit failed to disclose reference ever having been made to these records for any purpose whatsoever. In fact, the only purpose these rosters could serve would be to prove that a search of G-2 files had been requested and that the search was negative. It is not felt that the purpose justifies the continued maintenance of these rosters, and it is recommended that all rosters over one year old be destroyed.

ACTION:

Unless advised to the contrary, all rosters over one year old will be destroyed.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated January 10, 1952 wherein I advised that Mr. DiGirolamo of the Department of Justice Records had been furnished with the volume of records destroyed during the first six months of the fiscal year of 1952. Mr. DiGirolamo has again requested the volume of records destroyed for the entire fiscal year. This is an annual request and separate from the statistical summary of records holdings which we will furnish the Department in compliance with the Federal Records Act of 1950 as required by General Services Administration.

These figures were furnished to [redacted] of Mr. DiGirolamo's office in his absence on 7-25-52. [redacted] was advised that these figures pertain only to records disposed of at the Seat of Government and that such figures from the Field could not be expected at this early date.

SUBJECT: Destruction of Files on Monthly Basis

Re: Section 6J (3) Manual of Rules and Regulations.

It is suggested that the rule requiring certain files to be destroyed when 1 year old, at monthly intervals, be changed to require the same files to be destroyed when 1 year old at yearly intervals.

The experience of the Buffalo office has been that the small amount of space acquired by the monthly check does not justify the time required to physically check all of these files.

By changing this procedure to a yearly one rather than monthly, these files, as well as the files to be destroyed on a three yearly basis, could be checked simultaneously.

Reduction of Closed Investigative Files

SUGGESTION: As a means of conserving filing space and the unnecessary handling of closed files, the following is suggested. This has special application to investigative files of I. O. Fugitives. Most offices, being origin in I.O. cases, submit to the field two copies of the initial summary report. In most cases these are quite lengthy. In addition, there are included in the file five copies of the I.O., and it is the uniform practice of the Bureau to advise the field by teletype or radiogram when a particular I.O. fugitive is apprehended. It is thought some filing space would be saved by permitting offices to destroy one copy of the summary report and four copies of the I.O. when such notices of apprehension are received. In addition, the Bureau sends to all offices and A.O. forms. A copy of this is likewise included in the file, which is in fact duplicity. To illustrate, the A.O. form prepared by the Bureau dated 7/10/52 related to the cancellation of six I.O.'s. To place a copy of this A.O. in each of the six files and for 52 offices would mean that approximately 312 closed files had to be pulled in order that the A.O. form be placed therein. To abide by this suggestion would mean retaining in the closed file only the bare minimum of information needed for its future attention, and by not being required to place the A.O. form in the file would mean that it remain in the closed file section.

Its advantages are: Saving of paper, saving of file space, and saving of unnecessary clerical handling of these files.

It shoudl save at least $ (unable to estimate) annually.

The use by the United States of my suggestion shall not form the basis of a further claim of any nature by me, my heirs, or assigns upon the United States.

SUBJECT: OFFICE COPY, UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS BULLETIN

Reference is made to the attached memorandum from Mr. Leonard to Mr. Nichols dated 10-1-52, wherein Mr. Leonard recommends that the above captioned subject matter not be retained after it is a full three years old. He further suggests that the material less than three years old be retained in the Statistical Section and that the file be cancelled.

AUTHORITY FOR DESTRUCTION:

The above material is filed in 33-12, occupies 2½ drawers, is not indexed or recorded, and contains no correspondence or memoranda.

The Records Disposal Act of 1943, as amended, specifies that material must be "preserved or appropriate for preservation" in order to be considered "record" material and exempts preliminary work papers. This material has been "preserved", yet, from its nature is not "appropriate for preservation." The material falls under the category of work papers and therefore, the agency head can destroy this material without Archival authority.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Mr. Leonard's suggestion be adopted.

PFO:mjh

ADDENDUM: (INSPECTOR VECHERY)(FDV:ehw)

The above referenced material has been examined. I concur with Mr. Leonard's suggestion that material contained in file 33-12 prior to the year 1949 be destroyed. I concur that a three-year limitation for the retention of material should be imposed, with material older than three years destroyed once each year.

TITLE 44—PUBLIC PROPERTY AND WORKS

Chapter I—General Services Administration

Subchapter A—Archives and Records Management

AVAILABILITY OF OFFICIAL RECORDS

1. Consonant with section 3 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (50 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1002 (c)) the rules prescribed herein govern the availability to the public of matters of official record within the General Services Administration. The Administrator of General Services has custody of: (1) Official records created by the General Services Administration, (2) records deposited with the National Archives of the United States, (3) historical material in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, and (4) records deposited in regional Federal records centers. These four types of material are governed respectively by the provisions of Parts 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Title 44, Code of Federal Regulations, hereby prescribed.

2. The rules issued by the War Assets Administrator as to the disclosure of official records, July 23, 1948 (13 F. R. 4389, 4391), are hereby revoked.

3. The rule issued by the Director, Bureau of Federal Supply, as to the disclosure of official records, May 27, 1949 (14 F. R. 2812), is hereby revoked.

4. The rules issued by the Archivist of the United States governing the use of records, archives, and historical materials in the custody of the Archivist, December 10, 1948, as redesignated and amended (13 F. R. 7743, 15 F. R. 1346, 1913; 44 CFR Parts 1, 2, and 5) are hereby superseded.

PART 1—AVAILABILITY OF RECORDS CREATED BY GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

Sec.
1.0 Scope.
1.1 Legal custody.
1.2 Records not to be disclosed.
1.3 Requests.
1.4 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs.
1.5 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1.0 to 1.5 issued under sec. 205, 63 Stat. 389; 41 U. S. C. Sup., 235.

§ 1.0 Scope. The provisions of this part apply to official records created by the General Services Administration.

§ 1.1 Legal custody. The Administrator has legal custody of all official records created by the General Services Administration.

§ 1.2 Records not to be disclosed. The following records will not be disclosed:

(a) Records relating solely to internal management.

(b) Records that are confidential by law, or for reasons of national security, or otherwise in the public interest.

§ 1.3 Requests. (a) Requests for access to official records of the General Services Administration shall be addressed in writing to the Administrator, General Services Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Such requests shall (1) set forth the reasons why the applicant is properly and directly concerned, and (2) identify, exactly as may be, the particular documents desired.

(b) Each application will be judged on its specific merits, the nature of the applicant's concern, the records sought, and the public interest. A brief statement of reasons will be furnished if an application directly related to an agency proceeding cannot be granted.

§ 1.4 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs. The Assistant General Counsel, Claims and Litigation Division, Office of General Counsel, and the Administrative Officer, Office of General Counsel, as alternate, are authorized to authenticate and attest, for and in the name of the Administrator of General Services, copies or reproductions of official records. Such copies or reproductions will be furnished in appropriate cases upon payment of costs.

§ 1.5 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance. When a subpoena duces tecum or other legal demand for the production of matters of official record within the General Services Administration is served upon the Administrator notwithstanding the provisions of this part for making available upon request records and authenticated copies of records, the Administrator will, so far as legally practicable, comply with such subpoena or demand by submitting authenticated copies of such records, or the original records if necessary, unless he determines that disclosure of the information is contrary to law or would prejudice the national interest or security of the United States. When such subpoena or demand is served upon any officer or employee of the General Services Administration other than the Administrator, he will, so far as legally practicable and unless otherwise directed by the Administrator, respectfully decline to produce such records on the ground that he does not have legal custody thereof, is without authority under this part to produce the same, and the Administrator has not determined that disclosure is lawful and will not prejudice the national interest or security of the United States.

2.20 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs.

LEGAL DEMANDS

2.21 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance.

AUTHORITY: §§ 2.0 to 2.21 issued under sec. 205, 63 Stat. 389; 41 U. S. C. Sup., 235. Interpret or apply secs. 507, 509, Pub. Law 754, 81st Cong.

§ 2.0 Scope. The provisions of this part apply to records deposited with the National Archives of the United States.

§ 2.1 Legal custody. The Administrator has legal custody of all records deposited with the National Archives of the United States.

§ 2.2 Availability of records; restrictions. (a) Records will be made available subject to the conditions under which they have been transferred to the National Archives and subject to such restrictions as may be imposed by the Archivist.

(b) Records that contain information the disclosure of which would be prejudicial to the national interest or security of the United States or contrary to standards of propriety (save in cases where the public interest nevertheless requires disclosure) will not be made available.

ADMISSION TO SEARCH ROOMS

§ 2.3 Application for admission. Records deposited with the National Archives of the United States may be consulted only in the search rooms designated for this purpose, which in the National Archives Building includes the central search rooms, the branch search rooms, and the theater. Admission to the search rooms may be obtained only by making application to the Archivist of the United States on a form provided for that purpose and stating clearly therein the purpose for which records are to be consulted. Such applications must be made at the office of the Chief of the General Reference Section, except that applications to view motion pictures or hear sound recordings must be made at the office of the Chief Archivist of the Audio-Visual Records Branch. An applicant may be required to submit an acceptable letter of introduction or otherwise to identify himself.

§ 2.4 Admission card. If the application is approved, a card of admission will be issued. This card is not transferable and must be produced when required. It is valid for a period not in excess of one year and may be renewed upon application. The possession of this card does not entitle a searcher to examine any records the use of which is restricted.

§ 2.5 Application, motion pictures and sound recordings. Applications for admission for the purpose of viewing motion pictures or hearing sound recordings should be made sufficiently in advance of the time such service is desired to permit the completion of necessary arrangements. A group of persons must be represented by an authorized spokesman who, in making application for admission, must give the identity of the group he represents. On receipt and approval of the application, a time will be fixed for the rendering of the service, and the applicant will be notified thereof.

§ 2.6 Withdrawal of admission privilege. The privilege of admission to the search rooms may be withdrawn by the Archivist of the United States for the violation of the provisions of this part, or for disregarding the authority of the supervisor in charge.

§ 2.7 Hours of admission. Records and library books will be available for consultation in the central and branch search rooms from 8:45 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. Monday through Friday, Federal holidays excepted. In addition the central search rooms will remain open from 5:15 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. on Mondays through Fridays, and from 8:45 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. on Saturdays, Federal holidays excepted, Provided, That requests for records and library books are filed with the supervisor in charge of the central search rooms before 4:00 p. m. on the day on which they are to be used or before 3:00 p. m. on Friday, if they are to be used on Saturday. Under special circumstances, by direction of the Archivist of the United States, the search rooms may be closed during any of the hours specified in this section or may be opened at other times. The theater is opened only by special appointment.

SEARCH ROOM RULES

§ 2.8 Register of searchers. Each day that a searcher uses records in a search room he must sign the register of searchers maintained in that search room.

§ 2.9 Requests. Requests for records should be made to the supervisor in charge of the search room on a form provided for that purpose.

§ 2.10 Searcher's responsibility. When a searcher has completed his use of records, or leaves the search room other than for short periods of time, he must notify the supervisor. A searcher is responsible for all records delivered to him until they have been returned by him to the supervisor.

§ 2.11 Protection of records. A searcher is required to exercise all possible care to prevent damage to any records delivered to him. Except when a supervisor authorizes the use of a fountain pen, the use of ink at desks upon which there are records is prohibited. Records may not be leaned upon, written upon, folded anew, traced, or handled in any way likely to damage them. The use of paper clips, rubber bands, or other fasteners not on records when delivered to a searcher is prohibited. The use of records of exceptional value or in fragile condition is subject to such special restrictions as the supervisor may deem necessary.

§ 2.12 Keeping records in order. The searcher must keep unbound papers in the order in which they are delivered to him. If records are found to be in disorder, the searcher must not attempt to restore them to order, but should call this condition to the attention of the supervisor.

§ 2.13 Limitation on quantity. The supervisor in charge of a search room may limit the quantity of records delivered to a searcher at any one time.

§ 2.14 Removal prohibited. No records or other property of the National Archives and Records Service may be taken from the search rooms except by members of the staff of the National Archives and Records Service acting in their official capacities.

§ 2.15 Disturbances. Loud talking and other activities likely to disturb searchers are prohibited. Persons desiring to use typewriters or to carry on proofreading or similar work may be assigned desks in a room designated for such purposes.

§ 2.16 Smoking and eating prohibited. Smoking and eating in the search rooms are prohibited.

PHOTO-COPYING

§ 2.17 Photo-copying by the National Archives. Requests for photographic copies of records to be made by the National Archives and requests for certification or authentication of such copies should be made to the search room supervisor.

§ 2.18 Photo-copying by a searcher. Records may be copied by a searcher with his own photographic equipment only by permission of the head of the branch having physical custody of the records.

UNLAWFUL REMOVAL OR MUTILATION

§ 2.19 Penalty for unlawful removal or mutilation. The unlawful removal or mutilation of records is forbidden and is punishable by fine or imprisonment or both (62 Stat. 695; 18 U. S. C. Sup., 2071).

AUTHENTICATION AND ATTESTATION

§ 2.20 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs. The Director of the Federal Register Division, the Chief Archivist of any Records Branch, or the Chief of the General Reference Section of the National Archives are authorized to authenticate and attest, for and in the name of the Archivist of the United States, copies or reproductions of records deposited with the National Archives of the United States. Such copies or reproductions of records will be furnished in appropriate cases upon payment of costs.

LEGAL DEMANDS

§ 2.21 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance. When a subpoena duces tecum or other legal demand for the production of records and material deposited with the National Archives of the United States is served upon the Administrator notwithstanding the provisions of this part for making available upon request records and authenticated copies of records, the Administrator will, so far as legally practicable, comply with such subpoena or demand by submitting authenticated copies of such records or material, or the original records or material if necessary, unless he determines that disclosure of the information is contrary to law or would prejudice the national interest or security of the United States. When such subpoena or demand is served upon any officer or employee of the General Services Administration other than the Administrator, he will, so far as legally practicable and unless otherwise directed by the Administrator, respectfully decline to produce such records or material on the ground that he does not have legal custody thereof, is without authority under this part to produce the same, and the Administrator has not determined that disclosure is lawful and will not prejudice the national interest or security of the United States.

AUTHORITY: §§ 3.0 to 3.21 issued under sec. 205, 63 Stat. 389; 41 U. S. C. Sup. 285. Interpret or apply sec. 207, 53 Stat. 1065.

§ 3.0 Scope. The provisions of this part apply to historical material in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library.

§ 3.1 Definitions. As used in this part, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) The term "act" means the Joint Resolution of Congress, approved July 18, 1939, "to provide for the establishment and maintenance of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, and for other purposes" as amended by sec. 104 of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act (53 Stat. 1062, as amended by 63 Stat. 381; 41 U. S. C. Sup. 214).

(b) The term "Library" means the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, Hyde Park, New York.

(c) The term "building" means the building occupied by the Library at Hyde Park, New York.

(d) The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of General Services.

(e) The term "Archivist" means the Archivist of the United States.

(f) The term "Director" means the Director of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library.

(g) The term "historical material" includes books, correspondence, papers, pamphlets, works of art, models, pictures, photographs, plats, maps, and other similar material.

§ 3.2 Legal custody. The Administrator has legal custody of historical material in the Library.

§ 3.3 Availability of historical material; restrictions. (a) Historical material will be available subject to the conditions under which it has been acquired by the Library and subject to such restrictions as may be imposed by the Archivist.

(b) Historical material that contains information the disclosure of which would be prejudicial to the national interest or security of the United States, or contrary to the conditions under which the historical material has been acquired by the Library, or contrary to standards of propriety (save in cases where the public interest nevertheless requires disclosure) will not be made available.

(c) Inquiries as to the availability of historical material should be addressed to the Director.

ADMISSION TO SEARCH ROOMS

§ 3.4 Application for permission to use historical material. Permission to use unrestricted historical material may be obtained by making advance written application to the Director on a form provided for the purpose, and stating clearly therein the specific subject of the applicant's interest, and the purpose of his study. An applicant must satisfy the Director that he is qualified to do research, and that his proposed study has a serious and important purpose.

§ 3.5 Admission card. If the application is approved, a card of admission will be issued. This card is not transferable and must be produced when required. It is valid for a period not in excess of one year and may be renewed upon application. The effective beginning date on each newly-issued card of admission will be scheduled in advance in such a manner as to prevent over-crowding in the search room, and the applicant will be notified as far in advance as possible of the effective beginning date assigned to his card of admission. The possession of this card does not entitle a searcher to examine historical material the use of which is restricted.

§ 3.6 Withdrawal of admission privilege. The card of admission may be withdrawn by the Director for any violation of the provisions of this part, or for disregarding the authority of the supervisor in charge.

§ 3.7 Hours of admission. The search rooms will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, Federal holidays excepted, and at such other times as the Director may authorize.

SEARCH ROOM RULES

§ 3.8 Requests. Requests for historical material available under § 3.3 (a) should be made to the search room supervisor on a form provided for that purpose.

§ 3.9 Searcher's responsibility. When a searcher has completed his use of the historical material, or leaves the search room other than for short periods of time, he must notify the supervisor. A searcher is responsible for all historical material delivered to him until it has been returned by him to the supervisor.

§ 3.10 Protection of historical material. A searcher is required to exercise all possible care to prevent damage to the historical material delivered to him. Except when a supervisor authorizes the use of a fountain pen, the use of ink at desks upon which there is historical material is prohibited. Historical material may not be leaned upon, written upon, folded anew, traced or handled in any way likely to damage it. The use of paper clips, rubber bands, or other fasteners not on the historical material when delivered to a searcher is prohibited. The use of historical material of exceptional value or in fragile condition is subject to such special restrictions as the supervisor may deem necessary.

§ 3.11 Limitation on quantity. The supervisor in charge of a search room may limit the quantity of historical material delivered to a searcher at any one time.

§ 3.12 Removal prohibited. No historical material shall be taken from the search rooms except by members of the staff of the Library acting in their official capacities.

§ 3.13 Disturbances. Loud talking and other activities likely to disturb searchers are prohibited. Persons desiring to use typewriters or to carry on proofreading or similar work may be assigned desks in a room designated for such purpose.

§ 3.14 Smoking and eating prohibited. Smoking and eating in the search rooms are prohibited.

LOANS AND REPRODUCTIONS

§ 3.15 Loans. Historical material may not be borrowed for use outside the Library except upon authorization in each instance by the Archivist.

§ 3.16 Permission to make reproductions and to publish historical material. Historical material referred to in § 3.3 (a) may not be reproduced or published except upon the written authorization of the Director.

AUTHENTICATION AND ATTESTATION

§ 3.17 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs. The Director is authorized to authenticate and attest, for and in the name of the Archivist, copies or reproductions of available historical material. Such copies or reproductions will be furnished in appropriate cases upon payment of costs.

LEGAL DEMANDS

§ 3.18 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance. When a subpoena duces tecum or other legal demand for the production of historical material in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library is served upon the Administrator notwithstanding the provisions of this part for making available upon request material and authenticated copies thereof, the Administrator will, so far as legally practicable, comply with such subpoena or demand by submitting authenticated copies of such material, or the original material if necessary, unless he determines that disclosure of the information is contrary to law or would prejudice the national interest or security of the United States. In the event that a subpoena or other demand is served for historical material of the type referred to in § 3.3 (b), the Administrator will produce or submit copies of such historical material only with the approval of the President of the United States. When a subpoena or demand for historical material is served upon any officer or employee of the General Services Administration other than the Administrator, he will, so far as legally practicable and unless otherwise directed by the Administrator, respectfully decline to produce such material on the ground that he does not have legal custody thereof, is without authority under this part to produce the same, and the Administrator has not determined that disclosure is lawful and will not prejudice the national interest or security of the United States.

MUSEUM

§ 3.19 Admission fee. A charge of 25 cents, inclusive of tax, if any, shall be collected from each person visiting and viewing the exhibit rooms or museum portion of the Library.

§ 3.20 Waiver of admission fee. The Director is authorized to waive the admission fee (a) for children 12 years of age or under when accompanied by an adult assuming responsibility for their safety and orderly conduct, (b) for persons from non-profit organizations or educational institutions, when such persons are accompanied by official instructors, and when application is made in advance, (c) for persons in the support or care of charitable institutions and their attendants, (d) for officials of States, counties, and municipalities, and organizations, semi-public or private, which may be engaged in activities affecting the Library, and (e) for employees of the Federal Government and others on official business: Provided, That the applicable tax will be collected from such persons unless exempt by law, in accordance with the act of June 29, 1939, as amended (53 Stat. 189; as amended; 26 U. S. C. 1700).

§ 3.21 Hours of admission. The museum portion of the Library will be open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesday through Sunday, including holidays. When a holiday falls on Monday the museum will be open on the holiday and not on the following day.

AUTHORITY: §§ 4.0 to 4.8 issued under sec. 205, 63 Stat. 389; 41 U. S. C. Sup., 235. Interpret or apply secs. 505, 509, Pub. Law 754, 81st Cong.

§ 4.0 Scope. The provisions of this part apply to records in regional Federal records centers of the General Services Administration.

§ 4.1 Definitions. As used in this part, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) The term "regional Federal records center" means a records center operated by the General Services Administration primarily to serve other Federal agencies.

(b) The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of General Services.

(c) The term "Regional Director" means the Director of a region established by the General Services Administration.

(d) The term "Chief" means the Chief of a regional Federal records center.

§ 4.2 Legal custody. The Administrator has legal custody of records in regional Federal records centers.

§ 4.3 Restrictions on use of certain records. Records in regional Federal records centers that contain information the disclosure of which would be prejudicial to the national interest or security of the United States or contrary to standards of propriety (save in cases where the public interest nevertheless requires disclosure) will not be made available. Otherwise records will be made available to persons properly and directly concerned subject to conditions or restrictions under which they have been transferred to the respective regional Federal records centers, and such restrictions respecting their use as may be imposed by the respective Regional Directors.

§ 4.4 Requests. Requests for access to records in regional Federal records centers shall be addressed in writing to the appropriate Regional Director of the General Services Administration. Regional offices are located in Boston, Mass., New York, N. Y., Washington, D. C., Atlanta, Ga., Chicago, Ill., Denver, Colo., Kansas City, Mo., Dallas, Tex., San Francisco, Calif., and Seattle, Wash.

§ 4.5 Penalty for unlawful removal or mutilation. The unlawful removal or mutilation of records is forbidden and is punishable by fine or imprisonment or both (62 Stat. 695, 18 U. S. C. Sup., 2071).

§ 4.6 Photo-copying by regional Federal records centers. Requests for photographic copies of records in regional Federal records centers and requests for certification or authentication of such copies should be made to the Chief of the appropriate regional Federal records center.

§ 4.7 Authentication and attestation of copies; costs. The Chiefs of the several regional Federal records centers are authorized to authenticate and attest, for and in the name of the appropriate Regional Director of the General Services Administration, copies or reproductions of records in regional Federal record centers. Such copies or reproductions of records will be furnished in appropriate cases upon payment of costs.

§ 4.8 Service of subpoena or other legal demand; compliance. When a subpoena duces tecum or other legal demand for the production of matters of official record within a regional Federal records center is served upon the Administrator notwithstanding the provisions of this part for making available upon request records and authenticated copies of records, the Administrator will, so far as legally practicable, comply with such subpoena or demand by submitting authenticated copies of such records, or the original records if necessary, unless he determines that disclosure of the information is contrary to law or would prejudice the national interest or security of the United States. When such subpoena or demand is served upon any officer or employee of the General Services Administration other than the Administrator, he will, so far as legally practicable and unless otherwise directed by the Administrator, respectfully decline to produce such records on the ground that he does not have legal custody thereof, is without authority under this part to produce the same, and the Administrator has not determined that disclosure is lawful and will not prejudice the national interest or security of the United States.

TO: MR. NICHOLS DATE: 10/1/52

FROM: A. E. LEONARD

SUBJECT: OFFICE COPY, UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS BULLETIN

PURPOSE:

It is desired to call to your attention that certain bulky material relative to the Uniform Crime Reports bulletin has been filed in the Records Section since 1933. This material consists of our work papers used in preparing the Uniform Crime Reports bulletin for publication. In view of the critical nature of our space it is desired to establish a "records retention schedule" for this material.

BACKGROUND:

There is on file in the Records Section in file 33-12 various material used in the preparation of the Uniform Crime Reports bulletin from the year 1933 through 1949. Material for 1950 to date is on file in the Statistical Section. These files contain lists of cities used in the various compilations in the bulletin as well as the raw figures used in preparing rate tables, etc. It is believed that all of this data with the exception of the last three years can be destroyed although there are certain advantages in keeping this material indefinitely as set out below:

1. These files show the various cities used in preparing tabulations, and upon request it could be ascertained what cities were used for any particular table or tabulation.

2. Summary totals of crimes by geographic divisions, population groups, States, etc. are available in these files which would make it easier to compile data concerning long-term trends, etc. Some of these totals are not published in the bulletin and it would be necessary to tabulate from individual record cards in the event any such data were needed after the files had been destroyed. However, it is not believed that the slight possibility of saving some employee time in the future warrants the retaining these files.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Records Section forwarddto the Statistical Section all sections of file 33-12 at which time all material prior to the year 1949 will be destroyedd The years 1949,1950,1951, and the current year will be retained temporarily in the Statistical Section. Once each year the material for the oldest year will be destroyed leaving only three years on file.

File 33-12 will thereafter not be in existence.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION BY [redacted]
Special Agent

#5105

Forwarded herewith is a suggestion dated October 7, 1952, from the above-named employee, in which he recommends that closed files be reviewed periodically and, in those instances when the subject has attained his seventieth birthday, the file be set aside in a special section for a three-year period. The information relative to the subject's seventieth birthday would be placed on a green colored memorandum form which would be retained as the top serial in the file. When the subject is seventy-three years old, the file would be destroyed.

It is not felt that the extra work of reviewing the files, preparing the green sheets and setting the files aside for a three-year period is a necessary step. If the Bureau will agree that the files can be destroyed when subjects are seventy years of age, it is recommended that the rule to that effect be placed in operation. This can be done without any particular difficulty or any special devices or procedures to carry it out. The procedure is complicated by the fact that inmany instances the birth dates of subjects are not known. In recent years there is more complete data of this type in the files, but in the old reports such information is frequentl missing and this would handicap the operation of the plan to some extent.

INSERT A

1. A review of all closed files located in the various field offices for the purpose of ascertaining the date of birth of each subject, the date of his seventieth birthday, and the date of his seventy-third birthday. This information would then be placed on a green colored memo form and would be retained as the top serial in the file.

2. As each pending case is closed, the Agent to whom it is assigned would prepare a form, as outlined above.

3. At a regular interval, to be prescribed by the Bureau (preferably annually or semi-annually), the CCO would review all closed field office files, and in those cases in which the subject had attained his seventieth birthday, the file would be pulled and placed in a special section known as the "Dead File," and which would be maintained on the same basis as the zero and double zero files. These files would then be retained in the "Dead File" for a three year period, and upon the completion of three continuous years subsequent to the age of seventy, without any activity on the subject's part, the files would be considered for destruction. In this connection, a list of such files would then be prepared for transmission to the Bureau, and would be destroyed within a 60 or 90 day period, UACB.

INSERT B

1. Such a program, adopted as a supplement to the present "twenty-five" year rule (Section 6-J (5), Manual of Rules and Regulations) would permit the field to destroy files in cases where the subject's age would, in all probability, bar future activity, and would give the field offices access to additional file space in the closed files sections.

   Example: At the present time, a 65 year old man becomes a subject in a Bureau case. His file must be retained until he would reach the age of 90, assuming that he lives that long. Under the suggested program, his file, in the absence of additional activity, could be destroyed when the subject was 73, for a difference of 17 years.

2. In the event of activity after the destruction of a file, the Bureau's copies could be made available to the field so that no valuable information would be lost. Exceptional cases could be retained at the discretion of the SAC.

3. By using a green colored memo form, the information would be flagged, and would facilitate file reviews for such information in cases where files have been consolidated, thus eliminating time lost in looking for a particular piece of mail. (See sample form.)

4. It is estimated that approximately one-third of the present files would affected within the next twenty years, if this suggestion were adopted, and approximately one-fifth would be affected upon adoption.

The Conference considered the suggestion from Special Agent [redacted] of the Washington Field Office to the effect:

(1) Closed files in the field be reviewed periodically and where the subject of a file has attained his 70th birthday, the file be set aside in a special section for a 3-year period.

(2) A green-colored memorandum form be placed in the file as the top serial, indicating that the subject thereof has reached 70 years of age.

(3) When the subject of a field investigative file has reached the age of 73, the file be destroyed.

The Conference was unanimously opposed to this suggestion, feeling that the maximum destruction of files permissible by law is already in effect under the program of destroying investigative files when they become 25 years old and of destroying certain administrative files at more frequent intervals.

The Conference felt that adoption of the suggestion would result in considerable administrative work to separate the files without any benefits being apparent.

In forwarding the suggestion to the Bureau, SAC Hood pointed out complications attendant to the suggestion.

Conference unanimously opposed. If you agree, no further action is necessary. [redacted] has already been thanked for his idea. b6 b7C

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY

Date October 22, 1952

To: S. K. McKEE, SAC

From: [redacted] Assistant Chief Clerk

Field Office or Division NEWARK

SUGGESTION: It is suggested that the following files be destroyed on an annual basis when three years old. The destruction of these files should be performed only after they have been carefully examined to be sure that instructions and material which are still applicable and which will be of future value are retained.

Accomplishments - Statistical Administrative - Indexing
- Filing System
- Office (confined to matters relating to individual office)
Arraignment

Its advantages are:

This would permit the retention of current instructions or those still applicable and would permit the destruction of instructions which have been superseded or revised. This would facilitate reviewing the above listed files for proper procedures and methods, eliminate the possibility of following instructions which are out-of-date and weed out what is no longer of value. It would release filing space for other filing needs and assist in controlling the growth and expansion of the administrative filing section throughout the years.

It should save at least $_____ annually.

DISPOSITION OF BUREAU REPORTS
IN POSSESSION OF
ASSISTANT CHIEF OF STAFF, G2, FIRST ARMY

Your letter of October 28, 1952, requests advice as to what policy should be adopted regarding a request from Colonel Vendell G. Johnson with reference to the disposition of Bureau reports presently in possession of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, First Army, when these reports are no longer of current value. Your attention is called to the comment in the letter to your office from Colonel Johnson that the old reports would appear to have little value, since, if information were needed concerning an individual or organization, they would have to make a further request in order to obtain current information.

The Bureau does not desire to have the reports which are now in the possession of Colonel Johnson returned to the FBI. The Bureau has no objection to G2's burning these reports under proper security regulations. In discussing this matter with Colonel Johnson, you should specifically point out that our files will continue to reflect the information has been made available to G2 and that in our dissemination of material in the future we will rely upon this fact and will consider our responsibilities as having been discharged by having at one time furnished to G2 information which we considered to be of interest to them. You should further point out that in the event reports are destroyed by them which they may later need, we may not have extra copies to make available to them.

SUBJECT: ~~DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS~~ DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY

On a semiannual and annual basis we are required to furnish statistics on the volume of records destroyed to the Department for transmittal to GSA. The volume of records destroyed as a result of microfilming constitutes the greatest percentage of volume of records destroyed. To facilitate the compilation of these statistics for inclusion in the above reports, it is desired that a form be utilized. Such a form has been devised, and a rough draft copy is attached. As indicated, this form is to be used purely as a work sheet.

RECOMMENDATION:

That 200 copies of the attached form be printed on 8½ x 11 bond, three-ring notebook paper.

RE: DESTRUCTION OF Bureau Property - Gen'l ALL FORMS USED BY FIELD OFFICES TO NOTIFY THE BUREAU OF STATUS OF CASE

Under existing regulations the field offices notify the Bureau of the status of a case by use of Form 0-1, Form 64, FD-205 and in some instances by a mimeographed sheet of paper. After Form 0-1 is acknowledged by the field it is as a general rule destroyed by the Supervisor at the Seat of Government, after a notation has been made in the appropriate case file. This procedure is not being complied with in every instance, as the Records Section is being requested to file many of these forms.

Special Agent Supervisory personnel should follow the practice of not sending the above forms to the Records Section for filing in the absence of a reason which can be justified by the Supervisor. In those instances where it appears that time would be saved in filing such forms rather than placing a notation in the file, the Supervisor should mark the form "file" and place his initials thereon. It is believed that it will only be in rare instances when it will be considered necessary that these forms be filed. In all other instances these forms should be destroyed after an appropriate notation has been made in the pertinent case file.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

Gentlemen:

Referring to your letter dated November 28th regarding up-to-date tube charts for Models 105 and 104 tube testers, we only made these instruments exclusively for the U. S. Government during World War II and they are not numbered among our standard products. As a result, upon completion of the contract, we were no longer interested and had no reason to keep charts up-to-date or carry any parts.

We regret indeed that we are unable to be of assistance to you in this specific instance, and remain, Reference is made to Mr. Jackson's memo, November 20, 1952, which reflects Time and Attendance Reports can be destroyed two years after auditing of such reports. It is noted, however, that written permission of the General Accounting Office is necessary to destroy such reports.

At the present time only the reports for the calendar years 1948 and 1949 are subject to disposal. It has been determined that there are some 513,000 reports for these years and they are stored in the Identification Division.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the attached letter be forwarded to the Comptroller General, GAO, requesting permission to destroy the Time and Attendance Reports for the calendar years 1948 and 1949.

My dear Mr. Warren:

Reference is made to General Records Schedules, dated August, 1952, and issued by General Services Administration, National Archives and Records Service. Schedule No. 2, which pertains to payroll records, authorizes the disposal of time and attendance reports, two years after audit by the General Accounting Office. This authorization is contingent, however, upon written approval of the General Accounting Office for such disposal.

This Bureau has approximately 513,000 time and attendance reports covering the calendar years 1948 and 1949, which are eligible for disposal under these regulations. Accordingly, authority is hereby requested to dispose of the above-listed time and attendance reports.

SUBJECT: Accounting and Fiscal Records -- Disposal
Destruction of Bureau Records

Reference is made to recommendation number 2 in the attached memorandum stating that permission to destroy Time and Attendance Reports 2 years subsequent to the audit by the General Accounting Office is to be requested in writing to the General Accounting Office; and recommending that such a request be made.

The Bureau operates under the central leave system thereby maintaining a leave card on each employee. The information submitted to the Bureau by means of the Time and Attendance Reports is recorded on the leave record card by pay periods. This leave record card reflects the amount of sick leave taken each pay period; however, the dates and whether the sick leave was covered by a doctor's certificate are not indicated.

In connection with this matter the only occasions when older Time and Attendance Reports are referred to are the few remote instances where the Bureau of Employees Compensation requests information as to dates of absences and whether the employee was under the care of a physician. There are so few of these cases that it is not felt they should prevent the Bureau from requesting permission to destroy the Time and Attendance Reports according to the schedule contained in recommendation number 2.

RECOMMENDATION

Unless advised to the contrary, the payroll office will request permission to destroy such records, as provided in recommendation number 2. It is noted that at the present time permission to destroy records for calendar 1948 and 1949 may be requested.

SUBJECT: Accounting and Fiscal Records -- Disposal

Synopsis: Destruction of Bureau Records - General

Punch cards containing accounting or fiscal data not considered to be basic accounting documents (except in rare cases which are not applicable to FBI) may be destroyed when desired. Number One Registers, Daily Reports, and Number Three Cards for time being must be considered as basic attendance and leave documents, along with the Time and Attendance Cards; some doubt exists at GAO about all but the Time and Attendance Cards; matter being submitted to Comptroller General for ruling. Copies of Revised Schedules of Disposal for Records secured, being distributed direct to Divisions, Sections and Units concerned.

Background:

As you will recall, the question of the disposition of accounting documents and records has been a problem for some time. The last inspection reports on both the Administrative and the Records and Communications Divisions have dealt with this question and recommended that the Administrative Division take the necessary steps to obtain permission for the disposition of whatever records could be eliminated. Specifically, the punch cards used in recording accounting and budgetary data in the Statistical Section were mentioned. Also, the Time and Attendance cards submitted for each employee every pay period. The last previous schedule for the disposal of records was the one issued by the National Archives as a circular letter (#47-2) under date of August 7, 1946. This dealt primarily with Standard Forms relating to fiscal and accounting records. It did not answer such questions as what constituted basic accounting documents with respect to punch cards, or the reports prepared from such cards, nor whether the documents from which the data were taken to prepare the Time and Attendance Cards were to also be retained for the same length of time as such cards.

INDEXED - 106 FEB 10 1953

In an effort to get specific answers to the above questions numerous efforts were made to contact the proper officials of the General Accounting Office. I finally was referred to a Mr. Humphrey in the Administrative Planning Section of that office, together with his assistant, a Mr. Hatter. These gentlemen handle all questions on the disposal of records involving fiscal and accounting elements. After several unsuccessful attempts I was able to meet with these gentlemen on November 6, 1952 and discuss our problems with them. I was shown a copy of a document entitled "General Records

53 FEB 25 1953

Schedules" which I was told contained a revised disposal schedules for records. I was further advised that had been drawn up by the General Services Administration with the assistance of the General Accounting Office, the Civil Service Commission, and the Bureau of the Budget, in August, 1952. It was indicated that this was not the final draft as they would appear over the signature of the head of the General Services Administration, and that only a limited number of copies were being released. A hasty perusal of the copy there at the meeting indicated that it dealt primarily with records involving accounting, fiscal, leave, or personnel matters. I was referred to a Mr. Ned Campbell in the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration, Code 151, Extension 5185, to obtain copies of this document. Mr. Humphrey was careful to point out that the retention periods indicated in the schedules were permissive and not mandatory. It was also pointed out that the documents dealt with in schedules numbered 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 could not be disposed of without the written permission of the General Accounting Office even though they may have been held the required length of time.

Although these gentlemen said that the revised schedules would answer most questions on the disposal of records, it was evident from my hasty perusal and the remarks of these men that it was not specific enough to answer our questions on punch cards and subsidiary records on attendance and leave, with respect to a definition of basic documents. Therefore those items were discussed with the following results:

Time and Attendance Cards and Related Documents

A discussion of this Bureau's method of preparing Time and Attendance Cards for its investigative personnel, through the use of the Number One Registers, the Daily Reports, and the Number Three Cards was entered into with these gentlemen in order that they might be in a position to judge as to whether the Bureau could consider that only the Time and Attendance Cards were to be treated as basic documents in connection with attendance and leave. It was pointed out that the Bureau already has informal permission from the General Accounting Office to prepare the Time and Attendance Cards from the other documents. It was further pointed out to them that it was the Bureau's feeling that once the information was recorded on a Time and Attendance Card and the card signed by the Timekeeper, that it became the basic attendance and leave document and the others constituted more or less work sheets and could be disposed of whenever the Bureau desired. In support of this contention they were advised that Mr. Treadway, in charge of Site Audit of Payrolls for the General Accounting Office had advised me informally that as far as audit purposes were concerned, the Time and Attendance Card would be considered the basic accounting document and the other records could be disposed of according to the Bureau's own desires. I was careful to point out to them that Mr. Treadway had at the same time made it clear that he was speaking purely from the standpoint of audit and had no authority to speak for the General Accounting Office with regard to the disposition of the records in question. Both Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Hatter disagreed with Mr. Treadway's view as far as disposal of records was concerned and felt that the Number One Registers, the Daily Reports, and the Number Three Cards should be kept the same length of time as the Time and Attendance Cards. However, they did agree that since the first three mentioned records were primarily designed for Bureau purposes and that at least the Daily Report might contain confidential information and making it undesirable to make it available for payroll audit purposes, that there was sufficient doubt about it to warrant submitting the question to the Comptroller General for a ruling. It was their recommendation that this be done, since it was the only way to dispose of the question.

Punch Cards

These gentlemen were asked whether punch cards constitute basic accounting documents, thereby being subject to the regulations of their office as to their disposal. It was their unanimous opinion that normally punch cards constitute merely "working tools" and once the information contained therein had been printed in the form of a report, that the retention of the cards would be up to the Agency. It was pointed out by them, however, that whenever the punch cards constitute the one and only accounting record, they would then have to be considered as basic documents, subject to the rules of the General Accounting Office as to their disposal. Examples of such basic documents would be cases where time worked by an employee is reported directly on a punch card, the calculation of his pay is made directly from and on the card, and the employee paid on the basis of that card. In such a case the punch card would be the first accounting document and even though a payroll was run off from the cards, it would still be necessary to retain the punch cards according to their regulations. It is my belief that this Bureau does not have any such comparable situation. The nearest approach to such a situation would be in the case of a statutory pay increase where the new payrolls of employees are computed on a mass basis in the punch card unit. It might conceivably be construed that the first set of punch cards in such an operation, containing the new pay, would be the basic documents. I discussed such a situation with them but it was their view that such cards were not basic documents.

Recommendations:

1. With respect to punch cards on accounting and budget data it is evident that this Bureau may set its own disposal schedule for these, and it is my recommendation that we follow the three year rule, i.e., retain them for the current fiscal year plus the two previous years. If this is approved, this memorandum should be routed to Mr. Leonard in the Statistical Section.

Memo received 1-2-52

2. With regard to the Time and Attendance Cards, it is evident that we must follow the disposal rules of the GAO. These rules now require that they be held for two years following the GAO audit, at the expiration of which time written permission must be secured from GAO to destroy them. It is my recommendation that the Payroll Preparation Unit examine its records and prepare a letter to the GAO requesting permission to destroy all cards that meet the disposal requirements. This should be done now 11/20

3. The Number One Registers, the Daily Reports, and the Number Three Cards must still be retained for the same period as the Time and Attendance Cards, which is two years beyond the GAO audit. However, a separate letter has been prepared for the signature of the Attorney General addressed to the Comptroller General presenting the Bureau's contention that only the Time and Attendance Cards should be considered basic documents for attendance and leave, and that the Bureau should be permitted to destroy the others when it so desires, and requesting a ruling in the matter. This letter was prepared in connection with a suggestion from a Field employee that the Number Three Cards be retained only one year. Being handled separately 11/24

4. Only three copies of the revised disposal schedules could be obtained. However, photostat copies have been made and are being sent direct to the following, under separate cover: Records Section, Training Division, Administrative Division (Personnel Section, Voucher Unit, Payroll Preparation Unit, and Inventory and Supply Unit).

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULES

General. General Records Schedules are issued by the Administrator of General Services to provide standards for Federal agencies in handling their non-current "housekeeping" types of records. Section 505(b) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 (41 U.S.C., Supp. 284(b)) directs the Administrator to establish standards for the selective retention of records of continuing value. The Records Disposal Act of 1943 (44 U.S.C. 369) authorizes him to submit to Congress schedules proposing the disposal, after the lapse of specified periods of time, of records of specified form or character common to several or all agencies that apparently will not, after the lapse of the periods specified, have sufficient value to warrant their further preservation by the United States Government. The records covered by General Records Schedules include those pertaining to civilian personnel, fiscal, accounting, and procurement matters, and other common functions; they constitute a large proportion of the total volume of records created by each Federal agency.

When approved by the Joint Committee on the Disposition of Executive Papers, General Records Schedules constitute authority to dispose of the records included therein as disposable. Agencies may apply this authority subject (1) to approval of the Comptroller General of the United States in the cases required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act; and (2) to compliance with the record keeping requirements of regulatory bodies (such as the Federal Power Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and others) insofar as Federal agencies or parts of agencies are subject to the jurisdiction of such regulatory bodies.

General Records Schedules are comprehensive records retirement plans that not only include disposal authorizations, but also provide for the retirement to Federal Records Centers of non-current records that must be retained for specific periods of time and for the economical preservation of those records that are of continuing value. The authorizations and recommendations contained in them may be used by any agency in their entirety or in part; they are permissive and not mandatory. Because these Schedules are designed to cover records problems common to several agencies they are not intended to fit the precise needs of any given agency. They represent generally accepted standards for the retirement of the records covered and are phrased in such terms as to permit those responsible for records retirement activities to adapt them to their agency's own peculiar needs. By use of them an agency may, without further Congressional authorization, provide for the retirement of the bulk of its "housekeeping" records.

Method of Issuance. General Records Schedules are issued in loose-leaf form to permit the insertion or removal of pages upon which additions, deletions, or revisions have been made. Revised or added pages will be issued as changing conditions require and as necessary Congressional and other approvals are obtained.

Coverage of General Records Schedules. General Records Schedules refer only to record copies of documents. It is not the intent of these schedules to impart record character to extra copies of documents previously defined in an agency as non-record material.

Copies of documents covered by these schedules, however, may in certain cases have become an integral part of subject or case files documenting activities different from those covered by the schedules. In such cases the disposition of the copies should be the same as that of files of which they are a part.

General Records Schedules, except as definitely specified in the several schedules, are not applicable to records created prior to January 1, 1921. Records created prior to this time in many cases were not sufficiently standardized to be susceptible to evaluation on a Government-wide basis. Those of each agency must therefore be separately appraised.

The schedules may with the consent of the agency concerned be applied to records in Federal Records Centers.

Each schedule has three parts: (1) an introductory analysis; (2) the schedule itself; and (3) an explanation of the reason for the retention or disposal of each type of record covered.

Previously approved agency schedules providing for shorter retention periods may be continued in force if an agency prefers; likewise, although it is believed this will usually be unnecessary, agencies may extend retention periods in order to meet needs peculiar to their own activities.

Permissive provision is made, where applicable, for the transfer of records to a Federal Records Center for storage and servicing. Records designated for transfer to a Center should be held until a substantial quantity exists, even although this means a longer retention in office space, to avoid scattered transfers of small groups of files. Each agency's transfer program should be cleared with appropriate General Services Administration officials prior to making the first transfers, especially in the case of personnel and pay records eligible for transfer to the Center in St. Louis.

General Records Schedules also indicate a recommended or prescribed method of filing each type of record so as to facilitate use and disposal. Prescribed methods of filing are indicated by referral to the issuance prescribing them; those recommended under the provisions of Section 505(a) of the Federal Records Act of 1950 do not make reference to an established authority and any new regulations or directives that may be issued from time to time will supersede those recommendations.

Transmittal Letters. The original issuance and revised and added material will be promulgated and distributed to agencies under cover of transmittal letters. The transmittal letters will be designed to serve the following purposes:

1. Transmit as an attachment the pages to be substituted or added and give instructions for insertion.

2. State the Congressional authorization for disposal of records, if any new disposal authorization is involved.

For reference purposes transmittal letters should be retained, and may be placed with the schedules or may be detached and filed separately.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 1

Civilian Personnel Records

Agency civilian personnel records relate to the supervision over and management of Federal civilian employees, for the most part pursuant to regulations of the Civil Service Commission, the staff agency charged with the administration of the Civil Service Act, and related regulations, orders, and legislation. This schedule covers all copies of records relating to civilian personnel created since January 1, 1921, wherever located in an agency, exclusive of (a) copies of loyalty and other investigative files, (b) program records of the Civil Service Commission (including records of Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners and Committees of Expert Examiners, regardless of the custodian), and (c) records of the Bureau of Employees' Compensation and the Public Health Service maintained pursuant to statutory Government-wide responsibilities for the health and welfare of Government employees. Records of agency units functioning as staff personnel policy groups, rather than as operating personnel units, are not covered by this schedule.

The Official Personnel Folder, a case file documenting employment history, was established in 1947 by the Federal Personnel Manual (Rl 35-38) and constitutes the key record relating to civilian personnel. Prior to 1947 the contents of personnel folders varied somewhat with agency practice but these practices have been essentially similar since about 1921. Specific personnel forms, such as the Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form 50) have been standardized since 1941. An auxiliary to the Official Personnel Folder is the Service Record Card (Standard Form 7), a mandatory form which replaced multiple types of similar forms used in the agencies. The Official Personnel Folder and Service Record Card are described in Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, which prescribes a simplified system of record keeping for Federal personnel offices.

The Official Personnel Folder, which now travels with the Federal employee as he moves from agency to agency, contains papers of continuing value, listed as such in the Federal Personnel Manual, on the right hand side, and papers of temporary value on the left side. Until November 1951, the contents of the left hand side of the folders were described in detail in the Federal Personnel Manual. Now, however, only the records required to be kept are described in detail.

Records normally maintained in addition to the official folder and its related service record card concern phases of personnel administration involving the selection of personnel and the supervision over the work history and on-the-job performance, as follows:

Position classification: These records include copies of position classification sheets and related records.

Recruitment and selection: These include interview files and related data.

Training: These include evidence of skills acquired and made available to the agency.

Other records pertaining to individual employees normally include service record cards and various other controls maintained for purposes of convenience at the operating levels; agency dispensary records; and, for the period of World War II, draft deferment records.

Provision is made in this schedule for the disposition of copies of forms either duplicated in the Official Personnel Folder or maintained in separate personnel files, as well as files maintained for temporary processing or expediting purposes. This schedule also covers correspondence files not relating to individuals maintained by operating personnel offices, involving their administration and operation. The disposition of pay and payrolling records, normally maintained by agency fiscal units, is provided for in Schedule 2.

9.	Employee interview records.	Alphabetically by name.	Place in inactive file on transfer or separation of employee and start new inactive file every 6 months; dispose of inactive file 6 months after it is closed. If filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, dispose of records 6 months after transfer or separation of employee.
10.	Duplicate case files of efficiency rating boards of review, copies of which have been forwarded to the Civil Service Commission.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Dispose 1 year after closing file; if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, dispose of records 1 year after completion of case.
11.	All copies of correspondence and forms maintained as temporary records in the Official Personnel Folder in accordance with the Federal Personnel Manual, Chapter R1, pages 35-38 (May 1950).	On left side of folder, chronologically.	Dispose on transfer or separation of employee, or when 2 years old.
12.	Position identification strips, used in service control file (such as Standard Form 7) to provide summary data on each position occupied.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part I A.	Dispose when position is cancelled or new strip is prepared.
13.	Employee suggestion case files, including files relating to management improvement suggestions considered under Title X of P. L. 429, 81st Congress, or comparable legislation.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 5 years or every 2 years, as appropriate.	After closing case transfer to inactive file arranged in same way as active file but closed at end of each year; dispose of (a) basic copies 5 years after closing of the file; (b) duplicate copies 2 years after close of file.
14.	Case files on rewards for superior accomplishment under Title VII of the Classification Act of 1949.	Alphabetically within fiscal year; start new file each fiscal year.	Start new inactive file every fiscal year; dispose of each year's file 6 months after close of that fiscal year.
15.	Notifications of personnel action, exclusive of those in Official Personnel Folders.
	a. Chronological file copies, including face sheets.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part I B 4.	Dispose after 2 years.

16.	Unsuccessful applications for appointment and related papers, excluding records relating to appointments requiring Senatorial confirmation.	Alphabetically; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of application if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein, providing the requirements of the Federal Personnel Manual, Section R2-19.01 are observed.
17.	Statistical reports in the operating personnel office and subordinate units relating to personnel.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 2 years after date of report.
18.	Correspondence and forms in operating personnel offices relating to individual employees not maintained in Official Personnel Folders and not provided for elsewhere in this schedule.
	a. Correspondence and forms relating to pending personnel action.	Not applicable.	Dispose when action is completed.
	b. All other correspondence and forms.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
19.	Copies of documents duplicated in Official Personnel Folders and not provided for elsewhere in this schedule.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 6 months.	Dispose 6 months after file is closed or 6 months after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
20.	Files pertaining to the deferment of Federal employees from military training under the Selective Service and Training Act of 1940, as amended (excluding records held by the Selective Service System and the Review Committee on Deferment of Government Employees and their predecessor and successor agencies).
	a. Reports to the Review Committee on Deferment of Government Employees or its predecessors on the Selective Service status of employees (WMC Form 27 or equivalent).	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	b. Requests for occupational deferment (DSS Form 42, 42a, or equivalent) and all supporting and accompanying papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	c. Appeals to the Review Committee on Deferment of Government Employees or its predecessors for occupational deferments and all accompanying and supporting papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	d. Correspondence between individual agencies and the Review Committee on Deferment of Government Employees and its predecessors.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	e. Requests to the Review Committee on Deferment of Government Employees and its predecessors for the designation of certain positions as "Key Positions."	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	f. Reports made within an agency by individual employees on their Selective Service status.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
21.	Dispensary treatment record cards.	File within year alphabetically by name. Set up new file every year and bring cards forward from previous years to it when individual concerned is treated in dispensary.	All cards pertaining to an individual to be disposed of 6 years after date of last entry on the cards pertaining to him.
22.	Logs or registers of visits to dispensaries or welfare rooms operating under P. L. 658, 79th Congress.
	a. Where information is summarized on statistical reports.	Chronologically.	Dispose 3 months after last date on log or register.
	b. Where information is not summarized elsewhere.	Chronologically.	Dispose 2 years after last date on log or register.
23.	Health record case files, comprising forms, correspondence, and related papers documenting employee medical history under programs authorized by P. L. 658, 79th Congress, except pre-employment physical examinations, disability retirement examinations, and fitness for duty examinations (which may be made a part of or associated with the Official Personnel Folder or may be retained separately).	Alphabetically by name. Set up new file each year and bring forward from previous years files related to an individual when that individual is treated.	Dispose 6 years after date of last papers in the file.
24.	Copies of statistical summaries and reports relating to employee health retained by reporting unit, and related papers.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 2 years after date of summary or report.

Item 1. The Official Personnel Folder, promulgated in 1947 by the Federal Personnel Manual (Rl 35-38), is considered to be the official record documenting employment history. The permanent documents in the folder, which "travels" with the employee throughout his Federal career, comprise papers which give legal force and effect to appointments and all other personnel transactions, and which reflect minimum data on job performance. All other personnel records relating to individuals are subordinate to the permanent papers in the Official Personnel Folder and appropriate provision for disposing of them is made elsewhere in this schedule, individually or as part of the material on the temporary side of the folder. This item includes agency folders maintained as the official folder prior to the promulgation of the Official Personnel Folder.

Item 2. These service record cards are official summaries of the salient facts of employment history that are maintained by personnel offices to obviate frequent references to official folders and to be used as the official record in lieu of lost official folders. The cards serve as a central personnel office record of all aspects of personnel administration, and have continuous significance as a concise reference source after transfer or separation of the employee.

Item 3. These descriptions must be retained indefinitely in order to protect fully the job restoration rights of persons who are furloughed to enter the military service under the 1948 Selective Service law. These rights involve restoration to the permanent position held as of September 1, 1950, when personnel actions become temporary under Executive Order 10180 and related legislation.

Items 4 and 5. These files reflect the operation of the personnel office in administering the agency personnel program, and that of the subordinate branches charged with individual phases of the program. Employment policy is normally reflected in agency files at higher administrative levels. Files covered by item 4 serve temporary administrative needs involved in the daily problems arising in personnel work, and the retention period indicated is adequate to serve such temporary needs. Correspondence relating to individuals who receive appointments is provided for elsewhere in this schedule, and item 5 relates to routine papers reflecting pre-appointment negotiations with potential appointees.

Item 6. These forms relate to requests made by the agency to the Civil Service Commission for lists of eligibles from established registers. The certificate itself is of little administrative value once decisions have been taken with respect to the names certified.

Item 7. Optional Form 4 was developed as an informational record for operating units served by the personnel office to obviate requests for employee service and related data. Once the employee leaves the operating unit, the card is of no further administrative value. The permanent summary card record is maintained on Standard Form 7 (see item 2) by the personnel office itself.

Item 8. Position descriptions, used in classification work and in employment control, are of value as continuing personnel documents while the descriptions they contain are still valid. Except for descriptions which may be of continuing value because of their aptness of content (which may be retained as non-record reference material), these records are of little value after they are superseded or obsolete. Descriptions of positions abolished and descriptions superseded after September 1, 1950, are retained for the special reasons noted under item 3.

Item 9. These are primarily employee relations files and involve entrance and exit interviews, and interviews involving complaints by or against the employee. Any action taken by reprimand or otherwise is permanently documented on the right hand side of the personnel folder. Some agencies place these records on the temporary side of the folder, to be disposed of on transfer or separation.

Item 10. These are duplicates of papers submitted by members of Boards of Review to the Civil Service Commission on termination of their terms of office.

Item 11. These are temporary papers dealing either with the inception of personnel actions documented on the permanent side of the Official Personnel Folder or with administrative matters, and are of administrative value only for a short time.

Item 12. These visible strips, which are maintained with the service record card files, provide summary data on each position occupied. They have no record or reference value when the related positions are cancelled.

Item 13. These are case files accumulated under agency beneficial suggestion and management improvement programs. They have administrative value in evaluating new suggestions and in documenting current practices and procedures instituted as a result of the suggestions. The disposal period is sufficient to satisfy administrative needs either in reference or in documenting current practices. A lapse of five years after closing of the file will provide for normal reference needs.

Item 14. These are primarily copies of reports submitted to the Civil Service Commission. The copies are of little value to the agencies after a short period following submittal of the report.

Item 15. Copies of notifications of personnel action (other than the Official Personnel Folder copy) which have administrative or fiscal use are the pay copy, which is to be disposed of uniformly with other pay records, and the journal action copies, which will be retained for two years, in accordance with the provision of R1-2 of the Federal Personnel Manual, to satisfy inspection requirements.

Item 16. These are suspense files of job applications which have no further administrative usefulness after the indicated retention period.

Item 17. These reports, which are required administratively and by the Commission on many phases of personnel administration, are normally consolidated into summary reports submitted to higher administrative levels, or are so detailed as to have no further administrative value after the period indicated.

Item 18. This item is intended to provide for the mass of local and other forms and correspondence which is not placed in the Official Personnel Folder because the Federal Personnel Manual does not require it or because it is deemed not to be administratively necessary to do so. Generally, these files relate to aspects of employment history which are documented in the official folders or in fiscal records to be retained for a lengthy period by the provisions of this schedule, and therefore are of little administrative value after relatively short periods.

Item 19. These are copies of forms relating to personnel actions and other matters involving the employee submitted by the operating unit initiating the form to the personnel office.

Item 20. These records, created by Federal agencies as a result of operations pursuant to the Selective Service and Training Act of 1940, as amended, are of no further administrative value to the agencies. Actions taken with respect to individuals have been documented in retained Official Personnel Folders or their equivalents existing prior to 1947.

Items 21 and 23. These are the continuing records of treatment in a health unit of individual employees; any correspondence, memoranda, or other data that come to the health unit are filed in the same jacket. Journal entries are made on record cards or comparable forms recording each visit of the patient, brief diagnosis or statement of referral to private doctor, and treatment given, if any. The documents excepted from disposal are deemed of long term value by both personnel officials and by medical officials, and are normally filed in the Official Personnel Folder (item 1), but the remainder of the papers in each file are of only ephemeral interest. The records have no historical value; they are not of value for documenting the activities of health units; medical officers believe that if no new data have been obtained during the retention period specified, they are of no value medically; and their administrative utility is limited by the five-year statute of limitations on claims for employees' compensation.

Item 22. These are journals on which are recorded the name of each patient coming to a health unit, date on which he came, and, often, other identifying data, time spent, and a very brief notation of the illness or injury that prompted him to come. The records are occasionally used for administrative purposes for about one year after they are created, but not longer. They have no historical value and no value for documenting the history and functions of the unit; medical officers state that they have no medical value. Since their only administrative use is for statistical purposes, it is possible to dispose of those which are statistically summarized almost immediately and the statistical utility of the others is exhausted within the alternate period specified.

Item 24. These are retained copies of reports and summaries compiled by a health unit for transmission to higher administrative echelons, where they are used in combination with other reports for statistical and narrative analysis, and of informational copies of analyses transmitted to health units by higher administrative echelons. In either case, significant data are available at the higher echelons and the records are of no utility in health units beyond the period of time specified.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 2

Payrolling and Pay Administration Records

Payrolling and pay administration records pertain to disbursements to civil employees of the Government for personal services. This schedule applies to the pay records created since January 1, 1921, that are common to all agencies, but it excludes (a) retirement record cards (Forms 2806 or equivalent) that are maintained during employee duty and then are transferred to the Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission; (b) files physically transmitted to the General Accounting Office or maintained in agency space for audit under Section 117(b) of the Budget and Accounting Procedures Act of 1950 and the Post Office Financial Control Act of 1950; (c) records relating to tax withholding, defense bonds, or fidelity bonds, or other records held by the appropriate units of the Treasury Department responsible for the related Government-wide programs; (d) or to Bureau of the Budget files reflecting agency personnel needs and problems. Evaluation and disposition of these records must be provided for separately.

Normally copies of papers required by the Comptroller General to be maintained for site audit or to be physically transferred to the General Accounting Office for centralized audit, technically constitute segments of accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6). In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office unless the agency concerned has written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 374).

About 70 percent of Federal civilian pay accounts are prepared and maintained in accordance with General Regulations No. 102 of the Comptroller General, issued in 1944. This regulation provided, among other things, that the pay record for each employee be maintained on a separate card form (Standard Form 1127 or equivalent) and abandoned the comprehensive payroll fairly universal in the Federal Government since about 1880. The regulations induced a strong measure of uniformity, although the exemption of the Post Office Department and the Postal Service from its purview immediately removed about one-fourth of all Federal employees from its scope. However, there are at present three basic systems in use in the Federal Government for the preparation and processing of payrolls: (a) The simplified payroll system promulgated by General Regulations No. 102, serving the administrative interests of the agencies, the General Accounting Office audit responsibilities, and the Division of Disbursement of the Treasury Department. Although the regulations are specifically formulated for per annum employees, the system is used in an adapted form for per diem and other employees of the Departments of the Army and the Air Force, and certain civilian executive departments. The Navy, while not specifically exempt, has arranged to use its traditional procedures in preparing civilian payrolls, although its departmental rolls are prepared under an adaptation of the regulations; (b) The Navy system for its field employees, which retains the older type of comprehensive payroll; and (c) The Post Office Department and United States Postal Service systems.

The various adaptations of Regulations No. 102 which have been permitted by the Comptroller General and the non-use of the regulations have resulted in the creation of records which are equivalent to the individual pay card in value but often differ radically in physical nature and format. Some agencies, for example, post pay and deduction data both to a pay card and to the older type of comprehensive payroll. Other agencies use no pay card and rely on the comprehensive payroll where it is felt that use of the simplified system, geared as it is to occasional changes in normal pay, is not administratively feasible because pay changes may be the agency norm rather than the exception.

The key file in any of the payroll systems is the record which contains the deduction and service data. This data appears in either the centralized pay card or on the face of the older type of comprehensive payroll traditionally used.

In the payrolling process, a group of diverse records are accumulated. Under the Regulations 102 system, the pay records are normally site audited by representatives of the General Accounting Office, who examine primarily the earning record cards, payroll change slips that are prepared to document changes in normal pay, certification sheets containing the signature of the agency certifying officer, check lists prepared in lieu of the more formal payrolls by Treasury or local disbursing personnel, source personnel documents such as basic time and attendance reports, and copies of personnel action forms advising of personnel actions resulting in changes in pay. In addition pay registers and other accounting devices are maintained to check and balance the accounts.

All payroll systems require the maintenance of a summary leave card, to which information is posted from more detailed records kept by time and attendance clerks located throughout an agency. Two basic forms are used by most agencies: (a) Standard Form 1137, which shows leave taken by an employee over a two-year period; and (b) Standard Form 1130, which is a combination time and attendance and leave record designed to be maintained in agencies in which the timekeeping function is decentralized. One Standard Form 1130 is maintained for each employee each pay period, and the current leave status figure is accumulated from pay period to pay period.

Other records incidental to the payrolling process are withholding tax and defense bond records, reports made to Treasury Department units and the Civil Service Commission on income tax and retirement transactions, and other records not pertaining to individuals, but rather to the general administration of the payrolling office and the payrolling function.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Individual earning and service cards (such as Standard Form 1127 or its equivalent).
	a. Cards on transferred and separated employees, and papers recommended by item 8 as attachments.	Alphabetically by name of employee.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Place in inactive file on transfer or separation of employee; close file at end of each year and transfer it to Federal Records Center after audit by the General Accounting Office.)
	b. Cards on active employees.	Alphabetically by name of employee; start a new file every 3 years.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to Federal Records Center 2 years after close of file.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
2.	Correspondence files maintained by operating units responsible for payroll preparation and processing, pertaining to administration and operation of the units.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
3.	Time and attendance reports.
	a. Copies used in payroll preparation and processing. (Where Standard Form 1130 is used for both time and attendance and leave posting purposes, the disposal provision for item 9 applies.)	Standard Form 1130 for each employee per pay period, arranged by pay period; one copy of Standard Forms 1135 and 1136, chronologically.	Dispose 2 years after audit by the General Accounting Office.
	b. All others.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 6 months after end of pay period.
4.	Individual authorization card and record of payroll allotments (such as Treasury Department Form 2254).
	a. Where record of bond deductions is maintained on earning record card.	Alphabetically by name of employee.	Dispose when superseded by new card or on transfer or separation of employee, whichever is earlier.
	b. Where record of bond deductions is not maintained elsewhere.	Alphabetically by name of employee.	Dispose 4 years after close of file. (Remove to inactive file when superseded or upon transfer or separation; close inactive file at end of each year and transfer to Federal Records Center 2 years thereafter.)
5.	Issuing agents' copies of bond registration stubs.	By year and bond number thereunder.	Dispose after 2 years.
6.	Receipts for U. S. Savings Bonds, and checks.	By month and alphabetically thereunder.	Dispose 3 months after date of receipt.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
7.	Reports of deposits and purchases of bonds, and related papers.	By month.	Dispose after 4 years.
8.	Applications for leave and supporting papers.
	a. Applications for leave taken immediately prior to separation.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Attach to individual pay or earning card (see item 1).)
	b. All others.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Dispose 1 year after file is closed or 1 year after date of application if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
9.	Leave record cards, maintained independently of pay and earning records. (Including Standard Form 1130 when used as a leave record.)
	a. Final cards showing accumulated leave on separation.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 2 years if Standard Form 1137 or its equivalent is used, and every pay period if Standard Form 1130 is used.	Dispose after 10 years. (Close file at end of year and transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter; dispose 7 years after transfer to Center.)
	b. All other cards.	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every 2 years if Standard Form 1137 or its equivalent is used, and every pay period if Standard Form 1130 is used.	Dispose 3 years after audit of related pay records.
10.	Records of leave data transferred (such as Standard Form 1150).	Alphabetically by name; start a new file every year.	Dispose 2 years after file is closed or 2 years after date of document if filing arrangement differs from that suggested herein.
11.	Notifications of personnel action, exclusive of those in Official Personnel Folders.
	a. Pay or fiscal copy.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 2 years after audit of related pay records by the General Accounting Office.
	b. Chronological file copies, including face sheets.	In accordance with Civil Service Handbook S-812, Basic Personnel Records and Files System for Federal Agencies, Oct. 1950, Part I B 4.	Dispose after 2 years.
	c. All other copies.	Alphabetically; start a new file every year.	Dispose after 1 year.
12.	Copies of budget authorizations to operating units that control personnel ceilings and personnel actions.	By organization.	Dispose when superseded.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
13.	Memorandum copies of payrolls and related certification sheets (such as Standard Forms 1013, 1128 or equivalents).
	a. Where earning record card is maintained.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 2 years after audit by the General Accounting Office.
	b. Where earning record card is not maintained.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose when 10 years old. (Transfer to Federal Records Center when 3 years old.)
14.	Payroll control registers (such as Standard Form 1125).	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 2 years after audit by the General Accounting Office.
15.	Payroll change slips exclusive of those in Official Personnel Folders (such as Standard Form 1126).
	a. General Accounting Office audit copy.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 2 years after audit by the General Accounting Office.
	b. Copy used by disbursing officer in preparing checks.	By pay period, thereunder alphabetically by name.	Dispose after preparation of check.
	c. All other copies.	By pay period, thereunder alphabetically by name.	Dispose 1 month after end of pay period.
16.	Memorandum copies of fiscal schedules involved in payroll processing.
	a. General Accounting Office audit copy.	By pay period with other pay records.	Dispose 2 years after audit by the General Accounting Office.
	b. All other copies.	Varies with agency practice.	Dispose 1 month after end of pay period.
17.	Administrative reports and data relating to payrolling operations and pay administration.
	a. Reports and data used for workload and personnel management purposes.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
	b. All other reports and data.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
18.	Withholding tax exemption certificates (such as Internal Revenue Form W-4).	Alphabetically by name.	Dispose 4 years after card is superseded or obsolete.
19.	Returns on income taxes withheld (such as Internal Revenue Form W-2).	By return and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose after 4 years.
20.	Reports of withheld Federal taxes and related papers.	Conform to agency filing practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
21.	Retirement reports and registers.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 4 years.

Item 1. These are the official centralized pay records maintained by agencies keeping such records under General Regulations No. 102 of the Comptroller General or an adaptation thereof. Summaries of service are also normally included. In agencies under payroll site audit, this centralized record is the only file documenting the fiscal aspects of employment history. It is retained as a record related to the Official Personnel Folder and the Service Record Card, which document the employment history itself. Comprehensive payrolls which serve as a fiscal record in lieu of an earning card are retained under item 13 for a ten-year period. After that time reference can be made to the payroll transmitted to the General Accounting Office as a supporting voucher.

Items 2, 7, 12, 17. These files reflect the general operation and administration of the organizational unit responsible for preparation of the payroll. The subject matter is normally of a routine administrative nature, and policy documentation is normally available in files at higher administrative levels.

Items 3-6, 8-11, 13-16, 18-21. These files, accumulated in the course of processing and preparation of the payroll, are generally disposable after agency administrative and General Accounting Office audit needs have been met, as follows:

a. Check lists, payrolls, and related papers, posting media, and controls (Items 3, 11, 13-16). These copies of the payrolls or check lists and the papers immediately attached are held long enough after site audit to satisfy agency needs. Such General Accounting Office sets of these records as are involved are retained for at least 12 years, while the pay information in most agencies is posted to centralized pay cards (item 1).

b. Savings bonds, retirement, and income tax files (Items 4-6, 18-21), involving Treasury and Civil Service Commission programs. These records consist of employee authorizations for payroll deductions, held long enough to serve Treasury and agency needs, and reports and returns to staff agencies. Agency savings bond records are deemed disposable in view of the extensive bond history files maintained by the Bureau of the Public Debt, Treasury Department.

c. Leave records (Items 8-10). The applications for leave are held for a minimum period, since they are posted to summary leave record cards (item 9). Most cards are disposable after retention for three years to satisfy normal reference needs, but cards showing accumulated leave upon separation are disposable after a sufficient period to provide for their use in answering claims brought within the statutory ten-year period. The records of leave data transferred, submitted to the receiving agency on employee transfer, is posted to the new leave record shortly after receipt of the data.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 3

Procurement and Supply Records

Agency procurement and supply records include the papers and files involved in obtaining goods and non-personal services, controlling the volume of stock on hand, reporting procurement needs, and related supply matters which are part of daily procurement operations rather than staff or policy functions. The basic procurement files reflect a considerable range of procedure, from simple small purchases to complicated prime contractor and subcontractor operations.

This schedule covers procurement files dated since 1894, when such files began to be somewhat standardized. All contract records prior to 1894, for example, are not of permanent value, but their unstandardized nature makes it necessary for these older files to be evaluated on their own merits and they are therefore not covered by this schedule. Frequently copies of procurement papers become integral parts of other files in the agency, such as project files of various types or general subject files pertaining to program operations; such copies are not covered by this schedule because they cannot be considered and evaluated separately from the files of which they are a part. Furthermore, written findings pertaining to procurement methods, required by Section 7(c) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 (41 U.S.C. 156) and Section 307(c) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (41 U.S.C. 257), are not covered by this schedule.

This schedule does not apply to records held by the General Accounting Office reflecting Government-wide responsibilities, or to those held by the General Services Administration or other agencies to which Government-wide procurement or related responsibilities have been delegated under the provisions of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949. Normally originals of papers required by the Comptroller General to be maintained for site audit, or to be physically transferred to the General Accounting Office for centralized audit, technically constitute segments of accountable officers' accounts. These original papers are therefore excluded from coverage in this schedule for the reasons set forth in Schedule 6. Similarly, this schedule does not apply to documents submitted to or created by other coordinating or regulatory agencies, such as the National Production Authority, the Economic Stabilization Agency, and others, in the course of their program operations.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not yet been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of July 7, 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 374).

Since 1949 Federal agencies have operated their procurement and supply systems under regulations issued by the Federal Supply Service of the General Services Administration, although the Secretary of Defense under Section 201(a) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, may exempt his Department from General Services Administration procurement regulations and orders.

Records documenting procurement and supply in the agencies are largely standardized by various regulations of the Comptroller General and the Administrator of General Services. Forms to be used and reports to be made both ad hoc and as part of the returns of Federal disbursing officers are prescribed. General Regulation No. 4 of the Administrator of General Services, for example, makes mandatory the use of certain standard supply contract forms. The physical arrangement of the transaction files themselves differs in the various agencies, however. In all agencies the official contract files, for example, contain a minimum core of specified documents, but there are also other documents that vary in accordance with what the individual agency deems to be best for its own operating purposes.

Procurement files fall into a number of functional categories, depending on the role of the file in the total supply process and its administration.

The key procurement file is the transaction case file containing the formal contract or informal purchase order or lease instruments and all related papers. The documents flowing into the transaction file differ in detail, but they include, in addition to the purchase document, specifications, bids, schedules of delivery, initiating requisitions, invoices, and correspondence. Other copies of these documents, made for expediting and other administrative purposes, are scattered throughout the inspection, shipping, expediting, and other units of the agency procurement organization. Conformed copies of most procurement documents involving sums over $5,000 for military agencies and over $2,000 for other agencies, and leases, are submitted to the General Accounting Office at the time of their execution. The General Accounting Office contract file normally includes only those basic papers which enable its auditors to pass on the propriety of the expenditure or obligation. In agencies whose accounts are under site audit, the pertinent copies are maintained in agency space for the General Accounting Office.

Agency files may pertain to one or more of several procurement methods: (1) purchases against Federal Supply Service schedule contracts, record copies of which are in the appropriate Federal Supply Service regional office, (2) transactions initiated pursuant to the agency's own purchasing authority, or (3) requisitions from Federal Supply Service current inventories. Normally, in transactions not arising from Federal Supply Service schedule contracts, purchase orders are used for transactions under $2,000 in value, and the more formal contract instruments are used for transactions involving larger sums of money.

Certain basic legislation normally governs procurement policies. The First and Second War Powers Act, enacted early in World War II, laid down general policies which gave to contracting officers wide latitude in contract determinations. The Armed Forces Procurement Act of 1948 (62 Stat. 21) stated policy for armed forces procurement. Title III of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1950 restated over-all procurement policy and methods for the Government as a whole. Specialized legislation, such as the various renegotiation and price adjustment acts following World War II, produced temporary modifications of procedures.

The Federal procurement field has been affected from time to time by specialized legislation, some of which has been enacted for ad hoc purposes, while other laws have resulted in standard contract articles. Thus the Contract Settlement Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 649) prescribed procedures and policies to be used in the termination of World War II contracts; the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 prescribed certain standards of working conditions and employment that are still in effect; and the Anti-Kickback Act of 1940 attempted to outlaw illegal arrangements by which employees returned parts of their wages to their employers under duress. Other legislation and administrative policies have imposed other legal safeguards and prohibitions, particularly in the field of real property procurement. In most instances the procurement files are required to document actions taken under the various laws.

Legislation which governs the procurement process inevitably affects the content of procurement files but not in such a way as to affect the long term value of the files except in the cases of those involving certain aspects of real property acquisition.

Other files related to the procurement and supply function include reports used for supply management purposes by the agency creating the records as well as the staff agency involved with Government-wide programs, local requisition and stock inventory files, and other minor supply papers.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Procurement files (as described in item 4 below) involving transactions of $25,000 or more and documenting the initiation and development of transactions that deviate from established precedents with respect to general agency procurement or to major procurement programs.	Conform to agency practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule.
2.	Title papers documenting the acquisition of real property (by condemnation proceedings or otherwise).	Conform to agency practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years after sale of property.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
3.	Correspondence files of procurement operating units pertaining to their internal operation and administration that are not covered elsewhere in this schedule.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
4.	Contract, requisition, purchase order, lease, bond and surety records, including correspondence and related papers pertaining to award, administration, receipt, inspection, and payment (other than those covered in items 1 and 2).
	a. Procurement or purchase organization copy.
	(1) Transactions of $1,000 or less.	By contract or lease symbol and number thereunder; by purchase order number.	Dispose 4 years after final payment.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	(2) Transactions of more than $1,000 and less than $25,000.	By contract or lease symbol and number thereunder; by purchase order number.	Dispose 7 years after final payment. (Place in inactive file on final payment; transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter.)
	(3) Transactions of $25,000 or more.	By contract or lease symbol and number thereunder; by purchase order number.	Dispose 11 years after final payment. (Place in inactive file on final payment; transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter.)
	b. Obligation copy.	By appropriate number in suspense file for posting.	Dispose when funds are obligated.
	c. Other copies of papers described in 4a.
	(1) Papers duplicated in item 4a.	As appropriate.	Dispose 1 year after completion of transaction.
	(2) Papers not duplicated in item 4a.	As appropriate.	Dispose in accordance with provision for item 4a.
5.	Files of volume and workload reports on procurement and supply operations and procedures (other than those incorporated in case files or other files of a general nature), exclusive of Department of Defense reports reflecting procurement under exemptions authorized by Section 201(a) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (41 U.S.C. 231).
	a. Copies received from other units for internal purposes or for transmission.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 2 years after date of report.
	b. Copies in other reporting units, and related work papers.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 1 year after date of report.
6.	Bid files.
	a. Successful bids.	One copy of each bid with procurement file (item 4).	Dispose in accordance with provision for item 4.
	b. Unsuccessful bids.	One copy of each bid with procurement file (item 4).	Dispose in accordance with provision for item 4.
	c. Lists or cards of acceptable bidders.	Alphabetically by stock item or by name of bidder.	Dispose when new list or card is made.
7.	Records relating to requisitions on the Public Printer, and all supporting papers.
	a. Printing procurement unit copy of requisition, invoice, specifications and related papers.	By requisition number.	Dispose 4 years after completion or cancellation of requisition.
	b. Accounting copy of requisition, Government Printing Office invoice, transfer of funds voucher, and receiving report.	Attach to related vouchers.	Dispose 4 years after period covered by related account.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
8.	Requisitions for non-personal services, such as duplicating, laundry, binding, and other services (excluding records associated with accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6)).	By requisition number.	Dispose after 1 year.
9.	Requisitions for supplies and equipment from current inventory.
	a. Stockroom copy.	Numerically by requisition number.	Dispose 2 years after completion or cancellation of requisition.
	b. All other copies.	Numerically by requisition number.	Dispose after 6 months.
10.	Inventories of supplies and equipment.
	a. Stockroom inventory lists.	Numerically by stock number or alphabetically by item, as appropriate.	Dispose 2 years from date of list.
	b. Stockroom inventory cards.	Numerically by stock number or alphabetically by item, as appropriate.	Dispose 2 years after discontinuance of item or 2 years after stock balance is transferred to new card or recorded under a new classification.
	c. Card files on office equipment.	Numerically by stock number or alphabetically by item, as appropriate.	Dispose 2 years after equipment is removed from agency control.
11.	Telephone statements and toll slips.	Attached to related vouchers.	Dispose 4 years after period covered by related account.
12.	Files of reports on supply requirements and procurement matters submitted for supply management purposes (other than those incorporated in case files or other files of a general nature), exclusive of Department of Defense reports reflecting procurement under exemptions authorized under Section 201(a) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (41 U.S.C. 231).
	a. Copies received from other units for internal purposes or for transmission to staff agencies.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose after 2 years.
	b. Copies in other reporting units, and related work papers.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose after 1 year.

Item 1. These procurement files, normally selected by the agency as of continuing value, consist of procurement papers and related records which may or may not have been physically located in the agency principal procurement file. The records are retained not because of the individual transaction they represent, but because (a) they represent new departures in administrative arrangements not documented elsewhere in the agency, (b) they are an integral part of a file which may illustrate the inception and accomplishments of a major procurement program, or (c) they represent procurement procedures radically different from those normally followed and therefore are deserving of separate consideration. Normally they will be found in only a few agencies, such as the Defense departments and Atomic Energy Commission, which have unusual procurement problems.

Item 2. These records are of enduring legal, administrative, and historical value since they constitute the basic evidence of acquisition of real property by the Government, including statements of legal boundaries and restrictions that may run for generations. Other evidence of the same facts is legally secondary to the statements in the title papers.

Item 3. These are routine administrative files not part of other case files, and they do not include records of agencies or parts of agencies involved with the development of top procurement policy. Rather, these files are held by the units responsible for the day to day detailed procurement transactions. They are held long enough to satisfy administrative and reference needs.

Item 4. Agency procurement files (other than those described in items 1 and 2) have the following conceivable values:

a. Legal and fiscal value: The principal values of procurement files are those pertaining to the rights of the Government as a contractor and as claimant or claimee and those involving audit or investigation by the General Accounting Office, the Congress, or others of transactions and payments. The General Accounting Office, which receives most claims involving procurement, has noted that claims quite consistently involve transactions of $25,000 or more. The longest applicable statute of limitations on claims brought before the Comptroller General is 10 years (54 Stat. 1061); certain types of claims are governed by a six-year statute. The standard which has been developed for the disposition of procurement files therefore requires that contracts relating to transactions of $25,000 or more must be retained until eleven years after final payment. Files relating to transactions between $1,000 and $25,000 and below $1,000 are retained until seven and four years, respectively, after final payment. Audit needs of the General Accounting Office are satisfied under normal conditions after three years, since accounts must be settled within three years from date of submission.

b. Historical value: Modern agency procurement files as a class are not of permanent historical or archival value since they represent essentially routine transactions and merely bind the usual buyer-seller relationships. These agency files are very voluminous and necessarily most of the transactions involved are of no historical importance. Important policies and procedures are established by the Comptroller General, the Administrator of General Services, and agency staff groups, and compliance with these procedures and policies is checked by the General Accounting Office so that irregularities of significance are documented in that agency.

c. Agency administrative value: Normally procurement files are of little reference interest to the agency after final payment has been made. Such needs, however, are adequately provided for by the retention period.

Item 5. These are workload and activity reports, with related subsidiary reports, made to staff agencies or to organizational superiors and are used for consolidated agency reports or for work measurement and other management purposes. These copies have no administrative value after the lapse of the period specified.

Item 6. The unsuccessful bids are retained for a period sufficient to serve needs of the contracting agency and other interested Federal units.

Item 7. These are case files on printing and binding jobs performed by the Government Printing Office. The files, comprising originating papers, agreements, and all related correspondence are normally maintained in the service organization involved in the printing and publication function. The period specified is sufficient to safeguard agency administrative needs arising from fiscal adjustments with the Government Printing Office, or from audit of the related accounts.

Item 8. These are requisitions for routine agency services. They are of minor value after the services have been performed.

Item 9. These are routine internal requisitions originated by operating units and filled from agency or Federal Supply Service inventories. They do not directly result in procurement action. The period provided is sufficient for local administrative needs and for posting to stock records.

Item 10. These are inventories maintained to provide replenishment data, stock control data, and property maintenance data, and are normally of administrative value as long as the individual stock items involved are in current use. The periods provided are sufficient to allow for administrative and management uses, including those involving the property accounting system audit responsibilities of the General Accounting Office.

Item 11. Toll slips are in effect invoices authorizing payment via public vouchers for long distance telephone calls, and are usually filed with the related vouchers. Disposal is based on the three-year statutory period for the settlement of disbursing accounts, plus one year for agency administrative needs.

Item 12. These are reports required externally by the General Services Administration (Federal Supply Service) and internally by the agency to show agency needs and procurement for Federal Supply management purposes. The period of time specified is sufficient to satisfy internal agency needs for the information contained in these reports.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 4

Property Disposal Records

These records pertain to the sales by agencies of real and personal property surplus to the needs of the Government. The act creating the General Services Administration transferred the staff functions of the former War Assets Administration relating to property disposition to the new agency. This schedule is not applicable to transaction or policy files created by the General Services Administration and predecessor agencies, to records in the Interior Department relating to the public domain, and to records relating to overseas property under State Department control. Surplus property transaction files dated prior to the establishment of the former Procurement Division in 1933 are also not covered. Such files are not necessarily of continuing value but they must be evaluated separately from later similar records because prior to assignment of program responsibility to the Procurement Division the files are incomplete and of varying nature.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of July 7, 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 374).

In discharging its responsibilities, the Federal Supply Service, General Services Administration, has issued Personal Property Management Regulation No. 3, which sets up procedures for screening, redistribution, and sale of personal property in the Federal Government. Three forms are prescribed for use by any agency selling surplus personal property under the regulation:

a. Standard Form 144 (Sale of Government Property, Invitation, Bid, and Acceptance). Related papers that are maintained by the agencies, usually in case fashion, consist of correspondence, bids and other notices of sale, invoices, and sales slips.

b. Standard Forms 120 (Report of Excess Personal Property) and 121 (Quarterly Report of Utilization and Disposal of Excess and Surplus Personal Property). Form 120 reports personal property which is excess to the agency reporting to the regional General Services Administration offices, which initiate screening action. The quarterly reports are submitted to the Personal Property Utilization Division of the Federal Supply Service, General Services Administration, which consolidates the data.

Procedures relating to real property are governed by Public Buildings Circular No. 1, but no forms are prescribed.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Case files on sales of surplus personal property (as described in item 6 below) involving transactions of $25,000 or more, and documenting the initiation and development of transactions that deviate from established precedents with respect to general agency disposal or to major disposal programs.	Transaction files in alphabetical order by name of purchaser.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule.
2.	Case files on disposal of surplus real and related personal property.	Alphabetically by location or by control number, as appropriate.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years after close of file.)
3.	Reports of excess real property.	Conform to agency practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule.
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
4.	Correspondence files maintained by operating units responsible for property disposal, pertaining to their operation and administration, not otherwise provided for.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
5.	Reports of excess personal property.	Chronologically by reporting unit.	Dispose after 3 years.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
6.	Case files on sales of surplus personal property, comprising invitations, bids, acceptances, lists of materials, evidence of sales, and related correspondence (other than those covered in items 1 and 2).
	a. Transactions of $1,000 or less.	Transaction files in alphabetical order by name of purchaser.	Dispose 4 years after final payment.
	b. Transactions of more than $1,000 and less than $25,000.	Transaction files in alphabetical order by name of purchaser.	Dispose 7 years after final payment. (Place in inactive file on final payment and transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter.)
	c. Transactions of $25,000 or over.	Transaction files in alphabetical order by name of purchaser.	Dispose 11 years after final payment. (Place in inactive file on final payment and transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years thereafter.)

Item 1. These files, normally selected by the agency for permanent retention, are retained because they document transactions involving new departures in the administration of surplus personal property disposal and as such may be of continuing value. Those not warranting continued preservation must be appraised on their own merits.

Item 2. Almost all contracts for the sale by the Government of surplus real property include recapture clauses, reservations on fissionable materials, reservations on water rights, and other restrictions. These reservations are not limited in time and therefore the sales files must be kept indefinitely. Older sales files and current ones not including such reservations may be disposable but since they represent sales taking place under unstandardized policies and procedures they must be appraised on their own merits. The related personal property described in this item is property sold with the real estate or with similar reservations.

Item 3. Reports of excess real property contain justifications for declaring the property excess and contain data on the methods by which the property was acquired. Continuing legal needs for this information preclude scheduling their disposal on a Government-wide basis.

Items 4-6. Since these agency sales case files represent a contractual relationship in which the Government is a seller instead of a buyer, the factors governing the disposal of most procurement files (item 4, Schedule 3) apply also to personal property disposal records. The routine case files are therefore held for four, seven, or eleven years after final payment, depending upon the cash value of the transaction. Agency copies of the declarations and reports have a relatively short term administrative value to the agency since they primarily serve the management purpose of the General Services Administration as the Federal procurement staff agency. General correspondence files are retained long enough to serve routine needs.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 5

Budget Preparation, Presentation, and Apportionment Records

Budget and apportionment records include the various files accumulated in an agency in the course of formulating its budget for submission to the Bureau of the Budget and to the Congress; in defending its requests for funds before both bodies; and after enactment of an appropriation bill, in ensuring that the funds are used in such a way as to suffice for the appropriate period of time. The funds are made available to the agency by the Bureau of the Budget, usually in quarterly portions, and the agencies must indicate and justify regularly to the Bureau their proposed rate of expenditure. After the funds have been made available to the agency, its own controls over the funds are in its expenditure accounting records (Schedule 7) and detailed information relative to expenditures is contained in the accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6).

This schedule applies to records of budget preparation, presentation, and apportionment created since January 1, 1921, in all agencies, except that it does not apply to records of the Bureau of the Budget and the Treasury Department reflecting the Government-wide budget responsibilities of those agencies.

Agency budget records are normally created at all levels of agency organization. They show proposals from all operating levels as well as the bureau-wide and agency-wide coordinating work done by formally organized budget offices. Therefore the records consist of detailed work papers and budgetary statements developed by single operating units, the more significant budget statements and related papers representing consolidated submissions prepared at the bureau or equivalent level and forwarded to the agency budget officer, and the records at the highest level pertaining to the budget submission for the entire agency.

The nature of the budget presentation itself is standardized by Circular A-11 of the Bureau of the Budget, Instructions for the Preparation and Submission of Budget Estimates, which prescribes format and procedures for all Federal agencies. However, the internal reports and papers which support the budget and are used in its preparation vary radically from agency to agency. The budget submission, a record copy of which is usually designated by the agency, is a duplicate of the set of papers submitted to the Bureau of the Budget. These include summary statements of appropriations and expenditures, statements of contract authorizations, and statements of receipts as well as narrative summary statements which highlight the principal features of the agency requests and immediately related supporting documents. The narrative presents the policies and the programs of the agency which the budgetary requests are to support. In addition to the summaries, the submission includes schedules of obligations and statements pertaining to each type of appropriation and fund under which the individual agency operates. Finally, the Bureau of the Budget requires additional supporting data pertaining to objects of expenditure, particular agency programs, and figures based on the cost of various types of service operations, such as personnel and payrolling activities.

After the Bureau of the Budget examines the agency presentations to determine whether the proposed expenditures are in accord with the President's program, revision of agency requests are made. The agency budget file will therefore show the revisions made at the direction of the Budget Bureau prior to submission to Congress as part of the total presidential budget. In addition it will include copies of testimony before Congressional appropriation committees and of various exhibits and other data submitted in defense of the budget.

Apportionment and reporting are other aspects of budget work in the Federal Government. These budgetary activities are governed by Budget-Treasury Regulation No. 1, which prescribes records and procedures relating to apportionments and reports on the status of appropriations and other authorizations. In setting up the control over the budgetary and financial programs of the Government, the regulation prescribes a series of Standard Forms (SF 131-133, SF 141-143). The major functions of these forms are to make formal request of the Bureau of the Budget for amounts of obligations to be incurred during a specified period under an appropriation, for contract authorization, or for statutory authorizations, and to report on the status of the various appropriation accounts, by appropriation title.

Requests for apportionment (Standard Forms 131 and 141) and for reapportionment (Standard Form 132) are submitted by agencies in original and two copies for each appropriation account subject to apportionment. The original is returned to the agency by the Budget Bureau with a notation indicating the action taken, while the duplicate remains with the Bureau, and the triplicate is sent to the Bureau of Accounts, Treasury Department. To apprise the Budget Bureau of the fiscal status of each appropriation account, agencies submit monthly reports (Standard Forms 133 and 143) showing total amounts still available, the nature of the amounts available, and the relation of the obligations to the payments.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Correspondence files of formally organized budget offices showing agency policy and procedures governing budget administration, and reflecting policy decisions affecting expenditures for agency programs.	Conform to agency practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule.
2.	File copies of budget estimates prepared or consolidated in formally organized budget offices at the bureau (or equivalent) or higher organizational levels, comprising appropriation language sheets, narrative statements, and related schedules and data.	Chronologically.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to Federal Records Center 3 years after the close of the fiscal year covered by the budget.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
3.	Correspondence files of budget offices not otherwise covered in this schedule.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
4.	Work papers, cost statements, and rough data accumulated in preparation of annual budget estimates, including duplicates of papers included in file copies of budget estimates (described in item 2).	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 1 year after close of fiscal year covered by budget.
5.	Periodic reports on the status of appropriation accounts and apportionments.
	a. End of fiscal year report.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 5 years after close of fiscal year involved.
	b. All other reports.	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 4 years after close of fiscal year involved.
6.	Apportionment and reapportionment schedules, proposing quarterly obligations under each authorized appropriation.	Chronologically.	Dispose 2 years after close of fiscal year involved.

Items 1 and 3. Papers relating to budgeting processes and to substantive policy decisions pertaining to the expenditure aspects of agency programs are retained as permanent program records of the agency. All other correspondence is held for a minimum period to satisfy normal reference needs.

Items 2 and 4. File copies of budget estimates prepared or consolidated in formally organized budget offices at the bureau or higher organizational levels have two values:

Values for administrative and management purposes in budget functions: These submissions are of potential value in tracing the budgetary development of program and operations. This use of the files makes necessary its retention for a period sufficient to make such reference possible. Agency experience indicates that administrative and management reference is heaviest for the five fiscal years following the year covered by the submission, and that after ten years such reference is virtually non-existent. Many programs prosecuted by Federal agencies are completed within a ten-year period.

Values for historical purposes in documenting the program of the agency: Much of the information contained in file copies of budget estimates is also contained in high echelon files of the agency that are retained permanently and in published hearings on the budget held by Congressional committees. In addition copies of recent submissions to the Budget Bureau are in the custody of that Bureau.

Several years ago the Budget Bureau copies of agency estimate submissions through the fiscal year 1940 were destroyed under authority granted by the Archivist of the United States and the Congress. However, the Bureau has not decided to treat this file as a permanent record. Section 157 of the Examiner's Handbook, dealing with the disposition of Estimates Division records, provides that official record copies of submissions, including "correspondence and memoranda; exhibits and appendices; and related papers reflecting Budget Bureau review of agency estimates" be sent to the Bureau's depository after retention in the operating unit for two fiscal years after the close of the fiscal year to which the submission pertains. Bureau of the Budget copies are available for the fiscal years beginning with 1941.

Despite the degree to which the data in bureau and agency budget files are duplicated elsewhere, however, the volume of these files is not extensive except in those agencies in which many types of work papers and various ephemera are present. Such papers are of little value and are disposable soon after preparation of the budget estimates is completed. The estimates formulated in formally organized budget offices are not all of continuing value, but there are enough instances in which they are convenient or sole sources of information as to agency plans and hopes that it does not seem practicable to consider them disposable on a Government-wide basis. Many of them may be valuable for research, particularly because they are retained with other records of the agency concerned and therefore can be used easily in conjunction with other files of the agency. Their disposal is therefore not authorized by this schedule.

Items 5 and 6. The apportionment and reapportionment records are retained for a period sufficient to satisfy the management reference needs of the agency. Bureau of the Budget copies are retained as permanent records.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 6

Accountable Officers' Accounts

Accountable officers' accounts include record copies of all papers concerned with the accounting for, availability, and status of public funds. "Accountable officers" are of two types: (a) the disbursing officer, who accomplishes the actual payment of public monies to proper Federal creditors, and (b) the certifying officer, whose signature on a summary schedule attests to the authenticity of vouchers listed on the schedule. The latter official, who is bonded, takes the responsibility of approving for payment by the disbursing officer the sums due other agencies, contractors, employees and others who have provided goods and services to the Government. Within the Federal Government the certifying officer and the disbursing officer are usually different individuals.

Disbursements for virtually all Government agencies, except the Department of Defense, the Postal Service, the Department of State, and certain Government corporations, are made by the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury, who heads the Division of Disbursement within the Bureau of Accounts, Treasury Department. The Division was created by Executive Order 6166 of June 10, 1933. Prior to that time agencies had their own disbursing organizations. Traditionally agencies transmitted individual vouchers, covering schedules, and summaries on the basis of which payment was made and the papers were then forwarded to the General Accounting Office for audit. Since about July 1949, however, disbursements have been made for an increasing number of agencies merely on the basis of certified schedules, with the detailed vouchers transferred to the General Accounting Office from the agency or held in agency space if site audit was involved. This procedure was extended and confirmed by General Accounting Office General Regulations No. 115, issued January 29, 1952, which promulgated a standard form voucher and schedule of payments (Standard Forms 1166 and 1167 for use by all agencies effective July 1, 1952) and formally eliminated the transfer of vouchers to the Chief Disbursing Officer. This schedule applies to the accounting and the fiscal records of agencies, which may be held by either agency disbursing or certifying officers or by both.

Another procedural change with major record implications was the inception and gradual extension of the on-the-site audit of agency accounts. Under this system the vouchers, contracts, schedules, accounts current, and other related supporting documents are to be retained in agency space for the General Accounting Office auditors. Section 5 of the Post Office Department Financial Control Act of 1950 and Section 117(b) of the Budget and Accounting Procedures Act of 1950 (whenever the Comptroller General determines that the audit shall be conducted at the site) require agencies to retain these records, which are under General Accounting Office cognizance. Section 7(a) of General Accounting Office General Regulations No. 115 gives general authority to the agencies, if the records are no longer required for administrative purposes and subject to the written approval by the Comptroller General, to transfer records audited at the site to Federal Records Centers after two years. Because the records heretofore transferred to the General Accounting Office are retained in the agency and available, several agencies have eliminated the creation of memorandum copies.

This general schedule covers the memorandum copies of the accountable officers' accounts created since January 1, 1921, whether or not the agencies are assigned for an audit-on-the-site. Conversely, it does not apply to the papers which have been submitted to the General Accounting Office either by physical transfer or by retention in agency space for audit purposes. Nor does the schedule apply to the management copies of the schedules and related papers held by the Chief Disbursing Officer, from which he makes payment. These are covered by a separate authorization.

Because of special General Accounting Office needs, vouchers and related papers pertaining to freight transportation charges are excluded from disposition. Under General Accounting Office General Regulations No. 115 voucher schedules and supporting basic documents covering transportation services are forwarded to the General Accounting Office, Washington, D. C., regardless of whether the forwarding agency is under on-the-site audit. The memorandum copies, which are included in Schedule 9, are designated for transfer to a Federal Records Center. Similarly, because of their value as auxiliary personnel records, the records relating to pay of civilian personnel are excluded from coverage in this schedule and are separately treated in Schedule 2.

In addition to the memorandum copies of returns, this schedule also covers records in other agencies which are related to the audit of the accounts by the General Accounting Office. These include (1) the notices of exception by which the General Accounting Office notifies the proper accountable officer that it takes exception to a specific payment or transaction, and (2) certificates of settlement that show the status of his account.

Records relating to the availability, collection, and custody of funds include (1) the appropriation warrants, (2) other documents which deposit funds into the Treasury, and (3) documents which provide disbursing officers with status reports on funds in their custody, such as the proofs of depository account and statements of funds to their credit. Agency copies of these deposit and status documents are so intimately related to the accounts of these officers that they are included in this schedule. The copies received by the Fiscal Service of the Treasury Department are not covered by this schedule and are provided for separately.

	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Disbursing returns, comprising memorandum copies of accounts current, all supporting vouchers, schedules, documents, and related papers not otherwise provided for in this schedule (exclusive of freight records covered by Schedule 9 and payroll records covered by Schedule 2).	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 4 years after period covered by the account.
2.	General Accounting Office notices of exception (formal or informal) and related correspondence.	Chronologically.	Dispose 1 year after exception is reported as cleared by the General Accounting Office.
3.	Copies of certificates of settlement of accounts of accountable officers (disbursing and certifying), statements of differences, and related papers.
	a. Certificates covering closed account settlements, supplemental settlements, and final balance settlements.	Case file or schedule in chronological order.	Dispose 2 years after date of settlement, providing certificate is cleared.
	b. Certificates covering periodic settlements.	Case file or schedule in chronological order.	Dispose when subsequent certificate of settlement is received.
4.	Schedules of certificates of settlement of claims settled by the General Accounting Office.	Chronologically or by schedule number.	Dispose 2 years after date of settlement.
5.	Records relating to the availability, collection, custody and deposit of funds, including appropriation warrants.	Chronologically.	Dispose 4 years after date of document.
6.	Administrative correspondence, reports and data relating to voucher preparation, administrative audit, and other accounting and disbursing operations.
	a. Files used for workload and personnel management purposes.	Conform to agency filing system.	Dispose after 2 years.
	b. All other files.	Conform to agency filing system.	Dispose after 4 years.

Items 1-4. Under Public Law 72, 80th Cong., 1st Sess. (68 Stat. 101), the General Accounting Office must complete the audit of accounts within three years from the date of the submission of the account. The disposal period provided includes the three-year period, plus an additional year for administrative purposes. Necessary reference after the four-year period can be made to the originals of the papers held by the Audits Division of the General Accounting Office. Exception and certificate files are scheduled for disposal after periods based on clearance of the exception as well as the total accounts. Schedules of certificates of settlement of claims are listings of claims settled by the General Accounting Office and are retained for a shorter period than the certificates themselves.

Item 5. These records, relating to the availability, deposit and status of available funds, are held for the same four-year period provided for the memorandum copies of disbursing returns, which reflect the expenditures of the funds. Key ledger records summarizing disbursing accounts are retained for substantial periods in the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, Treasury Department. The originals of appropriation warrants (Treasury Department copies) are not scheduled for disposal.

Item 6. Files used for personnel and other non-fiscal management purposes are disposable after a minimum period necessary for administrative and reporting needs. Other files are held for a somewhat longer period, since they may contain substantive fiscal data and may be useful in General Accounting Office comprehensive agency audits.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 7

Expenditure Accounting Records

Expenditure accounting records are the ledgers and related documents maintained by all Federal agencies to show in summary fashion how their funds, appropriated and non-appropriated, are spent after allotment by the Bureau of the Budget, and the sources and nature of any receipts. The key records are the general ledger accounts, which constitute, as a unit, the heart of the agency accounting system. These ledgers summarize the financial status and financial transactions of the agency, showing the current status of funds available for expenditure, the amounts due and collected for the account of the Government, accumulated expenditures and liabilities, and the values of stock, equipment, and other property in agency custody. They are controls that serve not only as central fiscal records, but also as a primary source of data for top management concerned with agency solvency, with expenditures and with program costs.

The general ledgers are subdivided into arbitrarily created account titles, which are based on programs, projects, costs, and funds. Supporting them are a group of subsidiary ledgers and papers further detailing the information in the general ledgers or serving as posting media to the ledgers themselves. To the extent that they reflect appropriation expenditures, the general ledgers are supported by allotment ledgers, which at all times show the current unobligated balance of funds allotted for specific agency purposes and thereby provide a safeguard against over expenditure by operating officials. The allotment ledgers are general controls over expenditures, and they in turn summarize and are supported by more detailed controls that normally take the form of project or job orders which authorize exact and specific expenditure.

The sources of data that are posted to the ledger files are somewhat diverse, but they fall into two general groups:

a. Copies of various obligation or expenditure documents, such as vouchers and schedules, which flow through the ledger unit for posting.

b. Journal vouchers and similar internal control documents created to authorize and convey entries to the general ledger.

As the centralized fiscal record, the general ledgers ultimately summarize stores, plant and cost accounting data, which are treated in a separate schedule, but these are only several aspects of the total ledger accounts. Consequently, the ledgers are the source for the data included in the basic apportionment reports to the Budget Bureau, and the Treasury Department, and over-all reports of agency fiscal condition which may be required by the General Accounting Office (Schedules 6 and 8). The adequacy for audit purposes of the general ledger accounts is normally considered by General Accounting Office comprehensive auditors to be a prime source of information on the suitability of the agency's entire accounting system and the value of its summary reports.

This schedule provides for the disposal of expenditure accounting records created since January 1, 1921, in the several agencies. It does not apply to such records maintained on a Government-wide basis by the Treasury Department and the Bureau of the Budget, or to those formerly maintained by the General Accounting Office.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of July 7, 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 374).

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Correspondence files maintained by operating units responsible for expenditure accounting, pertaining to their internal operations and administration.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
2.	General accounts ledgers, showing debit and credit entries, and reflecting expenditures in summary.	One set of accounts by each established account covering asset and liability.	Dispose 10 years after close of fiscal year involved.
3.	Allotment records, showing status of obligations and allotments under each authorized appropriation.	One set of allotment records by established allotment.	Dispose 10 years after close of fiscal year involved.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
4.	Records used as posting and control media, subsidiary to the general and allotment ledgers, and not otherwise provided for in this schedule.
	a. Original records.	One set of each control.	Dispose after 4 years.
	b. Copies.	One set of each control.	Dispose after 2 years.

Item 1. These are routine correspondence files maintained incidentally to the key accounting functions and are held long enough to satisfy agency administrative needs.

Items 2-3. As the central fiscal records, the general ledgers and the allotment records immediately supporting them have a longer retention value than any other agency fiscal records, with the exception of individual pay cards (Schedule 2), because of the summary nature of the information they contain. Their prime administrative and fiscal values to the agency are as sources of fiscal, expenditure and cost data for managerial purposes, and for use in budget preparation. Occasionally the general and allotment ledgers are brought into play in the administrative examination of claims. Although the ledgers are of considerable value they are not permanent records, for they serve needs which are essentially temporary in nature. The retention period in this schedule for the general ledgers is geared not only to the conceivable administrative needs of the agency, which normally arise within five years, but to the ten-year statute of limitations governing the presentation of most claims against the Government. Summary data on agency expenditures for historical and other purposes are available in permanently retained appropriation ledger files and the annual Combined Statement of Receipts, Expenditures and Balances of the United States Government, both of which are responsibilities of the Bureau of Accounts, Treasury Department. Such Bureau of Accounts records are not covered by this schedule. In addition, the basic program activities of agencies are inevitably reflected in the permanently retained upper echelon files of the agencies no less extensively than they are revealed in the general and allotment ledgers, which are often couched in technical, cryptic terms.

Item 4. These posting media and detailed appropriation and expenditure controls are held for a period sufficient for administrative needs after posting and after completion of the action contemplated by detailed project or work controls.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 8

Stores, Plant, and Cost Accounting Records

Specialized stores, plant, and cost accounting records are maintained by most agencies, particularly those with extensive plant and stock inventories. The records created pursuant to these specialized accounting activities since January 1, 1921, are covered by this schedule. They are voluminous and often diverse, but they are integral parts of the fiscal and supply controls of the agencies.

a. Stores Accounting. These records are maintained to provide personal accountability for the receipt and custody of materials and to provide information as to the monetary worth of such materials. Custody is established by accomplished copies of material movement documents, and stores accounting information is posted from the documents covering the movement of goods to intermediate records. Stores accounting data are normally reviewed and consolidated by means of reports and returns submitted to agency headquarters, where the information is used for procurement planning, budget, and other management purposes. These records do not include papers reflecting the physical movements of material to and from storage points, although they may be involved in posting. Summary agency stores information is reflected in the pertinent general ledger accounts.

b. Plant Accounting. These records consist primarily of cards recording the principal characteristics of each item of physical plant and equipment, including real property. They constitute primarily a type of inventory control, but in addition are a principal source of data on the value of physical plant and other items not normally represented in the stores or stock inventory system. Summary data on plant value is available in the pertinent general ledger accounts.

c. Cost Accounting. These records are designed to accumulate and show data on the costs of agency operation, the direct and indirect costs of production, administration, and the performance of program functions of the agency. The data, which are normally accumulated by means of cost reports and statistics accumulated by operating personnel, are ultimately posted to the accounts in the agency general ledgers concerned with operating and program costs. Material costs information is collected by posting requisitions for material or procurement documents to intermediate records, and labor cost information is obtained by charging time expended on individual jobs and projects assigned control numbers for cost control purposes. Cost data are utilized in evaluating economy of agency operation and in preparing budget estimates.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Plant account cards and ledgers pertaining to structures.	Conform to agency practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule.
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
2.	Correspondence files of units responsible for plant, cost and stores accounting operations.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
3.	Invoices or equivalent papers used for stores accounting purposes.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
4.	Stores accounting returns and reports.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
5.	Work papers used in accumulating stores accounting data.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
6.	Plant account cards and ledgers, other than those described in item 1.	By plant item number or numerically by plant account.	Dispose 3 years after item is withdrawn from plant account.
7.	Copies of cost accounting reports.
	a. Copies in units receiving reports.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
	b. Copies in reporting units, and related work papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
8.	Ledgers, forms, and machine records used to accumulate data for use in cost reports.
	a. Ledgers and forms.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 4 years.
	b. Machine records.
	(1) Detail cards.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	(2) Summary cards.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	(3) Tabulations.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 1 year.

Item 1. These cards are retained because they document the physical features, placement and nature of structures on Government areas and installations.

Item 2. These are routine administrative correspondence files, not containing accounting data, held long enough to satisfy reference needs.

Items 3-5. The invoices are held long enough for posting of stores accounting data to intermediate records and to allow for internal recheck of transactions involving the movement of goods, while the returns and reports are retained for a sufficient period to permit utilization of the data they contain for management purposes. Summary general ledger data are retained for a ten-year period. Work papers are disposable after an appropriate period shorter than that provided for the records which they support.

Item 6. These records are held long enough to permit administrative control over the plant account item while it is active, and for reference after the item is no longer carried on the account. Basic data is available in procurement or project files which are retained permanently or for a substantial period, while specialized legal circumstances surrounding real property are documented in retained records of continuing value.

Items 7-8. The cost records containing data reflected in general ledger accounts being retained for a ten-year period are disposable after they have served agency budget and other management needs. Subsidiary records involved in the accumulation of cost data are scheduled for an appropriately short period. Information as to the cost of individual projects of importance are shown in project files, and copies of cost reports that are of major significance are contained in agency management or administrative files not covered by the schedule.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 9

Travel and Transportation Records

This schedule covers records created since January 1, 1921, that pertain to the movements of goods and persons under Government orders. The record keeping involved in the movement of goods centers about the bills of lading, related vouchers, and associated records prescribed by General Regulations No. 97 of the Comptroller General, while General Regulations No. 88 and several executive orders govern passenger movement and reimbursement. Copies of some records used to support payments become part of the accountable officers' accounts, but because of temporary circumstances noted below they are excluded from coverage in Schedule 6 and their retirement is provided for separately in this schedule.

a. Movement of goods. The key record is the bill of lading, of which there are copies for consigners, consignees, and the carriers themselves. The papers related to and normally filed with the bill of lading itself are varied and often voluminous. These may consist of shortage and demurrage reports, invoices, and other descriptive data which completely document the administrative aspect of freight transportation. Copies of the bills of lading themselves are used for encumbrance of funds. Included are records relating to the shipment of household effects, which is authorized by law and regulation for military personnel and for civilian employees of the Government. Agencies shipping certain valuables under the Government Losses in Shipment Act, which insures against loss, retain copies of schedules of material shipped, papers relating to claims which may ensue, and other pertinent documents.

b. Movement of persons. The movement of persons is essentially documented by copies of travel orders, which authorize travel and subsequent payment, and standard form vouchers showing payment for official travel. The two primary copies of the travel orders are the administrative copy maintained by the transportation unit controlling the issuance of travel orders, and copies used for the encumbrance of funds.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Papers covering payment of freight transportation charges, consisting of Government or commercial bills of lading, shortage and demurrage reports, and all supporting documents, and including files pertaining to the shipment of household effects.
	a. Issuing office memorandum copy.	By bill of lading number.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to inactive file on completion of transaction; break inactive file every 3 years and transfer to Federal Records Center 1 year later.)
	b. Consignee memorandum copy for encumbrance of funds.	Attach to related vouchers.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Withhold from disposal when other vouchers are disposed of and transfer to Federal Records Center at that time.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
2.	Correspondence files maintained by operating units responsible for travel and transportation, pertaining to their operation and administration, not otherwise provided for.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
3.	Papers covering passenger transportation charges, consisting of vouchers and related papers. (Travel vouchers are covered by item 4.)
	a. Issuing office memorandum copy.	By transportation request number.	Dispose 4 years after completion of transaction.
	b. Consignee memorandum copy for encumbrance of funds.	Attach to related vouchers.	Dispose 4 years after period covered by related account.
4.	Records relating to official travel of officers, employees, dependents, or others authorized to travel by law (exclusive of records covered by items 1 and 3).
	a. Travel administrative unit copies.	In folders arranged alphabetically by name of employee; break file every 2 years.	Dispose after 4 years.
	b. Obligation copies.	In appropriate fashion for posting.	Dispose when funds are obligated.
5.	Schedules of valuables shipped, and related papers and reports.	Chronologically in case fashion.	Dispose after 4 years.

Item 1. Prior to the end of World War II agencies were permitted by the Comptroller General, together with the National Archives and the Congress, to dispose of bills of lading and related papers after periods ranging from three to five years. National Archives General Schedule 5, issued in 1946, provided a five-year retention period.

A number of audit and reaudit programs conducted by the General Accounting Office have arisen to delay disposition of many freight records. An extensive reaudit of wartime freight charges has been in progress since 1947, requiring the indefinite retention of agency copies of bills of lading and supporting papers. A pending railroad rate case, Docket No. 17000, Part 2 (164 I.C.C. 1), concerned with rates charged by land-grant railroads west of the Mississippi River, has also made it advisable to retain agency railroad freight transportation files, in some instances as far back as 1931, until settlement of the case.

For the time being, therefore, files relating to freight movements are designated as records of continuing value since they must be retained until the various legal requirements affecting their use no longer exist.

Item 2. These are routine correspondence files retained long enough to serve reference needs.

Items 3-4. These files, comprising all papers, requests, vouchers, and correspondence relating to travel and transportation at Government cost and the reimbursement of traveller and carrier, are held long enough to satisfy both agency reference needs and the audit needs of the General Accounting Office in settling related accounts.

Item 5. Files relating to the administration of the Government Losses in Shipment Act are retained for substantial periods by the Bureau of Accounts, which has Government-wide responsibility. These agency copies are retained long enough to satisfy local administrative and legal needs.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 10

Motor Vehicle Maintenance and Operation Records

These records pertain to the management, maintenance, and operation of motor vehicles used by agencies. Responsibility for Government-wide motor vehicle management policy was transferred in 1950 from the Budget Bureau to the General Services Administration by the act which created the latter. Agency records created since January 1, 1921, during the period of Budget Bureau cognizance were essentially the same as those now kept, and are therefore subject to the same disposition.

Personal Property Management Regulation No. 24 prescribes policies and procedures. Standard Form No. 82, which is an annual motor vehicle report required by the Federal Supply Service, General Services Administration, is the only standardized record. Certain cost and inventory control forms have been developed, but they are not mandatory. This schedule does not cover the disposition of records of the Bureau of the Budget (to 1950) and the Federal Supply Service pertaining to motor vehicle management on a Government-wide basis, but it does cover agency records pertaining to the daily use and operation of the vehicles.

In general, records pertaining to motor vehicles reflect a threefold responsibility: (a) the accumulation of cost and operating data for internal accounting and management purposes and for reports submitted to the Federal Supply Service (Standard Form No. 82, Annual Motor Vehicle Report); (b) the maintenance of the vehicles themselves; and (c) protecting the interest of the Government in accident claims against it. The records themselves consist of chauffeur service logs and reports, vehicle repair and maintenance check-off sheets, cost ledgers and claims correspondence and forms.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Correspondence in the operating unit responsible for maintenance and operation of motor vehicles not otherwise covered in this schedule.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.
2.	Motor vehicle operating and maintenance records.
	a. Operating records.	By chauffeur or car number as appropriate.	Dispose after 3 months.
	b. Maintenance records.	By car number.	Dispose after 1 year.
3.	Motor vehicle ledger and work sheets providing cost and expense data.	By subject.	Dispose 3 years after discontinuance of ledger or date of work sheet.
4.	Reports on motor vehicles (other than accident, operating, and maintenance reports).	By report and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose 3 years after date of report.
5.	Records relating to motor vehicle accidents, maintained by transportation offices.	In case fashion.	Dispose 6 years after case is closed.

Items 1-5. These records are retained long enough to satisfy report, fiscal, management, and automotive maintenance needs of the agency. Claims files have little legal or administrative value after the period indicated.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 11

Space and Maintenance Records

This schedule provides for the disposal of all copies, wherever located in an agency, of records relating to space and maintenance, except as indicated below. Records documenting these functions pertain to the acquisition, allocation, utilization, and release of space and include related correspondence and reports submitted to the General Services Administration (or equivalent agency with similar Government-wide responsibilities) as directed by law and by regulation (60 Stat. 257 and GSA Real Property Management Regulation No. 3); correspondence and forms relating to the compilation of directory service listings; identification credentials and related accountable records; requests for building and equipment services; and correspondence files reflecting the activities of the unit responsible for handling space and related matters within the agency.

This schedule does not cover (a) copies of these records that are an integral part of accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6); (b) records of procurement and supply (Schedule 3); (c) records which reflect Government-wide programs (such as the records held by the Public Buildings Service of the General Services Administration); and (d) records created prior to the establishment of the Public Buildings Administration in 1939 or other space and maintenance records created in connection with the management of space not under Public Buildings Administration or Public Buildings Service cognizance (such records vary sufficiently in their nature to warrant specific evaluation on their merits).

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Correspondence files of the unit responsible for space and maintenance matters, pertaining to its own administration and operation, and related papers.	Conform to agency practice; start a new file every 2 years.	Dispose 2 years after file is closed or 2 years after date of document if breaks in the file differ from that suggested herein.
2.	Records relating to the allocation, utilization and release of space under agency control, and related reports to General Services Administration.
	a. Building plan files and related agency records utilized in space planning, assignment and adjustment.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 2 years after termination of assignment, or when lease cancelled, or when plans are superseded or obsolete.
	b. Correspondence with and reports to staff agencies relating to agency space holdings and requirements.
	(1) Agency reports to General Services Administration regarding space occupied in "Metropolitan Washington" and "Outside the District of Columbia," and related papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 2 years after date of report (in accordance with item 1).
	(2) Copies in subordinate reporting units and related work papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 1 year after date of report.
3.	Correspondence, forms and other records relating to the compilation of directory service listings.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 2 months after issuance of listing.
4.	Identification credentials and related papers.
	a. Identification credentials including cards, badges, parking permits, photographs, agency permits to operate motor vehicles, and property, dining room and visitors passes, and other identification credentials.	Chronologically by date of return of credentials to issuing office.	Dispose of credentials 3 months after return to issuing office.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	b. Receipts, indices, listings and accountable records.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after all listed credentials are accounted for.
5.	Requests for building and equipment maintenance services, excluding fiscal copies.	Numerically by control or requisition number.	Dispose 3 months after work performed or requisition cancelled.

Item 1. These are routine files with related data reflecting the activities of the service operation group in administering its internal management and operation. Policy documentation is normally reflected in files at higher administrative levels. The records are maintained a sufficient period to satisfy administrative needs and have no other significant values.

Item 2. These files accumulate in the process of assigning and utilizing agency space. Reports are submitted to General Services Administration as directed by the Federal Property and Administrative Service Act of 1949, and GSA Real Property Management Regulation No. 3. Administrative needs have been met after the lapse of period indicated and the value of summary records held by the General Services Administration reflecting Government-wide trends and policies must be determined separately.

Item 3. The memoranda, completed questionnaires, forms and reports are accumulated in the compilation of directory service listings and are of temporary value after issuance or publication of listing. They are held long enough to satisfy administrative needs.

Item 4. These records relate to the issuance of and accountability for identification credentials, issued to individuals. The credentials themselves and the related control records have little value after they have served their immediate purpose.

Item 5. Requests for maintenance service normally originate in the operating units. Their purpose is served and they have little further value when the services which they request have been performed or the request has been cancelled.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 12

Communications Records

The principal records documenting communication functions include messenger service data; wire and wireless service control and operational records; summary of long distance telephone reports; postal records, consisting of post office forms and supporting papers; mail control records and supporting and related papers; and agency copies of penalty mail reports to the Post Office Department formerly required by statute.

This schedule covers the records described below, wherever located in an agency, but it does not cover records created prior to January 1, 1921, and does not cover records which reflect Government-wide programs, such as records held by the Post Office Department, the Postal Service and the Public Buildings Service of General Services Administration, rather than administrative management functions.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
1.	Messenger service records including daily logs, assignment records and instructions, dispatch records, delivery receipts, route schedules and related and similar records.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 months.
2.	Correspondence and report files of the unit responsible for the communication function, pertaining to its own administration and operation, and related papers.	Conform to agency practice; start a new file every 2 years.	Dispose 2 years after file is closed or 2 years after date of document if break in file differs from that suggested herein.
3.	Wire and wireless service control and operational records.
	a. Machine copies of incoming and outgoing messages, message registers, operator's and equipment service logs, performance reports, daily load reports, and related and similar records.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 6 months.
	b. Teleautograph and telescribers tapes.	Not applicable.	Dispose after message is dispatched.
	c. Original copies of outgoing messages retained by wire and wireless service.
	(1) Authorization copy not duplicated elsewhere showing time of dispatch.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 2 years.
	(2) Authorization copy duplicated elsewhere and showing time of dispatch.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 6 months.
4.	Summaries of long distance telephone reports used to indicate authorized use of telephone service as well as to audit expense voucher.	By organizational unit and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose after close of fiscal year in which audited.
5.	Postal records consisting of Post Office forms and supporting papers, exclusive of records held by the Post Office Department and Postal Service.
	a. Record of received or dispatched registered mail pouches.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
	b. Application for postal registration and certificate of declared value of matter subject to postal surcharge.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	c. Receipt for incoming registered and insured mail.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	d. Record of incoming and outgoing registered and insured mail.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	e. Return receipts for registered, insured, and special delivery mail.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	f. Report of loss, rifling, delay, wrong delivery, or other improper treatment of mail matter.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	g. Statement of Reading of Metered Registers.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
6.	Mail control records and supporting and related papers.
	a. Records of receipt and routing of incoming and outgoing mail other than (1) those listed in item 5, and (2) records used as indexes to correspondence files.	Alphabetically by name and chronologically thereunder.	Dispose after 1 year.
	b. Statistical reports of postage used on outgoing mail (air mail, special delivery, registered, foreign and parcel post over 4 pounds).	Chronologically.	Dispose after 6 months.
	c. Requisition for stamps, (exclusive of copies used as supporting documents to payment vouchers).	Chronologically.	Dispose after 6 months.
	d. Production reports of mail handled and work performed, with compilations derived therefrom.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	e. Record in agency mail units of remittances (check, cash, stamps and money orders) and other valuable enclosures received through agency's mail unit in incoming mail.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 1 year.
	f. Record of and receipts for mail and packages received through the Official Mail and Messenger Service.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 6 months.
7.	Official penalty mail reports formerly required by statute, and all related papers.	Chronologically.	Dispose after 2 years.

Item 1. These files pertain to the administrative management of messenger services. Their purpose is served and they have little further value after the activities to which they relate are accomplished.

Item 2. These are routine files with related data reflecting the activities of the communication unit in administering its internal management and operation. Policy documentation and reports are normally reflected in files at higher administrative levels. The records are maintained for a sufficient period to satisfy administrative needs and have no other significant value.

Item 3. These records relate to the control and operation of wire and wireless service exclusive of the Government-wide program records of the Public Buildings Service of General Services Administration. The disposal of original copies of outgoing messages by the wire and wireless service are qualified due to the varied practices of agencies in preparing and maintained elsewhere within the agency copies of the message actually showing time of dispatch. The agency needs have been met after the lapse of period indicated.

Item 4. The summaries of long distance telephone reports are of temporary value and are utilized as an administrative tool to indicate authorized use of telephone services as well as for auditing telephone tolls. They have no further value after audit has been performed.

Item 5. These records control the handling of special types of mail and related or equivalent material received or sent via the Postal Service. The records have value for a short time only. Claims resulting from the loss of registered, insured, or other types of special mail must be filed with the Post Office Department within one year after the date of mailing. The period of time indicated is sufficient to exhaust the value of the records for administrative and legal purposes.

Item 6. These mail control records and supporting papers are utilized to maintain control over the receipt and routing of ordinary and special mail, received from sources outside of the agency. The description of these files excludes any records used as indexes to correspondence or other files.

Item 7. The Penalty Mail Act of 1948, Public Law 785, repealed the requirement that the Postmaster General make periodic reports to Congress and the Bureau of the Budget on the amount of penalty mail sent by individual agencies of the Government. This report was based on information received from the agencies concerned. The records in the agencies were, in themselves, only of temporary value and the lapse of period of time indicated is sufficient to exhaust any value they may have had to the Post Office Department.

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS	RECOMMENDED METHOD OF FILING	AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION
4.	Control registers pertaining to requisitions and work orders.	Numerically by control or requisition number.	Dispose 1 year after close of fiscal year in which compiled or 1 year after filling of register, whichever is applicable.
5.	Mailing lists and related material.
	a. Correspondence, request forms and other records relating to changes in mailing lists.	Alphabetically by name within mailing group.	Dispose after appropriate revision of mailing list or after 3 months, whichever is earlier.
	b. Card lists.	Alphabetically by name.	Dispose of individual cards when cancelled or revised.
	c. Plate or stencil mailing lists.	Alphabetically by name within mailing group.	Dispose of plates or stencils when cancelled or revised.
6.	Reports to Congress and related records.
	a. Agency reports to Joint Committee on Printing regarding operation of Class A and B Plants and inventories of printing, binding, and related equipment in Class A and B Plants or in storage.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 3 years.
	b. Copies in subordinate reporting units and related work papers.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose 1 year after date of report.
7.	Records relating to internal management and operation of the unit.	Conform to agency practice.	Dispose after 2 years.

Item 1. Many agencies depend on their duplication or distribution units to retain record copies of all documents of this type. For that reason it is not possible to authorize by general schedule the disposal in such units of these copies because the documents are of basic value in documenting the history and activities of the agency. If agency procedures provide for retention of record copies in the units originating the document or elsewhere, other copies, including those in the printing or distribution units, may be disposable but such determinations must be made in the case of each agency.

Items 2 and 7. These are routine files reflecting the activities of the service operation group in administering its internal management and operations. Policy documentation is normally available in files at higher administrative levels. The records are held long enough to satisfy administrative needs and have no other significant value.

Item 3. These files are the technical, operational, production, and related papers pertaining to the planning and execution of the printing, binding, duplication and distribution jobs. The requisitions on the Public Printer and records relating to services obtained outside the agency are not covered by this item since they are provided for in Schedule 3. The records are retained for a sufficient period to satisfy administrative and reference needs after completion of the job.

Item 4. These registers are utilized in the operating units to control the receipt of requisitions and work orders to which production, distribution and cost analysis data are posted. Their purpose is served when the activities to which they relate are completed.

Item 5. These records are utilized in the maintenance and administration of mailing lists. The Printing and Binding regulation published by the Congressional Joint Committee on Printing requires agencies that maintain mailing lists to revise them at least once a year by making inquiry as to whether the publications distributed are desired by the person to whom addressed. The files have little further value when the services to which they relate have been performed.

Item 6. The Congressional Joint Committee on Printing requires that all heads of Departments or Agencies operating "printing plants" submit reports on forms furnished by the Committee, not later than 30 days after the close of specified periods. These reports and related papers are held long enough to satisfy the needs of the agency.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 13

Printing, Binding, Duplication, and Distribution Records

This schedule provides for the retention or disposal of all copies, wherever located in the agency of records created since January 1, 1921, that relate to printing, binding, duplicating and distribution, except as indicated in the several items. The principal records documenting these functions are: (a) Records pertaining to requests for service, control, production and distribution of individual jobs or projects; this material normally consists of requisitions requesting service and registers or similar media utilized to control the receipt of the requisitions, and to record the production, distribution and cost analysis within the operating units; and (b) Correspondence and report files reflecting the activities of the unit responsible for handling the printing, binding, duplication and distribution matters within the agency.

The Congressional Joint Committee on Printing is responsible for regulating the operation of agency "printing plants." The Committee is authorized to remedy any neglect, delay, duplication, or waste in the public printing and binding and the distribution of Government publications. No "printing plant," as defined in the Printing and Binding Regulations published by the Committee, can legally operate without prior authorization. The Committee further requires all agencies operating "printing plants" to submit reports not later than 30 days after the close of specified periods. Each agency maintaining a mailing list is required to revise it at least once each year by making inquiry as to whether the publications distributed are desired by the persons to whom addressed.

This schedules does not cover (a) records retained by agencies for on-the-site audit by the General Accounting Office; (b) agency memorandum copies which are part of the accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6); and (c) records which reflect agency programs (such as those of the Government Printing Office and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing) rather than administrative management functions.

	RECORDS OF CONTINUING VALUE:
1.	Copy, in duplicating or distribution unit, of each publication, poster, chart, directive, regulation, booklet, speech, form, press release, and similar material. (This item does not cover copies and related program material retained in originating office.)	By series and thereunder chronologically or by established numbering practice.	Disposal not authorized by this schedule. (Transfer to Federal Records Center when 5 years old.)
	RECORDS OF TEMPORARY VALUE:
2.	Correspondence files of the unit responsible for the printing, binding, duplication and distribution matters, pertaining to its administration and operation, and related papers.	Conform to agency practice; start a new file every 2 years.	Dispose 2 years after file is closed or 2 years after date of document if break in file differs from that suggested herein.
3.	Job or project records containing all papers and data pertaining to the planning and execution of printing, binding, duplication, and distribution jobs.
	a. Files pertaining to the accomplishment of the job, containing requisitions, bills, samples, manuscript clearances, and related papers exclusive of (1) requisitions on the Public Printer and related records; and (2) records relating to services obtained outside the agency.	Numerically by control or requisition number.	Dispose 1 year after completion of job.
	b. Files pertaining to planning, standards, cost and related technical matters.	By series and thereunder chronologically or by established numbering practice.	Dispose after 3 years.

SYNOPSIS

Director inquired as to procedure for destruction of exhibits. ¶ At Seat of Government: Records Section reviews exhibits yearly and, after consultation with divisions supervising investigations, destroys exhibits where retention is no longer justified. FBI Laboratory as general rule returns exhibits to submitting field office after examination. In some cases at latter's request Laboratory will destroy exhibits of no evidentiary value e.g. known soil specimens where examination is negative. ¶ In the Field: rule is that property must be acquired in accordance with laws of search and seizure, and that it must not be unnecessarily taken, ~~and Bureau authorizing~~ authorizing Bureau to dispose of property. Each agent has responsibility to promptly recommend disposal of exhibits in his cases when no longer needed. Property not necessary for evidentiary purposes must be returned to owner as soon as possible and if it remains in field office for thirty days, Bureau must be advised of reason for retention. Field checks retention of exhibits by tickler system and semiannual inventory is submitted to Bureau by all offices of exhibits on hand. Inspectors check exhibits during field inspections. Where prosecution is involved, disposition is authorized by courts or United States Attorneys.

All valuable exhibits are personally inventoried by new SAC's and by Inspectors in presence of SAC's during field inspections. Unsuccessful efforts made in 1951 to have U. S. Marshals take over retention of exhibits. Department advised on 11/20/51 that property seized by Bureau during investigations should not be turned over to U. S. Marshals for safekeeping except in certain cases where property is less than $100 in value, has been on hand for six months, or in cases on gambling devices.

RECOMMENDATION:

That no change be made in current procedure since it appears that all reasonable precautions as to retention and disposition of exhibits are being taken.

When property is turned over to agent for court use, it should be released to Bureau as soon as possible.

DETAILS:

The Director has requested information as to the procedure in the destruction of exhibits. The procedures at the Seat of Government and in the Field are set forth below.

(1) Seat of Government

(a) Records Section:

Exhibits at the Seat of Government, and this is by far the smallest portion of the exhibits in the custody of the FBI, are checked once each year by the Records Section to determine if they can be destroyed. The Records Section secures the concurrence of the interested supervisor and officials of the appropriate investigative division having jurisdiction of exhibits. If there is agreement after file review and check of all ramifications and an indication in the file that the United States Attorney has agreed to destruction of the exhibit, it is destroyed by the Records Section. There is one exception: If the exhibit has become part of the official file, it may be destroyed only after a check has been made with the Department of Justice and Archives.

(b) FBI Laboratory:

As a general rule exhibits sent to the FBI Laboratory from the Field will in most instances be returned to the submitting office after the examination has been completed. In some cases, however, in the interests of economy the FBI Laboratory will itself dispose of exhibits, e.g. known specimens of soil, submitted for comparison with soil on the suspect's clothing, will be disposed of when examination proves negative and the expense of sending the specimen back to the submitting office would not be justified. In such cases the field office will instruct the Laboratory that it may dispose of the exhibit. Another exception to the rule is in the case of firearms. The field offices are not permitted to dispose of firearms. After court action, and after order of the Court or a personal waiver has been obtained, the gun is submitted to the Laboratory where it is declared surplus and destroyed.

(2) Field

In the Field it is a rule that property must be acquired in accordance with the laws of search and seizure or by voluntary delivery. Property must not be unnecessarily taken and there is a rule that whenever property is turned over to an agent, a written release should be obtained, if possible, authorizing the Bureau to dispose of the property. It is the responsibility of each individual agent in the field to whom a case is assigned to recommend promptly that exhibits be disposed of when no longer needed. Property which has been acquired and which will not be needed as evidence must be returned to the owner as soon as possible. If such property remains in the possession of a field office for 30 days, the Bureau must be advised by letter of the nature of the property and the reason for its retention. Bureau approval for retention is initiated by the Bureau supervisor handling the case.

Field supervisors are required to check on the retention of exhibits. Semiannually the field submits a list to the Bureau of exhibits retained, and these lists are examined by Bureau supervisors. The Chief Clerk in each field office maintains a listing of all bulky exhibits and appropriate ticklers so that these may be examined periodically to determine whether disposition is possible.

Exhibits are checked in pending files during all self-inspections and all Bureau conducted inspections to ascertain whether they are being unnecessarily retained. Bulky exhibits retained in closed files are spot checked as to maintenance and disposition and security. All pertinent files relating thereto are reviewed to determine if action can be taken to dispose of the exhibit.

Disposition in cases resulting in prosecution is authorized by the United States Attorney in those instances where the Federal Judge himself has not directed as to the disposition of exhibits.

During the last few months of 1951 field inspectors were checking every bulky exhibit in the field but the Bureau modified these instructions because of the time consumed and the costs and in view of the submission of exhibit lists to the Bureau each 6 months.

All valuable exhibits are personally inventoried by an SAC when he assumes the position of SAC in a field office and during the course of each field inspection these valuable exhibits are again inventoried in detail by the field inspector personally in the presence of the SAC.

The above techniques are designed to assure that exhibits are disposed of as promptly as possible and are being securely retained where retention is necessary. In any instance of doubt as to whether an exhibit can be returned or otherwise disposed of, the United States Attorney is consulted.

In 1951 efforts were made to arrange for U. S. Marshals to take over the retention of exhibits. These efforts were unsuccessful. After an exchange of correspondence the Division advised the Bureau by memorandum dated 11/20/51 that property seized during the course of investigations and arrests should not be turned over to the marshals for safekeeping except as provided by Circular No. 4189 (which authorized the Bureau to turn over to marshals property valued at $100 or less on hand for 6 months or longer, coming into our custody during the course of investigations, not used as evidence and which could not be returned to its lawful owners) and except as provided by Order #4173 (pertaining to gambling devices).

CONCLUSION:

It appears that the FBI is taking all reasonable precautions as to the retention of exhibits and as to efforts to dispose of exhibits.

RECOMMENDATION:

No change in present procedure.

SUBJECT: DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS, PLANT SURVEY CLASSIFICATION ENCLOSURES

You will recall that the 99 classification, Plant Survey Matters, was recently microfilmed. As usual, tremendous savings in space were realized. Numerous enclosures, however, were not suitable for microfilming. We are maintaining them in 11 four-drawer cabinets and 15 bulky enclosure bins. A survey of these enclosures reflects they consist entirely of material pertaining to the physical layout of the various plants and related articles which would bear on the security conditions. The following are typical of the contents of these enclosures: separate photographs of all sizes, some of which are mounted in albums, aerial photographs, blueprints, literature on "safety rules" for the individual plant, brochures on company operations, organization charts, employment forms, forms for obtaining passes and badges, and other related material. These enclosures vary in size and some are filed in small envelopes while others are filed in large tubular containers and boxes.

CURRENT VALUE OF THESE ENCLOSURES:

This material is believed to be obsolete and of no value inasmuch as it is more than ten years' old. We are not and have not been performing plant surveys for more than ten years. The material should be destroyed so that the space can be appropriately utilized.

Of course, if any material is found of a non-plant survey nature, it should be retained.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the enclosures for the 99 classification, Plant Survey Matters, be destroyed and that prior to destruction, Archival authority be secured.

REFERENCE

Memorandum of W. 3. Eames to Mr. Nichols dated February 3, 1953.

SYNOPSIS

Referenced memorandum recommends the destruction of exhibits to the Plant Survey Reports recently microfilmed. These exhibits consist of physical layouts of plants, aerial photographs and similar data. It is recommended that since the reports are incomplete without the exhibits and consequently of little value, destruction of the exhibits be deferred until (1) the microfilms of the Plant Survey Reports themselves are destroyed, or (2) the passage of time renders use of the microfilms highly improbable.

PURPOSE

To submit observations in connection with the recommendation contained in referenced memorandum that the exhibits in Plant Survey Matters be destroyed.

DETAILS

Referenced memorandum recalls that files in the 99 classification, involving Plant Survey Matters, were recently microfilmed. It was suggested that the exhibits and enclosures, described as unsuitable for microfilming, be destroyed. These were stated to consist of material pertaining to the physical layout of plant, aerial photographs and similar data.

The destruction of Plant Survey and Plant Informant files was suggested by ASAC Noel B. Wright on April 24, 1946. (66-3286-228) This suggestion received an unfavorable recommendation.

Destruction of Bureau Records - General

ORIGINAL FILED IN 66-6200-99-1-42

The matter was later reconsidered, as reflected in the Joint Committee memorandum to the Director dated January 8, 1947, (66-3286-269) at which time the Field was authorized to destroy Field copies of Plant Survey and Plant Informant files.

It was then recommended that the Bureau files be retained. The following issues on this question have been raised:

Arguments in Favor of Destruction

1. There would be a saving of space.

2. It has been alleged that little, if any, information of current value existed in the files.

3. The information was outdated being in excess of ten years old.

4. As of December 1, 1952, at least 3,292 of the approximately 3,900 plants on the Defense Department list of Key Facilities had been surveyed by the Armed Forces and provide more up-to-date information.

Arguments Against Destruction

1. The exhibits would be of possible value in the event of war with Russia.

2. The exhibits are of value for reference purposes in connection with other matters.

3. Archives, if asked for approval of destruction of the exhibits, may ask for the material.

4. The material would be of value in the event that a claim was made against the United States Government involving the security recommendations made by the FBI.

5. It has been estimated that about ninety-five per cent of Plant Survey Reports were accompanied by exhibits which were continually referred to in the reports and without which the reports would be incomplete. (66-3286-294)

It is believed that the first four arguments against the recommendation are not sufficient to justify unfavorable consideration of the suggestion in referenced memorandum. However, the Plant Survey Reports have been microfilmed and may be referred to in the future. Many of the reports would apparently be meaningless without the opportunity to refer to the exhibits.

RECOMMENDATION

That destruction of the exhibits in the Plant Survey Classification be deferred until (1) it may be desirable to destroy the microfilm of the reports themselves or (2) the passage of time has rendered it highly improbable that the microfilm of the reports would be of any use.

DESTRUCTION OF FILES AND RECORDS

Reurlet 2/18/53 requesting authority to destroy certain records on a monthly basis as they become one year old.

By Government regulation the Bureau is required to maintain the files to which you refer for a period of one year, after which they may be destroyed at any time. The requirement that the files be purged of material over one year old on "an annual basis" is a Bureau rule imposed to avoid unnecessary duplication of work. The Bureau feels that the monthly destruction of such files would represent unnecessary duplication of effort and that the job can be done in practically all instances more efficiently once a year.

However, the Bureau feels that if it comes to a point where you must rearrange files in cabinets, which alone represents a considerable expenditure of time for planning and execution, and the destruction of overage file material would obviate such work, good judgment would require that the overage material be then destroyed even though it is not time for the annual purge.

You are authorized, therefore, to destroy overage files as listed in the manual, on other than an annual basis, where to do so would eliminate the work involved in any rearrangement of file space required because of the accumulation of such overage material. Of course, no material should be destroyed until it reaches the appropriate age, as listed in the manual. The Bureau does not feel that the arbitrary monthly purge of overage files should be undertaken, since such a practice would result in unnecessary work. You should use as a criterion a comparison of the work involved in destroying the overage files and the work involved in rearranging the files because of the accumulation of current material on top of overage material.

Re Manual of Rules and Regulations 3-15 (e).

It is suggested that the files and records listed in reference section of the Manual be destroyed when one year old on a monthly basis rather than an annual basis. Certain of these files and records are voluminous and quickly become a space problem, such as administrative files of agents, assignment cards on closed cases, automobile register forms FD-73, and transmittal letters - checks and bonds. In destroying these files and records on an annual basis it would be necessary to maintain some of them for close to two years, which involves permanently tieing up considerably more filing space; whereas, if these items are destroyed when one year old on a monthly basis less filing space would be required and space would be released on a continuing basis for re-use. The nature of these items is such that it is rarely necessary to refer back beyond two or three months and there would seem to be no need to have such data available for more than one year.

Also, the destruction of these files and records on a monthly basis has in the past required no more than two hours a month. On an annual basis there would be twelve times as much to destroy; conceivably it could take as long as three days.

SYNOPSIS:

Suggestion that the FBIRA file be purged of all nonpolicy material and this type correspondence be retained in folders by the president and destroyed every three years. Question arises as to Bureau's authority to handle this correspondence in the Records Section out of budget funds. Suggestion that only policy establishing material be retained in the Bureau's file. Year's activity to be summarized and included with annual audit for record and filing purposes in the FBIRA file.

RECOMMENDATION:

(1) That the suggestion be given favorable consideration so that the serials in the FBIRA file will be of a policy establishing nature only.

(2) That each calendar year annual report be submitted as has been the practice, summarizing all activities for the year. This together with annual audit of funds be made a matter of permanent record.

(3) That this memorandum be forwarded to the Training and Inspection Division for review and possible presentation to the Executives Conference.

Memo to Mr. Nichols 2-25-53
Re: F.B.I.R.A. File

BACKGROUND:

Together with the organization of the FBIRA as such, a file was created intended to contain material and background information dealing specifically with the problems and policies of this organization. Over the years, however, material has been included in this file which had no lasting value and dealt entirely with activities for a particular year. This file has naturally created some problem for the Records Section to maintain, and is questionable as to whether or not budget funds are actually available to cover the cost of processing material being received in the Records Section. Thus, it is suggested that the following plans be adopted for the future handling of correspondence dealing with FBIRA activities.

(1) That the present FBIRA file be purged of all non-policy establishing material.

(2) That folders be set up by years in the office of the president of the FBIRA where the nonpolicy material could be maintained.

(3) That the elected president each year, review prior material for his information and that only three year folders be retained.

(4) That the present FBIRA file be continued and that it include only policy establishing material such as Executives Conference consideration of a particular issue.

It is believed that considerable clerical time and effort is being devoted to the processing, filing and maintenance of material in the FBIRA file which is unwarranted. Most of the material has no lasting value and deals with memoranda reporting the success of one venture or another. It has also been recommended that at the termination of each calendar year, an annual report be submitted as has been the practice summarizing the FBIRA activities for that year. This report together with the annual audit of FBIRA funds would be made a matter of permanent Bureau record in the file making it unnecessary for the preparation of miscellaneous interim memoranda.

MEMO 2-25-53 from Mr. Eames to Mr. Nichols re FBIRA FILE

ADDENDUM - March 4, 1953

As required by law, all records relating to the payment of taxes on admissions to social events promoted and sponsored by the FBIRA as such, must be maintained by the FBIRA for a minimum period of four years.

Field Office or Division ALBUQUERQUE

SUGGESTION: In order to save cabinet space the following suggestion is being made. When a field office has a case that has been closed five years and was an auxiliary office that it keep only the first page of all reports. By keeping the first page of reports the auxiliary office could tell from the synopsis the violation and the main facts of the case. The first page also shows the office of orgin in case information comes to the auxiliary office after five years. In most cases an auxiliary office does not have complete facts of a case, such as final disposition, and would have to write to the office of orgin in case of a new violation. In cases that are handled by letter the auxiliary office should keep all the correspondence. This suggestion does not apply to security cases. The office of orgin would keep all correspondence on file for the 25 years.

Its advantages are:

The material that goes into the zero files is information that is received where there is no violation. If the material does not develop into a violation after three years it should be of little value after that time and could be destroyed. This suggestion would not apply in security cases.

The double zero file contains instructions. Most of the instructions are later put into manual changes or changed by new instructions at a later date.

CLERK, ALBUQUERQUE OFFICE

Clerk [redacted], Albuquerque Office, suggested that Zero and Double Zero files be destroyed after the material therein is 3 years old. This suggestion pertains to field files. Zero files are those files containing nonspecific or general information concerning a particular classification of work whenever such information is not worthy of being incorporated into a specific investigative case file. Double Zero files are files of instructions as to how to handle matters (Investigative or Administrative) in a particular classification of work.

In other words, there is a Zero file and a Double Zero file for each classification of Bureau investigative activity. The present rule is to retain these files indefinitely. Arrangements exist for the destruction of material when it has become 25 years of age. SAC Ellsworth of the Albuquerque Office is opposed to destroying Zero and Double Zero material when it becomes 3 years of age as Bauer suggests. He points out that it is necessary at times to go back through files over 3 years old to determine policy and instructions then in effect. Messrs. A. Rosen and A. H. Belmont agree with SAC Ellsworth.

In view of the opposition to this suggestion at the Seat of Government, it is recommended that no further action be taken. [redacted] has already been thanked for his idea.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

Reference is made to your letter of February 3, 1953, requesting approval of this Office to dispose of time and attendance reports in accordance with the standards contained in General Records Schedule No. 2, issued by the General Services Administration in August 1952.

You are advised that this Office approves of the application of the cited standards with respect to leave records of your Bureau, except as to final leave cards showing accumulated leave on separation, which records should be retained for a period of not less than ten years. See in this connection item No. 9 of Schedule No. 2. It is to be understood, however, that no records pertaining to outstanding exceptions, cases under litigation, or incomplete investigations should be alienated or destroyed until clearances thereof are obtained.

SUBJECT: FILING OF TRAINING SCHOOL SCHEDULES

Destruction of Bureau Property - general

A Training School schedule is prepared each week. At present a copy is sent to the Records Section for filing as "not recorded" material. A question has come up as to the value of retaining this material in our general files.

The Training Section has had occasion to use old schedules for the following reasons:

1. To ascertain the identity of an instructor who lectured before a particular class
2. To identify all the instructors who appeared before a particular class
3. To ascertain whether a particular class received instruction on a given subject
4. To ascertain the amount of instruction a particular class received on a certain subject
5. To ascertain dates on which certain groups went to or returned from Quantico
6. For use in preparation of annual report

There has been no occasion so far as known to refer to any schedule over a year old.

RECOMMENDATION:

That schedules not be sent to the Records Section for filing but that the Training Division keep schedules for a period of one year, after which they should be destroyed.

During World War I a Dr. Henrich E. Albert was the German Commercial Attache in New York City. There are many references to this individual in the Old German files. These files are now on microfilm.

It appears that during World War I the Alien Property Custodian seized the contents of Dr. Albert's office consisting of bank statements, canceled checks, expense accounts, personal letters to his wife in Germany, other personal correspondence and ledger and office books. Also included were personal photographs, military decorations and a strong box containing untranslated letters in German dating back to 1906. A report dated November 4, 1921 at Washington, D. C. reflects that all of this material was turned over to the Bureau by a George B. Williams, Managing Director, Alien Property Custodian's office.

In 1936 a request was received from the Alien Property Custodian's Office for permission to review the diary and expense accounts of Dr. Albert in connection with a World War I steamship seizure case. This is the last known request made for any of this material. Actually, it is not known whether or not these records were in fact reviewed in 1936 or what value, if any, they were to the Alien Property Custodian's office. In any event it would now appear that any statute of limitations has long since expired.

b7C

All of this material is contained in 6 file cabinets in the Records Section. It is not suitable for microfilming. It is obsolete and should be destroyed. Representatives of the Internal Security Section and also [redacted] agree that Dr. Alberts papers are no longer of any value to the Bureau. However, before Archival permission is requested to destroy these records it has been suggested that the Alien Property Custodian be asked if they desire the return of this material.

RECOMMENDATION:

If it is agreed that "Dr. Albert's papers" maybe disposed of by the Bureau, it is recommended that first the Alien Property Custodian be asked by letter if they have any further interest in these papers and in the event they have all of the material should be returned.

In view of their Historic Value They Should be Kept.

SYNOPSIS: Destruction of Bureau Records - General

Suggestion by supervisor of Routing Unit that Bureau File 62-0 (Miscellaneous General) be reviewed for purge purposes. Memo to Mr. Nichols 3-12-53
Re: Suggestion

SUGGESTION:

[redacted] in the attached has suggested that the general file (62-0 Miscellaneous General) be thoroughly reviewed and material found to be of no value removed. She states that this file has now grown to 126 sections made up of over 56,000 serials and that valuable space can be reclaimed by the logical and systematic removal of many hundred worthless items. b6 b7C

BACKGROUND:

File number 62-0 is the general correspondence file which houses material of a general nature that cannot be specifically identified with any investigation over which the Bureau has primary jurisdiction. As you know, each classification has an "0" file where nonspecific complaints are filed, but do at least refer to some aspect of the particular violation and thus can be identified with the "26-0", Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicle or Aircraft, "47-0", Impersonation, or some other specific classification. This is not the case in our "62-0" file, and because of the very nonspecific nature of the correspondence contained therein, this file bears the appropriate title of "Miscellaneous General."

DETAILS

A review of 3 sections of the file selected at random, revealed a volume of material that cannot possibly have any lasting value as an investigative aid. These serials include outdated newspaper clippings and correspondence that could be and would be destroyed under present policy. Thus, it appears that this file is a fertile field for purging and should be reviewed by one of the employees of our Consolidation Unit. It is believed that considerable space could be reclaimed by the purge and destruction of many nonspecific items included in this file.

Re: Suggestion

Bureau authority for the removal of the material in question is contained in the disposal schedule submitted to the Department of Justice by the Bureau on 10-10-50, listing 40 individual categories of material. Item number 6 quoted in part herewith, covers the material in question, "miscellaneous correspondence with the public as result of requests and inquiries generally of a routine nature and usually involving the supply of duplicated informative material to the inquirer." The Department of Justice approved the entire schedule by memorandum dated December 15, 1950. (66-3286-443)

Suggestion #135-53

Attached you will find Sections 1, 50 and 100 of the 62-0 file.

I have checked through these sections and find that the material therein seems to have very little information of value to the Bureau. Some of this material is over twenty-five years old. This file now comprises 126 sections of over 56,000 serials.

It is suggested that this file be thoroughly reviewed and material that would be considered of no value be removed. Since this material is now part of the official records of the Bureau, permission would have to be secured for its destruction. However, it appears from the spot check of the file that this would be worthwhile. It is possible, that after weeding out the non-valuable material this file could be reduced from the present 126 sections to 35 or even less. This would mean a saving of space in the Filing Unit, Numbering Unit, and Service Unit.

Re: Lever Act cases

We are maintaining 4 cabinets containing inactive and obsolete reports and related correspondence made or obtained by Special Agents of the Bureau of Investigation during the years 1919-1920 which pertain to investigations under the Lever Act. These investigations concerned profiteering on certain food items, sugar, coffee, etc.

In 1944, the Records Section recommended and received approval to destroy this material. A formal request was made of the Department to secure Archival authority to destroy them. The Department presented the matter informally to Archives, and Archives stated it desired to secure the records by accession as the records had a historical and research value. As the files contained confidential information and a formal request had not gone to Archives, the Bureau withdrew its request for authority to destroy these records.

Executive Conference approval 66-3286-12C

We are required to secure Archival and Congressional authority to microfilm records so that Archives can be assured that we are microfilming in accordance with standards established. It is not believed that Archives will interpose any objection or have the right to object to the destruction of these records after they have been placed on microfilm, due to their confidential nature, as long as the standards established by them are adhered to. We strictly adhere to these standards.

This material, as previously stated, is obsolete and as it is suitable for microfilming, it should be microfilmed in order to conserve space.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached memorandum to Mr. S. A. Andretta, Administrative Assistant Attorney General, requesting Archival authority to microfilm these records be approved.

[redacted] advised me that the National Archives had sent a memorandum to the Department of Justice, which had been given to Di Girolamo, in charge of the Records Section of the Department of Justice.

This memorandum contains a schedule of the items which can be destroyed by various agencies and sets up various proposals with reference to the destruction of Government records after a sufficient lapse of time.

[redacted] stated that this was in the nature of proposed legislation which he thought we might be interested in and that it contained an attachment of some 26 pages in length which related to the various schedules to be followed in connection with the destruction of records.

[redacted] wanted to know if we wanted to look at this copy. I advised him that we would appreciate knowing the Department's views concerning the proposal inasmuch as he had indicated to me that the entire matter related to the destruction of records on the part of the Government after the matter had been through judicial proceedings.

[redacted] was advised that the matter would be brought to the attention of our records section but that it appeared we ought to have an opinion from the Department as to whether or not they believed the proposed schedules were sound and in accordance with the Department's views.

SUBJECT: DISPOSITION OF SIGNED STATEMENTS IN FIELD OFFICE FILES TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-2-82 BY SP4ELW cal

Property of Bureau — Destroy Entire Memo

SYNOPSIS:

The question has arisen as to need for clarification of Bureau instructions pertaining to retention of signed statements in the field divisions when files over twenty-five years old are destroyed. By Bureau Bulletin of June 26, 1946, the field divisions were advised that files over twenty-five years old may be destroyed and set forth procedures for destruction, and same instructions included in Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 3(D) (7-a). SAC Letter #53-29 (I), dated April 28, 1953, reiterated existing Bureau instructions that signed statements should not be destroyed, but should be retained as an integral part of the case file. This SAC Letter raised the question as to signed statements in case files over twenty-five years old.

Request for permission to destroy closed field office files included statement that reports in files are duplicates of originals in permanent files at Seat of Government. Signed statements may be of value after twenty-five years in cases in which subjects may attempt to invalidate convictions to avoid deportation, to clear personal records and to avoid application of habitual offender laws. In noncriminal matters, cases may be reopened on grounds of fraud or interim incompetency of parties in interest.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. As signed statements taken in investigations may have value after a twenty-five year period, it is recommended that signed statements be retained even though the field division files to which they pertain are destroyed.

Conf. memo 7/15/53

Memorandum to Mr. Ladd

that the attached SAC Letter and proposed change in the Manual of Rules and Regulations be forwarded to the Training and Inspection Division for dissemination.

DETAILS:

Events Leading to Destruction of Files Twenty-Five Years Old:

By memorandum to Mr. S. A. Andretta, Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General, on January 29, 1946, National Archives Form #108 was transmitted, requesting permission to destroy closed field office files in which duplicate reports are on file at the Bureau.

By memorandum dated March 8, 1946, from Mr. Andretta, the Department advised that the Joint Committee on the Disposition of Executive Papers had approved the request (HR 1680, 79th Congress, 2nd Session). This procedure is in accordance with the law as set forth in Sections 366 to 380, Title 44, USCA.

The National Archives Form #108, mentioned above, described the files in question as follows:

> "Closed Files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Field Divisions containing duplicate copies of investigative reports covering violations of Federal Laws. Originals of these reports were filed in the permanent files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington, D. C. These closed files also contain original correspondence addressed to the Special Agent in Charge from United States Attorneys and Marshals, law enforcement officials and from the general public. This correspondence is not duplicated in our files, but is in the great majority of cases on record by having been made part of the various reports submitted, to be retained until case is closed. Sole record copies."

Memorandum to Mr. Ladd

Sections 366 to 380, Title 44, USCA, defines the word "records," empowers the National Archives Council to establish certain procedures pertaining to the disposal of records, submission by heads of Government agencies of lists of records to be disposed of and for the approval for destruction of the records by the Joint Congressional Committee. Also within these sections are covered matters of microfilming of records which is not pertinent to the subject matter of this memorandum.

Bureau Bulletin #35, Series 1946, (B), dated June 26, 1946, is quoted as follows:

> "Destruction of Closed Files -- All Bureau files in Field Divisions may be destroyed after they become 25 years old. At the present time all files predating the present Bureau Field file system instituted in April, 1925, shall be destroyed."
> "When files over 25 years old are destroyed the entire cards relating thereto shall be marked with a stamp stating 'The file destroyed - 1946.' This will make it possible at a later date to purge the entire card, while, in the meantime, they would be available to flag the Field Office beyond a 25-year period that information on a particular subject or subject matter was available at the Seat of Government from the original reports."

The Manual of Rules and Regulations (Section 3 (D) (7-a) incorporates the foregoing instructions as follows:

> "Files and records in field divisions may be destroyed after they become twenty-five years old. Keep at beginning each classification listing of files destroyed. Do not retain file fronts."

Bureau Bulletin #35, referred to above, was prepared by Inspector Carlson of the Training and Inspection Division, based on memorandum of March 13, 1946, reporting action of the Joint Committee and the Executives Conference in consideration of an employee's suggestion that files over twenty-five years of age be destroyed and that the system of stamping the index card be adopted. The recommendation of the Executives Conference was approved by the Director.

Concerning files at the Seat of Government, files twenty-five years old and in some instances not that old are being microfilmed at the present time. The file, of course, is destroyed after the microfilming has been completed.

Existing Instructions as to Retention of Signed Statements:

The question as to need of clarification of Bureau instructions relative to retention of signed statements was raised as a result of SAC Letter #53-29 (I), dated April 28, 1953, which restated instructions previously given in Bureau Bulletin #19 and the Manual of Instructions, as pointed out hereinafter. This SAC Letter was prepared by the Administrative Division in view of the fact that signed statements taken in 1935 in an antitrust case were discovered to have been destroyed in a field office during 1947 and these signed statements were desired for use in a current case.

Bureau Bulletin #19, Series 1948, (B), dated March 24, 1948, instructed that all signed statements be retained as a permanent and integral part of the investigative case file and the field offices should refrain from requesting the Bureau's authority to dispose of signed statements. The Bureau Bulletin referred to SAC Letter #15, dated January 26, 1948, Series 1948, which provided for the destruction of signed statements under prescribed conditions in investigation of War Labor Dispute Act cases and stated that Bureau Bulletin #19 did not alter instructions contained in SAC Letter #15.

Manual of Instructions (Section 2) (3) (K), page 18, which deals with the preparation of signed statements in Bureau investigations contains the provision "statements are an integral part of the investigative case file and cannot be destroyed without prior Bureau authority."

The problem of handling exhibits in cases was studied by the Training and Inspection Division and the results were set forth in two memoranda, Mr. Clegg to Mr. Tolson, dated February 13, 1953, and February 16, 1953. The study was made on the instructions of the Director that a study be made concerning the acquisition, maintenance and destruction in the Colepaugh-Gimpel case, and that information be set forth concerning the handling of exhibits generally in FBI cases.

It was stated that exhibits are of varied nature and when no longer needed as evidence should be disposed of. Disposition is effected by returning to owners, by court order when prosecution completed, by turning over to U. S. Marshal when the ownership is in doubt and the property has a value of less than $100, and by consultation with the Bureau in individual cases where the method of disposition appears to present individual problems. Disposition of many exhibits is effected by their introduction as evidence in court whereby they are then part of the court record and retained by the court.

With regard to the maintenance and disposition of exhibits no distinction is made between bulky exhibits and those retained in the 1-A envelope of the case file, except as to the physical size and quantity. The problem is one of convenience in maintenance. Any class of exhibit, so far as problems of disposition are concerned, can be either in the 1-A envelope or in bulky exhibits.

As a result of the Bureau policy of disposition of exhibits as soon as possible, consistent with the needs of the case, the file when twenty-five years old would likely contain as exhibits only such physically small items as signed statements, photographs and investigative notes.

Memoranda of February 13, 1953, and February 16, 1953, prepared by the Training and Inspection Division does not deal specifically with Bureau policy as to maintenance of signed statements.

With reference to accounting work papers, Section 4, page 10 (e), Manual of Rules and Regulations, provides that "work papers on which (accounting) report is based are to be filed in the office of the United States Attorney."

In cases in which a convicted individual has already completed his sentence, the signed statements may still become useful in a variety of situations despite a considerable lapse of time. Some of these situations are set out below.

1. Habitual Offender Laws - An individual may attempt to invalidate any previous conviction in order to avoid life imprisonment or other severe sentence imposed because of previous convictions.

2. Deportation Matters - An alien may attempt to invalidate any prior convictions to avoid deportation by reason of two felony convictions.

3. Restoration of Civil Rights - Efforts to invalidate any conviction may be made at any time.

To invalidate a prior conviction a previously convicted person may allege violation of rights such as time of arraignment, not properly represented by counsel or similar grounds. It is thought that convictions obtained in Federal as well as State Courts could be invalidated under application of present legal standards.

False Arrest Suits:

As statutes of limitations in the various jurisdictions are comparatively short as to the time in which tort actions must be brought, it is not believed the possibility of suits alleging false arrests is particularly pertinent to this problem. However, the retention of signed statements is desirable so far as such possibilities are considered.

Civil and Claims Cases

These cases can be reopened at any time, despite being res adjudicata for all other reasons, on allegations of fraud going to the original judgments. Statutory time limits for appeals and new trials, therefore, may be circumvented. An example of this is a suit involving the Singer Sewing Machine Company and the American Safety Table Company in which the Government entered as amicus curiae. The suit was reopened because of fraudulent actions involving the court itself in the person of the late J. Warren Davis, U. S. Court of Appeals Judge in the Third Circuit. Also there exists the possibility of reopening these cases because of an interim legal incompetency of a party in interest.

Memorandum to Mr. Ladd

OBSERVATIONS:

There exists a distinct possibility for the need of signed statements after a twenty-five year period. Signed statements, particularly confessions, may be the best remaining evidence in a case. Although signed statements are incorporated into investigative reports, it would be preferable to have the original statement rather than introducing into evidence the entire report under the best evidence rule. This points out the desirability of permanent retention of signed statements.

DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS

Bureau Records - General

During the fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1953, this Bureau destroyed 2382.47 cubic feet of records at the Seat of Government. It is to be noted that the volume of records destroyed by our field divisions is not available at this time. However, as required by the Federal Records Act of 1950, this additional information will be set forth in the Annual Statistical Summary of Records Holdings of this Bureau which will be furnished you in the near future.

7-22-53
ADDENDUM:

The information on the attached list is furnished to the Department at the end of each fiscal year. Mr. Di Giralomo of the Department's record section has advised that he needs the schedule of records destroyed at the Seat of Government prior to the time the schedule of records destroyed in the divisional offices will be available. It is accordingly being furnished to him at this time.

Mr. Nichols,

Mr. Waikart has been discussing the possibility of destroying the attached yellow copies instead of sending them to file as is presently done. You will note from the attached routing slip from Mr. Davidson that Mr. Glavin suggested that this matter be discussed at the Executives Conference. He indicated that he would vote for the destruction of Group #1 which instructs Agents to report to the Seat of Government for training but would not vote in favor of not retaining Group #2 which includes wires concerning cancellations and substitutions for training classes. It might be possible on substitutions to retain ticklers and make any notations necessary on the yellow copy of the memorandum which indicated that the training has been completed. In any event, it would be very helpful to us to have Group #1 not retained.

By memorandum dated 11-3-49 Mr. Medler pointed out that there was maintained in the Filing Unit of the Records Section two 4 drawer file cabinets of enclosures which were considered to be obscene. It was his recommendation that a Supervisor in Crime Records review the material to determine whether it had any research value and that the Laboratory examine the remainder, looking to its ultimate disposal or destruction. By pen notation the Laboratory advised that as far as they were concerned the material could be destroyed. Mr. Suttler was designated by Mr. Jones to review the material for Crime Records, "66-3286-390."

During Mr Harbo's inspection of Records Section, (1951) Mr. Flanagan made a recommendation that the material stored in the cabinet be analyzed with a view towards the disposal of it. Your comments were that since that date a representative of Crime Records Section has been reviewing the material, as time permitted during his regular work, that many enclosures had been destroyed, and that in line with the Inspectors recommendation the material was being destroyed and that the project would be expedited.

I wish to point out at this time that subsequent to the date I took over as Night Supervisor there have been a total of ten enclosures destroyed: two additional enclosures were returned to the cabinets because the cases were still pending. At the present time there are no enclosures charged to Crime Records for reviewing in line with our policy of destruction.

RECOMMENDATION:

None: for your information.

JNO:dbb

Since this material has no further value it would be a waste of time for a Supervisor in Crime Records to review and it should be destroyed by Burning.

Now being reviewed for destruction, ka

SUBJECT: QUARTERLY INTELLIGENCE SUMMARY

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-2-82 BY SP4 EL/

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - General

During the period from November 15, 1940, to August 15, 1945, the Bureau prepared quarterly intelligence summaries which were disseminated to the field offices and to outside agencies. During this period, 18 quarterly summaries were prepared and disseminated, consisting of from one to four volumes each.

Three copies of the summaries were furnished to each field office with the exception of Anchorage, Buffalo, Honolulu, Kansas City, Memphis, Omaha, San Juan, Springfield and St. Paul, which offices received only one copy.

SAC Letter No. 54 (D) dated March 5, 1946, authorized the field offices to destroy all copies of the quarterly intelligence summaries excepting one copy of each issue. This should permanently remain on file.

There is attached herewith a memorandum from the San Diego Office dated June 30, 1953, which advises that copies retained by the San Diego Office take up one entire four-drawer file cabinet. The San Diego Office further advises that inasmuch as these intelligence summaries have very little practical value, authorization be granted the San Diego Office to destroy the remaining intelligence summaries by burning.

A check with the Records Division revealed that the Bureau is presently maintaining a complete set of these intelligence summaries in Bureau file 66-8720 and five additional sets of these summaries are maintained as bulky exhibits to the file. On November 4, 1950, a memorandum was prepared from Mr. M. A. Jones to Mr. Nichols indicating that a set of the Quarterly intelligence summaries maintained in the Bureau's Library was taking up valuable space in the Library and inasmuch as there had been no calls for same, permission was given to have these copies maintained in the Library destroyed. This was done on November 9, 1950.

RECOMMENDATION:

Inasmuch as the San Diego Office finds very little practical use for these summaries which are now at least 8 years old, it is believed authorization should be granted to destroy same. If you agree, there is attached herewith a letter to the San Diego Office so authorizing.

Inasmuch as the San Diego Office finds these old quarterly intelligence summaries to be of very little practical value and inasmuch as a set of same takes up one entire four-drawer file cabinet, it is believed that all of the field offices should be instructed to consider the practical value of these intelligence summaries and destroy same if the particular office does not find them of any practical value today. If you agree, there is attached herewith a proposed SAC Letter for your approval.

We have stored on the seventh floor of the Identification Building forty-three folders of field office publications occupying two file cabinets. These publications were printed during the war years by several of the field offices and contains news items of interest concerning field office personnel, etc. These publications were sent to the Records Section for storage in March, 1949, by the Bureau library. SUBJECT: CLOSED FILES IN CLASSIFICATION 81 (GOLD HOARDING)

Destruction of Bureau Property

This office has recently stepped up its program of consolidating closed files where appropriate and destroying those files over 25 years old. During the course of this program, we have been alert to uncover any additional procedures which might effect a saving in space. It is to be noted that the 81 classification is obsolete, and that very few, if any, calls are made to check references in this classification. It has been determined that there are five file drawers of closed 81 cases. A survey has been made to determine how much it would cost to microfilm these closed files. There are approximately 24,000 pages to be microfilmed. The estimated cost of film for this job would be $177.60. It is estimated that the total cost for man hours used would be approximately $240.00. The total cost of the entire job amounts to $417.60.

The cost of labor, however, should be considered in the light of the fact that the work would be performed by our own employees in the Photographic Laboratory. These men would not, of course, receive any additional remuneration for this type of service, and would handle it along with their other duties. In fact, it is believed that we would be able to perform this microfilm project without utilizing any additional personnel whatsoever.

The Bureau is requested to advise whether this office may microfilm the above-captioned cases.

The New York office in the attached letter has requested permission to microfilm five file drawers of Gold Hoarding cases which they state are obsolete and to which they have had little, if any, reference at a cost of $417.60. This cost appears rather excessive as our experience in microfilming indicates the total cost would be slightly less than $240.00.

As the New York office would only gain one 5 drawer cabinet, which today costs approximately $63.00, it would not appear beneficial to expend $417.60 to regain one cabinet.

We have Archival and Congressional authority to destroy closed field office files at any time (66-3286-214X), yet Bureau policy requires these files to be retained twenty-five years.

The Bureau had jurisdiction on the Gold Reserve Act of 1934 from August 28, 1933 to January 31, 1935 at which time the Department advised that the U.S. Secret Service would have jurisdiction (81-1-178).

As the Bureau has not had jurisdiction on violations of this Act for eighteen years, and the originals of reports are filed at the Bureau, there appears to be no objection to the New York office being given outright authority to destroy these files. Of course, this would be an exception to the twenty-five year retention rule, yet a reasonable one when it is considered we have not had jurisdiction in this classification for eighteen years.

RECOMMENDATION:

That if the Investigative Division concurs the attached letter, authorizing the New York office to destroy its closed Gold Hoarding files (81 Classification), be approved.

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU RECORDS - gen.
DISPOSAL OF RECORDS

The Executives Conference, consisting of Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Belmont, Ladd, Clegg, Gearty, Holloman, Mohr, and Nichols, considered the following situation.

The Records Section has eleven file cabinets containing material on the American Protective League. This material consists of a 5 x 8 index on badge holders, numerous badges, a short personal history on each individual, miscellaneous records and books the League apparently collected, and one drawer of various letters and post cards. No record can be found in the files concerning the receipt of this material; however, Mrs. Mae C. Bartley of the Classifying Unit recalls they were turned over to the Bureau of Investigation after the organization was disbanded.

The American Protective League was an organization formed in March, 1917 by private individuals for patriotic purposes, to work under the direction of the Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Justice, for the purpose of assisting the Government in securing information on the activities of agents of foreign governments, persons unfriendly to the Government, and for the protection of public property, etc. The members received no pay, and when the emergency passed, Congress made no provisions for benefits or pensions, as the members were not employees of the Government. The American Protective League was disbanded in 1919.

On February 16, 1953, the Executives Conference authorized the Chicago Office to forward approximately three thousand American Protective League badges, which a former officer of the League had found stored in a basement, to the Bureau for disposition. These badges were returned to the Department of Justice.

While the foregoing records are of no contemporary value to the Bureau, they are of historical significance, and at periodic intervals in the past, questions have arisen which have necessitated checking these records.

It was the unanimous recommendation of the Conference that rather than destroy the records, since they are not original records

SYNOPSIS:

Mr. Tolson's approval is being requested to retain ticklers for more than 60 days in important Antitrust, Fraud Against the Government, Bribery, Administrative Inquiry, Obstruction of Justice, Veterans Administration Matters, Anti-Racketeering and in Selective Service cases wherein requests are made for investigation in foreign countries, as well as reference and policy material. Only ticklers containing pertinent background data and more important memoranda are desired to be retained to give a "bird's eye" view of the case. Supervision of case is from file, not tickler.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that this memorandum be forwarded to Mr. Tolson's office in order for approval to be obtained for retention of the ticklers listed for more than a 60 day period.

ADMINISTRATIVE INQUIRY (FORMERLY MISCONDUCT IN OFFICE)

Peyton Ford, et al

MISCELLANEOUS - Chelf Committee Reports

Permission is requested to retain ticklers on the aforementioned cases for a period in excess of 60 days because of frequent inquiries which are received for information concerning these cases. Inasmuch as the files are located in the Identification Building, it would result in unnecessary delay in answering these inquiries if the ticklers were not retained. The cases are supervised from the files and not ticklers.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

It is necessary for the Selective Service Desk to request numerous investigations in foreign countries. With few exceptions the results are not received within a period of 60 days. In inaccessible regions the results are not available for upwards of six months. These ticklers are destroyed upon receipt of the information requested and the ticklers are only used to follow the requests for investigation. The file is checked before a follow-up is sent.

POLICY AND REFERENCE FOLDERS

The various supervisors in this section retain policy and reference folders for use in the operation of their desk. The policy folders contain copies of memoranda showing the development of the policy in a particular instance or the actual policy to be followed in the operation of the desk. Reference material includes writeups prepared for the Administrative Division to use in preparation of the Bureau's annual budget, material prepared for the Crime Records Section for use in preparation of the annual report and other items necessary for the efficient operation of the desk.

Memorandum to Mr. [illegible]

This material, while it is a copy of an item previously submitted, is not retained as a tickler to follow a particular matter, but is retained solely for future reference.

GENERAL

The afore-mentioned cases wherein permission is requested to retain ticklers, are followed from the file. The ticklers that are retained are not complete and actually duplicates of the file. Only ticklers containing pertinent background data and more important memoranda are retained. These are necessary to give a "bird's eye" view of a case in the event inquiries are received.

ACTION

If this is approved by Mr. Tolson we will hold the above ticklers for a period in excess of 60 days. The necessity of destroying ticklers after a 60 day period is fully appreciated and every effort is being made to comply with this policy. These cases will again be reviewed in October, 1953, and another memorandum submitted.

From: [redacted] Suggestion #4/2 [illegible]

Field Office or Division NORFOLK

SUGGESTION: DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU RECORDS - [illegible]

b6
b7C

All offices receive periodically from the Bureau a tabulation consisting of some 40 pages entitled, "Bureau Employees Who Have Left for Military Service." These are filed in an administrative file and serve as a basis for making contact with these former employees, either in person or by letter. As new lists are received, the old ones serve no purpose. For this reason, [redacted] has suggested that the Field be authorized to destroy their old lists upon receipt of a new one.

Its advantages are:

The advantages of this would, of course, be in saving filing space since the lists over a period of time do take up quite a bit of filing space.

b6

It should save at least $_____ annually. Unable to estimate.

The use by the United States of my suggestion shall not form the basis of a further claim of any nature by me, my heirs, or assigns upon the United States.

Reference is also made to Bureau Bulletin #19 (B), Series 1948, dated March 24, 1948, which instructs the field offices to retain signed statements and maintain them as a permanent and integral part of the investigative case file to which the statements relate.

When files 25 years old are destroyed, the signed statements taken in connection with the case may also be destroyed.

These instructions, however, do not apply to an important investigation or case, the file of which may be 25 years or older. Good judgment must be exercised and the file relative to an important case or case having many ramifications should not be destroyed. If there is any question along these lines, advice from the Bureau should be obtained.

Appropriate change in the Manual of Rules and Regulations is being distributed.

AMERICAN PROTECTIVE LEAGUE

The American Protective League was an organization formed in March, 1917, by private individuals for patriotic purposes, to work under the direction of the Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Department of Justice, for the purpose of assisting the Government in securing information on the activities of agents of foreign governments, persons unfriendly to the Government, and for the protection of public property, etc. The members received no pay, and when the emergency passed, Congress made no provisions for benefits or pensions, as the members were not employees of the Government. The American Protective League was disbanded in 1919.

This Bureau has approximately eleven file cabinets containing material on the League. This material consists of a 5 X 8 index on badge holders, numerous badges, a short personal history on each individual, miscellaneous records and books the League apparently collected, and one drawer of various letters and post cards. This material was turned over to the Bureau of Investigation after the organization was disbanded.

These records have no contemporary value to this Bureau but since they undoubtedly have historical significance, it is believed the National Archives may want to secure these records by accession.

Accordingly if you agree it is suggested that these records be made available to the National Archives.

Inasmuch as the Bureau has not had jurisdiction on violations of the Gold Reserve Act of 1934 since January 31, 1935, and the estimated cost to microfilm is rather high when it is considered that a five drawer file cabinet can be purchased for $63.00, it is felt that the best economy can be effected by the outright destruction of these files at this time. Accordingly, you may destroy all files referred to in referenced letter. You should advise the Bureau when these files have been destroyed, and the amount of cabinet space reacquired.

Destruction of Bureau Records-Instr.

At the present time, the Bureau's Publications File has on hand copies of the following publications:

1. "Ammunition" - monthly magazine of the United Automobile Workers of America - CIO; copies from 1943 to 1948.

2. "The American Federationist" - monthly publication of the American Federation of Labor; copies from 1943 to 1953.

3. "Crisis" - monthly publication of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; copies from 1924 to 1949.

4. "The American Exporter" - a monthly trade magazine dealing with export-import matters; copies during 1941.

5. "Bulletins From Britain" - weekly publication issued by the British Government during World War II; copies from 1939 to 1942.

None of these publications are primarily political in nature and none of them have any value from an intelligence or reference standpoint. They are not indexed, and in the unlikely event that they are ever needed, all are available at the Congressional Library.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the space problem faced by the Publications File, it is recommended that authority be given to destroy its file of the above-named periodicals.

The Bureau's Publications File presently has on file a series of transcripts of official foreign broadcasts made during the wartime period 1941-1943. This material, which is in the form of mimeographed daily bulletins, was issued by the Federal Communications Commission during the war and is entitled "Daily Digest of Official Short Wave Broadcasts Beamed to North America from Germany, Italy, Great Britain, the USSR, China, France and Japan."

None of this material is indexed and, since it consists wholly of routine propaganda broadcasts by the nations enumerated, it is of no current value either from an intelligence or from a reference standpoint. The material occupies eight full file drawers or two file cabinets of Publications File space.

RECOMMENDATION:

Inasmuch as this material is serving no useful purpose at the present time and has no potential value for the future, it is recommended that the Records Section be allowed to destroy this material. It may be noted that the Publications File is presently confronted with a pressing space problem.

During the war when the SIS Division was in existence additional abstracts were prepared on green paper for the purpose of having an index reflecting Political, Economic, Social, Military, Naval, Smuggling Matters, etc. contained in correspondence filed alphabetically by country. For example, if mail contained information regarding the political situation as well as economic information on Peru, two green abstracts were prepared. One bore the caption PERU-POLITICAL and the other, PERU-ECONOMIC. These abstracts were filed alphabetically by country and by subject matters, and are duplicates of the white and blue abstracts.

The abstracts are old and receive no use today. They have not been used in many years. They occupy 130 index drawers which can be utilized elsewhere in the Records Section. Miss Evelyn V. Brooks has previously made a suggestion recommending that these abstracts be microfilmed inasmuch as they no longer are of value and the information is somewhat out-dated.

It is believed that no useful purpose can be gained by microfilming these abstracts. They should be destroyed in view of the fact that the correspondence can be readily located by a search of the alphabetical abstracts.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Domestic Intelligence Division authorize the destruction of the SIS abstracts.

FM RADIO STATION LOGS

DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - Gen

Reference is made to the attached letter from Birmingham suggesting that the FM station logs be destroyed on an annual basis when the last serial becomes one year old.

BACKGROUND

Since existing Bureau policy has been to retain copies of various forms for a period of one year and destroy them after that time on a monthly basis, this same policy was applied to the FM station instruction manual when it was written. Insofar as the Radio section is concerned there is no preferred length of time for the log forms to be retained nor preferred time for destruction other than compliance with what was understood to be a general over-all Bureau policy.

ACTION

Since the attached letter is in the form of a suggestion, in accordance with your instructions, it isrecommended the letter be referred to the Bureau Suggestion Committee for appropriate action. It would appe r that the factors leading to the original policy of monthly destruction of material on an annual basis would apply here. However, as indicated above the only recommendation which we wish to make is that general Bureau policy apply.

S. 2505,
EIGHTY-THIRD CONGRESS,
FIRST SESSION - DESTRUCTION OF Bureau Property

Reference is made to your memorandum dated August 10, 1953, which requested my views concerning S. 2505, Eighty-third Congress, First Session, which is a bill to amend the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended, and for other purposes.

The bill would provide the following:

That during a state of war or when hostile action appears imminent, the head of any federal agency may authorize the destruction of any records in his custody that cannot otherwise be effectively disposed of under statutory provisions when the retention of such records, in US establishments outside of the United States or, in the case of records within the United States, when the retention of such records would imperil the security of the United States.

That during the existence of a state of war or when hostile action appears imminent, the head of any federal agency may authorize the destruction of any records, books, maps, photographs, documents, papers, or written or printed material pertaining to Government contracts and required to be retained in the custody of any person when their retention would imperil the security of the United States.

That the head of each federal agency by regulation shall, in the interest of economy and efficiency, authorize the destruction of such war contract records, notwithstanding provisions in individual contracts to the contrary, at any time from three years after disposition of termination inventory or three years after final settlement of such war contract. Such regulation may include provision for making and retaining of photographs or microphotographs which would have the same force and effect as the originals thereof and would be treated as originals for the purpose admissibility in evidence.

In so far as the FBI is concerned, there appear no objections to the provisions of the bill concerning destruction of records, etc., during wartime or when hostile action appears imminent and such destruction cannot be made in accordance with exidting statutory provisions.

The provisions of the bill pertaining to the destruction of war contract records do not contemplate the period of hostility and provide that the head of the federal agency destroying such records may provide for microphotographs of the records. You may wish to consider the fact that such war contract records might be needed for evidentiary purposes subsequent to the three-year period and whether microphotographs thereof would suffice.

The Bureau's Publications File presently has on file a number of issues of Pravda, official organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, dating from September, 1943, to June, 1950. The New York Office formerly subscribed to this publication and furnished copies to the Bureau for translation. However, by letter dated August 17, 1950, the Bureau instructed New York to discontinue this subscription inasmuch as we now have available the Current Digest of the Soviet Press, containing translations of the leading articles in Pravda, as well as all other Soviet journals and newspapers. (61-2543-83)

Pravda is written in the Russian language and the old copies of this newspaper currently maintained by Publications would seem to have no present or future value for the Bureau, either from an intelligence or reference standpoint. However, in the event this publication were ever needed, the Library of Congress has a complete set of issues which could easily be obtained. The issues of Pravda retained by Publications are not indexed.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the foregoing and in view of the fact that Publications File has a definite space problem, it is suggested that the Records Section be authorized to destroy the back issues of Pravda now kept by the Bureau. This move would effect a savings of four full file drawers of Publications File space.

The Publications File presently maintains copies of the newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the Soviet Government, from October 3, 1940, to June 30, 1950. This newspaper, which is in Russian, was formerly furnished to the Bureau by the New York Office. Occasional articles were translated into English; however, in general the publication had little practical value for the Bureau.

By letter dated August 17, 1950, the Bureau directed New York to discontinue the purchase and submission of Izvestia. This letter pointed out that the Bureau now has available the Current Digest of the Soviet Press as a guide to articles of possible interest in Izvestia and, consequently, the latter publication was no longer being translated by the Bureau. (100-341761-30)

Inasmuch as a complete set of Izvestia issues is maintained by the Library of Congress in the event that a review of this publication ever becomes necessary, and inasmuch as this newspaper is no longer serving any useful function to the Bureau, it is recommended that the Records Section be allowed to destroy its copies or turn them over to the Library of Congress if the latter institution desires them.

If this move is authorized, the Publications File, which has a pressing space problem on its hands, would thereby save four full file drawers or one cabinet. The Izvestia copies maintained by Publications File are not indexed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Records Section be authorized to destroy its copies of the 1940-1950 issues of Izvestia, unless it is determined that the Library of Congress desires this material.

The Bureau's Publications File is presently maintaining copies of the Baltimore "Afro-American," Negro daily newspaper published at Baltimore, Maryland, for a continuous period from May, 1942, to December, 1944. No issues subsequent to 1944 are on file.

This newspaper is an independent Negro publication which, while strongly championing Negro rights, is in no way affiliated with the Communist Party or any Communist front organization. Back copies of this newspaper dating 1942-1944 have no current intelligence or reference value for the Bureau and are rarely, if ever, referred to by Bureau supervisors. The publication has not been indexed. A complete set of "Afro-American" issues is available at the Congressional Library.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is therefore recommended that the Records Section be directed to destroy its 1942-1944 files of the "Afro-American," thereby effecting a saving of three full file drawers of Publications File space. This would help materially in solving the pressing space problem now faced by the Publications Unit.

The Bureau's Publications File presently retains practically a complete set of the now-defunct daily newspaper PM, which was published from 1940 to 1948. As you know, PM was a decidedly left wing publication whose editorial policies frequently coincided with the Communist Party line and whose staff was heavily infiltrated by Communist Party members and sympathizers. There were a number of references to the FBI in PM, often of a critical nature, and the publication was therefore of considerable interest to Bureau officials while it was in existence.

Despite the foregoing, however, there seems to be no reason for the Publications File to retain its file of PM, which takes up eight file drawers or two full file cabinets of space. A complete set of PM issues is available at the Congressional Library if this publication is ever desired for review, and it may be presumed that all pertinent individual articles from the newspaper have been clipped and filed in appropriate case files. The copies maintained by Publications are not indexed. It may be noted that PM has not been cited as a subversive publication by the Attorney General or by any recognized legislative committee.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the pressing space problem confronting Publications File at the present time, and in view of the fact that copies of PM can be secured through the Library of Congress if they are ever needed, it is recommended that Publications be authorized to destroy its old copies of this newspaper.

A good idea. BMS

Destruction of Bureau Property - Serial

The Bureau's Publications File presently retains copies of the weekly publication Editor and Publisher from June, 1945, to September, 1951. The Bureau has a current subscription to this magazine for the benefit of the Crime Records Section, which has found it of invaluable assistance in maintaining current mailing lists. (94-3-4-25-131). However, Crime Records merely reviews each new issue of the magazine and then destroys it without filing.

It is recommended that Publications File be allowed to destroy its old copies of this magazine dating from 1945 to 1951. These back issues are rarely, if ever, referred to either by Crime Records or by other sections at the Bureau. However, if necessary, they could easily be obtained through the Congressional Library which has a complete set of the publication. The back issues presently maintained by Publications are not indexed.

If this suggestion is approved, Publications File would thereby effect a saving of three full file drawers of space.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Publications File be allowed to destroy its copies of Editor and Publisher dating from 1945 to 1951.

Destruction of Bureau Property - Dept

A recent review of the Publications File reveals that this unit has on file a number of outdated, foreign language publications dealing with criminology, penology, criminal law, sociology, criminal psychology, and similar topics of a nonsubversive and strictly academic nature.

A large part of this material consists of official publications of various South American governments (written in Spanish or Portuguese) during the 1930's or early 1940's. A typical example is the "Archivos de Medicina Legal E Identificacao," an official publication of the Brazilian Director of Prisons during the period 1937-1940. However, some of the material is not South American in origin but is Japanese, German, French, etc.

None of this material is indexed in the general indices and none of it has even been translated, except that in some instances the table of contents has been translated. It does not appear that this literature has any current value, or any future potential usefulness, to the Bureau.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Records Section be allowed to destroy this material, thereby helping materially to solve the pressing space problem confronting the Publications File. It is estimated that approximately 20 file drawers or five full file cabinets could be saved if this move is approved.

I think this material should be destroyed.

[redacted] Supervisor General Index Unit, has suggested through [redacted] General Index Unit representative on the Records Section Streamlining Committee, that cards five years or more old relating to liquor in the National Stolen Property Index be destroyed.

There are approximately 5000 index cards in this portion of the National Stolen Property Index contained in four drawers. The majority of the cards are filed by a Federal Strip Stamp Number; others are filed by barrel or case number. Very few cards have been added to the index since 1948, and very little use has been made of the liquor portion of the National Stolen Property Index since that time. The four drawers accupied by these cards represent a cabinet cost of approximately $25. This does not include maintenance cost.

RECOMMENDATION:

1. That the cards in the National Stolen Property Index five or more years old relating to liquor be destroyed. The remaining cards should be consolidated into the miscellaneous portion of the index.

2. That this be referred to the Training and Inspection Division for review and acknowledgment to [redacted]

Closed investigative files now may be destroyed in the field offices when they become 25 years old, under a schedule reflected in the National Archives Form #108. Many files could be destroyed sooner without harm. It is suggested that consideration be given to the following schedule for destruction:

(A) To be destroyed when they have become 15 years old:

(1) Security Matter files predating World War II, and including World War II, except Espionage and all Communist, satellite, and related Security Matter - C and R files.

(2) General Criminal Investigative files, except those in which the subjects have received sentences extending beyond the 15-year period.

(B) To be destroyed after 5 years:

(1) Unknown subject files in Criminal cases could generally be destroyed in 5 years since the statute of limitations would usually have run, and in the majority of cases witnesses and even evidence necessary for conviction will have disappeared within that time.

Each file to be considered for destruction would have to be reviewed to determine whether it contained material which should be retained, since material of permanent value would be saved.

Prior to destruction of any file, an informative index card must be prepared containing sufficient identifying data concerning the subject of the file to be able to readily identify the case, should it be necessary for a field office to call upon the Bureau for a resume of the file. This card would then reflect the fact that the file had been destroyed and would serve as notification that the Bureau files contained information concerning the subject.

Fifteen years is considered preferable to 10 since too many exceptions would be necessary under a 10-year schedule.

Space in field offices is already a pressing problem. It is getting more pressing each year and, since the General Services Administration must reduce the amount of leased space by several million square feet this fiscal year, it would seem that consideration should be given as to whether the FBI can release any space. Each year we are accumulating more files in the field. Already some field offices are requesting authority to microfilm old files.

According to the National Archives Authority we can legally destroy field files at any time inasmuch as the originals of the field files are on hand in Washington. The present Bureau policy is to destroy field files after they have been closed at least 25 years. The thought occurs that perhaps we should arrange to destroy criminal and applicant files in the field after ten years and thus save a considerable volume of space.

In early 1950, a survey was made of the field and at that time eight offices favored destroying criminal and applicant files after they became ten years old while the remainder of the offices were opposed to the idea. During that same survey 18 offices favored destroying these files (excluding security) after 15 years while the remainder of the offices were opposed. Since then we have had thousands of cases opened and it has been necessary for many of our offices to request more and more space.

Since the General Services Administration will have to give up some space this fiscal year, the pressure probably will ultimately be put on us to reduce space holdings. In some offices while space cannot be given up the destruction of files will provide needed working space for FBI employees. It is believed that some consideration should be given to ascertaining whether the Executives Conference would agree to another survey of the field as to the advantages and disadvantages attendant to destroying field files after ten years or after 15 years. files I have in mind are the general criminal and applicant files excluding crime survey files and, or course, only cases which have been closed throughout the specified period. (I think we should keep security files.)

The alternatives are to keep asking for more space or to have our offices get more crowded. At the same time it will be necessary to keep hiring more employees to keep the files in good shape, search indices on the files, etc. I do not think the destruction of the files will seriously impair our name check program inasmuch as we now point out that a reliable check can only be made through Bureau files in Washington.

The Executives Conference of August 13, 1953, consisting of Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Rosen, Gearty, Sizoo and Mason considered the question as to whether a survey should be made by obtaining the views of SACs as to the possibility of disposing of certain closed field files in less than 25 years. The current rule is that field files may be disposed of after they have been closed for 25 years.

It was proposed that a survey be made to see if closed files in Criminal and Applicant categories only could be destroyed by field offices after the files had been closed 10 years, or after the files had been closed for 15 years. The purpose of the proposal was to make available additional working space in field offices or to possibly present an opportunity to give up small amounts of existing field office space.

A survey was made in 1950 and at that time only 8 SACs favored destroying Criminal or Applicant files after they had been closed 10 years. When the question was presented as to whether Criminal and Applicant files should be destroyed after they have been closed 15 years a total of 18 SACs were found to be in favor.

Since then we have accumulated additional thousands of files, some of our offices have become crowded and it has become necessary to obtain additional space and it was presented to the Conference that possibly through making a survey by means of an SAC Letter, we would find the opportunity of saving space, saving the employees who are now required to maintain the files, speed up searching time in the field because fewer cards will be in the index, and still not impair our name check program inasmuch as it is generally understood that a complete name search can be made only in Washington.

Legally, we can destroy field files whenever we wish inasmuch as the National Archives Authority recognizes that the originals of field files are on hand at the Seat of Government. Consequently, Archives has no objection to destroying field files.

The majority of the Conference, Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Belmont, Ladd, Rosen, Gearty and Sizoo were opposed to making a survey. Those opposed to the survey pointed out that a previous survey of the field was made at which time only eight Special Agents in Charge favored destroying Criminal or Applicant files after they had been closed ten years, and all of the other Special Agents in Charge were opposed. Therefore, it was felt there was no need for an additional survey of the field.

Further, those opposed felt that the field offices would have need to refer to these old files too often and also that the space saved would be negligible compared to the amount and time of clerical help which would be necessary to carry out such a program, and they, therefore, felt that the present rule requiring the destruction of field office files after twenty-five years should remain in force.

The minority, Mr. Mason, felt that such a survey should be made.

No action to effect such a survey will be made unless the Director so instructs.

Respectfully,
For the Conference

DESTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE MATERIAL

There is contained in the Bureau's Library volumes which are felt to be obsolete at the present time, and it is going to be recommended that they be destroyed. These volumes were made up in Mr. Gauthier's section and contain black acco binders with silver lettering. They are too bulky to send with this memorandum and are being retained in Agent Suttler's office for disposal.

The titles of these brochures or books are as follows:

1. Court Rooms Photographs Saboteur Trial.
2. Charts-National Defense Investigations.
3. Documentary Evidence of Axis Espionage in Argentina.
4. Charts-National Defense Investigations.
5. This volume shows the National penetration in South America, Nazi activities in Latin America, as well as the Nazi military, economic and intelligent activities in South America.
5. An album of photographs dealing with the visit of Jorge Hernandez Mendez and Rodrigo Mendez Soto during the course of their visit to the FBI in 1943. (two copies)
6. Western Venezuela Oil Production.
7. Charts-Latin America showing strategic war materials, Axis concentration areas, Axis communications, Axis Nationals. (two copies)
8. A photograph album depicting the visit of Plinio Brasil Milano to the FBI in 1943.
9. Charts-National Defense Investigations covering the Republic of Columbia and the Panama Canal and showing the Nazi concentration in those areas.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

okd by SAH

1. It is recommended that the photograph albums on Mendez Soto, and Milano be given to SAC Hank Sloan for the files at Quantico, as many of the pictures shown in the photograph albums deal with Quantico scenes.

SAH says keep

2. It is recommended that all the charts dealing with various aspects of Nazi activities and National Defense Investigations in South America be destroyed. Mr. Gauthier concurs in this recommendation.

The writer and [redacted] Payroll Supervisor, b6 b7C made a personal survey of the payroll records maintained in the Identification Division Building on September 1, 1953.

These records are maintained on the 6th floor and in the storage area on the 7th floor. They consist primarily of out-of-service pay jackets, machine accounting payroll and bond listings, time and attendance reports, GAO audit copies of payrolls and payroll cards.

GSA has set up a schedule covering retention and destruction of certain records and the following applies to payroll records maintained by this Bureau.

TIME AND ATTENDANCE REPORTS - may be destroyed 2 years after audit on authority of GAO. GAO audit copies of payrolls and related documents maintained for 10 years.

PAYROLL CARDS - No schedule for destruction of payroll cards has been set up and therefore, they must be maintained for an indefinite period or transferred to a Federal record center when they are no longer of use to the Bureau.

GSA has no regulations covering out-of-service pay jackets which are administrative files maintained by the Payroll Section and machine accounting copies of payroll and bond listings which are merely used by the Payroll Section for checking purposes. Therefore, the above two categories of records can be destroyed whenever they have served their purpose.

Inspection of the payroll material maintained in the Ident Building reflects there are approximately 77 four and five drawer cabinets stored there. Approximately 15 four drawer and 9 five drawer cabinets contain out-of-service pay jackets and machine accounting listings which are no longer of any value to the Payroll Section and which need not be retained.

ENCLOSURE

RECORDED-1 66-3286-545 EX-124 SEP 21 1953

[redacted] the records section employee, in charge of these records was advised that the above material could be destroyed and he stated this would be done, thereby making available space for 24 additional cabinets. In addition to the above, there are approximately 53 cabinets containing time and attendance reports, payroll cards and General Accounting Office audit copies of payrolls and related documents. None of this material can be destroyed at this time.

memo to Mr. Glavin
9-22-53

You will recall that we received authority from GAO in February of this year to destroy time and attendance records for the years 1948 and 1949. All time and attendance records since that time must be maintained until 2 years after audit by GAO. We will, therefore, not be able to destroy any additional records until December 1954. This matter will be followed by the Payroll Unit and recommendations concerning destruction of these records will be submitted at that time.

During the course of this survey it was noted that there were numerous cabinets stored in the Identification Building which contained leave records, material relating to budget matters, and material stored by the Legislative Unit of this Division. It is possible that some of this material is no longer of value and could be destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION

I recommend that the Supervisors handling leave, budget matters and the Legislative Unit survey the material they have stored in the Ident Building and submit recommendations as to what part of it, if any, may be destroyed.

Reference is made to the attached memorandum to you dated September 2, 1953, wherein it was reported that there is maintained a number of file cabinets with material relating to leave, budget and legislative matters. It was recommended that the supervisors of the above units survey the material that is stored in the Identification Building for the purpose of determining if some of the material can be destroyed.

This is to advise that the Leave and the Legislative Units have reviewed the material maintained by the Records and Communications Division in the Identification Building and have instructed [redacted], who supervises these files, to destroy those files which are obsolete. Due to the pressure of other matters, Mr. Jackson of the Budget Unit has not had an opportunity to review the files maintained in the Identification Building and will do so within the near future and instruct [redacted] to destroy any files that are obsolete.

Destruction of Bureau Property - Gen

There is attached hereto, a partial list of bulky enclosures presently being maintained in the Filing Unit of the Records Section. Inasmuch as the majority of these enclosures pertain to inactive cases, will serve no further useful purpose by being retained, and are occupying badly needed filing space, it is requested that you have the appropriate substantive Supervisor review these bulky enclosures and render a decision as to the retention or disposition of the material contained therein. If it is decided that the material should be destroyed, a notation should be placed on the cover letter indicating disposition. It is also requested that the proper notation be made by each file number on the attached list and when completely reviewed, this list be returned to the Filing Unit of the Records Section, Room 1113, Identification Building.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached list of bulky enclosures be reviewed and a decision rendered as to the retention or disposition of the material contained therein.

To facilitate review by the various supervisors, the list is broken down by classification on separate pages. So that this program may be completed as quickly as possible, it is requested that the extra copies attached be appropriately disseminated and the results correlated and noted on the original.

SUBJECT: HEARINGS ON THE APPROPRIATION BILLS

There is presently maintained on the seventh floor of the Identification Building, two cabinets of Appropriation Hearings and Reorganization Reports, dated from the years 1924 to 1946. These Hearings were forwarded to the Records Section on 1/28/49 by the Bureau Library for storage purposes. We have never received any requests for these Hearings and it is felt that consideration should be given to the destruction of this material.

RECOMMENDATION:

That this memorandum be referred to the Administrative Division and consideration be given to the destruction of this obsolete material concerning the Appropriation Hearings.

DESTRUCTION OF INDEXES

Its advantages are:

This suggested procedure would help purge the general indices in a systematic, orderly manner of superfluous, obsolete index cards of no further value without adding any burden to the labors of the employees involved.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-2-82 BY SP4ELW/ptc

It should save at least $_____ annually.

SUGGESTION:

SAC LETTERS AND BBs ARE NOT ALL DESTROYED

Throughout the field indices are located index cards reflecting references to SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins which SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins have been destroyed under the three year destruction rule as provided for in the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 3 (7)c. These cards serve no useful purpose as the reference material is not available. Then, too, instructions originally furnished in SAC Letters and Bureau Bulletins are subsequently incorporated into the manuals.

NOT RECORDED

IT IS THEREFORE SUGGESTED THAT INDEX CARDS CONTAINING REFERENCES TO SAC LETTERS AND BUREAU BULLETINS, WHICH REFERENCES ARE THREE YEARS OLD OR OLDER BE DESTROYED AS ENCOUNTERED EITHER WHILE FILING OR SEARCHING.

This would help purge the indices in a systematic, orderly manner of superfluous, obsolete cards of no further value without adding any burden to the labors of the clerical staff.

This suggested procedure would not apply to old index cards containing many such references old and new. It is not intended that any retyping of cards be undertaken. This suggestion applies only to those cards containing references which go back three years and beyond. For example:

"RECORDS, DESTRUCTION OF" 66-647

SAC LETTER #100, Series 1946 (G), 9-17-46

"FILES, ADMINISTRATIVE, DESTRUCTION OF 66-647

SAC LETTER #100, Series 1946 (D), 9-17-46

There are undoubtedly many thousands of such cards throughout the field indices of ancient vintage that would be weeded out on a continuous basis through this proposed system of purging index cards as encountered.

1) Suggestion is O.K. & favorable recommendation, however;

a) the CCO in each office should automatically remove obsolete cards of this nature as a matter of practice. We should make up a rule for this —

b) The letters, Bur. Bulletins, etc. are not indexed in all offices as they are in Ec Pros. K.C. & New Orleans are examples. There are very few obsolete cards in these offices relating to such matters —

SUBJECT: BULKY ENCLOSURES
RECORDS SECTION

Reference is made to the memorandum from Mr. Nichols to you dated September 1, 1953, containing a partial list of bulky enclosures in the Filing Unit of the Records Section with the request that these be reviewed to determine if they should be retained or destroyed.

One of the enclosures listed was 61-7307-124 on the subject of United States versus Gerald B. Winrod, et al, James C. True - Defendant, Sedition, Internal Security, and consists of 73 copies of the newspaper "The X-Ray" dated September 3, 1941, which was edited and published by Court Asher, Muncie, Indiana. These 73 copies were obtained from the trash removed from the apartment of James C. True, one of the defendants in the mass sedition trial of 1944, by [redacted], Arlington, Virginia. It appears no useful purpose would be served in retaining all of these copies and they are requiring considerable space.

b6

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that all but one copy of this newspaper be destroyed and it is suggested that the copy retained could be filed behind serial 61-7307-124 in the file.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION #518-53
DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU RECORDS-GENERAL

Per presentation by Mason at the Executive Conference 10/6/53, the following is submitted for the record:

SUGGESTING EMPLOYEE:

b6
b7C

[redacted] Chief Clerk, El Paso Division.

SUGGESTION:

Whenever employees in the field encounter index cards containing references to SAC letters or Bureau bulletins and these references are three years old or older, the index cards be destroyed.

OBSERVATION:

Bureau bulletins and SAC letters are kept for a minimum period of three years. It is permissable for an SAC to keep a Bureau bulletin or SAC letter for a longer period of time in the event the document contains pertinent information which should be on file in the field division.

The idea to destroy index cards as a means of keeping the general indices small has some desirable attributes, but it will be seen that to adopt such an idea would mean that as soon as an index card is encountered it would then be necessary to go and check the files to see whether that particular SAC letter or Bureau bulletin has been kept on file in the field office. The net result would undoubtedly be greater effort expended and in many instances the same index cards would be checked over and over again. Inspector Brown pointed out that there would be only a few cards in most offices and he does not believe that special instructions as to this topic are necessary or desirable. From the presentation by the suggesting employee and the concurrence of SAC C. W. Brown of the El Paso Division in the suggestion, it becomes apparent that the El Paso Office is probably conducting a greater degree of indexing than the field is generally as to SAC letters and Bureau bulletins. Inasmuch as the El Paso Office will be shortly inspected, the Inspector will be alerted to inquire specifically into indexing procedures.

DESTRUCTION OF 66
CLASSIFICATION FILES

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 8-2-82 BY SP4ELW/pte

Pursuant to your instructions, a review was made of the mail on file in the 66 classification subsequent to 1950 to determine if it was possible to destroy or microfilm the material in order to conserve space and to rid the files of obsolete material. It was reported that the great bulk of mail in the 66 classification presently housed in 85 cabinets in the Identification Building relate to general administrative matters and the Records Section Streamlining Committee suggested the destruction of microfilming of these records.

Destruction of Bureau Property - Gen'l

This review reflects that this material dates back to December of 1921 and pertains chiefly to such items dealing with space, the acquisition of supplies, correspondence relating to shipments made by bills of lading, return of unused Government bills of lading, field office automotive equipment, bids relating to acquisition of garage space, solicitation for the purchase of gas and oil, instructions regarding the use of automotive equipment, firearms matters such as the training in firearms, qualifications of certain employees to use firearms, the receipt and disposition of firearms, letters relating to the transmittal of vouchers, etc. This review also disclosed that there are many files that contain Bureau Bulletins and SAC letters issued prior to 1950, and also in these files were matters which appeared to be of a confidential nature such as the internal security situation in the Canal Zone in 1940 at the time the Canal Zone Field Office was closed.

It is felt that the great bulk of the material in the 66 classification files prior to 1950 contains information of no future use to the Bureau and can be destroyed. It is desirable, however, to have each file carefully reviewed and any material dealing with policy, such as SAC letters, Bureau Bulletins and matters of a confidential nature should be retained. Many of the files contain primarily bids which have been rejected and under the regulation these bids can be disposed of in three years. It is necessary that prior to the destruction of these records the person who has the responsibility of reviewing these files should be familiar with the instructions issued by the General Services Administration in August of 1950, governing the disposition of records maintained by Government agencies.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that a careful review be made of each file in the 66 classification housed in the Ident Building for the purpose of destroying material that is obsolete in order to conserve space in the Bureau's Records Section.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION #469-53
Destruction of Bureau Property - Cards

Present at the Executives Conference of September 24, 1953, were Messrs. Glavin, Tracy, Harbo, Mohr, Hennrich, Ladd, Rosen, Gearty, Holloman and Mason.

The Conference unanimously recommends adoption of a proposal from [redacted] Supervisor of the General Index Unit, Records Section, that 5,000 index cards on liquors be removed from the National Stolen Property Index and be destroyed. b6 b7C

Very few cards have been added to this index since 1948, very little use has been made of the liquor portion of the National Stolen Property Index and four drawers of index card space will be saved through the destruction of these cards whenever they get to be 5 years old.

The cards relate to Federal Strip Stamp Numbers, barrel numbers or case numbers of stolen liquors.

The Investigative Division concurred with the Records Section endorsement of this suggestion and the Executives Conference was unanimously in favor of destroying the cards.

If you agree, appropriate action will be taken and a copy of this memorandum has been made available to Mr. Nichols in order that he may see to it that the destruction of the cards is done.

There is attached for approval a letter of appreciation to [redacted]. b6 b7C

SUBJECT: SUPERVISION OF ACCOUNTANTS
63 CLASSIFICATION

XClassification 63

XMail only

XMail only

In the early 1920's, expert Accountants and expert Bank Accountants were assigned to Accounting Districts which had offices in the major cities. The 63 classification, "Supervision of Accountants", was established in 1922. Correspondence on matters pertaining to the Accounting Districts and Accountants, such as administrative reports on deliquent cases, reports showing the location of agents and cases they were working on, supply and inventory matters, property receipts, reports on deliquent and pending cases, etc., were filed in this classification. In addition to file 63-0, there is a file 63-150 with subs for each Accounting District. The other case numbers were assigned to the individual Accountants and were used to contain administrative mail on the Accountants, but these files were consolidated into the regular administrative files years ago. The 63 classification material is housed in 1¼ file drawers. An examination of this material fails to reflect any policy decisions or correspondence on cases.

We are interested in keeping the number of classifications as small as possible and, for that reason, it is felt that, as the 63 classification has not been used since approximately 1931, the existing material should be destroyed and the classification number reused.

As this material is of a purely administrative nature and General Records Schedule Number 1, issued by General Services Administration, gives blanket authority to destroy material of this nature, Archival authority will not be necessary for such destruction.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the 1¼ drawers of the administrative files pertaining to accounting matters which are in excess of 22 years old, be destroyed in order that the classification may be reused.

SUBJECT: RECORDS SECTION STREAMLINING COMMITTEE
SUGGESTION #638-53
DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY - GENERAL

b6
b7C

[redacted] has suggested through the Classifying Unit representative on the Records Section Streamlining Committee that requests for information from private individuals, which is normally acknowledged and filed under the caption "Research-General" Bureau file 94-5, no longer be filed but be destroyed before coming to file after retention for a reasonable length of time. [redacted] feels that the majority of these routine requests are of little or no value and serve no real purpose by being placed on record and filed.

The Executives Conference has approved the destruction of this material after it is over five years old (66-3286-439). All of the routine mail over five years old was destroyed prior to March 1, 1953. No instance has come to the attention of the Records Section where this destruction has proven embarrasing. It is believed that no real purpose is served by filing any of this correspondence.

Since the majority of this correspondence is handled either in the Crime Records Section or the Laboratory, they of course should be consulted.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) That the views of the Crime Records Section and the FBI Laboratory be obtained.

(2) That this suggestion be referred to the Training and Inspection Division for evaluation and acknowledgement.

SUBJECT: RECORD SECTION STREAMLINING COMMITTEE
SUGGESTION NUMBER 638-53

PURPOSE: DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY

To furnish Crime Record Section views re proposal that mail filed under the caption "Research-General" (Bureau File 94-5) no longer be filed but be destroyed before coming to file after retention for a reasonable length of time.

OBSERVATIONS:

With regard to the above suggestion, we have checked a considerable sampling of mail in the Research-General file and we feel there are a number of objections to such a proposal.

This file contains the bulk of requests for Bureau reprints, Director's statements, et cetera, which are sent out. A goodly number of the people requesting these data are prominent individuals, clergyman, educators, and businessmen. It is of considerable value to us to be able to determine what material such a person has been sent previously. It reflects favorably on the Bureau's efficiency if we can, for example, refer by date to the correspondent's previous request for material and send him data which does not duplicate reprints furnished him earlier.

There would be definite problem to evaluate which of these letters can be safely destroyed. This ought to be an Agent's job and we doubt that an Agent's time should be spent reviewing these letters. Volume 148 of this file, for example, includes a letter to the young movie actor Brandon de Wilde. This boy met the Director and a press release indicates that this boy is aiming for an FBI career. Obviously, the press story and the Director's letter should be saved because they might well have considerable "publicity value" later on. This same volume contains a memorandum and letter re an article on the Bureau's role in plant protection in World War II as well as correspondence from several congressmen. The problem of evaluating this mail, therefore, would appear to be excessively time consuming.

Crime Records Section believes the press story and the Director's letter should be saved because they might well have considerable publicity value later on.

The 94-5 files assist the Correspondence Section in being consistent in their replies to individuals. Of course, it would be embarrassing if the Bureau sent out conflicting data or opinions.

Therefore, the Crime Records Section recommends no change be made in the present system of retaining the mail in the Research - General file for a period of five years.

The FBI Laboratory feels the suggestion is too general and all-inclusive for them to concur. Requests for information are received by the Laboratory from individuals concerning evidence examined by the Laboratory, whether the Bureau would examine evidence under certain conditions and similar inquiries. In such situations it is believed the yellow file copy should definitely appear in the file. When the inquiry pertains to a specific case the yellow file copy is, of course, designated for that case file where it properly belongs. The Laboratory handles very little correspondence which does not pertain to a specific criminal case. Within the present week a private individual who heads a private laboratory made an inquiry of the FBI Laboratory and it is feared that under the proposed suggestion the yellow file copy of such correspondence might be destroyed, and it is believed this would be improper.

SUBJECT: OBSOLETE MATERIAL MAINTAINED ON 7th FLOOR OF THE IDENTIFICATION BUILDING - RECORDS SECTION

Destruction of Property

Reference is made to Mr. Eames' memorandum addressed to Mr. Nichols, dated November 6, 1953, in connection with the above-entitled matter.

A spot check of the material maintained in these two drawers indicates that these files contain copies of photographs of latent prints on which identifications were made by the experts of the Single Fingerprint Section. These latent print identifications appearing in these old folders were made from the latter part of 1932 up to the early part of 1935. During those years in the Single Fingerprint Section copies of photographs of latent prints, as well as copies of letters reporting the identifications were maintained in these special folders. Subsequent to 1935 all this material was made part of the Bureau's files.

It is believed that after all these years these latent print identifications would not serve any further purposes. As indicated by the Records Section, this material has never been used.

RECOMMENDATION:

It would appear that this material does not serve any useful purpose at this time and, accordingly, it can be destroyed.

SUBJECT: PROPOSED DESTRUCTION OF OLD NUMBERING UNIT ABSTRACTS

SYNOPSIS:

Inspector recommended that numerical abstracts for all Bureau closed case files be destroyed after 10 years in order to conserve space and save equipment. Three day survey of all units in the Records Section using numerical abstracts reflects they were referred to an average of 46 times each day. These abstracts do not now create a space problem nor is any space problem regarding these abstracts anticipated for many years to come. Used equipment available as result of microfilming the alphabetical abstracts will be utilized for expansion of the numberical abstracts and, accordingly, there is likewise no equipment problem.

The numerical abstracts are an integral part of the Bureau's records and essential information security control. They have been used in the past to reconstitute changed records and would be indispensable in locating and/or replacing a lost file. In addition, these abstracts would be the only check we would have on the completeness of a file. Without them an investigative report could be removed from the file and there would be no way of knowing this, particularly if a serial number was placed on an old clipping and inserted in file. The Executives Conference in December, 1938, recommended that the numerical abstracts not be destroyed in the future (at that time they had been destroyed after a lapse of three years) and if any problem was presented in the future this could be very simply solved by moving the abstract slips to dead storage space.

RECOMMENDATION:

No further action.

SUBJECT: OBSOLETE MATERIAL MAINTAINED ON 7th FLOOR OF THE IDENTIFICATION BUILDING - RECORDS SECTION

Destruction of Property

There are maintained by the Records Section on the 7th floor of the Identification Building, two drawers of Identification jackets, concerning the Van Senders and John Dillinger cases in 1934, which material was received from the Identification Division for storage purposes. This material is never used, and it is believed that consideration should be given to the destruction of this material. If it is decided that the material should not be destroyed, it is felt that the material could possibly be incorporated into the Identification fingerprint jackets concerning the individual subjects.

RECOMMENDATION:

That this memorandum be returned to the Identification Division and consideration be given to the destruction of the above described material. In the event it is not deemed feasible to destroy this material, it is recommended that it be incorporated into the Identification fingerprint jackets concerning the individual subjects.

CLASSIFICATION 63
MISCELLANEOUS - NON-SUBVERSIVE
Destruction of Bureau Property General

By memorandum to you dated September 17, 1953, (66-5084-547), I recommended that the 63 Classification, which has been inactive for many years, be reopened and entitled "Miscellaneous - Non-Subversive."

By memorandum to you dated September 24, 1953, entitled "Supervisor of Accountants - 63 Classifications", it was recommended that the old 63 material on Supervision of Accountants be destroyed. This was approved, and the destruction is being accomplished.

Instructions have been issued to start using Classification 63 for Miscellaneous-Non-Subversive communications. This will prevent the listing, under the Name Check program, of Non-Subversive references in the old 62 Classification. We will still use files in the 62 Classification but will open no new cases in the classification unless there is some subversive information or allegation.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) That reference memoranda and this memorandun be used to open the Supervision File (66-6200-63).

(2) That appropriate changes to reflect Classification 63 with character Miscellaneous-Non-Subversive, be made in the following. (Traning and Inspection Division can handle without formal submission of manual revisions.)

(a) Agents' Handbook, Part 1, Page 46-A.
(b) Field Stenographers' Manuals, Section 5, Page 3.
(c) Manual of Rules and Regulations, Section 9, Page 3.

(3) That the attached sac letter be approved.

SUGGESTION:

All material in "66" (Administrative) classification through 1950 be destroyed or microfilmed with the exception of material relating to policy matters and war plans.

OBSERVATIONS:

A survey by the Records and Communications Division reflects the "66" classification is housed in 85 file cabinets and relates to general administrative matters such as disposition sheets, bills of lading, automobile accident forms, and furniture inventories which are seldom used after they are 3 years old. A survey by the Administrative Division discloses that this material dates back to December 29 1921 and pertains chiefly to correspondence regarding bills of lading, field office automotive equipment, bids on the acquisition of garage space, solicitation for the purchase of gas and oil and similar administrative matters. The survey also disclosed that many files contain Bureau Bulletins and SAC Letters issued prior to 1950, in addition to matters of a confidential nature. The Administrative Division advised that the great bulk of the material in the "66" classification prior to 1950 contains information of no future use to the Bureau and can be destroyed. It will be necessary to have each file carefully reviewed and any material dealing with policy such as SAC Letters, Bureau Bulletins, and matters of a confidential nature should be retained. The Administrative Division pointed out that prior to destruction of these records the person who has the responsibility of reviewing the files should be familiar with the instructions issued by the General Services Administration which set forth the types of records that may be destroyed legally and the procedure for such destruction, in accordance with Sections 366-38, Title 44, USC, providing for the destruction of administrative records having no permanent retention value.

PROPOSED DESTRUCTION OF SOME OLD NUMBERING UNIT ABSTRACTS

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-2-82 BY SP4ELW/pte

SYNOPSIS: Destruction of Bureau Property

There are an estimated 20,119,100 abstracts filed in the Numbering Unit and 1,240,000 per year are being added. By purchasing additional cabinets present space will allow three years' expansion, otherwise cabinets are on hand for two years' expansion. It appears that abstracts in cases closed ten years or more and abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters could be destroyed without materially affecting usefulness of Numbering Unit abstracts since most uses are made of abstracts that are more current. Problem of limiting the number of abstracts that can be retained will have to be faced sooner or later because of space problem and gradual means of controlling size would be preferred to waiting until problem becomes urgent. Destruction of all abstracts in cases closed ten years or more would make available an estimated 3,015 file drawers (67 cabinets). Initial cost of destruction estimated at $2,950, compared with value of 67 cabinets saved or $15,641.15 plus the value of three rooms of floor space released for other use. Yearly cost to keep the file current estimated at $690, compared with the savings of 14 cabinets it would be unnecessary to purchase or $3,628.30 plus the value of approximately one-half room of floor space per year. Mr. Nichols objects because: (1) abstracts are integral part of records' keeping system; (2) even old abstracts are occasionally used; (3) Numbering unit abstracts afford only way of reconstructing a missing file and would substitute for file in case of destruction of files as result of enemy attack, provided abstracts not also destroyed; (4) abstracts provide "security control" of our records' system; (5) abstracts occupy relatively little space and little would be saved by destroying any; and (6) a selective distinction would absorb a good deal of employee time to offset part of economy otherwise gained. Abstracts are integral part of records' keeping but they are essentially useful to our system in connection with current matters. In an eight-day survey only ten of 1,247 requests, or one and one-fourth per day, were for information from abstracts that would have been destroyed if recommendation had been in effect previously. Files contain complete information and can adequately serve in place of old abstracts where occasional reference is necessary. Present space and equipment used for storage is far too valuable for the occasional use made of these old abstracts. It would seldom, if ever, be important to reconstruct a file in a case closed more than ten years. There is little reason why "security control" should be necessary with obsolete records. Space in Numbering Unit is adequate at present, but additional space will be necessary in next few years at present rate of growth. Three rooms of present space can be released if above proposal is adopted. It would be relatively simple for an employee to distinguish from the abstracts those cases closed more than ten years and to sort those out, as well as those abstracts in miscellaneous matters over ten years old. At 15 drawers per day one employee could complete this project in approximately 250 days. After first year, approximately 22 days per year would be required to keep file current to ten-year period. By keeping size of unit relatively small and compact it can be operated more efficiently and can continue to be useful to the entire Bureau.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that all Numbering Unit abstracts in cases that have been closed ten or more years and that all abstracts ten or more years old in miscellaneous matters, such as classifications One - "Training Schools," 32 - "Ident Matters," "O" files and "Sub" files be destroyed, and that abstracts which fall in one of these categories continue to be destroyed on a yearly basis.

DETAILS:

Growth of Numbering Unit

There are an estimated 20,118,100 abstracts filed in the Numbering Unit. These require a total of 8,747 three-by-five file drawers or approximately 194 forty-five drawer cabinets. These are the total Numbering Unit abstracts that have accumulated since 1936. Prior to 1936, all abstracts were destroyed after they were three years' old. The abstracts in the Numbering Unit occupy all of the floor space of ten rooms. At the present time abstracts are being added at the rate of 1,440,000 per year, which will require each year 14 cabinets for expansion. There are now available 27 empty cabinets or sufficient cabinets for a little less than two years' expansion. There are spaces for 10 additional cabinets and by purchasing these cabinets at about $233.45 each, there would be sufficient filing space for an additional year's expansion.

The Problem

In view of the rapid expansion of this unit and a continued problem of space in the Records Section, an inquiry was made concerning the possibility of destroying some of the old abstracts, particularly in cases which have been closed for a number of years.

Proposal for Destruction of Obsolete Abstracts

It appears that all Numbering Unit abstracts in cases that have been closed more than ten years (or not active within the past ten years) and that all abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters, such as classifications One - "Training Schools," 32 - Ident Letters," "Zero" files and "Sub" files, could be destroyed without appreciably diminishing the usefulness of Numbering Unit abstracts to the Records Section or to the individual supervisors of those various cases. Abstracts which fall in one of the above categories could continue to be destroyed on a yearly basis in order to keep the unit at a good workable size and to keep obsolete material eliminated from the unit. The job of destroying such abstracts would be relatively easy. In cases where a file has been closed ten or more years [illegible] the abstracts [illegible] eliminated by simply removing the [illegible] abstracts. In those cases where there is no information [illegible] case has been closed, the fact that there had been no activity in the last ten years should suffice. In most instances this would occur only in cases involving one or two serials. It would be necessary to check through only those drawers containing old abstracts for the purpose of picking out those to be eliminated since it would be unnecessary to check any drawers further than the point where files had been opened within the last ten years. This would be a few more than the 3,015 drawers it is estimated would ultimately be destroyed.

Abstracts in cases closed ten or more years and abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters are used only occasionally for quick review purposes and, of course, the files contain more information than is available on the abstracts and are available for those occasional uses. It would appear that the space and equipment (file cabinets) occupied by old abstracts that may be considered obsolete are far too valuable for the occasional use made of them.

The Bureau will not be able to keep Numbering Unit abstracts forever but it will eventually be necessary to purge these as it has become necessary to purge the General Index. It would be desirable to take purge measures before the Unit becomes cumbersome and unduly expensive from the standpoint of space, personnal and equipment. The current abstracts in the Numbering Unit will remain most useful to all of the Bureau if the size of this unit can remain workable and efficient by adopting measures of keeping obsolete and little-used material culled from the Unit.

During a four-day survey September 25 to September 30, 1953, there was one request made of the Numbering Unit for information from an abstract in a file that had been closed more than ten years ago and two requests for information from abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters. There were a total of 600 telephone requests handled on these four days. During a second four-day survey October 13 to October 16, 1953, there were three requests for information from abstracts in files closed more than ten years ago and four requests for information from abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters. There were a total of 647 telephone requests handled during the latter four days. In eight days there were ten requests out of 1,247 requests for information from abstracts in cases closed or inactive over ten years and abstracts in miscellaneous matters over ten years old. This would amount to one and one-fourth requests per day now handled by abstracts which would have to be handled by calling a file if the above standard for destroying old abstracts had previously been in effect. In other words, 1.80 per cent of the telephone requests now handled for abstracts could not be handled if the abstracts in the above categories were not obtainable.

During the month of September there were no requests for abstracts or for information from abstracts in the following classifications: 3 through 6, 8, 10, 11, 14, 18, 19, 21, 23, 27, 28, 35, 36, 38, 41, 45, 54, 55, 57, 63, 75, 78, 84 through 86, 89, 99, 106 through 108, 110, 111, 113, 119, 125, 127, 129, 130, 135 and 136. Requests in other classifications were as follows:

Class.	Requests	Class.	Requests	Class.	Requests
1	5	61	51	97	23
22	1	62	193	98	6
7	3	64	65	100	773
9	7	65	254	101	15

25	348	71	7	114	2
26	51	72	3	115	1
29	18	73	1	116	98
31	5	74	6	117	36
33	2	76	10	118	1
39	4	77	22	120	2
40	8	79	2	121	83
42	17	80	8	122	6
43	1	81	1	123	8
44	23	82	1	124	2
46	22	83	2	126	1
47	23	87	54	128	1
48	3	88	18	131	3
49	44	90	1	132	1
50	8	91	1	133	2
51	12	92	2	134	5
52	8	93	1	137	1
56	2	94	28	138	17
58	12	95	28	139	2
60	11	96	2	140	12

It is estimated that no more than about 22 of these requests were on cases closed over 10 years.

There were no Numbering Unit abstracts for the following classifications: 13, 16, 20, 22, 30, 34, 37, 53, 59, 67.

It was noted that there are a large number of requests for information from abstracts in security cases. Of course, security cases are not closed on the same basis that criminal cases are closed, but usually remain active over a longer period of time. Therefore, abstracts in cases presently useful to us would not fall within one of the above categories to be considered for destruction. Many of the older security cases which have been closed more than ten years would be those opened on the basis of unconfirmed complaints and would consist of only one or two serials each. The large number of requests in Selective Service cases (classification 25) has been noted, but it is pointed out two-thirds of these cases have not been closed for as much as ten years and, of course, these abstracts would not fall within any of the above categories.

Space Savings

It is estimated that approximately 3,015 drawers of abstracts would be destroyed if cases closed for ten years or more and abstracts over ten years old in miscellaneous matters were used as a basis for elimination. This would amount to 67 cabinets or approximately three rooms of floor space. Ten rooms are now used for Numbering Unit abstracts and this would amount to a savings of 30 per cent of this space.

Cost of Destroying Abstracts

It is estimated a Grade GS-3 employee could check through at least 15 drawers of abstracts a day for purposes of picking out those in cases closed more than ten years or those over ten years old in miscellaneous matters. A point would be reached within each classification beyond which it would be unnecessary to check the abstracts for the above purpose, i.e. the point where files had been opened within the ten-year period. Allowing 500 drawers more than the 3,015 it is estimated fall within the categories of those which would be destroyed, a total of 3,515 drawers would have to be checked and it would take a Grade GS-3 employee 234 days to complete. Allowing an additional 16 days to rearrange the remaining abstracts in the cabinets, a total of 250 days of one Grade GS-3 employee's time would be required which would amount to approximately one year's salary for such an employee. This would be $2,950 as compared with the value of 67 cabinets made available for other use at $233.45 each, or a total of $15,641.15, plus the value of three rooms of floor space released for other use.

The yearly cost of keeping the file current to a ten-year period would amount to approximately $490. This is based on the estimate that it would take a Grade GS-3 employee about 42 days to check the 620 drawers of abstracts added yearly. The cost of buying 14 cabinets each year for these abstracts would be $3,200.50, which does not include the value of over one-half the floor space of one room necessary for this expansion each year. Neither does this take into account the over-all savings of employees' time who must check abstracts in that this work could be done more economically by retaining the abstract file in a convenient and compact manner. It is not believed that consolidating the remaining abstracts to seven rooms would make working conditions too crowded for efficiency.

Records Section Objections

Mr. Nichols objects to the destruction of abstracts for the following reasons:

1. Abstracts are an integral part of our records' keeping system.

2. Abstracts are of occasional use to supervisors in old cases as well as in recent ones.

3. Abstracts afford the only way there is of reconstructing a missing file; admittedly there are few missing files to reconstruct. Also, in the event of the destruction of our files as a result of enemy action, the abstracts would substitute for the files, providing, of course, the abstracts had not also been destroyed.

4. Abstracts provide a "security control" over our records' system in that anyone trying to tamper with a file by removing parts of it would presumably be unable to remove the abstracts as well.

5. Abstracts occupy relatively little space so that very little space would be saved by destroying any of them.

6. A selective distinction would absorb a great deal of employee time, enough perhaps to offset any economy otherwise gained.

Additional Observations

Abstracts are an integral part of our records' keeping system but they are essentially useful to our system while they are current and serve little, if any, useful purpose when they become obsolete. The files contain complete information in all these cases and will even more adequately serve in place of these old abstracts where an occasional reference is necessary. It would seldom, if ever, be important to reconstruct a file in a case closed more than ten years. "Security control" over our records' system, while necessary with current records, would be unnecessary with obsolete records. This would be particularly true of security cases where any matter of a current nature remains in an open file for a long period of time and would not likely be included in one of the categories where the abstracts would have been destroyed if the above recommendation is adopted. "Security control" is not likely to be necessary in a criminal case. The method of picking out the old abstracts would be relatively simple, and as pointed out herein, the cost would be much less than the value of the cabinets and floor space occupied by such abstracts.

It is true that space in the Numbering Unit is adequate at the present time, but at the present rate of growth it will be necessary to obtain additional floor space for this unit within a few years. The unit can be operated more efficiently and can continue to be more useful to the Bureau if its size can be controlled through eliminating obsolete material and through adopting a procedure for continued elimination of such material on a yearly basis.

THE EXECUTIVES CONFERENCE

Destruction of Bureau Property - Genl

The Executives Conference of December 3, 1953, consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Maguire, Clegg, Rosen, Ladd, Belmont, Trotter, Tracy, Harbo, and Glavin, considered a suggestion submitted by Special Agent Supervisor J. S. Johnson, in charge of the Voucher Unit, concerning the destruction of old copies of SAC Letters from 1935 to 1949.

It was pointed out to the Conference that under Bureau regulations three copies of each SAC Letter issued are maintained in cabinets in question. It was also pointed out that the original of these SAC Letters, which date back to 1935, are in Bureau files and that it does not appear that any useful purpose is being served by continuing to maintain three copies in the Voucher Unit.

It was further pointed out that these SAC Letters fill eight five-drawer locked cabinents which could be much better utilized for the filing of confidential blue slip expenditure vouchers.

The Conference unanimously recommended that the SAC Letters from 1935 to 1949 destroyed at this time.

SUBJECT: BULKY ENCLOSURES - RECORDS SECTION

Destruction of Bureau Property-Central

Reference is made to the memorandum from Mr. Eames to Mr. Nichols dated 11-10-53 attaching a memorandum from Mr. Nichols to you dated 11-12-53. The latter memorandum forwarded a list of approximately 230 bulky enclosures which the Records Section desires be reviewed by the substantive supervisors to determine whether the enclosures must be retained or may be disposed of to gain needed filing space. This program appears to be an outgrowth of a memorandum to Bureau Officials and Supervisors dated 12-24-52 which directed that all bulky enclosures that will serve no definite purpose by being retained be returned to the field or to the original source.

This is a problem of considerable magnitude, particularly with respect to the method presently devised to review old bulky enclosures. As you are aware, assignment of cases in this Division is not by classification number. Accordingly, lists of the type attached must be carefully perused and where the subject matter does not permit a ready recognition of the substantive Supervisor in the best position to judge the value of the enclosure nor even the identity of the responsible Section of this Division, then files must be called to determine this preliminary information.

The handling of one memorandum listing 230 enclosures for review is accordingly rendered extremely difficult when it is considered that three Sections of the Division are involved and considerable "spade work" is necessary to determine what Supervisors should logically review the material. It is apparent that the list should not be routed from one Supervisor to another until full routing and action is completed for unreasonable delay could be anticipated. Thus, even after each of the 230 enclosures were designated for review by the appropriate Supervisors, an administrative system must be set up to coordinate the matter, notify each Supervisor of the items he is to review, correlate the replies, and prepare a coordinated reply to the Records Section. This is a time-consuming process.

Memorandum to Mr. Nichols 11-9-53
Re: Proposed Destruction of Old
Numbering Unit Abstracts

DETAILS:

Reference is made to the attached memorandum from Inspector DeLoach to Mr. Clegg dated 10-19-53 recommending that all Numbering Unit abstracts (numerically filed) in cases that have been closed 10 or more years be destroyed on a yearly basis in order to save space and equipment.

It is reiterated, and this was acknowledged by the Inspector, that there is no present space problem in connection with the maintenance of abstracts in the Numbering Unit. Neither is there any anticipated problem in this regard for many years to come. At the present time the Numbering Unit abstracts actually occupy 2,604 square feet of floor space. During the past three years they have only expanded 371 square feet in cabinet area which is no more than the size of an average room. While the Numbering Unit abstracts do expand from 10 to 15 cabinets a year a supply of this equipment will be readily available without cost to the Bureau inasmuch as we are presently microfilming alphabetical abstracts. It is estimated that we will obtain from the microfilming program 119 abstract cabinets. Accordingly, we will have plenty of used equipment for approximately the next 10 years.

Irrespective of the amount of space occupied by the Numbering Unit's abstracts and the cost of equipment to house it, their importance to the Bureau's records system must not be overlooked. As pointed out on numerous occasions these abstracts are the only independent control for the Bureau's entire records system. From a security standpoint this is of incalculable value. Any missing file or any item within the file that might be tampered with can be immediately identified as to source, date, and content through these abstracts. One particular instance may be cited of the extreme importance of these abstract records in reconstituting files. This involved the Kansas City Case which was the subject of Congressional inquiry a number of years ago, and the major part of controversy involved the replacing of the Bureau's Kansas City file from the numerical abstracts. This would, of course, have been impossible if the abstract records had been previously disposed of.

It is of interest to note that the Executives Conference on December 12, 1938, (66-3286-70) recommended that numerical abstracts no longer be destroyed and that if any problems were ever presented in the future concerning their maintenance they should be resolved by removing the abstracts to dead storage space. Prior to this date we had been destroying numerical abstracts after they were 3 years old. Innumerable problems were presented and the previous procedure was abandoned. Even to this day we occasionally run into difficulty in attempting to account for files or mail dated prior to 1938 inasmuch as the abstracts are not available for checking.

Re: Proposed Destruction of Old
Numbering Unit Abstracts

In referenced memorandum the Inspector made a survey concerning the use of numerical abstracts. It is noted that this survey was limited to reference requests received by 3 employees handling telephone calls in the Numbering Unit. A survey was made on November 3, 4 and 5 which included the Service, Numbering, Filing, General Index, Name Check and Consolidation Units, which reflected that it was necessary to refer to abstracts over 10 years old 138 times during this 3 day period.

Concerning the mechanics of purging abstracts on closed cases 10 years or more old, the problem is over-simplified by the Inspector. It is sometimes extremely difficult to determine from the abstract records alone that a case is in fact "closed". There would be considerable doubt in many instances as to whether or not abstracts of a certain age could be destroyed and such questions could not be resolved without reference to the file itself. The administrative complications of such a procedure are readily apparent when it is realized that all of the case files are maintained in another building.

In summary, the numerical abstracts currently present no space problem and none is anticipated for many years to come. Used equipment is readily available which will take care of maximum expansion for the next 10 years. If and when such difficulty does arise the abstracts can be moved to dead storage space. The point is this record should never be destroyed inasmuch as it is our only control and check on the Bureau's accumulation of record material.

SUBJECT: OLD SUITCASES IN BASEMENT STORAGE VAULT OF 9TH AND H STREET BUILDING

Destruction of Bureau Property - Old

In the basement vault of the 9th and H Streets Building are four old suitcases that were the property of some subjects of a German saboteur case. With the exception of one suitcase, all are unusable in that the linings inside have been torn loose. These were held for possible use as exhibits. The suitcases are described as:

1. Dark brown colored Gladstone-type bag about 14 inches high and 26 inches long which was the property of Heinrich Heinck.

2. Light tan, cardboard-type construction suitcase about 13 inches high and 24 inches long which was the property of Werner Thiel.

3. Tan colored Gladstone-type bag about 23 inches high and 22 inches long which was the property of George Dasch.

4. Black colored Gladstone-type bag about 18 inches high and 24 inches long which was the property of Edward J. Kerling. This bag is in fair condition.

RECOMMENDATION:

Since the possible need of this old material for exhibit purposes is small, it is recommended that unless the Domestic Intelligence Division has some objection that it be disposed of immediately.

A suggestion was approved to destroy certain files in the "66" classification relating to general administrative matters. These files are housed in 85 file cabinets in the Identification Building. A survey disclosed that this material dates back to December of 1921, and pertains chiefly to correspondence regarding disposition sheets, bills of lading, field office automotive equipment, bids for services, etc. These files also contain Bureau Bulletins, SAC Letters and matters of confidential nature.

It was reported that the bulk of the material in the "66" classification can be destroyed. However, it will be necessary to have each file carefully reviewed and any material dealing with policy such as SAC Letters, Bureau Bulletins, and matters of a confidential nature should be retained. Further, sections 366-380, Title 44, U. S. Code, provides for the destruction of administrative records having no permanent retention value and places certain restrictions on destruction of records.

This project will require a review of voluminous files. A representative from the Voucher Unit and the Property Management Unit who are familiar with General Services Administration instructions relating to destruction of certain types of records should assist in this review.

RECOMMENDATION

That this project be initiated during the first part of January, 1954, as a number of the employees are presently on Christmas leave and would handicap the operations in Units affected if started at this time. This recommendation meets the approval of Mr. John Marshall, who has supervision over the "66" classification files.

SUBJECT: SUGGESTION #779-53
Destruction of Bureau Records - Gen D

[redacted] the clerical supervisor of the Correlation Unit, and [redacted] the Correlation Unit representative of the Records Section Streamlining Committee, have suggested that index cards in the following categories be destroyed. By way of background under out dated indexing procedures of many years ago we automatically indexed many of these names any time they appeared in mail or reports regardless of whether or not positive or worth while information concerning the group or organization was also set forth.

b6
b7C

	Category	# of Cards
1.	Communist Party a. Several variations pertaining to this breakdown also appear, i.e. Communistic, Communism, Communist Party Plan, Communist Party Policy, etc.	56,400
2.	Communist Political Association	7,200
3.	Daily Worker	12,600
4.	Young Communist League	3,600
5.	Rueckwander Marks	900
6.	Friends of New Germany	1,200
7.	German American Bund	6,000
8.	National Maritime Union	2,400
9.	American Youth for Democracy	1,200
10.	United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America	2,400

b7C

Messrs. [redacted] and [redacted] point out that many of these cards contain more than one reference and that over 100,000 serials will have to be examined if we are to check the files before destroying each card. They feel that an employee who is familiar with the rules of indexing and the general contents of the files could go through the cards and eliminate those which would not be indexed under the present rules without referring to the files. We would of course review files as necessary to insure that no index card of value was improperly destroyed. They note that after contacting several people they have not found anyone who could remember ever receiving a request for a search of the "Communist Party".

It would appear that a large portion of this list could be destroyed without review. The most likely possibilities are the cards on the Communist Party, Communist Political Association, Daily Worker, Young Communist League, and German American Bund. However it is felt that the views of the Domestic Intelligence Division should be obtained before any further action is taken.

SUBJECT: BULKY ENCLOSURES

As you know, we are in the process of having reviewed all Bureau exhibits presently on hand in order to weed out those which will serve no useful purpose by being retained. The primary purpose of the entire program is, of course, to give us badly needed file space.

In order to speed up this review the attached form has been devised, which, if you approve, will be prepared on each bulky exhibit and forwarded to the appropriate Division for review. When a decision has been reached by the appropriate substantive supervisor as to the retention and disposition of a bulky exhibit, this form will be placed in the individual case file.

RECOMMENDATION:

(1) That the attached form be assigned an FPI form number..

(2) That this memorandum be forwarded to the Mechanical Section and 3000 copies of the attached form be printed and forwarded to the Filing Unit of the Records Section, room 1113 Identification Building.

On January 22, 1954, 75 copies of FBI reports pertaining to the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicles, which had been designated by this Bureau for the U. S. Attorney in Cincinnati, Ohio, and which bore the U. S. Attorney's Office date stamp, were turned over to our Cincinnati Office by the Local Police Department. These reports were found by school children on a truck which had broken down and was parked near a school. Investigation developed that the truck, which was operated by the Liberty Scrap Materials Company, Inc., was transporting baled waste paper, which had been purchased from the General Services Administration in Cincinnati, to a paper mill.

[redacted] Chief Secretary to Mr. Hugh K. Martin, U. S. Attorney, advised their office on December 4, 1953, pursuant to regulations of the Department, had delivered over to the General Services Administration certain old material for "waste paper, after maceration." She further advised that Mr. Martin had directed a letter to the Records Administration Office of the Department on that date advising of the action taken.

Regulations of the General Services Administration governing the destruction of records provide that if the disclosure of information contained in the records might be prejudicial to the public interest, the records may be destroyed by maceration, burning or other appropriate means. The Office of the U. S. Attorney in Cincinnati apparently was complying with the above provisions, as they were delivered to the General Services Administration for "waste paper, after maceration." It appears, however, that closer control over actual destruction of the records of this Bureau is needed.

U. S. Marshal. Inasmuch as facilities for burning confidential material are available in Cincinnati, it would appear the U. S. Attorney's Office there could follow the same procedure. As correspondence from this Bureau to the various U. S. Attorneys throughout the country will be destroyed on a continuing basis in the future, as allowed by Departmental regulations, it would appear desirable that instructions be issued to the U. S. Attorneys requiring that records of this Bureau be burned in the presence of a representative of the respective U. S. Attorney's Office. As the U. S. Attorneys' Offices are located in the larger cities, it would seem that little difficulty would be encountered in having the records destroyed in the local city incinerator.

If such procedures are instituted, the unfortunate occurrence wherein 75 copies of reports of this Bureau were allowed to fall into the hands of unauthorized individuals, will not occur again. Your prompt consideration of this matter will be appreciated.

SUBJECT: U. S. ATTORNEY, CINCINNATI, OHIO

"Destruction of Bureau Reports - Fail

On January 22 the Cincinnati Office advised that 75 ITSMV Bureau reports bearing dates March 3, 1940, through February, 1942, which had belonged to the U. S. Attorney's Office in Cincinnati had been turned over to the Cincinnati PD by school children who had found them among other trash on a truck parked near a school. It developed that the U. S. Attorney's Office, in complying with Departmental regulations concerning the disposition of records, had culled these reports from their files as they were over five years old and did not involve prosecution and delivered them to the GSA for "waste paper after maceration." The instructions of the U. S. Attorney's Office apparently had not been observed by GSA and the reports were among other papers to be baled and sold as waste to a private consumer. The U. S. Attorney's Office advised that Departmental instructions allow for the destruction of files not involving prosecution at the end of five years and those involving prosecution at the end of fifteen years. It would appear that these regulations present no problem to the Bureau, yet the method of destruction could be standardized in order to prevent any unauthorized individuals having access to them. The Records Disposal Act of 1943 as amended provides that Federal Agencies follow GSA regulations governing the method of disposing of records. GSA regulations provide that if the disclosure of information contained in the records might be prejudicial to the public interest, the records may be destroyed by maceration, burning or other appropriate means.

The Cincinnati Office determined at the GSA Office in Cincinnati that the office did, if the material was marked confidential, deliver it to the Cincinnati City Incinerator for burning. GSA advised that the U. S. Marshal had so designated some records and that these records were burned at the City Incinerator in the presence of a representative of the U. S. Marshal.

RECORDED - 36 166-32385

EX-127

FEB 15 1954

CONCLUSIONS:

It would seem that as the U. S. Attorneys' Offices are located in the larger cities that little difficulty would be encountered by the U. S. Attorneys' Offices in having Bureau records which were being disposed of destroyed by burning in the presence of one of their employees who could accompany the material to the city incinerator. It would further seem desirable that the Department be advised of this incident and requested to issue instructions to all of their field establishments requiring that Bureau correspondence in the files of these establishments which is being disposed of be destroyed in the above manner.

Withdrawal of Subpoena Property - Smith

Reference is made to Cincinnati telephone call to Assistant to the Director D. M. LADD on January 22, 1954.

On January 22, 1954, a Cincinnati Police Department patrolman telephonically contacted this office in connection with captioned matter. He stated that school children at the Heberle Elementary School, located at Bank and Freeman Avenues in Cincinnati, had turned over to the police an envelope containing copies of FBI reports.

Examination of the material in the manila envelope reflected approximately seventy-five copies of FBI reports which had been designated for the U. S. Attorney's office at Cincinnati, Ohio, and which bore the U. S. Attorney's office date stamp. Instant reports were all in the ITSMV category and bore dates from March 3, 1940, to February, 1942.

Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicle

According to the Cincinnati Police, one [redacted] age 8, a student at the Heberle School, who had possession of the above-mentioned FBI reports, had removed the envelope from a motor truck that had sustained damage and was parked near the school. [redacted] thereafter had given the manila envelope, with its contents intact, to another second grade student at the Heberle School by the name of [redacted], who in turn presented the envelope, with the papers intact, to one [redacted] age 8, also of the Heberle School.

Agents of this office interviewed the above-mentioned boys and confirmed the police officer's statement. [redacted] stated that he had given one or two of the papers to his friend, [redacted], a schoolmate, and thereafter young [redacted] took the papers home to his mother. [redacted] thereafter returned to the school the papers her son had given to her.

All of the young boys concerned with this matter were thoroughly interviewed by agents of this office, and all papers that came into their possession have been retrieved and accounted for. In this regard a thorough search of the area surrounding the place where the truck was parked was conducted, and no additional items of Bureau property were found.

In an effort to trace back the aforementioned FBI reports from the office of the U. S. Attorney, it was learned through contact with the U. S. Attorney that the following procedures are being followed in accordance with current Departmental instructions:

It appears that for the past ten years there has been no necessity for the office of the U. S. Attorney to dispose of files or other types of records. However, as space requirements for the U. S. Attorney's office have increased in recent months, the U. S. Attorney directed that the Departmental regulation concerning destruction of records be invoked, and same was accomplished early in December, 1953.

[redacted] Chief Secretary, U. S. Attorney's office, Cincinnati, Ohio, exhibited a copy of a letter dated December 4, 1953, sent and signed by Mr. HUGH K. MARTIN, U. S. Attorney, to the Records Administration Office, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C., entitled, "Disposal of Records." This letter informed the Records Administration Office of the Department that pursuant to regulations, certain identified old material had been delivered over as of December 4, 1953, to the General Services Administration for "waste paper, after maceration." Among other matters not of interest to the FBI were items described as "miscellaneous files, 1940 to 1948," (consisting of FBI reports, separate from files, and in cases falling within the five-year period for destruction category). b6 b7C

[redacted] readily identified the above-described FBI material recovered on January 22, 1954, as falling within the "miscellaneous files and papers" category. She stated without hesitation that this material was that selected by her for destruction and identified as such in the U. S. Attorney's communication of December 4, 1953.

According to the U. S. Attorney, the selection of material for destruction, pursuant to current Departmental instructions, is that miscellaneous and routine papers unconnected with a case requiring prosecution may be disposed of after the fifth year. Files containing material for prosecution on which cases are opened in the U. S. Attorney's office and the file built up, may be destroyed after the lapse of fifteen years. The recovered material relates only to the five-year miscellaneous category.

It is the understanding of [redacted] that GSA is supposed to macerate any such material delivered over to it by the office of the U. S. Attorney, pointing out that the U. S. Attorney has no provision for arranging for destruction of material other than through GSA. She added that the material in question was loaded into canvas carts in the office of the U. S. Attorney and then delivered to representatives of GSA in the Post Office Building. The disposition thereafter is unknown to the U. S. Attorney's office. b6 b7C

[redacted] General Services Administration, U. S. Post Office Building, Cincinnati, informed that all material turned over to his service which is not described as confidential, is removed to the Waste Section of the Post Office Building, where it is baled and sold as scrap, to an organization holding a contract, identified as the Liberty Scrap Materials Company, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio. He recalled that approximately six months ago the U. S. Marshal's office was utilizing space in the sub-basement of the Post Office Building, and that GSA assisted the U. S. Marshal in destroying some obsolete material. He recalled further that a representative of the U. S. Marshal made a distinction between some of the material which had to be incinerated, and others which could be handled routinely on a scrap basis. GSA provided a truck for the Marshal's office, which delivered the confidential material directly to the City Incinerator, where it was disposed of in the presence of a representative of the U. S. Marshal. According to [redacted] it would be impossible for him to identify any material as having been baled or selected for destruction by incineration, but added that it is the procedure of his office to handle as routine any material put out for waste or disposal unless otherwise instructed. He further informed that the waste paper is then baled with a baling machine owned by GSA, but that no attempt is made at maceration, this process being carried out by paper mills, etc. b6 b7C

[redacted] Liberty Scrap Materials Company, Inc., 2020 Winchell Avenue, Cincinnati, informed that on or about the afternoon of January 19, 1954, one of his trucks picked up trash paper at the U. S. Post Office Building in the form of 150-300 pound bales, wrapped with four wires on the sides, the top and bottom being unbound. This truck was returned to the Liberty Company, where it was parked in a lot adjacent to the premises, where it remained overnight. The destination of the baled waste was the Volney Paper Mill Company, Brookville, Ohio. [redacted] continued that on the following morning it was necessary to switch tractors on the truck, in which process the dolly on the trailer broke, causing the trailer body to fall to the ground. A second trailer was then backed up to the original trailer, and two-thirds of the load removed to the new trailer, so that the first could be jacked up. During the noon hour, the switching crew left for lunch, leaving the load unattended.

[redacted] continued that he did not notice anyone tampering with the load. He gave the opinion that if any of the paper was missing, it would have to have been taken between noon and 12:30 P.M., when the load was unattended. This corresponds with the information furnished by [redacted] one of the children who took the envelope from the truck, who stated that he was returning from his lunch at 12:15 P.M. when this incident occurred.

b7C

[redacted] of the U. S. Attorney's office informed that in her ten years of service in the U. S. Attorney's office, this was the first occasion when it became necessary to dispose of records and reports in that office.

The U. S. Attorney's Office is greatly concerned over this incident, however have stated that their regulations do not provide for destruction of records in any other manner, nor have they provision for arranging for destruction by incineration. In the interest of security, the Bureau might desire to consider an arrangement between the U. S. Attorney's office and this office to dispose of FBI material by referring same to this office at the time it is ready for disposal, and thereafter it would be incinerated with regular FBI trash material.

It would be appreciated if the Bureau would advise in this regard.

Destruction of Bureau Records - Index Cards

Above suggestion recommends destruction of thousands of index cards automatically prepared under outmoded indexing procedures whether the material was pertinent or not. For example, according to a Record Section survey, there are 12,600 index cards on the east coast Communist newspaper, "Daily Worker."

Since more than one hundred thousand serials would have to be examined if the files were checked prior to destroying the cards, the suggestion is to have clerical employees, thoroughly familiar with the current rules of indexing and the general contents of Bureau files, destroy the cards following inspection of the same without referral to the files. File reviews would be undertaken, where necessary, to make sure that no index cards of value are destroyed.

RECOMMENDATION:

The proposal appears to have merit provided adequate safeguards are imposed to make sure that no pertinent information is lost in the elimination process. In fact, it undoubtedly could be extended to numerous other organizations. It is suggested that this be returned to Assistant to the Director Nichols for appropriate action.

NICHOLS

Your attention is directed to the suggestion that index cards in the categories (1) Communist Party; (2) Communist Political Association; (3) Daily Worker; (4) Young Communist League; (5) Fueckwander Marks; (6) Friends of New Germany; (7) German American Bund; (8) National Maritime Union (9) American Youth for Democracy; (10) United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America be destroyed. You will recall that the Executives Conference on February 15, 1954, recommended that this could be done.

You are instructed to assign an employee who is familiar with the rules of indexing and general contents of the files to go through the cards and eliminate those which would not be indexed under the present procedure. This can be done without referring to the files, but when necessary to make sure no index card of value would be destroyed, the file should be reviewed. You must make certain that proper safeguards are imposed so that no pertinent information is lost in the elimination process.

Very truly yours,

Destruction of Bureau Records - Gen'l

SUGGESTION:

That index cards in the following categories be destroyed: (1) Communist Party (also several variations under this breakdown, such as, Communistic, Communism, Communist Party Plan, Communist Party Policy, etc.); (2) Communist Political Association; (3) Daily Worker; (4) Young Communist League; (5) Rueckwander Marks; (6) Friends of New Germany; (7) German American Bund; (8) National Maritime Union; (9) American Youth for Democracy; (10) United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America.

The employees point out that under outdated indexing procedures of many years ago we automatically indexed many of these names any time they appeared in mail or reports, regardless of whether positive or worth-while information concerning the group or organization was also set forth. They state that many of these cards contain more than one reference and that over 100,000 serials will have to be examined if the files are to be checked before destroying each card. However, they feel that an employee who is familiar with the rules of indexing and the general contents of the files could go through the cards and eliminate those which would not be indexed under the present rules, without referring to the files. Files would, of course, be reviewed where necessary to insure that no index card of value would be improperly destroyed. They noted that after contacting several people they have not found anyone who could remember ever receiving a request for a search of the "Communist Party".

The above file presently consists of 12 sections and 341 serials. Within this file there are many not-recorded serials which consist principally of the above captioned bulletin which was formerly received on a weekly basis. Samples attached.

The bulletin reports narcotics seizures and indicates arrests and court action against narcotics peddlers. These bulletins normally do not contain information of permanent value to the Bureau. Over a period of years they have not been indexed.

These bulletins have been routed to (1) the General Investigative Division, (2) Crime Records, (3) the Laboratory, (4) the Identification Division, or (5) the Domestic Intelligence Division depending on the contents of the bulletin.

RECOMMENDATION:

1. That the Records Section no longer file the monthly Narcotics Intelligence Bulletin unless a supervisor indicates necessary indexing in which case we would, of course, file the bulletin.

2. That this memorandum be referred to (1) the General Investigative Division, (2) Crime Records, (3) the Laboratory, (4) the Identification Division, and (5) the Domestic Intelligence Division for their views.

This refers to your memorandum of February 2, 1954, concerning the 75 copies of FBI reports which were turned over to your Cincinnati office by the Police Department after being found by school children on a truck.

The United States Attorney for the Southern District of Ohio has been advised, in accordance with your suggestion, to arrange with the General Services Administration for the burning of all confidential material at the city incinerator in the presence of an authorized representative when disposing of old records and files.

Issuance of appropriate instructions to other United States Attorneys throughout the country, particularly in the larger cities where facilities are available, is under consideration.

February 26, 1954

Mr. Hugh K. Martin
United States Attorney
Cincinnati, Ohio

Dear Mr. Martin:

You are undoubtedly familiar with the fact that on January 22, 1954, 75 copies of FBI reports pertaining to the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicles, which had been designated by the FBI for your office in Cincinnati, and which bore your office date stamp, were turned over to the Cincinnati FBI office by the local Police Department. Investigation disclosed that these reports were found by school children on a truck which had broken down and was parked near a school. The truck was transporting baled waste paper which had been purchased from the General Services Administration.

It further appears that this material had been turned over to the General Services Administration on December 4, 1953, for "waste paper, after maceration", in accordance with Departmental regulations.

To prevent recurrence of similar situations, it is believed that closer control over the actual destruction of confidential material is needed. The General Services Administration of Cincinnati advises that, if requested to do so, they will arrange for the burning of such material at the city incinerator in the presence of an authorized representative.

It is requested that you make arrangements to follow this procedure in the disposal of all confidential memoranda in the future.

Very truly yours,

On June 17, 1942, the Boston Office forwarded one roll of Mini-Pan film containing signatures of numerous infividuals on payroll checks and YMCA registration cards. These signatures were compared with the questioned signature on the pawn shop receipt book in instant case. A definite conclusion could not be reached whether any of the individuals prepared the questioned signature or not.

Photographs of the checks and registration cards were made from the film and the film was returned to Boston on July 27, 1942. At present, the photographs of this material are retained in a bulky enclosure on the bulky ramp. There are approximately six hundred and nineteen photographs in this enclosure which occupies one bulky enclosure folder.

For your information, the instant case was subsequently closed by the Boston Office on September 4, 1943, after all logical leads were covered.

Inasmuch as a definite conclusion could not be reached and the case has been closed, it does not seem necessary to retain these photographs.

SUBJECT: MICROFILMING - RECORDS SECTION

As you know, we have been conducting surveys to determine any additional record material the Records Section maintains which would be feasible to microfilm. It is our purpose to obtain approval for microfilming at least 6 months ahead.

The Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act of 1942 (the 104 classification) consisting of 23 file cabinets of material, has been determined, as a result of our survey to be relatively inactive and suitable for microfilming. During a 30 day survey recently conducted by the Records Section, only 72 references were reviewed in this classification under the Bureau's Name Check program and only 76 file requests were received. It is pointed out that this act has been substantially repealed and the Statute of Limitations has run on the great majority of the cases investigated by the Bureau. There are very few pending cases in this classification and, of course, consistant with our present policy, these pending cases will not be microfilmed.

The Investigative Division has indicated that from their standpoint, there would be no objection to the microfilming of this material.

As previously indicated, the microfilming of this material will enable the Records Section to gain 23 file cabinets as well as the space for these cabinets, both of which we can advantageously use.

RECOMMENDATION:

That authority be granted the Records Section to microfilm the files pertaining to the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act of 1942. Upon receipt of this authorization, the Records Section will proceed through the usual channels to secure the necessary Archival approval in accordance with the statutory provisions and will place this material on schedule for microfilming.

With reference to previous memoranda concerning our recommendation that the Plant Survey Enclosures be destroyed, it is noted that there are 373 enclosures in this category, which occupy 11 bulky enclosure bins, covering a floor space of 38 square feet. Although this does not appear to be a great deal of space, our space problem has become critical in the Identification Building and it will be necessary for us to ask the Identification Division to furnish us with space to house several hundred cabinets during the coming year.

It is noted that records reflect that these enclosures are never used. In addition, there is a definite question in my mind as to whether any of these plants have the same physical layout they had over 10 years ago when the surveys were made. I believe that there is a natural tendency on the part of the various divisions to hold on to useless record material. There is a reluctance to take the responsibility for the destruction and a natural tendency to feel that time should be conserved for more urgent matters.

I think we will have to aggressively follow these requests since the space required for the Records Section for even the next year does not appear to be available. We would appreciate anything you can do.

On February 3, 1953, I recommended, inasmuch as the entire 99 classification, Plant Survey Matters, had been microfilmed, that eleven four-drawer cabinets and fifteen bins of enclosures which were unsuitable for microfilming be destroyed as they were obsolete and of no value. A survey of these enclosures reflected they consisted entirely of material pertaining to the physical layout of the various plants, such as photographs and blueprints and other related material bearing on the security conditions. The following are typical of the contents of these enclosures: separate photographs of all sizes, some of which are mounted in albums, aerial photographs, blueprints, literature on "safety rules" for the individual plant, brochures of company operations, organization charts, employment forms, forms for obtaining passes and badges and other related material.

The Domestic Intelligence Division, on February 13, 1953, recommended that the destruction of these enclosures be deferred until (1) it may be desirable to destroy the microfilm of the reports themselves, or (2) the passage of time has rendered it highly improbable that the microfilm of the reports will be of any use.

Every year the space problem becomes more critical in the Filing Unit of the Records Section. Since my recommendation a year ago, no calls have been received for any of this material. The Domestic Intelligence Division based their recommendation against destruction mainly on the basis that the files themselves would not have an intelligence value unless the enclosures were available. Since no calls have been received for this material, it is believed that no future calls will be received and that the destruction of these enclosures should be considered again at this time.

RECOMMENDATION:

That all enclosures for the Plant Survey Matters classification which were unsuitable for microfilming be destroyed.

PLANT SURVEY CLASSIFICATION ENCLOSURES
Bufile 66-3286

A memorandum from Mr. Eames to Mr. Nichols dated February 15, 1954, points out that files on plant survey matters have been microfilmed; however, the bulky exhibits are not suitable for microfilming. A suggestion was made that these bulky exhibits be destroyed.

The Bureau ceased conducting plant surveys in 1941, at which time the Army took over this activity. The files pertaining to this matter are, therefore, over ten years old. These bulky enclosures, however, contain diagrams, pictures, blueprints, etc., of the various plants surveyed and the survey reports are of no value without this material since the enclosures are referred to throughout the various reports. These files and the accompanying blueprints, diagrams, etc., contain information of potential value to the Bureau for reference purposes. It is not believed possible to arbitrarily state at the present time that these files are of no further value to the Bureau.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that these bulky exhibits to the plant survey files be retained.

ADDENDUM, LBN:MP 3/18/54 Considered by the Executives Conference consisting of Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Tracy, Tamm, Mohr, Hennrich, Boardman, Rosen, Harbo, Holloman and Nichols, who unanimously agreed to the destruction of the above-described bulky exhibits.

SUBJECT: AMERICAN PROTECTIVE LEAGUE
DESTRUCTION OF BUREAU PROPERTY

You will recall the American Protective League was an organization formed in March, 1917, by private individuals for patriotic purposes to work under the direction of the Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Justice, for the purpose of assisting the Government in securing information on activities of agents of foreign governments, persons unfriendly to the Government and for the protection of public property, etc. It was disbanded in 1919. Records of the organization were subsequently turned over to the Bureau.
